Q Suppose that Doctor Arthur Baker's statement should appear that he was born in the year 1809, that anyone he said when he was 18 or 19 years of age that Anna Pratt the wife of Samuel Dutton, was a grown up girl going to school, when the other admitted evidence shows that she had married Sam Dutton prior to that time and had seven children, the youngest of whom was born in '43, how would you harmonize that with a statement that he was born in the facts in the case? A Whatever Dr. Baker stated he honestly believed, whether it was right or wrong, whether it was correct or truth, he honestly believed it, and I believe he should be believed it.

Q He was capable of being in error? A Every man is.
Q I say he was? A Yes sir, but for you, I don't say that he was; I merely stated up to him that a statement which could be proven by every man who knows him, I believe I know it.

Q The Commission rejected Irene J. White as false, of which you were a member? A I don't remember anything about that particularly.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF CHEROKEE NATION.

DAVID MERRITT, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q State your name? A David Merritt.
- Q Where do you reside? A Vinita.
- Q How old are you? A 60 years old.
- Q Did you ever know James Dawson? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you known him? A I know him probably 2 years.
- Q Did you ever have any talk with him about his citizenship case?
- A Very little.
- Q You were at one time an applicant before the Dawes Commission for citizenship were you not? A Yes sir.
- Q Tell what old Mr. Dawson told you with reference to his citizenship, as to the cost of his getting it, if anything? A Well he told me it cost him eleven or twelve hundred dollars to get his case through.
- Q Where did that conversation take place? A At Afton.
- Q At what time? A It was in '98, spring of '98.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q Where were you when he told you that? A I was working on a house in Afton, building the house.
- Q Those houses? A S. S. Ruess.
- Q Who was your employer? A Wallace Van Orman.
- Q Where is he? A At Afton.
- Q What age was Mr. Dawson at that time? A I don't know, he was very old, probably 75 years old.
- Q Was he not a very feeble man? A Yes sir.
- Q Hardly able to get around? A No sir.
- Q Was he not known as a good handed old man? A I don't know whether he was or not.
- Q You don't know what he had to do with the case, in fact, did he, do you? A No, I don't know anything about it and finally that cost him to get through, Attorney's fees, etc. That is the way I took it anyway.
- Q You were an applicant yourself were you not? A Yes sir.
- Q When? A At that time.
- Q Before the Commission was organized? A Yes sir.
- Q They rejected you? A Yes sir.
- Q You were not before the Dawes Commission were you not?
- A Yes sir, been rejected ever since.
- Q Are you still an applicant? A Yes sir.
- Q Still trying to get in? A Yes sir.
- Q Applying by blood? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you been living in the Cherokee Nation? A 15 years.
- Q Where did you come from? A Indiana.
- Q What was your father's Cherokee citizenship? A Yes sir.
- Q Indian? A Yes sir.
- Q James Dawson is dead is not? A Yes sir.
- Q How long has he been dead? A I think he died probably 15 or 20 years after that.

TESTIMONY IN BEHALF OF THE CHEROKEE NATION.

F. M. Dawson, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

F. M. Dawson, A Yes sir.

Q. Mr. Lawson, what member of your family came to the Cherokee Nation to file and prosecute the claim of your father, Robert Dawson, and the members of his family, to Cherokee citizenship?

A. My brother from Texas came at Tallahassee.

Q. Tell his name? A. Elbert Dawson, they all know him by Buck.

Q. When was that? A. In '81 as far as I remember, or '82, I don't know which it was in '81 or '82.

Q. Did you file your claim at that time? A. My brother was, yes, the application, my brother had Joel Hayes to make it out and file it. That is my understanding.

Q. Joel Hayes, who afterwards was Chief of the Cherokee Nation?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Before what court was that filed? A. My understanding was he was clerk of the court; Hastings can tell me what court he was clerk of.

Q. He was clerk of the Court at that time? A. Yes sir, of the citizenship court; that's my understanding.

Q. That was done about the case at that time, if you remember? A. I went back home and left my brother down there at that time, that trip.

Q. There did you then live? A. I lived at Berryville, Arkansas.

Q. When did you next come to the Cherokee Nation? A. I believe I come back the next January, that was in September.

Q. Was your brother Buck here then? A. I don't think he was, I don't remember.

Q. Well had he at any time of the Court or session of the Commission at any time after you first came here and filed the application until after it was decided? A. No sir, I never set his any more until that case was decided.

Q. You conducted the business then after that did you not? A. Yes sir.

Q. The case was finally determined in January 1883? A. '83, yes sir, the 11th day as I remember.

Q. Were you present at that session? A. Yes sir.

Q. Was there any decision of that case other than the one of record here? A. I never heard of it if there was.

Q. Was the judgment rendered in that case as recorded in the record Book of that Commission now in the custody of the Dawes Commission the only judgment that was rendered in that case so far as you know?

A. Yes sir, so far as I know, if there was any I never heard of it in that case.

Q. You then know of no decision against you in the case? A. No sir.

Q. Who was your attorney employed at the beginning? A. I employed A. H. Horwood.

Q. Was he a Cherokee citizen? A. Yes sir, I think so.

Q. Where did he live? A. At Glendale, my understanding.

Q. Was he present at any time before the Commission? A. I never saw him, he never got me there before the Commission.

Q. Did you pay him any money? A. Yes sir.

Q. How much? A. Fifty dollars.

Q. Did he ever render any services? A. If he ever did I never knew it.

Q. Well then who did you employ? A. My brother employed Joel Bryant.

Q. Was he a Cherokee citizen?

A. That is my understanding.

Q. Was he not a prominent Cherokee citizen? A. Yes sir.

Q. What service did he render? A. Well sir, I don't know whether he rendered any or not, only he set me a title or two at Tallahassee, and he was before the Commission; whether he rendered any services or not I don't know; he was generally always at Washington City during the Term down there.

Q Well what did he do about it? A I don't know, I couldn't say whether he done anything about it. That is Mr. Bryant, he was always gone.

Q What next was done about the employment of an attorney? A Why I got a letter from Joel Bryant that he was going to Washington City and for me to come down in January Term and Campbell Taylor would see to my affair before the court.

Q Did he say that he had engaged the services of Campbell Taylor the attorney, to attend to it in his absence? A Yes sir, in his absence.

Q Have you got that letter? A I don't think I got the letter.

Q Well what did you do then? A Why when the time come I come down on the party to Muskogee here and I goes over from here to Fort Gibson and I goes down to see Uncle Houston Senge and stays all night with him; it was very cold weather, and I got him to go over and submit my case to the court; I went over one day and the next day Uncle Houston Senge come over and the next morning after he come over the case was submitted.

Q Did he submit the case? A Yes sir, he told me so.

Q For you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you present? A I was present until they want to take the vote on the case and then we was drove out of their room and they had a secret session, acting on the case.

Q Was Uncle Houston Senge present with you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you in the court when he submitted it to them? A Yes sir, when he made his argument.

Q He made an argument before the Commission? A Yes sir.

Q Was the decision rendered on that day? A Yes sir.

Q How long after he made his argument and submitted the case? A Was not but a little bit; when we were drove out of the house the first time before they went into secret session they wanted me to set up the cigars in the court and the crowd in the house; after the decision was rendered then I was to set up the cigars, and everybody come to me and told me to go and get the cigars and I done so.

Q And you took the cigars there and all? A Yes sir, everybody, the attorneys and all that was in the house, all had a big smoke.

Q Did they then announce their finding in the case? A Yes sir, they told me that I was granted my citizenship right and by the Commission.

Q What did you do about it then? A Why the clerk wrote me out my certificate.

Q That same day? A That same day.

Q What arrangements did you make with Mr. Senge about his fee, and what was the amount of his fee? A There was no arrangement made until we got up there and he submitted our case; then he wanted me to pay, he charged me fifty dollars, that was his fee.

Q What was the agreement about the matter, the manner in which that fee should be paid? A My brother in Texas was to pay it.

Q Were you to write or was he to write? A He was to write for it.

Q Did your brother in Texas ever pay his fee of fifty dollars?

A Yes sir.

Q Was that all that was to be paid? A All he was to have; all he charge me.

Q You heard his statement when he gave his deposition at Fort Gibson the other day did you not? A Yes sir.

- Q If you state that you paid him 20 or 25 dollars before you went to Tallapoosa, did you do that? A No sir.
- Q He said that you paid him fifty dollars after he got over to Tallapoosa, did you do that? A I never saw him again in my life.
- Q After that judgment was rendered, did you go to him? A I went back over to Arla sas.
- Q By what route? A I went by Silos Springs and on by Spring Dale and then to Rogers, took the railroad there and went on by Silos Springs and by Arla Springs home.
- Q You then did not return to Fort Gibson with House, as he stated? A No sir, I did not.
- Q Why did you not return by way of Fort Gibson? A Well I thought maybe the others who were charged at road and struck a hack going out by Silos Springs when I was boarding at, I could go to Silos Springs and I went by that route and then there was a hack going by Spring Dale, that was the most direct route.
- Q That is the most direct route from your home was it not? A Yes sir.
- Q And the cheapest? A And the cheapest route.
- Q Had you been coming out to Fort Gibson you would have been paid directly away from home would you not? A Yes sir.
- Q Your home is nearly east, the east of Tallapoosa was it not? A Yes sir, little north of east, pretty near due east.
- Q While Fort Gibson is almost due east is it not? A Southwest.
- Q You heard his statement that you went to Fort Gibson with him, and as you came you stated to him that it was to reach that court and through Duncan and he reached the through Duncan with five hundred dollars, did you state that to him? A I never did, I didn't have the five hundred dollars to reach him.
- Q Did he while at Tallapoosa in the court room on the evening before this judgment was rendered in your favor, tell you what the court had rendered a judgment against you? A No sir.
- Q And did you then say to him, you would fix that? A I had no such conversation with him.
- Q Did you pay to D. W. C. Duncan, who was the clerk of the Court any sum of money, or agree to pay him any sum of money, directly or through any other person for any services he might render you by way of influencing the court to decide in your favor? A No sir.
- Q Or for any other purpose? A No sir.
- Q Did you pay him any money after that through Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.
- Q What amount? A 20 or 25 Dollars, I don't know which it was.
- Q State what that money was paid for? A For a claim.
- Q What do you mean by a claim? A Claim on the public domain; he had a claim up there close to me; paid him 20 or 25 dollars for his claim to have up there by me, on the Cherokee Public Domain.
- Q What did Campbell Taylor have to do with your case? A He had nothing to do with it.
- Q Did you agree to pay him any money for his services as an attorney? A No sir.
- Q Did he perform any services in that case for you as a representative of Mr. Bryant? A No sir.
- Q Did you pay him any money? A Yes sir.
- Q On what account? A He came to me and said he had the claim against me for Joel Bryant and wanted me to pay him the money and I done so.
- Q What amount? A Hundred dollars.

Q Did you give any money to Joel Bryant, the one who got off? A Joel Bryant said he didn't, but I told him again, that Joel Bryant the hundred dollars, and I told him that E. D. Ross said Joel Bryant; after that we were all ready to go by Campbell Taylor, and he is twenty dollars or twenty-five dollars; I don't know how much he got.

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of Mr. D. Duncan? A I got after him for tellin' him to get that money back to me, he rendered no services to me at all and the money was to go to Joel Bryant, and I finally worked out the twenty or twenty-five dollars, that is all I ever did get back.

Q The amount that he paid to Duncan? A Yes sir.
 Q Was this money paid to him, this one hundred dollars, all the money there at the time the judge got arrested, or was it some so called afterwards? A I don't know what time, I don't know about it.

Q You think it was some time? A Yes sir, that's my recollection now.

Q Did you pay him one hundred dollars for you to get any more there, as he said to you, during that time, after that he rendered I don't know, but I don't know fifty dollars of that or any other sum to D. W. G. Duncan? A No sir.

Q Did he send you a check on a hundred dollars if he directed? A No sir.

Q Mr. D. also, do you believe that it would have been a good idea to obtain their citizenship in the American Nation after this judgment? A Pretty near it I do.

Q Well about what sum? A About five hundred dollars, pretty near 500 dollars. That is what I considered, I was beat out of some of my money, what I was beat out of and expenses.

Q Now take a statement of what that money was paid for and how, so far as you remember, itemize that now? Well the first fifty dollars Norwood got; the next fifty dollars he got; that was the attorney's fees; I speak of the attorney's fees now; the next money was the hundred that Campbell Taylor got; the next attorney fees was Bryant's one hundred dollars.

Q Was that all the attorney's fees? A I think it was, no, wait, I paid Ross 15 dollars for taking Baker's deposition.

Q Which Ross was that? A The old chief, Will Ross I think was his name, William P. Ross.

Q He then, this Chief William P. Ross for taking the deposition of Dr. Baker charged you fifteen dollars? A Yes sir.

Q Do you mean by that that he acted as your attorney and examined him? A Yes sir.

He examined him before the Commission, that his statements.

Q What other attorneys were there present? A None of them was present.

Q Well now, go on? A For the expenses of taking Dr. Baker and he was a doctor, as well as I remember he charged me 5 dollars a day and I wore him and his expenses down there; we come through in a truck from Berryville, Arkansas, to Chicago, and our board and expenses and all I think was about 75 dollars that trip; so adding near it, maybe a little over that.

Q Did you pay him a per diem? A I paid him five dollars a day for his time and then his expenses.

Q Well, A, I made several trips out here a different times, to the trial, before the commission, and back, three or four times as well as I remember now, cost me 20 or 25 dollars each trip, as I remember about it.

Q Do you remember any trips aside from the one I which you brought Dr. Baker? A No, I think there was probably three trips I think it was, maybe more, and then I made one trip to Claremore to see A. H. Norwood.

Q What did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it cost; I went in a wagon down there.

Q You went through a employed wage, went by railroad; what did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it was, whether it was 21 dollars or 22 dollars, one or the other, I don't remember what it was. Joe Dawson, my brother-in-law, gave me the money, it was either 21 or 22 dollars.

Q Now then is there any other expense that you know of that was paid by you or your family, any members of your family, other than that you have mentioned? A I don't remember any other and I can't call to my memory right now.

Q What was the condition of the members of your family generally now, financially, at that time? A Well we were considered poor people; I don't know, we didn't have much money, scarcely any.

Q Was there any one of them that was better off than the others, and if so, which one? A I suppose Libert Dawson was better off than the others, Buck Dawson.

Q Do you know how much Buck Dawson said of these expenses? A I don't think he said, he said the horse debt and the Bryan debt. I think it was.

Q That is one hundred and fifty dollars? A Yes sir, that came up on one trip and taken some evidence with Joel Bryant and Joel Bryant was clerk of the court before this Tchee Court, I don't know what that cost him.

Q Care up he came too soon to testify? A Yes, came up I went back to Texas. Filed his claim and took some testimony and went back to Texas and I didn't see him.

Q Did that testimony include Dr. Baker's testimony? A No sir.

Q You know how many witnesses were examined then? A I only know what he told me.

Q How many? A Four witnesses.

Q You know whether they were residence of the Cherokee Nation or not? A He told me they was.

Q Were you present on that trip in which he came there and took that testimony? A No, I met him there and then I went back home and left him at Tahlequah.

Q He had taken the testimony before you left him or afterwards? A He taken it afterwards; that was my understanding.

Q Did Buck furnish only the one hundred fifty dollars that you now remember? A I think it was.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q Who else furnished money now of the members of your family?

A My brothers and father lived down in Berryville, me and my brother-in-law, Blaasingame, we all chipped in together a few dollars from each family.

Q You heard the statement of C. O. Brought that in June 1883 you told him that it had cost you 700 dollars, did you make any such statement to him? A I never did.

Q And that you paid one witness 300 dollars? A I never made any such statement.

Q Did you have any witness any such as? A No sir, I paid Dr. [unclear] for his time and his time was worth 5 dollars a day, and I paid it.

Q Did you have any other witness any for that? A No sir, he was the only witness I taken down there in any case.

Q Tell the short Dawson case? A Yes sir.

Q He says that you told him this in your house there on your place, did you have any house there in June 1887? A I was not living on my farm at that time.

Q Did you have any farm? A Didn't have any.

Q When did you build a house there? A I built a house on the farm I live in now by Mr. Brought, I moved on the farm the last of July, 1883, and I owned in my wagon.

Q What did you do? A I went to the timber and cut poles and made them out and made me a log cabin on the place by a spring near Mr. Brought.

Q About what time did you finish that house? A I finished it some later.

Q How long after you finished that house until you brought your family out? A I finished it up and got it covered and the floor in it and I went back to Dureka Springs after my wife.

Q What family did you have then? A I had my wife and she had one child; but my oldest children, by my first wife were with me in the Territory, camping with me; three little boys and one girl were with me, and one girl back in Arkansas.

Q Are you and C. G. Brought on good terms? A No sir.

Q What has been the character of the trouble between you? A Trouble over our places first started it.

Q When did it begin? A As soon as I got back from Arkansas he commenced kinder crowding me out to take my farm away from me, and we have been in a racket ever since.

Q Then his statement that you were on friendly terms, is it correct or not? A No sir, it aint correct.

Q He and you have never been friendly as neighbors then since you first came back from Arkansas and settled in the Territory? A I don't remember ever being in his house; I never was in his house.

Q Have you had law suits with each other? A Yes sir.

Q How many? A I don't know that we had any particular law suits, but I have had law suits and he has been a witness against me.

Q That was your last trouble with him, when I mean? A Along last fall.

Q That was when your boys had a little racket and he had your boy arrested? A Yes sir.

Q What was the age of those boys? A Eleven years old.

Q He had him arrested down at Vinita? A Yes sir, had him arrested and carried him to the Commissioner at Vinita.

Q He was discharged on account of his age? A Yes sir.

Q Buck Dawson is dead is not? A Yes sir.

Q How long has he been dead? A Three years, little over three years.

Q And James Dawson is dead? A Yes sir.

Q Is your father, Robert Dawson living? A No sir.

Q When did James Dawson die? A I don't remember, been dead several years, I don't remember how long, 6 or 7 years, I couldn't state.

Q When did your father, Robert Dawson die? A I believe it was in '87 or I remember him, I think he was living.

Q Had all those moved to the Cherokee Nation before James' death? A No sir, father died in Arkansas.

...live in the ... the rest of ...
... the Territory,

... ten dollars; ... I heard ...

... your family at that time.

... brother James Dawson.

... A No sir.

... At that time ...

... the James Dawson case? A No sir.

... present at the time that the James Dawson case was under ...

... the consideration of his case? A No sir.

... He never was present? A No sir, if Uncle Jim Dawson was ever ...

... conducted the prosecution of the James Dawson case before the Cherokee Citizens' Commission, he conducted it? A The James Dawson case?

... Yes sir? A I think James Lawson and Will Jackson and Campbell Taylor.

... Were you acting with them? A Yes sir.

... They employed Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.

... Then there was no James Dawson present during that session of the Commission? A No sir.

... What was the condition of James Dawson's health at that time? A It was pretty poorly; was not good.

... Was he at that time able to get about and attend to business? A I don't think he was.

... Was he not a very feeble minded old man at that time? A Yes sir, he appeared as rather a silly man as he got? A Yes sir.

... Did he attend to any kind of business of the family at that time? A No sir, didn't.

... What was his financial condition? A Pretty bad.

... Did he have any money? A No sir.

... Did he have any property? A None hardly at all; horse probably, or a cow or two, something of that way.

... How about the other members of his family that were admitted at that time; what was their financial condition? A They were in poor circumstances.

... Now then after these judgments were rendered that members of your family removed to the Territory, Cherokee Nation, I will say? A Robert Dawson and family and James Dawson and family, that is, the old man's children.

Q Robert B. can't move here? A No, I said except Robert Dawson.

Q Did all the members of Robert Dawson family move here? A Yes sir.

Q Except himself? A Yes sir.

Q And all the members of James Dawson family? A No, not all the members, Melvina Low I don't think ever lived here.

Q She has never moved here? A No sir.

Q Well all the members of your family, your father's family included in that judgment of the committee, rendered January 11th, 1897? A All cut out.

Q What was the name of that one? A Edna.

Q A daughter? A Daughter of Robert Dawson.

Q Your sister? A Yes sir.

Q Was she then of age or was she a minor? A I think she was a minor, as well as I can remember.

Q Was she afterwards admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A She was.

Q By a Commission or by the Cherokee Council? A She was first admitted by the Special Court, her and two of my nieces.

Q What are their names? A Katie Vernon and Verna Fishback.

Q What became of that? A The certificate papers they got was lost, and they went before the Council in 1894 and they was readmitted back by the act of Council.

Q That was in 1894, the Cherokee Council admitted, re-admitted to they called it, the three above named? A Yes sir. Mary and Verna Fishback and Katie Vernon, they have now the same names now except Vernon, it is not. Tob Robinson married the widow, a niece of mine.

Q How then was there any other consideration of the Dawson case by the Cherokee authorities at any time aside from these two admissions in '87 and '84 admitting the two families of Robert and James Dawson, and the act of Council of '94 admitting these three who you have just named? A Yes sir.

Q When? A My two of my sons was placed on the roll by the act of Council in 1892 I think it was; left off of the rolls in per capita payment and they was placed on the rolls I think, and Sam Sighting, member of Council, got their draft or checks for the money.

Q Have you got that copy of the act of Council admitting them? A Yes sir.

Q Where is it? A (Produces papers.)

BY MR. LACKMANN: We offer in evidence an act of the Cherokee National Council making an appropriation of 20,000 dollars belonging to the general fund for the payment of certain persons therein named a per capita payment, as per amount set opposite their respective names, provided that the Principal Chief shall draw warrants for such amounts, and further provided "That the names of the persons appearing on the per capita rolls in this act shall be placed (on) the authenticated roll of 1880 by the Principal Chief."

This act was approved December 31, 1891.

Approval signed by Stephen Toney, Assistant Acting Principal-

In this list a poor the name of William R. Dawson for payment of $13.70, and of Marion Dawson, for a like sum. Are these now the names of two of your sons? A Yes sir.

(This paper above introduced, is filed and made a part of the records in this case.)

Q Was there any other action of the Cherokee authorities relating to members of your family? A Yes sir.

Q Then? A In 1894.

Q What was that? A Allowing them their Strip money.

Q Have you a copy of that? A I think I have. (Produces papers.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: We now offer in evidence a duly certified copy of a report of the Cherokee National Council approved November 24, 1894, signed C. J. Morris, Principal Chief. Senate Bill No. 19, appropriating a sufficient amount of money to make payment per capita of what is known as the strip money to certain persons named therein. Among them are members of the Dinsanguie family, as follows: Jane, Elbert, Henry, James Ross Leslie, Pearl, Aros, Lyrtle, Winnie and Clifford; this act mentions these persons as Cherokees by blood, and whose names had been left off the pay roll approved May 3, 1894, providing a payment to each one of these a sum of $265.70.

Q Were these members of the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q Which one of the members of the family? A Jane.

Q This is Jane who was admitted by the judgment admitting the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q And her children? A Her children, was not admitted, she was admitted.

Q I mean this mentions her children here? A Yes, that mentions her children.

(The paper last phrase introduced is filed and made a part of the record in this case.)

Q Do you know whether the payment of the Cherokee Strip money was to Cherokee citizens by blood only or not? A Yes sir.

Q Was there any other act of the Cherokee authorities passing upon the citizenship of members of your family? A Why the Douthett children, my brother's grand-children. Two grand-children of E. Dawson.

Q What was that? A That, I think it was in '84.

Q Have you got a copy of that act? A No, the record is here.

Q Was that by the Spears Court? A Yes sir, by the Spears Court.

BY MR. MCKENNON: We now offer in evidence a judgment of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, 1880 and 1884, found on page 190, case No. 181, dated September 9th, 1884, signed by Eli Spears, President, John Lee and Andrew Young, Commissioners, admitting to citizenship Elin Douthett and Dallas Douthett as Cherokees by blood.

Q These now are the Douthetts to which you refer, are they? Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Attention is called to the fact that the names of the Commissioners are all signed in the same handwriting as the record of the judgment.

The said judgment record above introduced, and found on page 190, No. 181, record of 1880 to 1884, is as follows:

 of citizenship it has been decided by the Commission that the above named John Dauter and Dallas Dauter are Cherokee by blood, and that they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship in the Cherokee Nation and that they should be, and are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects, as native born Cherokee.

Ii spars, Dr A.
 John Lee,
 Andrew Young,

John L. Adair,
 Ch. Com'n.

Commission of citizenship.

Q No were there any other actions of the Cherokee authorities of like character relating to the members of your family?

A I don't remember of any others.

Q I will ask you if when the Cherokee authorities were making the roll of 1896, in compliance with the request of the Dawes Commission for a roll to be prepared by them for the use of the said Commission, the question of the citizenship of the members of your family was not then raised and an investigation had in regard to it? A Before the Dawes Commission?

Q No, before the Cherokee Commission making the roll of 1896, of which John T. Guter was a member? A Yes sir, yes. I had forgot it, but since you have named it there was some investigation of them at that time; this is what I understood.

Q That roll shows that the members of your family were duly enrolled by the Commission? A Yes.

Q Have you and the other members of your family since your removal to the Territory in 1837 and immediately following been recognized as Cherokee citizens by blood? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been exercising and enjoying all the rights of Cherokee citizens by blood since that time? A Yes sir.

Q You and all the members of your family are living in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q You have all drawn Cherokee moneys whenever payments were made?
 A Yes sir.

Q And have you all male members been voting at the Cherokee elections or in the Cherokee elections? A Yes sir, I was one of the judges of the elections that was held voting on the treaty.

Q What treaty? A The treaty bill that was sent back here for the Cherokees to vote on; I was one of the judges at Afton.

Q In what year was that? A I believe it was last spring next till, last April.

Q Have any of you held any offices in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes
 sir.

Q What offices have the members of your family filled? A
 Deputy Clerk, under Pete Hastings, when he was clerk of Delaware District, I was a candidate once for Council in the Downing Party.

Q Did any of these courts ever hear any one else case of a civilized citizen? A Only one citizen, yes sir.

Q Is that all? A (No sir).

Q Did the child ever go to school? A No sir, I don't know. Schools, I don't know. I don't know schools?

Q Did the members of your family ever all the while subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q Did they have trial for any offenses against the law? A Yes sir.

Q Did they institute their civil suits in the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q Did they institute their suits in each court? A Yes sir.

Q Did any of these suits go to the Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q Did any of these suits go to the trial? A Yes sir.

Q Is there anything else? A Nothing, yes; I don't know; I don't have a headache so bad I can't hardly see.

BY MR. WATKINS:

Q How old was your father Robert Dawson when he died? A I don't know, I couldn't answer that.

Q He was a very old man? A Yes sir, he was getting old, very old.

Q Could you tell how old older than a than you? A No I don't know.

Q Mr. James Dawson in 1834 must have been a very old man, didn't he?
A Well he was old and he was feeble.

Q Well you stated that he had become silly; was he naturally that way? A He used to live in Texas; I didn't know him until after he got to the Territory.

Q I say he had gotten so old, what was the occasion of that?

A I suppose so, the oldest one of these children was Mrs. Betty Petty, that's my understanding.

Q And the oldest boy was John Dawson? A We always called him Jack.

Q Jack Dawson he was the oldest? A Yes sir.

Q Sam was the youngest? A Sam Riley.

Q He was the youngest one of the crowd? A Yes sir.

Q Your father lived four or five years after he and you were admitted to citizenship? A Yes sir, something about that, it was in 1837, I think he died in 1837, I won't be positive; that is as near as I remember now. I have got a headache so bad that I can't remember anything.

Q He nor none of the older members of the family were ever present at any of these trials of citizenship? A No sir, not a one of them was.

Q Not a one of them was ever called upon to testify as to the blood of their mother, who she was or anything about it? A I don't think they was.

Q Your claim of kinship was through Captain John Rogers and that your grandmother was the half sister of Big Joe Vann, wasn't it?

A I don't know, I couldn't answer the question.

Q You were there when they took the testimony? A I was there when
Dr. Baker's testimony was taken, that was about 16 years ago.

Q And nobody kin to the Rogers and Vann was ever called to testify in the case? A Not as I know of.

Q They were very well known Cherokee families in the country?
A I suppose so, I don't know.

Q And yet nobody on any side of the family connected with it was ever called to testify? A Not that I know of, I don't know what my brother done, he taken some of the evidence at Muskogee when I was not there; he first filed his claim.

Q You had spoken to Dr. Baker about the testifying before you brought your case didn't you? A No sir.

Q Must have been a short time afterwards? A It was a short time afterwards. I went back after it and it was too late and I fetched him the next time.

Q You had talked to your brother and what you could prove by Dr. Baker? A I told him I thought Dr. Baker, I thought he knew about our folks.

Q You had told him in general way you expected to have Dr. Baker as a witness? A Yes sir.

Q You went off, come to where you had left your brother at Tahlequah after you told him that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You didn't see your brother any more until after you were admitted? A No sir.

Q You and he however had tried to look and forth to Tahlequah and home at different times, but you didn't happen to get together? A No. I never met him any more. I don't know that he was there until after we were admitted.

Q But you were there and spoke to Dr. Baker over? A Yes sir.

Q And took his testimony a year or so after that before ever you were admitted? A I think so, well as I remember, yes sir.

Q Now the way you came to get Campbell Taylor was on the recommendation of old man Bryant? A I didn't get him, didn't use him.

Q The way he came into your case? A The way he claimed to come in.

Q He did more in your case than Bryant did? A Campbell didn't do anything.

Q What did Bryant do? A I think he helped my brother take evidence by brother employed him.

Q How did you happen to be sending money by Campbell to Mr. Duncan? A I never sent him any money.

Q Then when he, Mr. Duncan, states that Campbell delivered the money as Campbell said he did, both were wrong? A Oh no, you are mistaken, Mr. Duncan got 20 or 25 dollars, which he stated, from Campbell Taylor, for me.

Q How did you happen to give it to Campbell? A I give the money to Campbell to give to Joel Bryant, and he wouldn't do it, and I tried to get the money back from him, and I finally worked the 20 or 25 dollars he gave to Duncan.

Q Then you didn't tell Duncan as he testified that you sent 20 or 25 dollars by Campbell Taylor? A Campbell Taylor agreed to pay Duncan 20 or 25 dollars for me of the money I give him to give to Joel Bryant.

Q The family kept Campbell Taylor employed though as their attorney after that? A In the James Dawson case I think so.

Q E. Dawson, you remember, had him for his grand-children? A That is my understanding.

Q And your uncle James Dawson had him in the case of his children?

A Uncle James had nothing to do with it; James Low and Bill Jackson got him; that was my understanding of who employed him.

Q The record here shows that the case was originally instituted by C. E. Taylor and was finally submitted by his son, September 2nd, 1884, in the James Dawson case? A I don't deny him being in that case.

Q You say he was employed in the E. Dawson case? A I don't know who was in the DeWitt children's case.

Q The record shows that Campbell Taylor instituted the case, and it was finally submitted by him, and Mr. Stewart, and testified a while ago? A That was in the James Dawson case, wasn't it?

Q That was in the E. Dawson grand-children? A Stewart?

Q No, in the DeWitt children's case? A Oh yes.

Q He was likewise attorney in the Mary Dwyon case was he, and before the Adair court, the 4th of October, 1887, in the case of James K. P. Dawson? A I don't know anything about that.

Q And the case likewise of Piley Dawson? A I don't know anything about those.

Q They are relations of yours? A Well I couldn't say.

Q James K. P. Dawson proved to be a son of Piley Dawson? A Well if he is he is by connection then. There are so many Dawsons I don't know them all.

Q You know Andrew J. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The lawsons have so many children their brothers didn't hardly know them did they? A That's it, I don't know them.

Q Well then you don't know who Andrew J. Dawson is? A No sir, I don't know.

Q He refers in his application as being a cousin of E. Dawson, and yourself, who were admitted to citizenship by the Texas Court?

A He may be, I don't know nothing about it.

Q He resided I believe, at that time at Nevada, Missouri? A I don't know anything about these people.

Q Old man Baker was an old and paralyzed man at the time he testified wasn't he? A Getting old, he was not paralyzed.

Q Then the statement made that the reason he couldn't write his name and had to make his mark, because he was paralyzed, in the testimony isn't that true? A He didn't have good use of his fingers.

Q Then he was not paralyzed? A No, I brought him over here in a hack from Berryville, Arkansas.

Q Well I say he was a very old man? A Yes, getting old.

Q Now didn't you come to this place up there joining Brodgers and work on it some time before you brought your family? A No, I brought my family with me, except my wife.

Q And you subsequently built a new house on it? A Yes sir.

Q And went back and got your wife and moved there to the new house? A Yes sir, went to Durata and got my wife.

Q You never saw your grandfather at all? A Sam Dawson, yes sir, I saw him.

Q You remember do you of being with him much of any at all? A I was in Texas in time of the war, with my uncle Piley Dawson, and he was there.

Q In '60 sometime? A '62, I reckon, or '67. Somewhere along there, it was in time of the war.

Q How old a man was he at that time? A Pretty old man.

Q You never saw your grandmother, she died before she came?

A Yes sir, I never saw her at all.

Q Who first started the citizenship matter, your brother in Texas or you? A Why it was me, and my brother together.

Q I mean who first conceived the idea? A I first commenced talking about it.

Q And went down for him? A I was in Texas with him and then in Arkansas; I went backwards and forwards a time or two after the war.

Q About that time nearly everybody in Arkansas were trying to get some claim of kinship to Cherokees? A No sir, not at that time.

Q They were getting pretty thick in there in 1830? A Well in '83 and '4 and '5 I think.

Q Been some excitement over there to get yourselves on the rolls?

A Just got to be everybody; but it wasn't at the time we were admitted there was not much stir about the rights here.

Q Well the Watts had been admitted before that? A I suppose they had; there was not much excitement over the Watts claim at that time.

BY MR. HARRINGTON:

Q You did locate the board with Sam Shables when you first came to Tahlequah in '81? A I think I did.

Q Your brother Wook Dawson stayed there also? A Yes sir.

Q Sam Shables lived in the north end of town, old German? A Yes sir, old German, lived in the lower part of town.

Q Did you ever hear the names of any other witnesses which you stated perhaps testified in your case? A I have heard that but I have forgot them.

Q You don't recollect any name now? A I don't remember them now sir.

Q In the Irene House case and Joanna Barber case, in which you testified before the Commission, when you were making search for this testimony you couldn't find any other testimony from that of record except the Dr. Baker testimony, could you? A That's all we could find; no we didn't find the testimony, we got a copy.

Q Well it must have been a copy of the original, the certificate shows that? A I don't know; House got a copy of what claimed to be the affidavit of Baker and he told us to give it to him; that is all I know about it.

Q Well the certificate there does not bearly certificate does it? A I don't know about that, I am no scholar.

Q Well you didn't get the testimony of any other witnesses except that of Dr. Baker; you couldn't find any other over there of record? A I didn't hunt for any; House hunted for them.

Q None of you have ever been able to find any other? A No. Not even find our petition.

Q Samuel R. Dawson applied to what is known as the Adair Court, didn't he? A I don't remember now.

Q He was an uncle of yours wasn't he? A Yes sir, claimed to be.

Q The father of these two parties who testified here this morning? A Well I don't know, they claimed to be, I never let them to know that.

Q He was rejected by the Adair Court, or Hayes Court? A I don't know whether he filed his petition.

Q Did you testify in his case? A I don't remember; I might have done it.

Q Didn't you testify in the Andrew J. Dawson case before what is known as the Hayes Court? A I don't recollect, if I did I don't remember.

Q Did you testify in the Riley Dawson case? A No sir, not that I remember.

Q Didn't you know of his being rejected by that court? A I don't remember, sir.

Q You know that the Cherokee Council never authenticated the roll of 1896, don't you? A No sir, I don't know it; I didn't know this was done until I went to Tahlequah after some papers and come back and they told me about it.

Q You never found out that C. H. Taylor was a big rascal up until the present time have you? A (No response)

Q The records here show that he has been in the constant employment of your family from that date up to this time? A Why it shows here from the record; I would rather be excused for my part of it.

Q You were the man that had the most to do with it? A I never employed him, I can say that.

Q You are the man that had most to do with the records? A In my case and in my father's case.

Q Didn't you testify for your uncle Jim Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Wasn't he attorney for him? A Yes sir.

Q Wasn't he employed by J. H. Brown after you got your citizenship?

A Why not but the grand children.

Q J. H. Brown's petition was filed in September 1887, is that your year?

A Yes sir.

Q C. H. Taylor, attorney of ... petition? A He might have filed it for all I know.

Q Well you hadn't at that time filed it but C. H. Taylor had you? A Why no, we never did have any trouble, only over the money, he never would give it back to me or give it to Bryant.

Q You never discovered that he was such a bad man until after your judgment was rendered? A I know of no other bad man.

Q Are you and Bryant, this man, connected with the Cherokee Nation, or speaking to us? A Hardly speak.

Q Does he refuse to speak to you? A So often he does.

Q Do you refuse to speak to him? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been speaking to him for the last two or three months?

A I have not spoken to him until I got him here at the hotel the other day.

Q First time you spoke to him since he had the boy arrested? A Yes sir.

Q When did he have the boy arrested? A About in September or October, September I think.

Q When did Dr. Baker die? A I don't remember.

Q You don't remember how much older your father is than you?

A No, I don't know.

Q What is your age? A I will be 25 next.

Q Then you were born in '42? A Yes sir, '42 according to the record.

Q Was your father as much as 25 years older than you?

A I couldn't say.

Q What was your best judgment? A I suppose he was 20 or 25 years old. My understanding he was 25 years old.

Q Can't you give any better idea than 4 or 5 years of your father's age? A I say 25.

Q Your father was born say, 25 from 42 would have made him be born in 1817; now had your father any other brothers or sisters? A I think Jack Dawson was the oldest of the family, no, Betty, the girl, was the oldest and Jack next, and then my father as well as I remember about it.

Q There are two girls older? A No, one of the girls I never saw.

Q Then you think there are only 2 older than your father? A Yes, that's my understanding of the family.

Q Dr. Baker gives his age 73 in '82, which would make him be born in '89, now he states that when he was 15 or 16 years old, which added to 1809, will make 1824, that your grandmother Anna Priotti, was a school girl; whereas from your testimony and that of the family history introduced here shows that your grandmother Anna Priotti was the mother of seven children, the youngest being born in 1827, how do you reconcile that? A I don't remember about the statement of Dr. Baker; I don't know what he made such statement as that, I don't remember about it.

Q And if he did you don't know how to reconcile it? A (No response.)

Q Did you talk to any of the members of the Court that admitted you? A No sir, I was not acquainted with them.

Q You know whether they were old or young men? A They were old men like Steve Teebe, I got acquainted with him afterwards, and Tomie Thompson, at the Council you know I was there a good deal.

- Q That was the fellow that was on the Court? A Yes sir.
- Q He was afterwards assistant Chief of the Cherokee Nation?
- A I think so.
- Q Steven Tabor, that's the man you had reference to? A Yes sir, I think it was, I just knew the name; I had no acquaintance with him.
- Q D. W. C. Duncan boarded when you were down there at the National Hotel? A I think he did, as well as I remember now when we were admitted.
- Q Don't you know he did? A I think he did, as well as I remember.
- Q Were not you ever there to his room? I think I was.
- Q You remember when it was that you brought Dr. Baker down there to make a statement before the Court? A It was in January, Ter, was in January Term of 1882 I believe, it was, as well as I remember about it.
- Q Well you didn't take any more testimony after Dr. Baker testified?
- A No sir, I didn't.
- Q But your case was not submitted or passed upon for a year?
- A I think it was, yes sir, as well as I remember.
- Q I would like to ask you when the Blasingame family came to the Cherokee Nation? A Alex Blasingame came with me when we moved here, and went back and got his family and moved that fall.
- Q Did he move his family here that same fall? A Yes sir.
- Q That year is that? A In the fall of '87 I believe it was, as well as I remember now.
- Q When did the Bulaska family come? A I think the girl and the old lady came in the next spring.
- Q How long did they remain that time? A The old lady stayed here, but the girl went back and in a short time her husband came back.
- Q Did she come back until after her marriage? A No, she was married when she came first.
- Q The last time? A She was married I think, she was married when she came out.
- Q How long has August Bulaska been a permanent and continuous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A I think he came there in the fall of 1884 or 1885, I don't say which.
- Q How long has Robert Pierce been a continuous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A Ever since he was admitted.
- Q That was that? A '85.
- Q How long has Martin L. Patterson? A Ever since he married his wife, and he was living here before he married his wife.
- Q Who is Arizona Almy? A That is my daughter.
- Q Did you bring her with you? A No not when I moved.
- Q When did she come? A She came out in a year or two after I moved here.
- Q Was she married when you moved here? A No sir, she was not married.
- Q She was not married when you were admitted? A No sir, she was a child.
- Q When did Jim Lee come to this country? A With his grandfather, James Lee.
- Q What was his father's name? A Melvin Lee.
- Q Was he ever in the country? A No sir.
- Q Was he ever in the country? A No sir.
- Q Was he ever in the country? A I think he was.
- Q Was he ever in the country? A Yes sir.
- Q Was he ever in the country? A Married one of the Jacksons.

Q When did they come to this country? A Right away after they was admitted.

Q In what year? A I think the winter of '94, I think it was, spring or winter of '94.

Q You know Oideon Graham? A Yes sir.

Q Who is his mother? A Missouri Ann Graham, formerly Missouri Ann Dawson.

Q Did he come from Texas to Arkansas? A Come from Texas.

Q Did you know them in Texas? A I knew the girl.

Q You never knew them until they come to this country? A I never knew Oid.

Q When did you see him here? A I think they come here in the fall or winter of 1894 or '95.

Q He was married then? A I think he was.

Q Brought his wife? A I think he was, I don't know.

Q Did he have any children when you first saw him? A He come to my house and I never saw his family for-I don't know, for several years.

Q You understood he had a family? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Did you mean to say '84 or '94? A '84.

Q Did you see Oid Graham in '84? A '84, let me study, March '85.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Did you see him in '85, are you positive on that proposition? A I think so.

Q Will you swear it? A No sir, I can't positive swear it, but I think it was, as I remember how it was, I couldn't say positive.

Q All the people Mr. Dawson that have been admitted to citizenship by courts of competent jurisdiction unless they were de-citizenised by courts of acquired jurisdiction, enjoyed the same privileges that you have narrated here about going to school and being tried in the courts? A Yes sir.

Q All that sort of thing that you have been telling here - is your direct examination? A Ask me the question again.

Q I say all people who were admitted here by courts of competent jurisdiction, until they were de-citizenised by courts of like jurisdiction, enjoyed the same privileges that you did? A So far as I know they was.

Q They all drew money and all tried in the courts as long as we had tribunal courts, were they not? A Yes sir, so far as I know.

Q There was no special privilege granted to you in preference to anybody else? A None but recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q Well you had been recognized since you were admitted? A Yes sir, I enjoyed the same privileges of native born Cherokees.

Q Well I say there is nothing special about it? A No, I don't know as there is.

Q You got acquainted with Mr. Duncan while you were up there during the hearing? A Yes sir, I was acquainted with him, knew him, when I saw him.

Q Mr. Bill Ross did the examination of Dr. Baker? A Yes sir.

Q Did you file any other paper before the Court other than your petition and then Dr. Baker's statement? A I never filed any petition there at all.

Q None whatever? A I don't remember any.

Q Well you never had occasion to file any papers before Mr. Duncan? A I got him to do some writing for me.

Q What? A Letters to my brother in Texas.

Q Buck Dawson? A Yes sir, H. Dawson.

Q What? A Yes sir, Buck Dawson.
Q Well, is that all he did for you? A I don't remember anything about it.

Q Why didn't you get your attorney to do that letter writing? A There was not any there.

Q Taylor nor Benge was not there then? A No sir.

Q That is what you paid the 20 or 25 dollars for, was writing this letter back to your brother? A I paid him for that claim.

Q When did you pay that? A I think I paid it, I don't exactly when, Camp Taylor paid it a year or two after I moved out here and settled where I did; right have been 2 years. I don't remember.

Q Where was Duncan living then? A I couldn't say where.

Q Was he still clerk of this Court? A No sir, that when the money was paid; that is, when Camp Taylor paid he paid it.

Q You did send Camp Taylor some money? A I sent some money to him for Joel Bryant.

Q You knew Joel Bryant's address didn't you? A No, I don't know that I did, No I didn't send Camp Taylor any money, I gave it to him.

Q How much did you give him? A One hundred dollars.

Q When? A Right at that time; he claimed it from me as soon as we got our papers; he came onto me and demanded it for Bryant.

Q You never sent him any then after that? A No sir.

Q Did you ever see Bryant after that? A Yes sir.

Q How long after that? A I don't know, a year or two afterwards, a year I believe, my brother wrote, I wrote to my brother about paying Camp Taylor money and he went onto my brother about it and he never paid him until we moved out to this country.

Q After all that you got him to attend to your uncle Jim Dawson's and the other relatives cases? A The other parties did.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicant's object to all that part of the witness' evidence in response to interrogatories by your representatives of the Cherokee Nation which relates to the character of the evidence upon which the judgments admitting members of the James and Robert Dawson families were admitted, and to the history of the members of the Dawson family, because the same is immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q One question I omitted to ask you Mr. Dawson, as to the Court at the time the judgment admitting Robert Dawson's family was rendered, who of the judges were present on that day? A They was all three of them, Wolfe, Tabor and Thompson.

Q Are you positive of that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You do not know this Andrew Dawson family who applied to the Dawes Commission for Cherokee citizenship, and who stated that they are cousins of some members of your family? A Andrew?

Q Andrew J. Dawson, who claimed to be from Missouri? A How was the question?

Q You do not know then do you? A I don't know that they are any kin to us.

Q You don't know that they are related to you at all? A No sir.

Q This Mary Dawson case, do you know the members of that family?

A No sir, I don't.

Q Don't know who they are? A No sir.

Q The Rebecca Dawson case? A I don't know her either.

Q You don't know whether they are related to you or not? A No sir.

Q If any of these persons are related to you or your family did you have any knowledge of it? A Not as I know of.

Q Joanna Barber, do you know anything about them? A They claim to be kin to us.

Q Where are they from? A They are from Texas.

Q Do you know they are related to you? A They claim to be kin.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Were you sworn for them before the Commission? A Yes, they claim to be kinfolks of mine.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Irene J. House, who is that? A That is a cousin of mine; claims to be.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You testified for her didn't you before the Commission? A I think I did as well as I remember.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Before the Court that admitted James Dawson and family, who were the witnesses there? A Oliver Miller, from Berryville, Arkansas.

Q Who were the others? A Myself and J. Dawson and there was two other witnesses, I don't remember who they are.

Q Were they Cherokee citizens and residents of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't remember their names? A Which?

Q Of these other people who claimed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and who were witnesses? A I said about James J. Dawson, was citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q You only proved that Jim Dawson was a brother of Robert Dawson before the Court? A Yes sir.

Q And then referred back to the decision in the Court before? A We proved that they were citizens, and he lied by folks before he ever come here.

Q Was he older than Dr. Baker? A About the same age.

Q Why didn't you get Oliver Miller's testimony in the House case?

Q He was dead.

Q You and no member of your family in the Irene House case or the Joanna Barber case or any of those cases that were tried before the Dawes Commission in your affidavits ever made reference to the fact that Oliver Miller testified in Jim Dawson's case in '84 did you?

A I don't remember about that.

Q You did make reference to the fact that Dr. Baker testified there in '85, didn't you? A I don't remember about that now.

Q You never made reference to any other witness having testified other than Dr. Baker did you? A I don't remember about it now.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Now just one other question: All of these names in the original application and everything, so far as you know, in the James Dawson case, were filed before the Commission which admitted the James Dawson family, and how or recalled here they not? A I know they are, I don't know, I never saw them.

Q Have you tried to get copies of them? A Yes sir, I tried to get the original papers.

BY MR. MCKENNON: This case is continued until 9:30 a.m., tomorrow morning, March 23rd, 1909, at New Orleans the hour for adjournment.

MARCH 23, 1909, - 8:30 A. M. J. J. DAWSON reads on the stand testimony as follows:
BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Where was your brother with Dawson raised? A In Arkansas.

Q What county? A Carroll.
Q Did you know him?
Q Did Dr. Riley live in Rexville? A Yes sir.
Q Was your brother interested in him?
A Yes sir.

Q Did he live long enough to be a doctor?
A Yes sir.

Q Do you know Josephine Pierce? A Yes sir.

Q Where was she? A Poplar Bluff.

Q Is she the same identical woman who is called Josie Pierce, and Josie Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Is there any other Josie Pierce or Josie Dawson or Josie
Pierce or Josephine Dawson? A I don't know but to one.

Q She was also called Josephine or Josie Keith? A Yes, after she married her first husband was Pierce.

Q And her second husband? A Was Kelly.

Q There was another Josephine Dawson wasn't there, Bullock's wife?

A Yes they called her Joe, I suppose that's her name, I don't not be positive; that was Pile Dawson's wife, August Bullock's wife.

Q She is much younger than your sister, Josephine, above referred to? A Yes sir, oh yes.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Where were you born, Mr. Dawson? A Carroll County, Arkansas.

Q You know how old you are? A 42.

Q 42? A I think so.

Q How many older children were there of your father's besides yourself? A Three.

Q Which were they? A F. Dawson, Peter Dawson and Jasper Dawson.

Q You are the fourth child of the fourth boy? A Yes sir, fourth boy.

Q Where were your father and mother married, do you know, from family history? A I think it was in Arkansas, I couldn't be positive,
I think they was.

Q Do you know how long your father had lived in Arkansas? A No sir I don't.

Q Don't know what year he came to Arkansas? A Only from statement.

Q Well what did they say about it? A I think they came there some time in '30.

Q You know whether your father was born in Arkansas? No, many of your grandfather's children were born there? A There was none of them born in Arkansas according to history and according to what he always told me, they were born in Tennessee.

Q He came there in '30, and all the other children were born on the Kiwassa River in Tennessee, before he ever came? A That is what I think, yes sir. Now I am not positive about that.

They were from Tennessee, but either Dr. Riley lived there or my folks came from there; I don't know as I remember that I ever heard my father say where he was born at.

Q In Tennessee somewhere; he said he was a good big boy when he came to Arkansas? A I don't know as I ever heard him say.

Q Do you know the difference in the ages of yourself and your three older brothers? A No I don't.

Q Don't know the time that comes in between you? A No I don't know that; I think it is about two years though.

Q That would make E. Dawson about eight years older than you, probably? A Yes sir.

Q Did you see her at that time? A Yes sir.
 Q That is the child of the marriage of John and Mary Pierce?
 A Yes sir.

BY MR. HAYDEN:
 Q Where did you see John Pierce? A Near Afton.
 Q Then? A In that state.
 Q About what time? A You have got a copy of the marriage license.
 Q When did the marriage license come to the Cherokee Nation? A '87.
 Q Has she been here continuously since that time? A Up until her death; she died.
 Q Any other children born with her at that time? A Yes sir.
 Q And she has been here continuously since that time? A Yes sir, except that once, he went to Colorado and died.

J. C. STARR, first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:
 BY MR. HAYDEN:

Q Your name is J. C. Starr is it? A Yes sir.
 Q Mr. Starr, was that instrument taken by you, or before you?
 (Showing the said document.)
 A Yes sir.
 Q Where? A At the residence of S. H. Bengel near Fort Gibson.
 Q When? A On the 15th day of this month.
 Q That day of the week was that? A On Saturday.
 Q Is that the day it was taken? A Yes sir.
 Q Did you go there on Saturday to take this? A Yes sir.
 Q Then when Judge Bengel stated on Tuesday that it was taken "yesterday" meaning Monday, the 17th, he was mistaken, was he?
 A It was taken Saturday, the 15th.
 Q Was he mistaken or not? A It was not taken then.
 Q Then his statement made on Tuesday the 18th that it was taken on "yesterday", meaning Monday, the 17th, was not correct, was it?
 A I think not, because I was there, and it was taken on the 15th.
 Q And it was taken on the 15th, you are positive it was taken on the 15th? A Yes sir.

Q Then of course your statement could not be correct? A I guess not.
 BY MR. HAYDEN:
 Q He was just mistaken about the date, wasn't he? A Yes sir.
 BY MR. HAYDEN:
 Q Did you tell Charles H. Moore who is now present, on last Tuesday that they were to go there on Monday to take that? A No sir.
 BY MR. HAYDEN:
 Q I sent you there on Saturday? A Yes sir.
 Q And you went there in my direction, didn't you? A Yes sir, and come back that night.

ROBERT L. DAWSON, first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:
 BY MR. HAYDEN:

Q That is your name? A My name is Robert L. Dawson.
 Q That is your age? A My age is something close to 30 years old,
 I am 29 past.

Q Are you a son of S. H. Benge? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS. The Nation objects to the introduction of this letter for the reason that S. H. Benge is living and has testified in this case, and his handwriting should be either proven or denied by himself.

G. W. BERGE, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:
 Q What is your name? A G. W. Benge.
 Q Are you a son of Samuel H. Benge? A Yes sir.
 Q Do you know his handwriting? A I believe so.
 Q Is that his handwriting? (Shows witness letter before referred to.) A Yes sir, it is either his or a resemblance of his.
 Q To the best of your knowledge and belief is that his letter?
 A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Now we offer it in evidence.
 BY COMMISSIONER: (to the letter)
 Fort Gibson, D. K.,
 Jan. 13th, 1883.

Mr. E. Dawson, Esq.,
 Dear Sir:- I write this note to inform you that your case came off before the Court on Citizenship on the 11th inst, and was decided in your favor, so you all are citizens of this Nation. F. M. Dawson was furnished with a copy of the decision at the court. He will write to you also. You will please send me fifty dollars as my fee in your case according to contract made it to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation.

Respectfully yours,
 S. H. Benge,
 Attorney at law."

Enclosed in envelope, as follows:
 Card in upper corner, left hand:
 "Return in ten days to C. H. Taylor,
 Attorney at law,
 Tahlequah, Ind. Ter."
 Addressed: "Mr. E. Dawson,

Henryetta,
Clay Co., Texas."

Post-marked: "Tableman, Jan 17 Ind T."

ROBERT L. DAWSON, -re-called and further examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Now examine that and see if that is also a paper which you found among your father's papers after his death? (Hands papers to witness) A That is the same letter that I found.

Q Among the same that you found the Bengé letter? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: This is a letter purporting to have been written by J. M. Bryan, to E. Dawson, dated at Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation, and not dated, which we offer in evidence. (Applicants' attorney hands said paper to Nation's attorneys.)

Q Mr. Bryan is dead is he not? A I think so.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: We have no objection.

BY COMMISSION: (reads letter)

"Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation.

I. T., M. E. & T. R. R.

MR. Dawson:

Dear Sir:-

I am in receipt of your favor of the 30th inst in regard to our contract.

After I had got the claim so there would be little more to do I employed Campbell Taylor to answer for me when the case came up, for which I was to pay him $20 out of my fee.

This all the action I had in the matter with Taylor.

I saw Taylor in Washington last month, and he told me that your brother had made another contract with him, and paid him, or that you was to pay him $100- and that you had offered him a check on some bank in Texas.

That $100- matter with Taylor, I have nothing to do with, nor couldn't have if I wanted to.

I hope Mr. Dawson this letter will explain the matter fully.

And I am satisfied that you are apprised of the earnest work I done for you, Please write to me.

Very respectfully,

Very truly,

J. M. Bryan."

Q I will ask you if you know of your father having paid Bryan that money? A Yes sir, paid him a horse and some other money.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How old was your father when he died? A We, I don't know whether I know his age or not.

Q If you don't know you can't say? A I wouldn't have no reason to know his age; never asked his his age; of course I guess by other know.

Q Never had occasion to talk about his age at all? A Oh I have heard him speaking of his age at different times, but then I never paid enough attention to it.

Gid Graham, being first duly sworn and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q What is your name? A Gid Graham.

- Q How old are you? A Mr. Graham? A I am 35 years old.
- Q How long have you been living in the Territory? A I came out here in 1887 or '88.
- Q To the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you been living in the Cherokee Nation, what year was that '87 or '88? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you resided here continuously from that time ever since in the Territory? A Yes sir.
- Q How long did you live in the Cherokee Nation? A About 6 years.
- Q Where did you go then? A Wagoner.
- Q In the Creek Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q And been residing there ever since? A Yes sir.
- Q In business? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you ever been recognized as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q Mr. Graham, do you know Judge Samuel H. Benge? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you have a conversation with him in Fort Gibson about September or 1890? A Well as to the exact time I couldn't say, it was sometime about the time that the Dawes Commission were at Callisaw, or possibly a little later, somewhere about there.
- Q Taking the census of the Cherokees? A Yes sir.
- Q At that time had the question of the validity of the judgment of the Cherokee citizenship commission admitting Robert Dawson and family been called in question? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you talk to him about the facts concerning the obtaining of that judgment? A I did.
- Q What did he tell you about it; well I will just ask you, did he then and there tell you that that judgment was regular and all right nothing wrong with it? A He did.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, Mr. Graham, were you? A How was that?
- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, expecting this case to be questioned? A Since the validity of that judgment had been attacked by the authorities of the Cherokee Nation, I thought it was well to look into the matter.
- Q And he told you the judgment was all right? A Having known that Mr. Benge was connected with the case, I saw him in Fort Gibson, subsequent to that time and asked him about it, if there was anything wrong about the matter, and also that I right want his affidavit concerning the matter, and I also I think maybe wrote to him; possibly prior to that, I am not sure as to the writing, but I think possibly I did.
- Q Did he tell you he would make an affidavit? A I don't think at that time that I asked him for an affidavit. I thought as he lived right near here I would use him in person; he assured me that everything was all right.
- Q Your mother was Missouri Dawson was not she? A Yes sir.
- Q Her name was Missouri Graham when she was re-admitted to citizenship? A Yes sir.
- Q And was not Missouri Dawson as named in that judgment? A Yes sir.
- Q Do you know whether the other children named in there had married and changed their names also at the time they were admitted? A There were not any of them married.
- Q Ella Dawson was your aunt? A Yes sir.
- Q Was she married at that time? In 1885? A Yes sir.
- Q Melvina Dawson, was she married at that time? A Yes sir.
- Q And the fourth one you have mentioned, Missouri Dawson, was your mother? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't deny writing to him then for the affidavit? A I don't say I did or I did not; I neither affirm it or deny the question.

Q You went to Captain Henge and also wrote him with reference to what he knew about the case? A I don't know whether I wrote him or not, I said I was under the impression I wrote his son.

Q You went to see Aaron Butler, who was interpreter before that court that admitted you? A Yes sir.

Q And you went with Aaron Butler to see Jir Smith, attorney before that court? A Yes sir.

Q And you either wrote or went to see everybody you knew of that was before that court then? A Yes sir.

Q That shows you used considerable activity? A Yes sir, I used such activity as was to my interest.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q That was all after the representatives of the Cherokee Nation objected to the enrollment of the Dawson family and by reason thereof such as had appeared before the Commission had been placed upon a doubtful card? A Yes sir.

Q Then you began to look up the evidence and see what there was in it? A Yes sir.

Q As Mr. Hastings has stated? A That's right.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q You are a grandson of James Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The old gentleman? A Yes sir.

Q About what was his age when he was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, in 1834, wasn't it? A Yes sir, well I can't be exact as to that.

Q Well as nearly as you can? A He was somewhere about 70 or 72, years of age.

Q Well what other James Dawson did you know belonging to the families, either one of these families, Robert Dawson family or the James Dawson family? A I never knew of but two James Dawsons.

Q Who were the others? A Dr. James R. Dawson, who is present and standing right here; my grandfather, James Dawson.

Q Was there in '84 any James R. Dawson 35 or 40 or 45 years old, that you know of, belonging to either one of these families?

A No sir.

Q Do you know how old Dr. James R. Dawson was that that time?

A James Dawson? Q No I am speaking of Dr. James R. Dawson? A Oh, how old he was, no sir, I do not.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Do you know who was here attending to your mother's citizenship case at that time, at the time they were admitted? A Yes sir, James Low and Bill Jackson, son of Ellen Jackson.

Q Who was W. A. Dawson? A That is Wilburn, my uncle.

Q Was he here? A I don't know sir.

Q You were not here any of the time? A No sir.

Q You knew your grandfather then, you had lived in the same neighborhood with him? A Yes sir, I know him well.

Q He didn't die for a year or two after that did he? A After whom, Mr. Hutchings?

Q After his admission to citizenship? A No sir, he didn't die I think until '91 or '90, several years after.

Q Very old man when he died? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q About what age? A He was approximately 80 years old.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q When he died? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q That about 1891? A I think so, yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to the testimony of the witness elicited by interrogatories of Counsel for the Cherokee Nation relating to his family, their history, etc, as being immaterial, irrelevant and incompetent.

James R. Dawson, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Your name is James R. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Where do you live? A Acton, Indian Territory.

Q What is your age? A 45.

Q You are a physician are you not? A Yes sir.

Q Was James Dawson, whose family was admitted in 1884, an uncle of yours? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know what his age was at that time? A No sir, I do not, only approximately.

Q State as nearly as you can? A At the time of the admission?

Q Yes sir? A About 70, I don't know exactly.

Q How old was he when he died? A I would suppose he was about 78.

Q What was your age in 1884? A I am 45.

Q What year were you born, Doctor? A I was born in '55.

Q Must have been '55? A Yes sir, that's right.

Q What was your age then? A In '84?

Q Yes sir? A About 28.

Q Were you present at the time that James Dawson family was admitted, or at any time while their case was pending before the Cherokee citizenship commission? A Not while the James Dawson case was, no sir.

Q You were present during your father's case? A I was there at the time.

Q When was that? A The dates I disremember; when the case first came up, I disremember the exact date.

Q How long were you there? A I was there about a week.

Q Was that when it first came up you say? A Yes sir.

Q Nothing was done? A No sir.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q You never saw Dr. Baker? A Yes sir.

Q Did he and your uncle Jimmie use to talk about how they played together when they were boys? A My uncle Jim and Dr. Baker talk.

Q Yes? A I never saw them together.

Q They were about the same age? A Yes sir, I believe Dr. Baker was 15 years older probably.

Q Dr. Baker must have been mistaken about his own age? A Guessing, that's all I know about his age.

Q The Doctor had been paralyzed, rather a decrepit looking man at the time he was over here at this citizenship business? A No sir, not as I know anything about.

Q He was near about 70 then? A I couldn't tell you, he was an old looking man.

Q Your uncle Jimmie was about 70? A Yes sir.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF THE CHEROKEE NATION.

W. W. HASTINGS, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A W. W. Hastings.

Q Residence? A Tahlequah, age 35.

Q You are attorney for the Cherokee Nation in the general preparation of these cases? A Yes sir.

Q Just state how it happened that you summoned Mr. Campbell Taylor, and what occurred between you with reference to his testimony?

A Well there had been some talk, as the testimony here indicates, that there was perhaps fraud in the admission of this family, and by agreement with counsel on the other side, and the Commission, this case was set for the 17th day of March, and some short time prior to that, as the attorney for the Nation I began to make some preparation or inquiry into the case, and I wrote a great many letters around to different people and among them I wrote C. H. Taylor to come down here. I don't think in that letter that I told him what I wanted with him. I don't think I told him the case that I wanted him to testify in; that is my recollection now. Mr. Taylor prior to that time, neither directly nor indirectly, so far as I know, ever gave me any information voluntarily against this family, or ever said anything that would lead me to believe that he knew anything of a fraudulent character connected with it. But I summoned him; perhaps the fact that I knew he had been connected with them in some way and that I perhaps also would get some information from him. Well he came in response to a letter that I wrote, and I took him up to my office. I talked to him quite a long while. He was exceedingly reluctant about giving any testimony whatever, he told me first and last that he didn't intend to testify before the Commission. He told me he had been attorney for these people, and he didn't believe he could be compelled to testify, and that is he was put upon the stand he would claim that privilege, and he didn't believe I could force him to testify. I talked to him at some considerable length; I asked him what he knew about it; of course he for a long time declined to tell me; and what information I did get from him was by piecemeal. He was exceedingly reluctant all through the interview to give any information. I asked him finally though that if the Court compelled him to testify when he got before the Commission, if he would tell the facts about it, and he said that he would. I told him then that I would subpoena him.

Well we talked quite a good while and finally after always telling me that he intended to claim that privilege, and never wanting to testify, he detailed to me the facts just as he told them on the stand; I don't believe there is the slightest variation, except that he perhaps was not so full at that time and it was told by piecemeal, but I got all those facts out of him, or very nearly all those facts out of him. He may have elaborated a little more here by examination; but he never voluntarily gave me any information at all, either directly or so far as I know indirectly. I don't think he sent any one to me. I got his name because I heard he was connected with the case, and perhaps knew something about it, like I did a great many other people, some of whom I didn't bring, because they didn't know what I supposed they did know about the case.

With reference to S. H. Bengé, I want to state that he never voluntarily gave me any information at all about this case, nor did I know that he knew anything in connection with this case until I sent J. C. Starr over to S. H. Bengé's place to take his affidavit on Saturday, March 16, in the W. H. and J. V. Shoemake case, and the descendants. I had heard that Mr. Bengé knew some important facts in connection with the Shoemake case and I sent him over there then to take that affidavit; and when Mr. Starr came back he told me that he knew some facts also in connection with these other cases, and I was surprised to find he had instead of one affidavit, in the Shoemake case, that he also had another affidavit in the Dawson case. That is the first information I had that Mr. Bengé knew anything whatever in connection with the Dawson case, and therefore he never voluntarily, either directly or indirectly gave any information prior to that time to me.

I impressed upon Mr. Taylor that the Nation only wanted the absolute truth in this matter; that it was not seeking anything else but the truth, and didn't want him to tell anything else but the truth.

I want to say again that after he was on the stand and left that evening, and after Captain McKennon, or counsel for the family, had indicated his willingness for Mr. Taylor to testify, that he went over all of these facts that he testified to on the stand subsequent to that time in the presence of J. C. Starr in my office. I simply wanted to go on the stand for the purpose of showing that Mr. Taylor hadn't voluntarily given me any information, and

I make this statement for that purpose.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q You had no power to compel him to give you any information at that time at all did you? A No sir, none other than the persuasion that I brought to use.
- Q He therefore did it simply upon your persuasion? A Yes sir.
- Q You knew he had been acting as attorney for these parties?
- A Yes sir, I had seen from the record that he did too.
- Q And he told you so? A Yes sir.

BY COMMISSION: The attorneys for the applicant and the representatives of the Cherokee Nation will be granted thirty days from the receipt of the transcript in this case in which to file a brief in this case with the Commission.

I, M. D. Green, do hereby certify that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes I correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

(Signed) M. D. Green.

I, Arthur G. Evans, being duly sworn, state that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes I copied the foregoing, and that the same is a true and complete copy of the original.

DECISION.

It appears from the record herein that applications were made to this Commission at the times and places hereinafter mentioned for the enrollment of the following named persons as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

D 324 By Francis M. Dawson, son of Robert Dawson, at Vinita, Indian Territory, on September 17, 1900, for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Lula, Ray, Jessie J., Jacob L., Ruth A. and Laura A. Dawson as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife Katie Dawson as a citizen by intermarriage. Further proceedings were had in the matter of said application at Muskogee, Indian Territory, on April 8, and October 20, 1902.

D 580 By John Dawson, at Nowata, Indian Territory, on October 15, 1900, for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by blood. Further proceedings were had in the matter of said application at Muskogee, Indian Territory, on July 1, 1902.

Martin, a Notary Public on October 4, 1900, and further proceedings were had therein before the Commission at Muskogee, Indian Territory on March 17, 1902. All of these proceedings have been made a part of the record herein.

The evidence, and an examination of the records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission show that on January 11, 1883, one Robert Dawson and his adult children, F. L. Dawson, Elbert Dawson, Jasper Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilborn Dawson, James Dawson, Rial Dawson, Josephine Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson and John Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on citizenship, commonly known as the "Teenee Court", and that on September 9, 1884, one James Dawson, a brother of the Robert Dawson aforesaid, together with his adult children, Ella Dawson, V. A. Dawson, Malvina Dawson and Missouri Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on citizenship commonly known as the "Spears Court." In addition to their tribal enrollment as shown by the evidence herein, it also appears from an examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, that F. M. Dawson is identified on the Cherokee pay rolls of 1883 and 1894, Elbert Dawson on the Cherokee pay roll of 1888, Mollie Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Wilborn Dawson on the pay rolls of 1888 and 1894, James Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Rial Dawson on the pay rolls of 1888 and 1894, Josephine Dawson on the pay roll of 1888, Jane Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Joseph Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, 1888 and 1894, Ella Dawson and V. A. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1888 and 1894.

Dawson on the pay roll of 1886, and Missouri Dawson on the pay roll of 1894.

A majority of the above named persons, together with the descendants of the persons admitted as aforesaid and such white persons as may have intermarried with the said Dawsons or their descendants are the applicants herein.

For convenience, the applications are divided into groups:

Group 1, includes the applications of Francis M. Dawson and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 324, D 333, D 531, D 584, D 588 and D 835.

The evidence shows that Francis M. Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship as hereinbefore stated under the name of F.M. Dawson. Katie Dawson, his wife, was married to him on November 21, 1880. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and the six children included in the application of said Francis M. Dawson, and hereinbefore named are the issue of the marriage aforesaid. All the applicants herein are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

John Dawson, William R. Dawson, Lizzie Atkins, formerly Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Arizona Allred are the children of said Francis M. Dawson by a former wife, Julia Ann. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship. John Dawson, Lizzie Atkins and Francis M. Dawson, Jr., are identified on the Strip Payment roll of 1894, and William R. Dawson and Arizona Allred are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Andrew C. Atkins was married under a Cherokee 1894-95 license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 29, 1891, to the above named Lizzie Dawson. He has resided in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife since they were married, and the four children included in his application, and hereinbefore named are the issue of that marriage. The oldest child, Arthur, is identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1894, and the three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Arizona Allred, nee Dawson, came from Arkansas to the Cherokee Nation for the first time in 1894, remained there about two years and then returned to Arkansas, where she was married to Len Allred. Such marriage was not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Arizona Allred and her husband came to the Cherokee Nation in 1896, stayed there a month and returned to Arkansas where they remained until September, 1898, at which time they came to the Cherokee Nation, remained there about a year and returned to Arkansas in 1899, where they were living at the date of this application. William C. Allred is the child of said Arizona Allred and possesses no rights not acquired by his mother. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Paragraph 9, section 21, of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495) provides:

"No person shall be enrolled who has not heretofore removed to and in good faith settled in the Nation in which he claims citizenship."

The evidence further shows that Francis M. Dawson, his wife, Katie and William M. Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Lizzie Atkins have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and Andrew C. Atkins, the husband of said Lizzie Atkins, since 1881, and that John B. Lee has resided in the Cherokee Nation for at least fourteen years prior to the date of his application. The residence of the said children of the above named Francis M. Dawson, and of the said Katie Dawson, with whom they are located, Group II, includes the applications of Samuel R. Dawson, together with those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 350, D 352, D 358, D 365, D 482 and D 402.

The evidence shows that Samuel R. Dawson is identified as the Rial Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as heretofore stated. His wife, Cathrine, a white woman, was married to him on July 11, 1866. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since their marriage, and August and Mate Dawson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. Samuel R. Dawson, his wife and children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, Josephine Bulawsky, formerly Josephine Dawson; John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman, formerly Katie Dawson are the children of said Samuel R. Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Sarah F. Dawson, nee Abbott, was married to the said Albert H. Dawson in October, 1894. She has lived with her said husband, since they were married. Ralph H., Alford and Cecil Dawson are the issue of that marriage. Sarah F. Dawson and her child Ralph H. are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. Alford is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission. The evidence further shows that the youngest child, Cecil Dawson, is dead.

August Bulawsky, was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 25, 1883, to the said Josephine Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and heretofore stated, are the issue of that marriage.

four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and the Strip payment roll of 1894. May Bulawsky is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and Oscar Bulawsky is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Hannie Dawson, nee Baugher, was married to the said John W. Dawson on September 2, 1894, and she has lived with her said husband since they were married.

The evidence further shows that Samuel R. Dawson, his wife, Catherine, and Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1896, August Bulawsky and his wife Josephine, since 1892, and Sarah F. and Hamie Dawson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group III, includes the application of John Dawson, and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 578, D 360 and D 530. The evidence shows that John Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. Sarah J. Dawson, nee Wood, his wife, a white woman, was married to him on October 4, 1871. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the nine children included in the application of said John Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. John Dawson, his wife, and his seven older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Therms P. Dawson and Orle H. Dawson are the children of said John Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are both identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Thomas P. Dawson was married on April 24, 1898, to Allen A. Allison, and Marice J. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Orle H. Dawson was married on December 28, 1899, to Willie York, and Burr R. and James W. Dawson are the issue of that marriage. The said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John Dawson and his wife, Sarah J., have resided together in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that said Orle H. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and that Thomas P. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IV, includes the applications of those claiming through the said Josephine Dawson, now deceased. At the time of her admission she was the wife of one Thomas Pierce, but was admitted to citizenship under maiden name of Dawson. The group embraces cases numbered D 408, D 409, D 431, D 471, D 472 and D 479.

The evidence shows that Robert Pierce, William Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Oma Gray, formerly Oma Pierce, Effie Pierce (now Effie Akin) and Nancy J. Bogle, formerly Nancy J. Pierce are the children of said Josephine Dawson. They were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Nellie Pierce, a white woman, was married to said Robert Pierce on July 15, 1894. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and Lyrtle and Arthur Pierce are the issue of that marriage. Nellie Pierce is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and her two children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Oma Gray was married to John B. Gray on April 7, 1898, and Cecil and Walton Gray are the issue of that marriage. Oma Gray is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894 and her children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John S. Bogle was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 5, 1894, to the above named Nancy J. Pierce. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. John S. Bogle and his two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his four younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said William Pierce died in January, 1902.

It further appears that Robert Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Nancy J. Bogle and Oma Gray have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that John S. Bogle, husband of Nancy J. Bogle, and Nellie Pierce, wife of Robert Pierce, have resided in said Nation ever since they were married, and the residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents with whom they are living. It appears that Effie Akin was seventeen years old at the date of the application for her enrollment, and it further appears that she resided in the Cherokee Nation from about 1886 up to December, 1900, when she went to Colorado, was married there to Will Akin, and is now living in that state with her said husband.

Group V, includes the application of the said Joseph Dawson, Wilborn Dawson and James Dawson, and embraces cases number d D 364, D 475 and D 526.

Joseph E. Dawson is identified as the Joseph Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He was married to Florence Jackson on May 16, 1886, and they have lived together since the date of their marriage. The said Florence Jackson is the daughter of Ella Dawson, but she was of age at the date of her marriage and is entitled to citizenship. The six children included in the application of said Joseph R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the marriage between the said Joseph R. Dawson and Florence Jackson, the applicant, his said wife and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two youngest children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

William Dawson is identified as the person who that was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James R. Dawson is identified as the James Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. His wife, Martha A. Dawson was married to him on February 20, 1890. She has lived with her said husband since the date of their marriage, and the four children included in the application of said James R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. The applicant, his said wife and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that Joseph R. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Florence Dawson and Wilborn Dawson have resided in said Nation since 1886, and that James R. Dawson has resided in said Nation since 1883, excepting a temporary absence from 1889 to 1891. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VI, includes the application of Mollie Dawson and those claiming through her and embraces case numbered D 518.

The evidence shows that Mollie Moore, formerly Dawson, is identified as the Mollie Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. Her husband, Charles T. Moore, was married to her under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on January 17, 1887. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. Charles T. Moore, his wife Lollie, and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896; the two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that said Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie and his oldest child have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; the younger children have resided in said nation all their lives.

Group VII, includes the applications of those claiming through the above named Jane Dawson, who, at the time of her admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as hereinbefore stated, was the wife of one Alexander Blasingame, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. Jane Dawson is a resident of Arkansas, and is not an applicant for enrollment. This group embraces cases numbered D 832, D 833 and D 834.

The evidence shows that Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame, and James R. Blasingame are the children of said Jane Dawson. They were minors at the time of their mother's admission to citizenship and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Henry A. Blasingame was married to his wife Birdie J., on December 6, 1896, and Vinnie C. Blasingame is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ida Blasingame, a white woman, was married to the said Elbert L. Blasingame on September 5, 1894. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married and the four minor children included in the application of said Elbert L. Blasingame are the issue of that marriage. The said Ida Blasingame and her two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Mary A. Blasingame was married to the said James R. Blasingame on August 11, 1895. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the three minor children included in the application of said James R. Blasingame, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Mary A. Blasingame and her oldest child are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame and James R. Blasingame removed to the Cherokee Nation in 1897 and have resided therein with their said wives ever since. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VIII, includes the applications of those claimants through the said Elbert Dawson, and embraces cases numbered D 435, D 604, D 608, D 605, D 609, D 617, D 626 and D 627.

The evidence shows that Zona Patterson, formerly Dawson, William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Richard W. Dawson, Ella L. Spickerman, formerly Dawson, and Francis M. Dawson are the children of the said Elbert Dawson. All of them, excepting the said Francis M. Dawson, were minors at the time of their father's admission to citizenship. Zona Patterson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson are identified on the Strick request roll of 1894. An examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, shows that the said Ella L. Spickerman is also identified on the Strick request roll of 1894.

Martin L. Patterson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 13, 1890, to the said Zona Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Martin L. Patterson and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Alice Dawson, nee Alexander, was married to the said William C. Dawson on November 18, 1886. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married.

Elbert B. Dawson was married on February 16, 1898, to Cora Bright, a non-citizen, and his child Ralph E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Sarah J. Dawson, nee Jones, was married to the above named Elbert Dawson about 1854, and lived with him as his wife until his death in February, 1899, and has not re-married since his death. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. F. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship.

Richard W. Dawson was married to Luella Mason, a white woman, on January 24, 1898. His child Ina E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage, and she is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ella L. Spickerman was married to John J. Spickerman, a white man on September 7, 1897. Her children Hellen J. and William Glenn are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

It further appears from the evidence that Francis M. Dawson, son of Elbert Dawson, at the time of his father's admission to citizenship ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis M. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321), section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1836, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 23, D 35, D 836, D 1124, D 1125, D 1126, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1888, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the State of Texas in 1866, and has lived with her since that time. Tempa V. and Robert S. Graham are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. John W. Graham, his wife and two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1894.

ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis K. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1896 (30 Stats., 495), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert E. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered, D 23, D 35, D 836, D 1124, D 1125, D 1126, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1868, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the State of Texas in 1866, and has lived with her since that time. James M. and Robert E. Graham are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. John W. Graham, his wife and two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Joe E. Graham was married to Mary Bradshaw, a non-citizen on January 6, 1898. William C. Graham is the issue of that marriage, and he is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

John F. Graham was married on February 11, 1900, to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, and Edna M. and Robert Lee are the issue of that marriage. Said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Bessie Graham was married on November 2, 1892, to the said James M. Graham. She has lived with him since the date of their marriage, and the six children included in the application of said James M. Graham, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. The oldest child Marion is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894, and the five younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John W. Graham, his wife Missouri Graham, Gideon Graham, Mathew A. Painter, and his wife Laverna A. Painter, Florence P. Bradshaw, John F. Graham and Joe Willie Neal have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888, and that Joe E. Graham and James M. Graham have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group X, includes the application of the said Ella Dawson and those claiming through her. The said Ella Dawson, at the time of her admission to citizenship, was the wife of Green W. Jackson, but she was admitted to citizenship under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 395, D 476, D 508, D 830 and D 847.

The evidence shows that Green W. Jackson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 24, 1887 to the said Ella Dawson. He had been previously married to her in some prior to her admission to citizenship. From an affidavit made a part of this record it appears that Green W. Jackson died subsequent to the date of this application, and prior to September 1, 1902.

The evidence further shows that Flora Harman, formerly Jackson, Lizzie A. Jackson, William Jackson and Fannie Lenox, formerly Jackson are the children of said Ella Dawson, now Ella Jackson. Flora Harman, Lizzie A. Jackson and Fannie Lenox were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James H. Harman was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 24, 1887, to the said Flora Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the four minor children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. James H. Harman and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

William C. Lenox was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 1, 1888, to the said Fannie Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the two children Birtie E. and Myrtle Lenox, included in his application, are the issue of the said marriage. William C. Lenox and his two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Lizzie Jackson claims to have been married in 1888 to the said William Jackson, who is now deceased. It appears that William Jackson at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship, was over twenty-one years old. There is no evidence that the said William Jackson was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Miss Jackson said the minor children included in her application had her name on them, and identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and that they only such rights as they have possessed by the said William Jackson. The authority of the Commission is defined in Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), heretofore quoted.

The evidence further shows that the said Ella Jackson, the said Flora Harmon and the said Toshie A. Jackson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that William C. Lenox, and his wife Fannie Lenox have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group XI, includes the applications of those claiming through Malvina Dawson and embraces case number D 839.

The evidence shows that James Love is the son of the said Malvina Dawson, and that at the time of her admission to citizenship the said James Love was over 21 years old. There is no evidence that the said James Love was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). It further appears that the said James Love was married on June 12, 1887, to Nellie Knight, a white woman, and the four minor children included in his application and heretofore named, are the issue of that marriage. James Love and his said children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896 and said children take only the rights which may have been acquired by their father.

The authority of the Commission herein is derived in Section 21 of the Act of Congress approved June 20, 1906 (34 Stat., 405), heretofore quoted.

Group XII, includes the applications of those claiming through the said W. A. Dawson and embraces cases numbered D 405, D 406, D 715, R 12 and R 13.

The evidence shows that Millie T. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in 1892 and lived with him as his wife in the Cherokee Nation until his death in 1899, and that she has not re-married since his death. Texanna Woolley is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson and his former wife Melissa A. Dawson. Texanna Woolley was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894. She was married on March 27, 1898, to James Woolley, and her children Irene W. and Wilburn E. are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Henry T. Richardson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 11, 1886, to one Sellar Dawson, who was the daughter of the said W. A. Dawson by his first wife Melissa A. Sellar Dawson was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship. Henry T. Richardson lived in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife Sellar from the date of their marriage until her death in 1892. On September 22, 1898, Henry T. Richardson married one Kitty Flournoy nee Dawson. The said Kitty Flournoy was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Of the children herein applied for, Della F. Richardson is the child of the applicant by his first wife, Sellar. Fina T. Richardson and Jasper C. Richardson are children by his wife Kitty. Edgar, Walter, Alice, Laura, Oscar, Claude and Bess Flournoy are the children of his said wife Kitty by a former husband.

The six older children were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation on December 1, 1894, with their mother as the members of her family. The youngest child Edna Flournoy was born in 1896 and was living at the date of this application. Delia T. Richardson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and Finis T. and Jasper C. Richardson are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Etta Brauer is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson, and was a minor at the date of her father's admission. She was married in 1893 to a non-citizen but such marriage was not in accordance with Cherokee laws. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Melissa A. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in the State of Texas on September 28, 1873. The Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation in the case of Melissa A. Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson, decided that Melissa A. Dawson, the applicant herein was a citizen of the Cherokee Nation by virtue of intermarriage with her said husband, W. A. Dawson. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and she has not re-married since her divorce from said W. A. Dawson.

The evidence shows that Texanna Woolley has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that Etta Brauer and Melissa A. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation, with the exception of temporary absences, since 1884; that Millie T. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1892; that Henry T. Richardson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1896, and that Kitty Richardson, his wife, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group XIII, includes the following applications: Emma T. Weddle, et al D 521; William D. Dornitt, D 523; Alamo H. Finney, D 543; Florence Morgan, et al D 555; John H. Haddock, D 565 and George M. Hedy, et al D 579. The groups above mentioned are cations are related to the above named Dawsons. They are not claiming the right to enrollment by virtue of such relationship, but rely upon a separate adjudication of their rights.

The evidence shows that Hiram F. Weddle was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on September 13, 1884, to Lula P. Douthitt, who was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the said "Spears Court" on September 13, 1884. Curtis, Morris O. and Roy Weddle are the issue of the said marriage. Hiram F. Weddle and his said wife are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and their three children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

William B. Douthitt is the brother of said Lula P. Weddle, and was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation with his said sister on September 13, 1884. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Alonzo M. Fishback was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 17, 1891, to Lav rna A. Dawson. He had been previously married to the same wife in Texas in 1877, and has lived with her ever since. It appears that Lav rna Fishback was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. William A. and Annie B. Fishback are the issue of the said marriage. Alonzo M. Fishback and his said wife and children are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his wife is also identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1890.

Florence Morgan, the wife of Elbert L. Morgan, is the daughter of the Kitty Richardson heretofore mentioned and was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation on December 1, 1894 with the said Kitty Richardson as a member of her family. Eliza and Alice A. Morgan are her children by her said husband. The said Eliza and Alice A. Morgan are her children by her said husband. The said Eliza and Alice A. Morgan are her children by her said husband.

identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John E. Fishback is the son of Laverna Fishback, who was re-admitted to citizenship on December 1, 1894, as heretofore stated. He was a minor at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship and he is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

George A. Mabry was married to one Edna Dawson in the State of Arkansas in 1884. He claims to have been married under a Cherokee marriage license to his said wife in 1889, but he presents no satisfactory proof of such marriage. Edna Dawson was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Roby and Charley Mabry are her children by her said husband, George A. Mabry. Edna Mabry is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894, and the two children were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship.

The evidence further shows that Alonzo H. Fishback and his wife Laverna A. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Lula P. Weddle, William D. Douthitt, and John E. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that Florence Morgan and Edna Mabry have resided in said Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

All birth affidavits for the minor children embraced in this decision, and hereinbefore noted, are made a part of this record.

It is contended by the Cherokee Nation that the applicants herein are not entitled to be enrolled by this Commission because they have never been lawfully admitted or enrolled by the Cherokee authorities, and that the judgment of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship admitting Robert Dawson and his family was vitiated by fraud on the part of said Dawson.

In considering the question at issue, it is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. Page 61, it is stated, "the doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment assailed." Only such facts therefore, are considered by this Commission, as were not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teehee Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teehee Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment.

Briefly stated, the circumstances attending the admission of the Dawsons appear to be as follows:

On September 24, 1881, an application was made to the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship known as the "Teehee Court" for admission to Cherokee citizenship of Robert Dawson and the members of his family above mentioned. The members of that Commission were Thomas Teehee, Alex Wolfe and T. P. Thompson. The first two were full blood Cherokee Indians; they could understand, but could not talk English. One D. W. C. Duncan was the Clerk of the Commission. The Dawson case was continued several times before final decision. J. M. Bryan appears to have been an attorney in the case, and after some delay he notified Francis M. Dawson that the case would be taken up by the Commission at its session in January, 1883, and also informed him that G. H. Taylor would look after Dawson's interests as he, Bryan, would be in Washington. On receipt of this notice Francis M. Dawson went to Fort Gibson, Arkansas, and made arrangements with his uncle Samuel A. Benge to go to Tahlequah and conduct the case. Benge who is a witness herein testifies that he was connected with the Dawson case when it was commenced in 1881; that it was continued several times for want of evidence, and that in January, 1885, in company with F. M. Dawson he went to Tahlequah and while there secured the testimony of Tosh Rogers, a negro, who knew the Dawson's ancestors, and that after getting his evidence the case was submitted to the Commission. He further testifies that the Commission rendered a decision against the Dawsons and that next morning the Commission reopened the case, but not upon motion of the witness, and rendered a judgment admitting the Dawsons to citizenship. He further states that on his way home to Fort Gibson with Dawson he remarked to the latter, "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered a decision against us," to which Dawson is alleged to have replied, "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach and he reached him with five hundred dollars."

Dawson denies ever having had such a conversation and says that he did not return to Fort Gibson with Benge but went home to Arkansas by a different route.

C. B. Taylor testifies that he was an attorney in the case and was present when the case was decided. He says there were only two Commissioners present, Teehee and Wolfe. He further testifies that D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of the Court asked the witness to let him know when any large citizenship cases came up; that he introduced F. M. Dawson to Duncan on the evening of January 10th, heard part of a conversation between them in which Duncan addressing Dawson said, "there is a hitch in your evidence, if that was straightened out it will be all right." Next morning witness says Dawson told him to call up the case, which he did. That there was no additional evidence introduced and no arguments made, and that the case was then decided in favor of the Dawsons. Witness further testifies that Dawson gave him twenty dollars and said he would send him the balance in a short time, that in the course of ten days he sent him one hundred dollars with directions to pay over half of it to Duncan; that Dawson soon afterwards sent him another hundred dollars with the same instruction to give Duncan half of it.

Dawson denied the matters testified to by Taylor excepting in the matter of paying Taylor money, which he admits in part, but says that the twenty dollars he testified was sent to Taylor about a year after the decision, and that he instructed Taylor to pay it over to Duncan to pay him for a land claim, and that the other money was in payment of J. M. Bryan's attorney fees which Taylor represented to Dawson he had for collection against him. Taylor's reputation for truth and veracity has been impeached by various disinterested witnesses.

The evidence which may be considered as tending to support the charge of fraud is the testimony of S. H. Deuge, C. H. Taylor, Thomas H. Babbert, J. L. Clinkenbeard, James W. Lewis, C. G. Braught and David Meredith.

S. H. Deuge testifies that a judgment adverse to the Dawsons was rendered by the Commission on the evening of one day and without any additional proceedings in the case that judgment was reversed on the morning of the next day.

Even if this were a material fact, there is no other proof that two judgments in the case were ever rendered. The record of the proceedings and judgment in the Commission's docket is all on one page, the entry of the application in 1881 and the first continuance being entered under authority of a former Commission and by a different clerk, and there is no evidence of error on that page. It is not an unusual thing for a Court to change its judgment, and a Court, if it is a fact, is not in itself any evidence of fraud.

Thomas B. Clabert testifies that one James Dawson, a man of forty or fifty years of age; in company with Butler, the Commission's interpreter and Jim Smith, solicitor for the Nation came to the witness in Tablequah the evening of January 10, 1885, to borrow some money; that Dawson was vouched for by Butler as a responsible party and that Dawson told the witness that he had to have money that night, that his case was to be submitted the next day if he could get some money, that Smith had agreed to submit the case without evidence, and that witness thereupon let Dawson have ten dollars.

Admitting all this to be true and that the influence of these officials was purchased for the sum of ten dollars, the Commission fails to see how these alleged facts show that the Court was imposed upon or misled. Bribery of officials to use their influence with the Commission would not necessarily vitiate the judgment, but it must appear that the fraud, or corruption reached the members of the Commission and tainted the judgment itself. The case was not submitted without evidence as appears from the record, and it is shown that such evidence was carefully considered by that Commission. Furthermore, the evidence shows that there was no such person then in Tablequah as the James Dawson described by witness.

Clinkenbeard testifies that he had a talk with Elbert Dawson about 1881; that Dawson told him he had only one witness, Dr. Baker of Arkansas, "an old man 85 or 90 years old who did not know straight up" and that he could give Dr. Baker four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would swear black was white. Witness further testifies that Dawson told him that money was what made the mare go in Texas, and that he had found out that it goes here too.

Assuming that this Commission can go into the question of perjury in connection with evidence in that case, the testimony of Clinkenbeard establishes, if anything, only the facts stated, and does not prove that Dr. Baker committed perjury in giving his testimony before the Commission. It is clear that Dr. Baker was the only witness in the case. James stated that Tosh Rogers was a witness, Duncan is under that impression also, and T. P. Thompson, one of the Commissioners, states that he thinks there were three witnesses. The testimony of Dr. Baker, seems, however, to be the only testimony preserved of record. As to whether Doctor Baker offered perjured testimony by Dawson's procurement, it is proper to state that the evidence of W. H. Curtis and A. S. McAnnon, witnesses for applicants, show that Doctor Baker was a man of integrity and was not addicted to drinking.

The testimony of James W. Lewis is to the effect that he had a conversation with F. M. Dawson about 1883, in which Dawson had told the witness that it had cost him seven hundred dollars to get his rights. Braught also testifies that he was an applicant for citizenship about 1861 or 1862, and that while his case was pending he had a talk with F. M. Dawson who told him that if he (the witness) ever got in, it would cost him seven hundred dollars, and that Dawson told him he had paid one witness three hundred dollars, and made arrangements with the Court to get the Dawsons in at one hundred dollars a family. David Meredith testifies that he had a talk with old James Dawson in 1888, and that the latter told the witness it cost him twelve hundred dollars to get his case through.

It can hardly be urged that such evidence is sufficient to show that the members of the Techee Commission were corrupted by the fraudulent use of money. So far as these witnesses have been able to testify the money spent by the Dawsons might have been for proper and legitimate purposes. F. M. Dawson gives a detailed statement of what the case cost him and his brother in a legitimate way. The presumption can not be indulged that such moneys were used for fraudulent purposes and the proof to the contrary must be very clear before this Commission will deny applicants the right to be enrolled upon that ground.

Admitting the truth of all the testimony in this case as to the actual transfer of money by the Dawsons, it appears that Duncan, Butler and Smith were the only beneficiaries of that money. There is no evidence that the members of the Commission received or were offered any of it.

The judgment entered in the Commission's docket shows the signature of the three members of the Commission appended thereto. There is some conflict as to whether Duncan signed Thompson's name, or whether Thompson affixed his own signature. Duncan testified that all three signatures were made by him as Clerk under authority of the Commissioners present, the two full bloods being unable to sign their names. T. F. Thompson testifies that he signed the original transcript of the judgment, which was made on the day of its rendition. The question, however, is not considered to be very material. The signing of judgments by each Commissioner appears to have been a matter of custom only. T. F. Thompson testifies that he remembers the Dawson case and recognizes the judgment therein as the final judgment of the Commission, and that there was no fraud or corruption in the procurement of that judgment by the Dawsons or by any one else so far as he knew.

Such evidence has been introduced by the Cherokee Nation for the purpose of showing that the ancestor, through whom the Dawsons claim, was not a Cherokee, and that other members of the Dawson family, claiming from the same source, have been denied Cherokee citizenship by subsequent Cherokee tribunals, and also by this Commission and by the United States Court. Such evidence, in the opinion of this Commission, is not competent for any purpose in this proceeding. The only question before this Commission is whether there was fraud in the procurement of the Robert Dawson judgment, and not whether the applicants are Cherokee Indians, or whether they ought to have been admitted to citizenship upon the proof submitted. These were questions presented, considered and passed upon by the Teehee Commission. If their decision is a valid and regular judgment, it is binding on this Commission. If, on the contrary, the applicants have never been lawfully admitted to citizenship, because the judgment under which they claim is void, for fraud, then the question as to whether they are Cherokees by blood is not material, as this Commission has now no authority to admit them to citizenship.

While it is true, that since 1863, a number of applicants, members of the Dawson family, have been denied admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, no argument derived therefrom is of any force, for it is also true that other members of the same family have been admitted to citizenship, and the action of the Cherokee authorities in admitting them has never been questioned by the Cherokee Nation. Whatever inference, therefore, may be drawn from these facts applies with equal force both for and against the validity of the judgment in question.

The Dawsons have lived in the Cherokee Nation, most of them since 1863; they have exercised the rights of Cherokee citizenship for many years, some of them occupying official positions in the Nation, and no protest seems to have been made against their citizenship until within the last few years. The records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission, show, that since 1863, there have been Commissions on citizenship charged with authority to investigate the judgments of former tribunals alleged to have been secured by fraud, and the Cherokee Legislature had power to order an investigation, and to create a tribunal with authority to get advice & judgment as to the same. It was their duty to have been taken by the Cherokee authorities with reference to the judgment of the Teehee Commission in the Robert Dawson case.

After a careful consideration of all the facts in this case this Commission is of the opinion that the evidence fails to establish that the Dawsons secured their admission to citizenship by fraud or that the judgment of the Teehee Commission as rendered January 11, 1883, was fraudulent as the result of corruption, bribery, or deception upon the part of the Dawsons, or their agents, and that such judgment, and also the judgment of the Spears Commission in 1884, and the Act of the Cherokee National Council of December 1, 1894, which have not been attacked by the Cherokee Nation, being regular on their face, must therefore be accepted by this Commission as the valid judgments of the duly constituted Cherokee authorities.

It is, therefore, the opinion of this Commission that,

It is further the opinion of this Commission that, for the reasons heretofore stated, the applications for the enrollment of Arizona Allred and William C. Allred, (embraced in D 835); Francis M. Dawson, son of Elbert Dawson, (embraced in D 627); Osie Jackson, Lizzie Jackson, Jessie Jackson, Ray Jackson, and Clyde Jackson, the children of William and Lizzie Jackson, (embraced in D 830); James Lowe, May Lowe, Zelma Lowe, Roberta Lowe and Rosa Lowe, (embraced in D 839), as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, and that the applications of Lizzie Jackson, widow of William Jackson, (embraced in D 830), and George A. Mabry (embraced in D 975), as citizens by intermarriage of the Cherokee Nation should be denied, in accordance with the provisions of the law heretofore quoted, and it is so ordered.

As hereinbefore stated William Pierce (D 409) and Cecil Dawson (D 558) and Green W. Jackson (D 395), died prior to September 1, 1902. It further appears from affidavits, made a part of this record that Lizzie and Margaret Graham (D 1128) have died since the date of the application for their enrollment and prior to September 1, 1902.

It is, therefore, ordered that the applications for the enrollment of said William Pierce, Cecil Dawson, Green W. Jackson, Lizzie Graham and Margaret Graham be, and the same are hereby dismissed.

CHEROKEE ENROLLMENT.

Francis M. Dawson, et al.,

GROUP VI.

The Honorable,
The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

Referring to office report of even date transmitting the Commission's report of February 25, 1903 and Group 1 of the record relative to the application of Francis M. Dawson, et al., applicants for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, there is enclosed herewith record relative to the applicants involved in Group VI.

D. 518, Group VI. page 1.

Charles T. Moore applies for the enrollment of himself as an intermarried citizen of the Cherokee Nation, and for the enrollment of his wife, Mollie, and their five minor children, Nora, Walter, Clara, Ora and James W. Moore, as citizens by blood. He also applies for the enrollment of his minor child, Mina E. Moore, who was born subsequent to the date of his application. She is identified by a birth affidavit.

January 17, 1887, Charles T. Moore was married to Mollie Dawson, a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, in accordance with the laws of the Nation. Mollie Dawson was admitted to citizenship by the Tennes Court January 11, 1883. Charles T. Moore, his wife and their oldest child, have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883a. The other children have resided there since their respective births. Charles T. Moore, his wife, Mollie, and their children, Nora, Walter, Clara and Ora Moore, are identified by the 1896 census rolls. Mollie Moore's name appears on the 1886 pay-roll of the Cherokee Nation. Opposite her name appears the following "formerly a Dawson." Nora Moore's name appears on this roll. Charles T. Moore is identified by the 1890 pay-roll as "Charley Moore--an adopted white." The name Mary Moore also appears on this roll, as does Nora, Walter and Hugh-- "in the same family." The record also shows that the following names appear on the 1894 pay-roll of the Cherokee Nation--Mary Moore, Nora Moore, Walter Moore and Carrie Moore. The principal applicant was asked whether he had a child named Carrie Moore, to which he replied "Yes sir." James W. Moore and Edna E. Moore are properly identified by birth affidavits.

The Commission in its decision of December 23, 1902, held that all the applicants to this Group were entitled to enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee Nation--Charles Moore as an intermarried citizen and the other applicants as citizens by blood.

In connection with this Group, attention is respectfully invited to office report of even date transmitting Group 1., and for the reasons therein set forth the approval of the Commission's decision, except in so far as it relates to the enrollment of Charles T. Moore as a citizen by intermarriage, is recommended.

Very respectfully,

Commissioner.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL.

WASHINGTON, February 18, 1904.

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

I am in receipt, by reference of December 29, 1903, of the report, October 16, 1903, of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, transmitting the proceedings of the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes upon the application of Francis M. Dawson and others (250 persons) for enrollment as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, with request for my opinion----

as to the powers and duties of the Commission and the Department in cases of this class, that is, where persons have been admitted to Cherokee citizenship by tribal acts and decrees, where fraud is alleged.

If, in your opinion, the Department has the authority to investigate cases of this kind, it desires to be advised:

1. What character of evidence is sufficient to warrant such investigations?
2. If proper evidence of fraud exists, should applicants be rejected or allowed a rehearing to show, if possible, other and lawful grounds for enrollment?
3. In this, the Dawson case, what action should now be taken by reason of the alleged fraud?

Part of the applicants claim under judgments of the Cherokee Citizenship Court of January 11, and September 14, 1893, admitting them or their ancestors to citizenship, and others claim, as stated by the letter of reference, under act of the National Council, approved December 1, 1894, granting such admission. Counsel for the Nation oppose enrollment of those claiming under the judgments, on the ground that they were procured, as it is claimed, by bribery of the clerk of the court and by perjured testimony.

The ground of objection to enrollment of those claiming under the act of the Council does not appear to be discussed in the briefs submitted in the cases based upon judgments of the citizenship court, which are transmitted with the papers.

The Commission admitted the applicants to enrollment, and states the ground of its decision, that:

It is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. page 61, it is stated, "the doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment assailed. Only such facts therefore are considered by this Commission as were not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teehee Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teehee Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment.

The duties of the Commission as to persons (not freedmen) claiming enrollment are defined by the first paragraph of section 21 of the act of June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495) 502), which directed the Commission to enroll all Cherokees (except freedmen) found on the roll of 1850 and descendants afterward born to them, and ---

all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood, have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted; and they shall investigate the right of all other persons whose names are found on any other rolls and omit all such as may have been placed thereon by fraud or without authority of law, enrolling only such as may have lawful right thereto, and their descendants born since such rolls were made, with such intermarried white persons as may be entitled to citizenship under Cherokee laws.

As the principal applicants here claim by enrollment after 1880, their cases must be determined under the provision above quoted. The principal applicants were admitted and enrolled by tribal authority, made permanent settlement in the nation, and have ever since resided there. The question is, whether the Commission may investigate as to the fact of the Cherokee blood of the principals admitted by judgments of the Citizenship Court, and upon a charge that the judgments were fraudulently procured.

It appears that a citizenship court or Commission was established in the Cherokee Nation which, January 11, 1883, on an application duly filed in the court, and after taking and considering evidence, adjudged that Robert Dawson, F. M. Dawson and others named-- are Cherokees by blood and that they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship within the Cherokee Nation, and that they should be, and they are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees.

Other applicants related to those thus admitted were admitted, September 14, 1883, by a similar decree and similar Commission, constituted of different persons. These decrees were duly recorded in the records of these tribunals, and no appellate or original proceeding was ever taken to reverse, modify, or vacate them. The parties so admitted were then living in the nation or soon after removed there, and have ever since resided therein, identifying themselves with the Indian community and co-operating to its development and progress. They have built homes, improved lands, accumulated property, have always been recognized as Cherokees, been chosen to office, participated in the conduct of national affairs, been borne on its various rolls, participated in distribution of public moneys, and for twenty years have been in fact recognized as Cherokee citizens. When they apply for enrollment by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes they are met by the objection that they have in fact no Cherokee blood; that the testimony upon which the original decree was rendered (the witness being now dead) was perjured; that the first petitioner (now dead) corrupted the court (two of whom are now dead), and the present applicants, none or few of whom are charged with wrong-doing, must give up their lands and homes to those who have not improved, cultivated or built them, lost the nationality to which many of them have been born, and all are loyal, and seek elsewhere a new nationality, establish new homes, and work out a new heritage.

Assuming for the moment that the charge were fully proven, the result contended for does not, in my opinion, follow: It is said by Freeman on Judgments, section 435, 4th edition, that "the defendant in an action upon a judgment is never permitted to show that it was procured by perjury," citing Demerritt v Lyford (27 N.H. 541), and Cottle v Cole (20 Ia., 481). The same author says, section 503, that "equity will not relieve (against a judgment) on the ground of the absence of a witness who with diligence could have been procured, nor on the ground that a witness was guilty of perjury, nor because the suitor was absent from court, for it is his business to be there," citing Cott v Carr, 6 Gill & J.

(Md), 309, and Dilly v Bernard, 8 Gill & J., 171. Again, section 289, the author says:

The settled policy of the law forbidding that a matter once adjudicated shall be again drawn in issue while the former adjudication remains in force does not permit the prosecution of an action for obtaining a judgment by false and fraudulent practices, or by false and forged evidence. Neither can a party against whom judgment has been recovered sustain an action against his adversary for the witnesses for damages occasioned by their conspiring together and procuring a judgment by fraud or perjury as long as the judgment remains in force and unreversed; (citing)

Hillsborough v Nichols, 46 N.H. 379; Engstrom v Sherburne, 137 Mass. 153; Note 265, by C.H. & E., to Phillips on Evidence; Dunlap v Glidden; 31 Me. 436; 52 Am. Dec. 626, . . . Cunningham v Brown, 28 Vt. 123; 16 Am. Dec. 140; Smith v Lewis, 3 Johns. 157; 3 Am. Dec. 459.

The general rule is that judgments of every tribunal having jurisdiction, while remaining in force and not reversed or vacated, are conclusive upon the matters adjudged and not open to question in a collateral proceeding. This rule was fully sustained by the court in United States v Throckmorton (90 U.S., 61, et seq.) wherein the United States sought to cancel the patent to lands issued upon a decree for confirmation of a Mexican land grant, obtained as it was charged by a fraudulently antedated grant.

Nothing in the act in question indicates that a rule of law so essential, so essential to the stability of judgments, and to the peace of society, was intended by Congress to be abrogated. I am therefore of the opinion that judgments of the Indian tribal courts upon the question of Cherokee blood, left for years in force, unquestioned, and which never have been vacated, should be held conclusive upon the nation, and that the Commission correctly so held.

It is proper, however, here to remark, in justice to the dead applicant and the judges, that the evidence in the record, in my opinion, falls far short of showing improper conduct or motive on their part, or even to show error in their judgment. The strain of Cherokee blood claimed by the Dawson family originated in a marriage contracted prior to about 1823, so remote in time that it could only be established by persons already old in 1882. It could not be neither proved nor disproved by direct testimony of any one living, and is capable of proof only by family tradition, dimmed by the lapse of almost a century. It is obvious that judgments ought not to be brushed aside and rights supposed to be vested to be struck down on that kind of evidence and in a collateral proceeding. I am therefore of the opinion that no action for a correction of the alleged fraud ought to be taken as to those cases standing upon the adjudications.

As to the cases standing upon the acts of admission of the Cherokee Council, the same result follows, but for other reasons. This was a legislative grant. The Cherokee Council had plenary power to grant rights of citizenship. Being a legislative body, it was not bound by technical rules of evidence obligatory upon judicial tribunals. It might act on any evidence satisfactory to itself of the fact of Cherokee descent, or it might grant citizenship to one not of Cherokee descent. Having made the grant, neither its motive nor the sufficiency of the evidence moving it, is open to question. That it did not undertake the grant is alone and of itself sufficient.

Very respectfully,

Assistant Attorney General.

March 31, 1904.

Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes,
Muskegee, Indian Territory.

Gentlemen:

February 25, 1903, you transmitted the record in the matter of the application of Charles T. Moore, et al., for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee Nation. The record relative to their application forms part of the record in the consolidated case of Francis M. Dawson, et al., in reference to which you rendered a decision December 23, 1902.

In said decision you disposed of the applications in the Dawson case by groups. Group VI. will be considered herein. This group includes the applications of Charles T. Moore, D. $18, for his enrollment as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Mollie Moore, and his six minor children, Nora, Walter, Clara, Ora, James W. and Mina E. Moore, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation.

The said Charles T. Moore was married to Mollie Moore, formerly Dawson, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation, January 17, 1887. He is identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1896, and has resided with his wife in the Cherokee Nation since their marriage.

The said Mollie Moore, nee Dawson, was admitted to Cherokee citizenship by a decree of the Tehee Court dated January 11, 1883. She is identified upon the pay roll of 1883, and upon the census roll of 1896, and has resided in the Nation since 1883. The four older children named above are identified on the census roll of 1896; the two younger by birth affidavits.

It is considered that the residence of said minor children is that of their parents.

You held that all of the applicants named above are entitled to enrollment.

Reporting as to this group, October 16, 1903, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommended that your decision be approved, except in so far as it relates to Charles T. Moore, who claims by intermarriage.

The attorney for the Cherokee Nation protests against the enrollment of these applicants, claiming that the decree of the Tehee Court was obtained through fraud.

The question of fraud in connection with the Dawson case was submitted to the Assistant Attorney General, and was disposed of by him in favor of the applicants in an opinion rendered February 16, 1904, approved by the Department, a copy of which was sent you February 24, 1904.

The Department concurs in your recommendation as to these applicants who claim by blood. In reference to Charles T. Moore, no action will be taken at present, inasmuch as the right of intermarried persons to enrollment as Cherokee citizens is now under consideration by the Court of Claims.

A copy of Indian Office letter of October 18, 1903, is inclosed.

Respectfully,

(Signed) Theo. Ryan,

Acting Secretary.

Q Have you a marriage license and certificate? A I have.
(Produces license and certificate.)

Q This paper you have handed me is a duly certified copy of marriage license issued to you on the 7th day of February, 1888, by J. S. Shelton, Clerk of Delaware District, with a certificate of you being married to the person named in that license, namely Miss Missouri Dawson, a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, you a citizen of the United States, on the 10th day of February 1888, and signed E. W. Rivers, Presiding Elder Cherokee District Indian Mission Conference; the copy is duly signed and certified to under seal of J. S. Shelton, Clerk of Delaware District, Indian Territory; the same has been exhibited to the representatives of the Cherokee Nation, and they make no objection to the regularity and due order of this document, and it is accepted. Your wife's maiden name was Missouri Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Was she a Cherokee by blood? A She is.

Q What year was she on the roll of 1880? A She was not found thereon.

Q Why is your wife's name not on the roll of 1880? A We wasn't here at that time.

Note: Applicant has produced certificate of admission of his wife in 1884.

Q This paper you have handed me seems to be a duly attested copy from the office of the Commission on Citizenship at Tahlequah, of the Cherokee Nation, dated September 14th, 1883, in which a number of persons, among them Missouri Dawson, whom you claim as at present your wife, were, after certain proceedings, duly admitted by the Commission on Citizenship, and this copy is attested under seal by John L. Fair, Executive Secretary; this is further corroborated by a document dated July 25th 1890, both of which state that on the 9th day of September, 1884, Missouri Dawson, among others, was admitted to Cherokee citizenship as Cherokee by blood. These documents are exhibited to the representatives of the Cherokee Nation and they take no exception to them, as to form, and they are accepted, as due and regular as to form.

Statement by Attorney Hutchings, Attorney for Cherokee Nations.

The representatives of the Nation desire to state here that this is a copy of a large number of cases that will come up under the decision by this court, and that we are now in possession of several of evidence that that was a fraudulent judgment, and that we will use all diligence to get this testimony and bring it before the Commission at the very earliest moment possible, and will do sive that it shall be a whole showing, the notion being given to the other side. It would be almost impossible, or as to get this evidence in every single case, because it would be a very great expense to the Nation, and it could not be done at all as it relates to the condition of the judgments and the condition of character of the land.

Examination by Contr Breckenridge:

Q Do your children have your name? A Two miners.
Q Give their names and ages? A Tempa V. Graham, seventeen years old. (On 1866 roll, Canadian District, page 29, #798, as Tempa V. Graham, aged thirteen years.)
Q How long did that as your child? A Yes sir.
Q How long could? A No, sir, and fourteen years.
(On 1866 roll, Canadian District, page 29, #798, as Tempa V. Graham and son.)

Contr Breckenridge: Who did you identify in the roll as stated?

A On the 1866 roll excluded, page 28, #100, John V. Graham, Michigan District; 1866 roll, Canadian District, page 29, #796a, Michigan District.

Contr Breckenridge: They are not properly identified as stated on the roll of 1866.

Applicant: They will not appear upon the 1866 roll, but they appear upon the rolls of 1861 or 1862, upon the last cross payment roll.

Contr Breckenridge: 1861 roll excluded, Canadian District, page 28, #312, Michigan District.

Applicant: Oh, yes, we were on the 1864 roll.
Robert V. Graham, 1864 roll, page 28, #312; Temp V. Graham, 1864 roll, Canadian District, page 29, #797.

Q It appears, Mr. Graham, that you are not your father, except your self, and upon the roll of 1861, you do not appear yourself drawing money at that time. I misunderstand you as to the 1864 roll; we were on that, and also on a previous roll to that.

Contr Breckenridge: The evidence that you adduce, while of course it will come upon your case, in none of it is that character of evidence which Congress makes compulsory for admission, it gives jurisdiction to the Commission. There is certain evidence that Congress requires to be received as absolute and conclusive. Your evidence, however conclusive it might be in its nature, is not of that character as regards the application of existing law. The representatives of the Cherokee Nation give notice that they wish to take certain steps which they have stated here before you, attacking the validity of certain action on the part of the Cherokee Nation, or rather, the Commission on Citizenship, and in view of that, and for further consideration of the case, the Commission will put your application for yourself and your wife and children, for the present at least, on what is called a doubtful, or suspended, card, and a reasonable time will be given to the Nation to make such representations as it thinks just and proper. I wish to say to you also that any evidence, papers or proceedings that you consider to your interest will be received and welcomed by the part of the Commission, so that as far as any further proceedings are concerned there will be an equally fair show on both sides.

H. D. Green, being first duly sworn, states that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes he reports and the foregoing case and that the above and foregoing is a full true and complete transcript of his stenographic notes in said case.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES,
VINITA, I. T., SEPTEMBER 17th, 1900.

IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF Francis Marion Dawson, wife and children for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and being sworn by Commissioner, C. B. Brockinridge, testified as follows:

- Q What is your full name? A Francis Marion Dawson.
Q What is your age? A I am fifty eight years old.
Q What is your Postoffice? A Coahoma.
Q What District do you live in? A Delaware.
Q Who is it you want to have enrolled? A Myself and family.
Q Your wife? A Yes, sir.
Q How many children? A Six.
Q Do you apply for enrollment as a Cherokee by blood? A Yes, sir.
Q Is your wife a Cherokee by blood? A No, sir; she is a white woman.
Q How long have you lived in the Cherokee Nation? A Since 1883.
Q Were you admitted by the Cherokee Commission? A Yes, sir.
The applicant presents a duly authenticated certificate of admission to citizenship, showing that on the 11th day of January, 1883, certain persons were admitted by the Commission on citizenship, and among them appears the name of F. M. Dawson.
Q That is your name is it? A Yes, sir.
This is recognized as satisfactory evidence of the facts stated.
Q Have you lived in the Cherokee Nation ever since your admission? A Yes, sir; in Delaware District ever since.
Q Give me the name of your wife? A Katie Dawson.
Q How old is she now? A Forty five.
Q Was she admitted with you? A No, sir.
Q Have you married her according to Cherokee law since your admission? A No, sir.
Q You have not remarried since your admission? A No, sir; it was not necessary.
The applicant presents a duly authenticated marriage license and certificate, showing that he was married to his wife, as stated herein, in 1880, by the Reverend H. S. Coudelock, in Carroll County, Arkansas, the license being issued by the Clerk of that County.
These papers are filed herewith.
Q Your wife was not admitted by the Cherokee Commission, when you were? A No, sir.
Q At any other time? A No, sir.
Q By act of the Commission or Council? A No, sir; she was placed on the census roll.
Q On the census roll? A Yes, sir.
Q Give me the names of your children, please? A Lula.
Q How old? A Seventeen.
Q Next child? A Ray.
Q How old? A Fifteen.
Q Next child? A Jessie Jane.
Q How old? A Fourteen.
Q Next child? A Jacob Levy.
Q How old? A Ten.
Q Next child? A Hugh A.
Q How old? A He is eight I believe.

Next child? A Laura.
 How old is that child? A She is four years old.
 Is she still? A Yes, sir; six of them. I have others, but they are not here.
 Are they married? A No, sir.
 Are they over age? A Yes, sir.

Q Is this Lula or Luly? A Luly.
 The applicant applies for the enrollment of himself, wife and six children:
 Q Were these children all born since you were admitted into the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.

The applicant is shown by the certificate of admission, cited in the testimony, to have been admitted to Cherokee citizenship, by the Commission on Citizenship, January 11th, 1883; he is identified on the roll of 1896, but the representative of the Cherokee Nation desires to make inquiry into the methods of that time, and for that reason, the application of the applicant will at present be placed on a "Doubtful Card."
 He has lived in the Cherokee Nation ever since his admission to citizenship. His wife was married to him under United States law, and was married prior to his admission: she has never been remarried according to Cherokee law: She has lived with him ever since his admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the roll of 1896. The application for her enrollment will be placed on a "Doubtful Card".

Their six children, as enumerated in the testimony are identified on the roll of 1896: They are living at this time, all having been born since his admission (Applicant's). These children will be placed with him on a "Doubtful Card". The applicant's marriage to the mother of these children is established by the marriage license and certificate filed herewith.
 If any additional papers, adverse are developed in this case, he will be given timely notice thereof.

The undersigned, being sworn, states that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, he correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of his stenographic notes thereof.

BEFORE THE HONORABLE COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

In the matter of the enrollment :
of F. M. Dawson and others as :
Cherokee citizens. :
----- :

Depositions of sundry persons in behalf of the applicants for enrollment mentioned in the title, taken before me, Louis T. Martin, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, duly appointed, qualified and acting as such, at the office of G. B. Denison in the Gray-Halsell building in the town of Vinita, Indian Territory, on Thursday the fourth day of October 1900, between the hours of one and a half o'clock and six o'clock in the afternoon of said day, in accordance with the agreement to take testimony, entered into between the applicants and the Cherokee Nation, by their respective attorneys, which agreement is hereto attached.

T. F. Thompson, being produced by the applicants, being first duly sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

- Q State your name, age, residence and occupation?
- A T. F. Thompson, 53 years old, I live near Vinita, Cherokee Nation.
- Q How long have you resided in the Cherokee Nation? A All my life.
- Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation as now constituted?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Upon what is that citizenship based, blood or otherwise?
- A Blood.
- Q What, if any official position have you held in the Cherokee Nation, and at what time?
- A I was elected to the Cherokee Council in 1870 some odd, I don't remember the exact year, I was also on the Commission Court.
- Q Do you remember when that was? A Some time in 1880 or 1881, I think, it may have been earlier.
- Q Did that Commission or Court have anything to do with admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
- Q State, if you remember, how many members of that Commission or Court, there were, and who they were besides yourself?
- A There were three, Tchoo, Wolf and myself, Tchoo was President of the Court.
- Q Where were the sessions of that body held? A Tahlequah, Cherokee Nation.
- Q Did you have a Clerk? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you remember who that was? A D. W. C. Duncan.
- Q Do you know whether the members of that Commission besides yourself, are living or dead? A Yes, sir, they are both dead.
- Q Can you recollect now what period of time that Commission lasted?
- A About two years I think, two sessions, and there was one session each year.
- Q Were the sessions of that body held in Tahlequah, open to the public at all times when it was in session?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Were the cases coming before that body heard in open session?
- A Yes.
- Q Witnesses examined orally? A Yes, sir.

Q Judgments of the Court or Commission pronounced in open session?
A In case of decisions I think they sometimes had secret sessions, but the judgments of the Commission were pronounced openly.

Q What you intended to convey by you answer to the former question is that after hearing the proof the Commission or Court deliberated in secret session upon the testimony taken before reaching a decision or announcing it? A After hearing all the testimony went into secret session.

Q I will present you with a paper which the Notary will exhibit to you, Exhibit "A" and a copy of which he will attach to your deposition. I will ask you if with the exception of the certificate of record by M. L. Bragdon, Clerk, and John L. Adair Asst. Ex. Secretary, you recognize it as a paper you have ever seen before?

Q I recognize the signature to it, but don't remember the instrument which signature on that paper do you recognize? A My own.

Q That signature is in your own handwriting? A Yes, sir.

Q Do you know whether Thomas Teehee, president of the Commission, could write in English or not? A No, I don't think he could.

Q He as to Alexander Wolfe, a member of the Commission?

Q I don't think he could write either, I don't think either of them ever wrote except by touching the pen.

Q Were you, and are you familiar with the handwriting of D. W. Thompson, the Clerk of that Commission?

Q I recognize it tolerably well, but it has been a long time since I saw any of it. Will you look at the paper again and say whether you recognize the signature attached thereto?

Q Yes, that is his signature to the best of my knowledge.

Q Do you preserve any personal recollection of the application made to that Commission of F. M. Dawson and other members of the Dawson family, to be admitted as citizens of the Cherokee Nation by that Commission?

Q I remember F. M. Dawson and his brother, that is about the only ones I remember.

Q The question was not as to the personal recollection of the individuals, but as to the claim being presented by the Dawsons for admission?

Q Yes, there was such a claim before the Commission.

Q Can you state as to the citizenship of Thomas Teehee, whether he was a citizen of the Nation by blood or not?

Q Yes, sir, he was always recognized as such, full blood Cherokee. What is your knowledge of Alexander Wolfe?

Q About the same, he was also a full blood and recognized as such by the Cherokee.

Q Judge Thompson, if you possessed or had, or have now any knowledge of any corruption or bribery of the court or Commission, or any member of it by F. M. Dawson or any of the Dawson family or anybody connected with the presentation of their claim for citizenship, state it fully?

Q None whatever as far as I was concerned, and I don't think there was any on the balance of the Court.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q Do you mean to say Mr. Thompson that your name attached to that certificate shown you is in your handwriting?

Q Yes, sir.

Q Now Mr. Deacon certified that this is a transcript of the original. In the case, he is mistaken, that is the original?

Q No, I don't know, that may be the original, if that is not the original I don't sign it, if it is the original I sign it.

Q You state that the witnesses were examined orally before the Court. Don't you know that in almost every case you took an oath affidavits of witnesses when those witnesses were not present?

I think we ruled experts evidence out, as well as I remember.
Did you have any stenographer or anybody to copy the evidence?
Duncan did all of the copying.

Was the evidence copied and preserved?

Yes, sir, I think it was.

What was done with that evidence, where was any of it ever put?
I suppose it is at Tahlequah in the office of the Treasurer or Secretary.

When you went into secret session did you have Mr. Duncan read the evidence to you?

Yes, sir, we went over the evidence thoroughly.

Did you allow the applicants or their attorneys admission to your secret sessions?

Q. When you go ready to render your decisions did you then send the applicants or their attorneys?

A. Sir.

Q. Did you render them in secret also, did you? A. Yes, sir.
Have you any recollection who testified in the Dawson case, as to their claim? A. No, sir, I have not.

Q. Have you any recollection as to who they claimed their Cherokee ancestors were? A. Yes, sir, they claimed the Rogers.

Q. Did they claim relationship with any of the present families of Cherokees residing in the Cherokee Nation?

The applicant objects to this question as tending to elicit testimony wholly incompetent and irrelevant to the issue, and not cross-examination of this witness.

I don't know that they did, particularly.

Q. How could your court determine when they claimed descent through the Rogers family, that that family was of Cherokee blood?

The applicant objects to the question upon the same grounds as their objection to the previous question.

By the evidence they produced.

Q. Didn't you make them prove that that family was well known some time to be connected with the Cherokee Nation, and were citizens thereof? A. Yes.

Q. Who was the attorney for the Dawsons? A. Old man Houston, Bangs.
Could either Teehee or Wolfe speak English? A. They could understand, but they never spoke English, they had an interpreter.

Q. Did you ever talk to either of them as to whether they got anything for deciding this case? A. No, sir.

Q. How long were you considering the case altogether?

A. I could not say as to that, I think we were on it two or three days anyhow, I could not say positively now, they were a long time sitting in testimony.

Q. There were only two or three witnesses examined all told, were there not?

A. I think so, three I think, they had quite a lot of affidavits, but we did not consider them.

Q. Tell the Court was a good while arriving at its conclusion after evidence was closed?

A. Yes, quite a good while, I don't remember the exact time.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION:

Q. Remember who the interpreter the commission had during the trial of the Dawson case.

A. His name was Reese, I forget his given name.

Q Do you now whether he is living or dead?
A I don't know, he seemed to be in bad health at the time we had the case up, I think they are all dead but me and Mr. Duncan.
Q What was he, a Cherokee by blood?
A He was considered a Cherokee by blood.
Q Do you know where he lived at that time?
A No, sir, he lived in the South part of the Nation though, I think in Sequoyah.

My commission expires Feb 3rd, 1903.,

D. W. C. Duncan being produced by the applicants after being sworn testily to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth attested as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

- Q Please state your name, age, residence and occupation?
A My name is D. W. C. Duncan, my age is 70 years, my residence is Winita, Indian Territory, my occupation is a farmer.
Q How long has that been your place of residence? A Since 1874.
Q Are you a member of the Cherokee Nation as it is now constituted?
A Yes, sir.
Q Upon what is your citizenship based, a Cherokee by blood?
A Yes, a Cherokee by blood.
Q In January 1883, did you hold any official position in the Cherokee Nation, if so, what was it?
A About that time I held the position of clerk of the Citizenship Court or Commission.
Q If you remember the names of the members of that Commission or Court, please give them?
A The President of the Commission was Teneo I believe, and a member by the name of Wolfe whose first name I don't recollect, and Mr. Thompson here.
Q T. F. Thompson?
A Yes.
Q Do you know whether those three members of that Commission were recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and whether their citizenship was based upon blood or not?
A They were supposed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and their citizenship was based upon their blood.
Q Will you please look at the paper now handed you which the Notary has marked exhibit "A" to the deposition of Mr. T. F. Thompson, and a copy of which he will attach to Mr. Thompson's depositions, and state whether with the exception of the certificate of M. L. Bragdon, clerk, and of John L. Adair Asst. Ex. Secretary, you recognize the paper as one you have ever seen before?
A Yes, I think I have seen this before.
Q When, and where, if you remember, did you first see that paper?
A This is a paper I drew up at the time I was acting as clerk of said Citizenship Court.
Q Looking at its date, was it drawn at you at the time it bears date?
A To the best of my recollection it was drawn at the date specified.
Q Do you recognize the signature to the certificate attached to that paper?
A Yes, that is my signature.
Q State if you know, in whose handwriting the body of the paper is?
A It is in my handwriting.
Q And at that time you were clerk of that Commission? A Yes.
Q Will you please look at the signatures of the members of the Commission as they appear on that paper, and state if you can, by whom they were written?
A I think the first two is my handwriting, the last I recognize that as T. F. Thompson's.
Q Explain please, how you came to write the signatures of Thomas Teneo and Alex Wolfe to that paper?
A Thomas Teneo and Alex Wolfe were full bloods and could not write, and in their presence, and at their request I wrote their signatures.

Q. Was that the usual manner of certifying to the action of the Court in relation to applicants who had the decision of their application for citizenship, when admitted?

A. In all instances, were it not necessary for the Court to sign a paper of any kind it was adopted by that Court for the Clerk to sign Teeho's and Fols's names and T. F. Thompson to sign his name.

Q. You didn't catch exactly my idea, but perhaps that answered it, that I intended to call your attention to, was whether when applicants had been admitted to citizenship a paper of this kind now shown you, signed by the judges as you have explained, and certified by you as a transcript of the proceedings was issued?

A. My recollection is that a transcript of the judgment was issued to the applicant when they were admitted at their request, the judgment was sent read upon the record when they were admitted and signed by the judges, and whenever the transcript was delivered to the applicants I think it was signed by the judges.

Q. If you had any knowledge at the time the application of the Dawson family, F. H. and others whose names are mentioned in that paper, was pending before that Commission, or before or after, of any corruption or bribery, or attempted corruption or bribery of the Court or any of its officers, by F. H. Dawson, or any person connected in any manner with the claim of the Dawsons to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, state it fully?

A. I never heard a thing of the kind, I know nothing of the kind, all that I have ever heard about a question of that kind is what has originated recently, since the enrollment business has been inaugurated.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q. If as you certify, this paper was a transcript of the record, why did you have the judges sign it?

A. I know no reason further than that was the practice at that time, the members of the Court being present I presume it was thought it would be as good or better than the signature of the Clerk.

Q. Examine that signature of Mr. Thompson, examine the first T in his name and the T in Teeho's name and see if it is not all your own handwriting?

A. No, I would not call that mine, there is a resemblance between the letters but I am satisfied it is a mere fortuity, accident.

Q. How was the evidence taken in those cases?

A. It was taken by the witness being present and detailing his knowledge of the case, I wrote it down sentence by sentence as it was delivered.

Q. Do you know whether that evidence is in existence or not?

A. I don't, the last I saw of it was when I turned the records over to the Executive office at Tahlequah, and I have not seen it since.

Q. You say you never heard any talk about this being an improper case until very recently?

A. Well, that would depend upon what you mean by recently, I don't think I ever heard of it prior to three years ago, I can safely say that did not.

Q Do you remember through what ancestor they claimed their right to citizenship here?

Objected to by applicants because the question tends to elicit testimony which is wholly incompetent and irrelevant, and because it is not proper cross-examination.

A They claimed their right of citizenship through a man by the name of Rogers, I don't recollect his first name.

Q Do you know how many Rogers families there are who have citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A I do.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
INDIAN TERRITORY,
NORTHERN DISTRICT,

I, LEWIS T. MARTIN, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, do certify that the foregoing depositions of T. F. Thompson and D. W. C. Duncan were taken before me at the time and place and in the action mentioned in the caption, and said T. F. Thompson and D. W. C. Duncan, having been first by me sworn that the evidence they should give in this matter should be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and that their statements were reduced to writing by me on the typewriter in their presence; the claimants being present in person and by their attorney G. B. Denison, and the Cherokee Nation being represented by W. T. Hutchings Esquire its attorney,.

Given and read by hand this 4th day of October, A. D. 1900.

Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes,
Muskogee, I. T., March 17, 1902.

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of
FRANCIS M. DAWSON, ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

The case having been set for final hearing March 17, 1902, the following proceedings were had:

APPEARANCES:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants;
Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of counsel for Cherokee Nation.

Mr. Hutchings: Comes now the Nation on the calling of this case and announces that it is ready for trial, provided permission is given to hereafter examine before the Commission, either at this place or Fort Gibson, the witness S. H. Benge, who has been regularly summoned to attend at this day and time but who is too sick to travel at this time and probably will be for some time to come. As evidence of a good faith of the Nation we hereby present an affidavit of the facts sought to be proven by the said Benge. If the applicants counsel are willing to concede that the witness if present would testify to the facts herein set forth, the Nation is ready to proceed to trial without reservation of any kind. If they are not it desires to reserve this privilege of hereafter, either tomorrow or otherwise, this case being set for to-day and tomorrow, of examining before the Commission, or its authorized officer, this witness as above set forth.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the introduction of the paper presented and do not admit that the witness, Samuel H. Benge if present would testify to the facts therein stated. They consent and desire that the testimony of said Benge be taken before the Commission at its office in Muskogee but not elsewhere, and protest against it being taken at any other place, with the understanding, however, that when taken we have opportunity to introduce any evidence we may desire in rebuttal.

Mr. Hutchings:

The Nation will pay all the expenses of the opposing Counsel, their client and Commission officers in taking the deposition at Fort Gibson.

Commissioner Breckinridge: The allegations of this witness are material in their character and are quite tangent. The Commission of its own volition would acquire information of that character if it knew of its existence anywhere. While the functions of the Commission, as well known are in many respects judicial, yet it is endowed with somewhat complex powers, such as Congress creates from time to time to do business of certain character, and it is ordered to make a correct roll, which is a duty largely independent of hearing simply what is brought before them; it must be the architect and constructor of that roll and if evidence is not brought before before the Commission it must go out and get it, to be uniform on that construction of the law. The Commission, therefore, desires this information independent of any counsel on either side both with respect to the applicant and to the Nation, and if this witness is not able to come one of the Commissioners will go to Fort Gibson and to his bed-side, or send a proper official, if necessary to take his testimony. The only matter to consider, therefore, is one of convenience with respect to getting this testimony. Now, I understand that this witness is an extreme sufferer from Bright Disease, he is an old man and he may never be able to get out of the house, and it may be an injustice to him to subject him to a trip here, and therefore it seems to me better that counsel for plaintiff submit to a form of taking a deposition or else accompany an official of this Commission over to Fort Gibson and let his testimony be taken there.

After consultation with the attorneys upon the two sides it is found to be agreeable that the parties start to Fort Gibson to-morrow morning at half past eight o'clock, and it is agreed that the defendant be directed with an official of the Commission with a stenographer to leave from the office of the Commission for Fort Gibson at 8:30 to-morrow morning.

FRANCIS M. DAWSON, the applicant, re-called for additional cross-examination on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q What is your name? A Francis M. Dawson.
Q Where do you reside? A In Afton.
Q You have been examined in this case heretofore, have you?
A I don't know which case it is.
Q In your own case? A Yes, sir.
Q Are you the one that is commonly called Bud Dawson? A Yes, sir.
Q You made the original application in the Dawson family for admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, didn't you? No, sir; by brother.
Q What was his name? A A. E. Dawson.
Q You and Robert Dawson and Elbert Dawson and others applied February 24, '81, about that time? A Yes, sir.
Q And you were admitted about the 11th of January '83? A Yes, sir.
Q There were other members of your family that applied and were admitted after that time? A Yes, sir.
Q Do you or not remember the evidence offered in theirs to substantiate their cases was the relationship between yourself and Robert and others and the evidence of your admission by the Terr. Court. In all the subsequent admissions I mean the only evidence offered was the fact that you and your brothers had been admitted before and that they were kin to you; that was the only evidence offered in any subsequent cases, wasn't it; so far as you know?
A That is afterwards?
Q Yes, afterwards? A I think there was some other evidence introduced.
Q Don't you know that there was never any evidence offered in any other case except evidence of Dr. Baker of Arkansas?
A Yes, sir.
Q Who else? A Oliver Miller.
Q Who was Oliver Miller; the records in this case have been destroyed and mutilated? A Oliver Miller lived in Arkansas.
Q What was he, who was he? A He is no longer living.
Q Well, what station in life did he occupy? A Farmer?
A Yes, sir, farmer.
Q Were you present when he testified? A Yes, sir.
Q Were you present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.

Q Have you a fair recollection of the testimony of those two men?

A No, not at all.

Q You don't read do you, Mr. Dawson? A No, sir, I don't read nor write; I can barely write my name.

Q Do you think you would remember the testimony of Dr. Baker if your mind was refreshed on it? A Part of it I think.

Q Were you present when you were admitted? A I was not in the room.

Q You were in Tahlequah at the time? A I was in the town of Tahlequah at the time.

Q I will read this paper to you and desire for you to say whether or not it was the testimony of Dr. Baker in your case:

(Affidavit of Dr. Arthur Baker read to witness, and asked to be copied in the record later.)

Q Is that the correct transcript of the testimony? A It has been so long ago, I could not say; a part of it is, I could not remember it all.

Q Does that state the facts as to the family history correctly so far as you know about it? A So far as I know.

Q Now, you were a son of what Dawson? A Robert Dawson.

Q How many children did Robert Dawson have, and give me their names?

A Albert Dawson, the oldest; Lila, Jasper, Francis Marion-

Q That is yourself? A Yes, sir; Elizabeth Dawson, Josephine Dawson, John Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson, James Dawson, Mina Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilburn Dawson.

Q Thirteen? (No response.)

Q Now, Robert Dawson's father was whom? A Sam Dawson.

Q Who was Sam Dawson's wife, your grandmother? A I have been told.

Q By family history is all you know? A She was called Polly Dawson.

Q Who was Anna Pruitt? A I don't know.

Q Never heard of anybody in the family by the name of Anna Pruitt? A No, sir, that was away back in the old country;

Q I have heard talk about it, old Dr. Baker talked about it.

Q Your grand-mother's name was Polly Dawson? A Yes, sir; I don't remember seeing her but once, she died when I was small, died in Texas.

Q Pollie Dawson? A Yes, sir.

Q And she was known to be Pollie Rogers, her maiden name? A Yes, sir.

Q Daughter of Captain John Rogers? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, she died in Texas what time? A I don't remember.

Q Can't you guess at it? A Oh, I could guess.

Q Give your best recollection? A About '58 or '59, or no, '60 '61; I don't say positive, just guessing at it.

Q How old a boy were you then? A I was born in '42.

Q Have you any distinct recollection of her? A No, sir.

Q Have you any recollection of all the children of Sam and Pollie Dawson; that is, your father, uncles and Aunts? I didn't see all

Q them.

Q Do you know by family history the names of all of them? A Yes, sir.

Q Will you give them to me?

A Betsey Ann Dawson, I believe her name was.

Q Did she marry a Petty? A Yes, sir; the next is Robert Dawson.

Q Your father? A Yes, sir.

Q Next one? A I think the next was James Dawson, and I think the next one was a girl, Edna Dawson.

Q Did he have two daughters? A Yes, sir.

Q Tell me, sir? A The next one was Joe Dawson; I never saw him; Wiley Dawson.

- Q That is Samuel R. Dawson, Riley Dawson? A Yes, sir.
Q Any other one? A That is all I know anything about.
Q Did he have any child by the name of John? A Yes, Jack.
Q Didn't you get Jack displaced with Joe? A No, it was Joe; I
Q have heard my father speak of him.
Q Then they have seven children? A I never see them all.
Q How many of them did you ever see? A I see uncle Riley Dawson
Q and James Dawson and Jack Dawson and Retsy Ann Petty; I don't think Q I saw but one of Pa's sisters and brother, they went to Mississippi
Q I think.
Q Do you know what your family history says that the mother of your Q grand mother, Pollie Rogers' name was? A We have no history.
Q Well, as it was brought down to you; did you ever hear anybody
Q say what your great grandmother's name was? A No, I don't remember.
Q What is that other man, Oliver Hill, that testified in your case?
Q A He testified in James Dawson's case; he never testified in my Q father's case.
Q Well, didn't anybody testify in your case but Dr. Baker?
Q A Yes, sir, several other witnesses.
Q Who were they? A I don't remember; my mother got the Q witnesses around Tallapoosa, old people.
Q Were you present? A No, sir.
Q You were only present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.
Q How do you find any mistakes in Dr. Baker's statement there?
Q A I could not say all of them was correct or not, part of it is Q correct.
Q What part is correct? A My about knowing the family over there.
Q Who is Buck Dawson? A My brother.
Q What is his name? A We always called him Buck, it is Elbert, Q E. Dawson.
Q Who went with you the first time you went up to make an application
Q for citizenship do you remember? A With my brother.
Q The first time? A I got my brother in Texas.
Q Which one? A E. Dawson.
Q That is Elbert or Buck? A Yes, sir.
Q You were living in Arkansas? A Yes, sir.
Q And he was living in Texas? A Yes, sir, and another one of Q little brothers, Dr. Dawson now.
Q Dr. Dawson now? A Yes, sir.
Q What is his name? A James.
Q Are you three sons there? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants by their counsel object to all the statement of the witness relating to the testimony introduced before the Cherokee Citizenship Commission, and the history of the family as detailed by him, because the same is incompetent and irrelevant, and cannot be used for the purpose of impeaching the integrity of the judgment of said Commission, or either of the Commissioners in admitting members of the Dawson family.

Commission: The objection of the Attorney for the applicants to the testimony above will be noted. The same will be filed and noted for what it is worth.

(Attorney for applicants waives examination.)

C. H. TAYLOR, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:
MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q. Who is the name of A. C. E. Taylor?
A. He is a resident of Mr. Taylor? A. In near Coffeyville.
Q. Did you appear in various various citizen ship Courts along in the State in the case taken at Tahlequah? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did you act as attorney for F. J. Dawson who only known as Bud Dawson?
A. Yes, sir.
Q. Were you present at the taking of testimony in that case? A. No, sir; I wasn't present.
Q. Do you know who composed the court that decided the case at that time? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Who were they? A. Tom Tones and Alex Wolfe and Tony Thompson.
Q. Do you know whether or not they were all there when the case was decided? A. No, sir, there were only two of them present.
Q. Which two? A. Tones and Wolfe.
Q. Who was the Clerk of the Court at that time? A. Mr. Duncan,
D. W. C. Duncan.
Q. Do you know what witnesses were used in the case of Bud Dawson?
A. No, sir; no. I was the attorney in the case and the evidence had already been filed before the court.
Q. When was your last appearance? A. I was only called in as an attorney at the-- Well, Mr. Duncan came down there, and Mr. Bryant had the case and several other attorneys had the case and he employed me.
Q. Did you take any evidence in this case? A. No, sir.
Q. Did you take any money? A. Now, I was the attorney in the case
I don't think it would be right for me to take any statement.
Q. Now, you have claimed your own filage, I ask that you answer the question? Did Dawson ever send you any money with the direction to pay it to any member of the Court or the Clerk of the Court, D. W. C. Duncan, and if so state the amount? A. I had a heap of trouble over this matter.
Commissioner: Just answer the question, Mr. Taylor.
A. Well, the attorney I don't believe it is right for me to answer that question.
Commissioner: Do you refuse to answer? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Did the matter to which you object to testifying occur prior to the rendition of the decision admitting to citizenship or afterwards?
(No response)
COMMISSIONER BRECKINRIDGE:
Q. Do you desire to reply to the last question? A. I don't think it right; I was attorney in the case.
Q. Taylor, do you object to answering that question? A. Yes, sir.
Q. Do you refuse to answer that question, do you? A. I had rather not answer it.

Q. Either answer it or say you don't answer it? A. I had rather answer it.
Q. Taylor, you have answered a number of questions down to this point, and it is at this point that you prefer to plead your privilege, as an attorney, do you? A. Yes, sir.

Com'r Breckinridge: The court in regard to these matters is lodged in the United States. The Court is clothed with special power with reference to matters which arise through this Commission. Of course the Commission desires and the Government needs for the sake of a correct roll the fullest information possible, but it is subject to the limitation of law, and it is not for this Commission to decide of the law in a matter of this character with any authority as I understand it at this time, but to report the matter to the United States Court and let the Court pass judgment.

Under section 11 of the 1875 Act it is commonly called Act of June 25, 1875, the members of the Commission shall perform in all things required of them by law, have authority to administer oaths, examine witnesses and for papers and records, and the court is clothed with authority to enforce obedience. The law having enumerated certain powers as on to say so far as all others are concerned to enable said Commission to take rolls and return required, and to punish anyone who may in any manner or by any means obstruct said work. Now, the Commission will report the facts to the United States Court and let the Court decide whether or not you are within your lawful privilege. It seems that you refuse to answer questions, or at least one question, which tends to establish as to whether or not you are claiming what is commonly considered a matter of privilege--to depend on an authority referred to by an attorney, but the enforcement of that answer seems clearly to be a matter for the Court to deal with.

Now, Mr. Taylor, in regard to the last question asked you by Mr. Hutchings, one of the Counsel for the Cherokee Nation, I direct you to make answer, and if you refuse I shall report the matter to the United States Court to your disadvantage? A Yes, sir.

Now, you have read to you, Mr. Taylor, the first of the two questions propounded to you by Mr. Hutchings, and which you declined to the time to make answer; viz: as to whether Mr. Dawson said you were to pay to the Court or to any officials of the Court, if you were to come to the question as to whether there was any conversation between you and Mr. Dawson and any member of the Court; now, I understand that you refuse to answer that question upon the ground that it was Mr. Dawson's attorney? A Yes, sir.

Now, I want to ask you as to that question, do you object? A Yes, sir.

I will also report that referred to the United States Court as to your refusal to come under the provision of law, relating to conspiracy, and that you and Mr. Dawson which apparently considered a privilege. Now, you are your refusal now, and upon the ground that you are consulting yourself, and that you have counsel for Mr. Dawson. I will report the matter to the Court and you will be informed as to the result of any proceedings in the matter I desire you not to talk with Dawson or any of the applicants in this case.

Mr. McKenyon: Applicants do not object and have not objected to the witness answering on account of his privilege as an attorney or for any other cause whatever, they only want to object to the incoherence and irrelevancy of the testimony, with the privilege of cross-examining upon any testimony given by the witness.

COMMISSIONER BRECKINRIDGE:

Will you still refuse having the consent of the attorneys in the case to answer? A I will just ask your Honor to let the matter go until morning.

Commissioner Breckinridge: It will rest until it is adjourned at its present status: it is after business hours now.

As for the objection made by Captain McKenyon, Counsel for the applicant, it will be taken into consideration, but will not be granted at the present.

(The Commission adjourns until 1:30 P. M. to-morrow or after noon, March 12, 1902.)

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of
F. M. DAWSON ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of Counsel for applicants.
Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

SAMUEL H. BERGE, being duly sworn, testified as follows part of the Cherokee Nation:
Q. HUTCHINGS:

Q. Where were you born? A. Samuel H. Berge.
Q. Where do you reside? A. Fort Gibson.
Q. How old are you? A. I am 72 years old, going in 71.
Q. Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A. Yes, sir; Cherokee Nad.
Q. What official position you have held in the Cherokee Nation and your general connection with the Nation officially in the past years? A. Well, I held several; I have been sheriff, Justice, Senator, Delegate to Washington; had a hand in making the treaty of 1866, I am the only one living that signed that treaty;
President of the National Council of different tribes of Indians.
Q. Were you acquainted with F. M. Dawson, commonly called "Dunc"
Dawson? A. Yes, sir; I know him.
Q. State your connection with and what you know about his citizenship case before what is known as the Thomas Tenge Citizenship Court?
A. Mr. Dawson came down, I was living down below here, he come and asked me to look to his case and we went to Tahlequah, I believe he had it taken in 1891 or '92, filed his case there; we went down there and continued his case on for the want of evidence, finally while we was up there we run across one old darkey by the name of Josh Rogers; we got his testimony and after we got his testimony we concluded that it was sufficient to go into the Court. Josh lived down at Fort Gibson, he was a horse trainer and he had stage there; he claimed that he knew the Rogers and he told me of them a while after that we thought we had sufficient evidence we submitted our case to the Court for trial, and the Court did not work and rendered a decision against Mr. Dawson.
Q. Did Mr. Dawson right there that "our case is dough", just made that remark, and he just made the remark "never mind", and next day they taken up his case again and they rendered a decision in his favor. I filed no motion nor any evidence at all whatever; I was the case up right there and the decision was then given in his favor, and on our way back from Tahlequah, why we got to talking about the case and I told him: "it was a pretty hard blow when they made that decision against us." He said: "yes, but Duncan said
I had to teach", and he reached his pocket five hundred dollars.
Q. What position did Duncan occupy? A. He was a Clerk of the Court.
Q. Where an educated man or-? Yes, sir; he was an educated man.
Q. Who were the members of the Court? A. Tom Tenge, Alex Wolfe and Thompson.
Q. How many of these could speak English at all? A. One.
Q. Who was that? A. Thompson.
Q. Who was the Attorney that represented the Nation in those cases?
A. Tom Tenge.

Q What was his given name? A Wilson Sanders; was it Wilson Sanders?
A Wilson Sanders.

Q Was he an educated man, or could speak English well? A No, sir.

Q Did Mr. Dawson say anything about the matters having cost him a considerable amount of money? A He said it had cost him a right smart.

Q Was any remark made on the way back about the opening up of the case, and if so, what? A He asked me if I thought the case was ever investigated eventually and I told him I didn't know.

MR. McKEITHEN:

Q Were you ever a witness in the Dawson case, Judge, in any of those investigations that have been made since that time? A I don't know that you might call it a witness; that young man come to residence at Tahlequah, and asked me to help him up there that the case was going against him, him and his mother and all was about the case, but and I interceded and done what I could there before the committee. I was not a witness but the fact I don't for him.

Q That was Mr. Graham, wasn't it? A Yes, sir.

Q Have you had conversations with Mr. Graham since that time about it? A No, I might, I don't recollect, I might have had conversations with him.

Q Well, after the Dawes Commission began taking a census of the Cherokees and when they were about Sallisaw down here, did you have a conversation with him here in Fort Gibson about the matter?

A Now, I just can't tell you; I have seen him on several occasions, but the conversations we might have had I can't state.

Q To refresh your memory I will ask you if he did not tell you that they were making a fight on the Dawson family and he wanted to know of you whether that judgment in favor of Robert Dawson's family was fairly rendered, and did you not then tell him that it was all right, that it was fairly obtained? A Not as I recollect of; all I know; that is as I have stated he talked to me in regard to his mother, himself and probably his brothers and sisters, I don't recollect how many there were, but he told me they were rejected, that he just the words he used.

Q Where? A It has been sometime ago.

Q Where in Fort Gibson? A Well, that is I saw him here in Fort Gibson, and then I saw him in Tahlequah.

Q Well, didn't you here in Fort Gibson ask you particularly about the Robert Dawson judgment, as to whether it was fairly obtained or not?

A No, sir; he was basing his claim on the Dawson case, that is the way he-

Q What is the principal Dawson family? A Yes.

Q When was this other written statement here made, when was this made by you? (referring to affidavit heretofore referred to.)

A Yesterday I reckon.

Q Who came to take this? A Mr. Starr.

Q Who else was present when this was taken? A No, sir.

Q How had you told about this matter, Judge? A No one as I know of.

Q Do you know how it was that they knew that you knew this?

A No, sir.

Q You never made any statement? A Never made any statement that I recollect of except I might have talked with Seales, he and his talked about these cases a good many times; if I ever made a statement it was to Joe Ab Seales.

Q How did Mr. Starr know? A I could not tell you how Mr. Starr knew.

Q He came alone here as a Notary Public? A He came alone here as a Notary Public. All he said when he goes, he says "we understand that you know something in regard to these cases", I said "what case," and he went to work and named Showmake case and Dawson case.

Q And thereupon you made this statement? A He said he wanted to qualify me.

Q Are you certain Judge that after the rendition of the judgment Mr. Dawson came back here to Fort Gibson with you?

A Yes, sir; we was together.

Q Let me ask you if it was not a very cold day when he came here and he went over ahead of you and you went over to Tahlequah the next day or two after he left? A My recollection was he and I went together.

Q And returned here together? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he not leave you there and go back direct to Arkansas?

A No, sir, we came here together. If my memory serves me right, I might be mistaken but then I don't believe I am, he came from Robbins Falls up here to my house, that is according to his statement.

Q What amount of fee did they pay you? A I don't know as that is in connection with the case whatever the money they paid me.

Q How did they pay you? A Paid me the money.

Q Who paid it to you? A Dawson there and that fellow, young fellow paid me some.

Q Mr. Graham? A Yes.

Q At the same time? A Oh, no, he wanted me to intercede for him at Tahlequah and paid me to do something for him which I did.

Q I will ask you if Mr. F. M. Dawson here did not obtain two copies of the judgment one of which you sent in a letter in which you wrote to his brother living in Texas and that brother in Texas, the one they called Buck, didn't send you $50 that they paid you? A No, if I ever got a letter of Buck whatever you might call him, I don't recollect it and if I ever got a nickel from him I don't recollect it. Old man paid me what money I got from it. I don't know nothing about his brothers; he told me he had an uncle living over in Arkansas, but not living down in Texas, I don't know about it.

Q Where did he pay you the money? A Paid it here at home.

Q Before you went out? A He paid me fifty dollars before we went up and when we went up yonder he paid me fifty dollars more; if you want to know what I got, I got one hundred dollars.

Q You were acting as his attorney in the case? A Yes, sir.

Q How many judges were there present when the judgment was rendered?

A In his case?

Q Yes, sir. A Well, according to my recollect there was all there, but if they were not all there, Tom Thompson was sick. Teher and Wolfe.

Q Don't you remember that they were all present? A No, I think they were present though.

Q Who else was present at the time? A Oh, I could not tell you, there were several people in the house; could not tell you at all.

Q Were there several in the house the evening before the judgment was rendered against that as you say? A Yes, there were several in the house.

Q And several in the house when the judgment was rendered the next day? A I don't know how many there was.

Q Do you remember the names of any of them? A Why not exactly, mostly full names.

Q How long did you remain out at Tahlequah on that trip?

A I guess I was there about three days.

Q Tending to this case alone, or did you have other cases? A No, sir.

Q Do you know of your own knowledge that the judges received any money (this question asked at the instance of Mr. Graham present)?
A I don't know whether the judges received any or not.

---00000000---

I, J. O. Rossen, do hereby certify upon my official oath as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes that I correctly recorded the testimony had this day in the above case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

(Signed) J. O. Rossen.

March 18, 1902. Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants.

Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

C. H. TAYLOR takes the stand and continues his testimony.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Mr. Taylor, you said you would consider the matter yesterday and let us know whether you would answer those questions today: have you decided what you would do about the matter? A Well, it is like this, of course I don't want to be held as in contempt of the Court.

Q You would be held in contempt and the other Court would make you answer? A That being the case of course I would make a statement.

Q Are you acquainted with D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of what is known as the Tehee Citizenship Commission Court? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you ever have any conversation with him about letting him know of the different character of cases that would come up before the Court that you knew of, whether they were good ones or bad ones?

A No, the only thing that ever came up in that respect; he asked me if whatever large cases that would come up before the Court to let him know.

Q Did you have any talk with him about the Dawson case during the progress of its trial or before and ever introduced Mr. F. H. Dawson to him, or carry him to him? A I spoke to him when Mr. Dawson came to Tahlequah to see about his case, and he said that he would take the papers over to his room, the Dawson papers.

Q Did you see him again that night? A Yes, sir; after supper I went down to his room.

Q Did he ask you about the Dawsons or Dawson case? A He asked me where Dawson was.

Q Which Dawson are you referring to now, F. M. Dawson, known as Bud Dawson? A Bud Dawson.

Q Well, what did you reply to him? A I told him that I thought he had gone to church.

Q Did you find Dawson after church? A Yes, sir, he told me to come and bring Dawson down and I did so; Dawson was in church.

Q You carried Dawson to him? A Yes, sir.

- Q Did you remain during the conversation? A Only a minute.
- Q What was said if naything while you were present? A Mr. Duncan said to Mr. Dawson and says "there is a hitch in your evidence."
- Q Go ahead and state what else he said? A He said "if that was frightened out it would be all right," and I turned and went away, saying, "gentlemen, I will go home."
- Q Do you know of their having any other conversation or communication after that? A No, sir.
- Q You left them there together yourself? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did Mr. Dawson give you any directions the next morning about submitting the case? A Yes, sir, he asked me to call it up the case.
- Q The next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q Had there been any additional evidence offered? A No, sir; there was not additional testimony offered.
- Q He told you the next morning to call up the case? A Yes, sir.
- Q When it called up and submitted the next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, how many of the members of the Court were there present that morning? A There were only two, two full-blood Indians.
- Q Could they speak english at all? A Tehee could talk a little, talk some.
- Q Did that Court have open sessions all the time of what is called executive sessions sometimes? A Well, I don't remember about that; it was generally when the case was submitted the attorneys would go out. The parties would go out and they would determine the case.
- Q Well, did they go out to that sort of executive session the next morning on the Dawson case? A Well, he went out when the case was submitted.
- Q And was the decision rendered that morning in their favor? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who notified you of the decision of the Court? A Why, Mr. Dawson.
- Q Do you remember whether he went out with you or was in there during the consideration of the case? A I think he went out with me.
- Q Did you at any time thereafter receive any money, checks or other evidence money from Mr. Dawson with direction to turn it in part over to D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of that Court? A Mr. Dawson gave me 20 dollars and said he would send the balance in a short time, said he would send some more money in a short time.
- Q Well, did he send any money afterwards? A Yes, sir, in the course of ten days or two weeks he send a hundred dollar check, draft.
- Q What did he direct you to do with it? A He directed me to give D. W. C. Duncan half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did he send you any at any other time after that? A Well, in the course of a couple of weeks he sent me a hundred dollars more.
- Q Did he direct you to turn any of that and if so how much, to D. W. C. Duncan? A He told me to give him half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A I did, sir.
- Q Do you remember whether on Dr. Arthur Baker was the principal witness in behalf of the Dawson case? A No, sir, I don't because I never had any connection with the case, but I heard that he was a witness in the case.
- Q No argument was made when you submitted the case? A No, sir.
- Q Just submitted it on the testimony? A Yes, sir.
- MR. McKENNON:
- Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you born and reared in the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir; I was born in the old Nation.

- Q When did you come to the Cherokee Nation? A Come here in 1885.
- Q How long have you been practicing law in the Cherokee Nation?
- A I think since '88.
- Q You have done a great deal of citizenship business haven't you?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q You were in the United States Court at Fort Smith on charges in regard to the citizenship business? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you convicted there? A Yes, sir; I was convicted there on this very case.
- Q And served a term of what length? A I was sent to the jail hospital for sixty days and I stayed in about 38 or 39 days, and I was released.
- Q When was that? A I don't remember how long ago it has been.
- Q You say it was in regard to this case? A Yes, sir; this case was the bone of contention; Clem Rogers and the Chief, they are the ones that had me arrested, carried to Fort Smith.
- Q Well, now, were you charged with an offense against the law in this case, or was it in regard to some other case? A Well, it was in regard to using the mail for fraudulent purposes.
- Q Sending out propositions and obtaining cases for citizenship for people in the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir, it was for answering correspondence.
- Q Not relating to this case at all? A Well, this was the main charge, Clem Rogers went before the Court there and stated that I had got in at least three hundred Dawsons, that they were white people and not entitled to citizenship and that was the main trouble.
- Q Well, now, was the charge based upon that or was it based upon your letters you sent out to other people? A That was the charge for using the mail for fraudulent purposes.
- Q The use of the mails for fraudulent purposes not in connection of this case was it? A Not particular of this case.
- Q Then the trouble you had was the prejudice of Clem Rogers and others caused by your connection with the Dawson case; that is what you mean to say? A Yes, sir.
- Q Why did you say because you were charged with an offense based upon this case? A Well, the prejudice grew out of this case.
- Q Now, then, you had full conversation with the representatives of the Cherokee Nation as to your testimony in this case, did you not before you came on the stand? A Yes, sir.
- Q You had told them of these particulars before you came on the witness stand did you not? A Yes, sir.
- Q Yet when you came on the stand you assumed to have conscientious scruples as to answering as to matters which occurred between you and your client, Bud Dawson, in relation to this matter and declined to answer claiming your privilege as an attorney did you not? A Yes, sir; I didn't want to make a statement at all in the matter.
- Q You had voluntarily made a statement to the representatives of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; I had stated to Mr. Hastings; he summoned me and I come down here and I didn't want to make a statement to him but he insisted.
- Q He had no power to compel you to make a statement? A No, sir.
- Q You could then make it very freely and your conscience did not hurt you, but when you came on the stand you were very conscientious about it? A I didn't want to make a statement at all unless I would be put in jail here if I didn't.
- Q But you had armed them with information by which they could ask you these questions when you came on the stand? A I had told Mr. Hastings.

Q You know when you gave him that information that you would be brought on the stand as a witness, did you not, by reason of that?
A No, I didn't know that I would be compelled to make a statement in the matter, a sworn statement.

Q You thought you would not be compelled to answer?

A I didn't think the law would compel me to make a statement.

Q How then did you make a statement to him about it? A Oh, he was asking me about it, and I told him that I didn't want to make a statement, and I didn't for quite a while after I came down here.

Q When the enrollment division of the Dawes Commission was in Tule Lake in the winter of 1900, did you not there meet F. M. Dawson and did you not then and there say to him I told Shoemaker I would be for him if he would employ me in his case and if he didn't I would be against him, and the same to you? A No, sir; I said to him this; I says that if there is not something done that I will likely be summoned against you and Mr. Shoemaker both.

Q What did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant this, I just left the matter with him to say what he wanted to do in the matter; I only spoke a word or two about it. I was going out of town just as he came in.

Q When you told him if something was not done you would be summoned as a witness against him; what did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant that the chances were that the Nation would summon me against him.

Q What did you mean by the expression "if there was not something done" that you would be summoned as a witness?

A Well, I meant this, if I was re-employed in the matter if he was to have a case and I was re-employed I would not be required.

Q You could be required to make a statement as to declarations made to you by your client to you in one instance, but if a little more money was put up you could not be required to make a statement; is that what you mean? A I didn't think I could be forced to make a statement at all in the matter.

Q Why did you make that expression to him "if something wasn't done you might be summoned as a witness" if you believed you could not be made to make a statement? A I meant if I was employed in the case.

Q If he would put up you would not testify? A That they could not force me to testify.

Q About the month of February, 1901, in the town of Pagoner, Indian Territory, did you not send your son to get Graham to come to the hotel at night, and did you not then and there say to Gid Graham; "you people are on the doubtful list and if you will give me $500. I will make it all right and see that you are enrolled and if you don't I will see that you don't get on?" A No, sir; I got a letter from Gid Graham in which he asked me to certify that the case was all right and after I met him I told him that I could not do it, that the case was crooked, he then said to me, he says, "I will give you a hundred dollars", he says "will you take a hundred dollars," I said "no, sir." I didn't make any bid, that is I didn't set no price with him.

Q You did not say to him then what I have extracted in that question weren't? A No, sir.

Q You did have a conversation with him about that time and at that place, did you not? A Yes, sir.

Q You say you didn't take any bid or set any price? A No, sir; he offered me a hundred dollars.

Q Why did you send for him to come to the hotel? A In answer to his letter.

A Did you not yesterday morning on the street in Muskogee, Indian Territory, in a conversation with W. H. Shoemaker say to him: "You have made a great mistake in not keeping in your employment and so have the Dawsons and it will go hard with you and you will not get it?" No, sir; I says to Mr. Shoemaker, I says: "Who have you employed in your case," and he says "Judge Thomas and Mr. Owen." I said "It might have been a advantage to you if you had retained me in your matter;" Well, he says "there was nothing wrong in my case" and I says "no, there is nothing wrong on earth in your case that I know of." He said all he wanted was justice and I said "I don't know a thing on earth against you," and I says "there is not a thing on earth wrong in your case as I know it came on fairly and squarely and decided in your favor."

Q You said nothing to him about the Dawson case? A Yes, I said to him "it might have been well if the Dawsons had retained me in their case." I said "I am summoned on the part of the Nation and I don't want to make a statement and I wont if I can possible avoid it."

Q Was that before or after you talked with Mr. Hastings, the representative of the Nation? A It was afterwards.

Q You meant by that if you had refused to answer you would have gone to jail? A No, sir; if they had employed me before hand I mean't not now.

Q You mean that if they had employed you before hand you would not have given this information to Mr. Hastings? A I would not be required, being the attorney.

Q Were you required to give him the information; did you know that you had to give him any information? A Who do you mean.

Q Mr. Hastings. A I did refuse him and he insisted.

Q Well, he no authority to compel you to do it? A No, sir; I don't know whether he did or not.

Q As a lawyer you knew that he did not have authority to compel you to make a statement to him? A I told him that I was an attorney in the case and I didn't want to make any statement at all.

Q Why did you do it? A Well, he intimated to me it would go any further. He said to me "I will not make this matter — I will not use it;" that is, what I stated to him was part in confidence.

Q And he pledged you his word that it would not be used? A Well, told him I could make a statement in confidence, and that I didn't want to make a statement before the Court.

Q Well, what did he reply, as you said just now? A Oh, he says make the statement and then I told him—I regretted very much to do it, and I regret very much to make a statement here. I tried to avoid it yesterday.

Q You stated just now that he said it would not be used; did he say that or not? A Well, something to that amount; oh, he says it wont make any difference or something to that effect.

Q Now, don't you know that Mr. Hastings did not intimate to you that the statement he was asking you to make would not be used?

A Well, I didn't think that I could be forced to make a qualified statement before the Court here, because I thought my license would protect me in that matter.

Q Yet it did not protect you or prevent you from making a statement to the attorneys for the Nation? A No, sir.

Q Now, in this conversation with Shoemaker to which I before referred did you not ask him to again employ you and tell him if so would you make him all rights for him? A No, sir; I didn't ask that; no, I didn't. If he had employe me in the matter "maybe it would have been better for you." Now, he offered me when I was down here last week, he offered me five dollars to go down and talk with his lawyers on the matter, I didn't go I was busy.

Q That was not your price? A No, no, I had nothing to say in his case that would be to his advantage; I knew nothing against him.

Q Now, then, you say that your were present on the morning that the judgment was rendered in favor of the Defendant? A I was not in the Court house.

Q You were present in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.

Q How long had you been at Tahlequah? A I was living there at that time.

Q When were you first employed by them? A By Dawson?

Q Yes, sir. A The evening before the case was tried.

Q You say that after the judgment was rendered Dawson handed you $20? A Yes, sir.

Q And told you to hand to Duncan? A No, sir.

Q What was your statement? A That he paid me $80 and says "I will send you some more in a short time, week or so."

Q And then he sent you $100? A Yes, sir.

Q And wrote you to give D. W. C. Duncan $60 of it? A Yes, sir.

Q And then sent you another $100 and told you to give him half of it? A Yes, sir.

Q How much did they pay you? A Well, that was the agreement, was that he would pay me $50 a family.

Q How much did he pay you? A I think there was $250; now I am not sure about the $50, but it appears to me like there was a $50 sent, and Mr. Duncan asked me, as well as I remember, says "have you got a letter from Dawson," I told him "yes, sir." It was either that or the $100, and he says "I would like to have some money", and I went to Stapler's and got it changed-- I wasn't be sure about it being $50 or $100--I went to Stapler's and got him to cash the check and give him his part of it.

Q How much did they pay you for your services? A That is all I got.

Q How much? A I think it was $100, $120.

Q What did you do for them? A Didn't do a thing only called up the case and submitted it; never read the evidence.

Q Submitted it without remarks? A Yes, sir.

Q And for that you say they paid you $120? A Yes, sir; $120.

Q Was Houston Benge present when that was done? A No, sir; I don't think he was.

Q Did you see him then at that time in Tahlequah? A I don't remember.

Q Were you associated with him in any manner in connection with the case? A No, sir.

Q You had a great deal of business of that character, have you before the Courts? A Yes, sir.

Q Were you paid like fees in other cases for like services? A Yes, sir.

Q In many of them? A Yes, sir, good many.

Q All like cases? A Oh, citizenship cases.

Q When was it you were in jail at Fort Smith? A I don't remember; Mr. Lellette can remember, he was there, he was my attorney.

Q Was it about 1863? A It was somewhere along there, along in 1860 somewhere.

Q That has been your principal business as a lawyer, has it not? A Yes, sir.

Q You have never practiced such in any other way have you? A Very little.

Q Were you in the habit of working your cases through in the same manner in which you state you worked this through? A No, sir.

Q This was an exception was it? A I never worked this case through. I simply called the case up by request of Mr. Dawson. I read the evidence; don't know what proof there was in it; he just asked me to call the case up.

Q And he agreed to pay you $50 a family for doing that? A Yes, sir.

Q Was that what you required of him? A That is what he agreed to pay. I says "what will you give?" He says "I will give you $50 a family."

MR. HUTTONS:

Q At the same time that the attorney for the Nation was talking to you about the Dawson case he also made inquiries about the Shoemaker case didn't he? A Yes, sir.

Q And you told him at that time before you knew anything about whether you would be made or compelled to testify that so far as you knew there was nothing you knew detrimental to the Shoemaker case? A Yes, sir; that is what I said.

Q You told him at the same time that you not only expected to claim you privilege as an attorney in the case, but that you told him, Mr. Hastings, with the full belief that the Court would sustain your position? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKernan: That is very leading.

Q Now, did you think that the re-employment, being the attorney in the pending case would strengthen your position or weaken it, when you spoke to Mr. Dawson? A What I thought in the matter was before ever I would be employed in the matter, a long time ago, that if I had been employed in the matter of course by position would have been such that I would not have been required or could not have been forced.

Q Did you think under those circumstances that Mr. Hastings would approach you about the subject? A No, sir; I don't think I would be forced to, having license to practice law.

Q Did Mr. Hastings tell you at the time that he was going to put you on the stand? A Yes, sir.

Q And let the Court decide? A Yes, sir.

MR. MCKERNAN:

Q Now, have you a license to practice in the United States Court? A Yes, sir.

Q In the Territory? A Yes, sir.

Q And also in the Indian Courts? A Yes, sir; do you want to see them?

JAMES W. LEWIS, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. BUCHINGES:

Q State your name please? A J. W. Lewis.

Q James W. Lewis? A Yes, sir.

Q Where is your postoffice, Mr. Lewis? A Arton.

Q How old are you? A 72 years old.

Q What is your business? A I work at the tin business and gun work.

Q Do you know one James Dawson, the brother of P. M. Dawson and the other Dawson? A I know old man James Dawson.

Q What is the one I mean, old man James Dawson? A Yes, sir; I know him.

Q How long have you known him? A Well, some fourteen or fifteen years I guess.

Q How long? A Four or five years I think.

Q When did you come to the country? A I have been in the country 30 odd years.

Q Well, when did you come to the country, or you first? A Along about somewhere in eighty if I recollect right, might have been later than that.

Q How did you happen to be acquainted with? A He lived right close by me and I built a house for him.

Q Did you have any conversation with him at the time you built that house? A Yes, several different times.

Q About how he seems a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, about the circumstances? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he make any statement to you about the use of money in getting his citizenship, and if so, state what he said?

A Well, he told me that it cost him $700 to get his rights.

Q Didn't tell you to whom he paid it? A No, he didn't and I didn't ask any questions.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q How old was he at that time, do you know? A I do not know exactly, must have been somewhere near about 70 years old, he might have been older than that, I don't know.

Q He was a very old and feeble man? A Yes, he was old and feeble.

Q He seldom ever got out away from his house? A No, sir, only short distance.

Q When you first know him he was that kind of man? A Yes, sir.

J. L. GLINKENBEARD, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A J. L. Glinkenbeard.

Q What is your post office address? A Vinita.

Q How old are you? A 56.

Q Were you ever an applicant for citizenship before the Teehee citizenship Court in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.

Q About what time was that? A September '81, I think.

Q Did you meet there about that time, one Elbert or Mack Dawsont? A Yes, sir.

Q How did you happen to meet him? A He and I stopped at the same place, man's by the name of Shuffow.

Q You and he stopped there, did you board there? A Yes, sir.

Q Well, did you have any talk about citizenship cases, yours and his? A

A Yes, sir.

Q Where did he state that he was from? A Texas.

Q Well, state what you can remember of the conversation between you from time to time about citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A Well, he was there to do some business and we talked about it at different times, as in talking about the evidence we had there

I, of course, had no law book witness I had a d that I could prove that he was a citizen that he didn't have but one witness.

Mr. Dawsont from Tahlequah, that was 25 or 30 years old, he said, now he had some money and he was to have it his money, but he hadn't done.

Q Well, what did he say about the doctor's having a witness?

A Well, he said a man of 25 or 30 years old was there, but he wasn't

Q Well, did he say anything about giving him money?

A Well, he said he could give him some money of his own money and he would want that money and so on.

Q Did he say anything about if money would do in Texas or Indian Territory? A Well, in talking about the evidence, he said that money was not made the law go down in Texas and he said "I come to get the law of the land" and he says "I found out it goes here," or words to that effect.

Q Did he say what he had to spend on the question? A Well, he said that he could stand a thousand dollars on it and not be hurt very much; finally he said he could stand more than that.

Q What did he tell you what he thought about the necessity of witnesses anyhow? A Well, I don't know as he said as to that, but I understood from what he said that he thought money would beat witnesses.

Q Well, where did he go from there? A He and I left there together; he went to packages by way of Fort Gibson and there we parted.

Q Did you ever see him after that? A I saw him about two years or something like that afterwards.

Q Where? A Vinita.

Q Did you refer to the citizenship matter? A I asked him how he come out and he said all right.

Q Was he deformed in any way this man? A He had a crippled hand or stiff finger; I don't remember just what it was now.

I. R. McKIMMON:

Q Your first conversation with him was in '81 was it? A Yes, sir.

Q What time in '81? A September.

Q You were then an applicant for citizenship? A Yes, sir.

Q Were you admitted? A No, sir.

Q You are still an applicant? A No, sir.

Q You are still working to get in as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir; haven't quit it entirely.

Q What business are you in now? A I am running a dairy in Vinita.

Q When did you make representations now to the representative of the Cherokee Nation? A Well, sir, I haven't; I saw Mr. Hastings I believe here last Saturday the first time.

Q How did they ever know that you had had these conversations with Mr. Dawson? A I don't know.

Q You don't know how they found that out? A No, sir.

Q You say you saw Mr. Hastings here last Saturday? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, did you approach him or did he approach you? A He approached me.

Q You know any? A No, sir; I suppose somebody I have told someone at some time about this, I don't know when or who. I don't remember of having talked to anyone about it. I have saw Mr. Hastings for years.

Q Now, you say—how was that expression about his giving Dr. Baker three or four drinks of liquor? A He said the old man; he said that Dr. Baker, he was expecting him there and he didn't come, and he said he didn't care where he didn't; he said he was 85 or 90 years old; he said he didn't know what fit up; said he could give him three or four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would not know black or white.

Q Now, he said that did get? A Yes, sir.

Q You are just as positive of that as you are of any other statement he made are you? A Yes, sir.

Q How long you next saw Dawson at Vinita? A Yes, sir.

Q How long; afterwards was that? A About two years, I think something near that.

Q Did he move to the Territory? A Yes, sir; he lived at Vinita at one time.

- Q You speak about having a dairy business there at Vinita, to what extent? A I am only milking about four cows now, I want the others to the country.
- Q Do you run a dairy wagon there? A No, sir.
- Q You serve on the jury a good deal? A I have been serving on the petit jury there this winter.
- Q Generally? No, sir.
- Q Are you a kind of a professional juror? A No, sir; I was on the regular petit jury, I was on the regular panel and served.

G. G. BRAUGHT, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Herokee Nation:
MR. HITCHINGS:

- Q State your name? A G. G. Braught.

- Q How long have you been living in the neighborhood of Fairland? A Been living there 19 years.
- Q Do you know one Bud Dawson or F. H. Dawson as his name is? A I do.
- Q How long have you known him? A About 10 years.
- Q How close do you live from him? A Half a mile of him.
- Q Does he still own that place? A I think he does.
- Q Were you an applicant for citizenship along about '81 or '2 at Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did you have at any time a conversation with Bud Dawson about his and your citizenship cases? A Yes, sir.
- Q State what he stated to you of citizenship cases in general and about his own in particular, you can state the time that you had these conversations or near as you can? A Well, I think it was in '83, he told me if I ever got in I would have to put up; he said it cost him $700 to get in; he said he paid one witness three hundred dollars.
- Q Did he state the name of that witness? A No, he did not.
- Q Whom did he say he made arrangements with? A He said he made arrangements with the Court; that is, heads of families to get them in at one hundred dollars apiece.
- Q Do you know what time of the year that was, whether it was in the summer or not? A I think it was in June.
- Q Did he make any other statements to you at any other time? A No, sir, I don't think he has in regards to that matter.
- Q You have been living neighbors with him? A Yes, sir.
- MR. MCKENNON:
- Q You say this was about June of '83? A I think it was in June, 1883, I won't be positive whether it was June or not.
- Q You were an applicant; were you admitted? A No, sir.
- Q Have you been admitted? A No, sir.
- Q You are still an applicant? A Yes, sir.
- Q Still trying to get in? A Yes, sir.
- Q Where was this conversation had? A Had at Bud Dawson's house.
- Q What part of the residence that is, in his residence? A Yes, sir.
- Q In the house? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who was present? A There wasn't anybody present; he just built the house and there wasn't anybody there.
- Q Was there more than one room? A I won't be positive but I don't think there was but one room, log house.
- Q Saw one rock? A Yes, sir.

Q And in that room he made this statement to you? A Yes, sir.
 Q He and you are enemies are you not? A No, I don't think we are enemies.
 Q You are not friendly at all? A Friendly part of the time, and part of the time we ain't.
 Q Haven't you had considerable trouble about the lands betwixt your farms? A No, sir, we ain't had any trouble.
 Q Didn't you have his little boy arrested recently for a difficulty?
 A Yes, sir.
 Q And you say that you are not on bad terms with him?
 A Why we speak, have conversations, have fight fight along all the time.
 Q Is it not a fact now that you and he have been all the while at odds? A No, sir.
 Q You don't have any unkind feeling towards him? A No, sir.
 Q What were your other remarks? A I said no, sir, I didn't have any unkind feeling towards him.

(It being 5 o'clock, the Commission adjourns until 8:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.)

March 19, 1908.

Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

Appearances:

Mr. A. B. McKennon, of Counsel for Applicants.
 Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

G. G. BRAUGH, re-called, further testified:

MR. McKENNON:

Q Mr. Braugh, you were a claimant under the Watts family are you not? A Yes, sir.
 (witness excused.)

CHARLES D. KENNEY, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:
MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Charles D. Kenney.
 Q What is your post office? A Dawson Tex.
 Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; supposed to be.
 Q Recognized as such are you? A Yes, sir.
 Q How old are you? A There is no family record, my parents died when I was young, I just guess at my age, I am somewhere between 44 and 45 years old.
 Q Were you personally acquainted with one Elbert or Buck Dawson?
 A I knew Buck Dawson when I saw him.
 Q Did you know him in the State of Texas, if so state what time?
 A I knew Buck Dawson, knew him and saw him at different dates in Texas.
 Q Well, in the year '81 in Clay County, Texas, did you ever see him?
 A I saw him '81 or '82, I think I know him in both places.
 Q Did you ever have any conversation with him in the presence of Bill Smith, James Stewart and Joe Stewart about his application for an allotment in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, Dawson and I were there talking in regard to that and there were some other men.

it was mentioned, I was going up on the strip and Buck Dawson says "he an Indian" and Jiles said "yes, he is an Indian", and "By God," I believe is the way he spoke, "if I was an Indian I would not be punching cattle, I would have stock eating my grass."

Q What did he say about making a pilgrimage? A He said he was going to the Chickasaw Nation and drove up and got him some grass.

Q Who was that? A Buck Dawson.

Q Well, did anybody suggest about his going to the Cherokee Nation?

A Yes, sir, I told him, I says "why don't you go to the Cherokee Nation, why don't you go up home? I believe is the way I spoke it, "up amongst God's people;" and he says "are they all white like you?" and Jiles speaks up and says "majority of them."

Q Well, what did he say to Jiles then? A He says "let's go up Jiles", just in a whole crowd of cow punches, and Mr. Pickett says "Hell, I am going; brother John is getting ready to go now."

Q Well, then what did he say to you? A He says "who are your best lawyers up there, Kenney," and I told him "Hoolley Bell was counted the brainiest man in our country."

Q Well, do you know whether he claimed to have any Indian blood or what he was claiming in that country, whether white man or Indian?

A No, sir, I could not say what he was; he was generally known down there as Buck Dawson, a citizen of the State of Texas, that is all I know of him.

Mr. McKernon: The applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Mr. McKernon:

Q Were you born an' reared in the Cherokee Nation? A I can't tell you where I was born; I was raised here part of the time and in Burr County, Texas. B. W. Alberty was my guardian.

Q Were you admitted to citizenship by the Council or Court? A I think both of them passed on me; I can't tell you the date.

Q About what time? A It was sometime in '86 though.

Q What tribunal first? A I don't know; I don't know either when I was admitted, I was re-instated at Council.

Q When? A I think it was in '87 or '88.

Q Haven't you been arrested for crime and charged with crime?

A Well, I didn't know that I was on trial; I have been arrested a hundred times I guess from here to the Rio Grande.

Q For what offense? A For gambling, stealing; if I am on trial I have had lots of them, I have been on the road.

MR. HASTINGS, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation:

Q Were you ever convicted? A No, sir.

Mr. McKernon: Applicant makes further objection to the testimony of this witness on account of his criminal character stated by him.

THOMAS B. BARRETT, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

Mr. BARRETT:

Q State your name, please? A Thomas B. Barrett.

Q What is your date of birth? A Helvin.

Q What is your age? A 30.

Q How far are you related by blood? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you know one James Dawson? A Well, yes; I did; I have seen him time or two.

Q Were you in Tahlequah about the time he had an application before the Spears or Snake Pappy Citizenship Court? A Yes, sir; I was there about the time the case was settled.

Q Did you know Aaron Butler? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was he? A He was a Cherokee Interpreter for the Court.

Q Do you know James Smith? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was he? A He was the Nation's attorney before the Court.

Q Well, did you about that time have a conversation with either Aaron Butler or Jim Smith in company with Mr. James Dawson? A Yes.

Q State the full particulars of it? A About that time this man Dawson and Butler come to me while they were all together, all three of them, and Butler come and called me off to one side, that was down at a colored church, it was after dark, and they called me off there and this man Dawson borrowed some money from me, he said he had to have it that night, his case was going to be submitted the next morning.

Q Well, did he say anything about whether he could get his case submitted if he had more money? A Well, from the language to me a d Butler, he wanted this money; Smith had agreed to submit the case without further evidence in the matter.

Q Well, did you let him have the ten dollars? A Yes, sir.

Q Where did they go then? A They walked off up towards town.

Q Did they go together, those three? A Yes, sir.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Was that James Dawson, the leading applicant in that case?

A Yes, best of my recollection that was.

Q How old a man was he? A I don't know; I could not tell you; he looked, I don't know, he might have been—could not tell you just about how old he was.

Q Well, about how old was he, 25, 30 or 40? A Yes, he was older than that, from my judgment I guess he must have been 45 or 50 years old.

Q Is he living or dead? A I don't know.

Q Where have you been living? A I have been living down here near Tahlequah.

Q What was the man's name, Dawson's name? A Jim Dawson I think.

Q You are certain of that? A Yes, sir; I'm pretty certain.

Q They came to you with Smith, the Prosecuting Attorney, and Butler, the Interpreter? A Yes, sir.

Q Dawson took you off to one side? A Butler took me to where Dawson was and int advised me to Dawson and vouched for Dawson being all right for the money.

Q When did you first make a statement of this matter to anybody?

A I guess—I don't remember when.

Q How long have you been in Muskogee this time?

A I have been here since, I was summoned here last Friday.

Q Did you ever make any statement to anybody about this before that time? A Yes, I talked to Butler about it.

Q When? A Oh, about, first I remember it has been about two years ago, and Butler was talking to me about it; it was at my house.

Q Were you born a citizen? A Yes, sir.

Q You weren't admitted to citizenship by the Courts or Councils?

A No, sir.

Q You have been living in the Cherokee Nation all your life?

A Well, I was born and raised here; I haven't been here all the time; I have been out and in.

Q You have never seen that man Dawson since? A If I have I have never known it, but I seen him the next day.

Q You saw him and took a good look at him, and know about what kind of man he was? I saw him around there about several times.

Q You think he was about 35 or 40 years old? A That would be my guess at it, by recollection.

Mr. McKesson: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness, all of it, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

DELIA A. BREWER, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your full name? A My husband's name was O. P. Brewer, but generally I sign my name Mrs. D. A. Brewer.

Q What was your full maiden name? A Delia A. Vann; well it was really Delilah but I never was called by that name, it was De altogether in y yo an; days.

Q What was your father's name? A His name was Joseph Vann.

Q Was he called by any nicknames and if so how many, and what?

A None but the Cherokees, the full-bloods called him Joe Aney.

Q That does that name mean when you talk English? A Rich Joe.

Q Did any of them call him Big Joe Vann? A I don't know.

he was a large man; larger than the other Joe Vann.

Q There was another Joe Vann? A Yes, sir.

Q Did your father have any sisters and brothers? A He had quite a number of sisters.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had two half brothers.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had several half sisters.

Q Who did they marry? A Different persons; I know the names of all of them but I have a bad memory, but I know that there was one, a Mrs. Ibbie Wolfe, and Mrs. Lamer, she was first a Mrs. Nicholson and she became a Mrs. Lamer and lived in Alabama and never come to this country, but she has grandchildren in this country.

Q Well, did any of your father's sisters or half sisters ever marry a Rogers? A No, sir.

Q Never had any Rogers kin-folks? A No, sir, I certainly would have heard of them through my family, there was a great many of the kin-folks I never saw, but I heard of them.

Q The Rogers case was talked of here for many years, they claiming kin?

A I never knew until I understood they claimed to be kin to the Vanns, and I visited myself that my family was prominent enough that they never claimed kin.

Q They never claimed kin at all? A No, sir.

Q Did your father ever had a sister or half sister by the name of Annie, like on Alvin's, sir.

Mr. McKesson: Applicants object to all the testimony of this witness because it is incompetent and irrelevant.

JOHN TOLLIVER DAWSON, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A John Tolliver Dawson.

Q What relation are you to the Dawsons? A Well, I am not acquainted with none of these Dawsons, I guess I am cousin, that is what he told me.

Q Who was your father? A Samuel Riley Dawson.

Q What did you say your father's name was? A Mile Dawson.

Q Do you know what his full name was? A Samuel Riley Dawson.

Q What children had your father? A Why, he has got, you mean his first children or his whole family?

Q I want all of his children? A I don't know, I will have to count a while on them, there was nine or ten of them.

Q Just one or two of them I care for; is Mrs. Lewis your sister?

A Yes, sir.

Q Your full sister? A Yes, sir.

Q Was she a daughter of S. R. Dawson, Jr.? A Yes, sir.

Q How was she the parents of your father, Samuel Dawson?

A Why Sam Dawson was his father.

Q Sam Dawson was his father? A Yes, sir.

Q What was Sam Dawson's wife, if you know their family history, what your father said or what your grandfather said? A I have heard that she was a Pruitt, my father said; of course I don't know.

Q What was her given name? A Annie.

Q Did you ever see your grandfather, Samuel Dawson? A Yes, sir.

Q Saw him? A Yes, sir.

Q Do you know about how old he was when he died? A He was somewhere up about 90.

Q About how old were you when your grandfather died? A I don't remember exactly how old I was, I must have been somewhere near 12 years old when my grandfather died.

Q Was your father his youngest child? A Yes, sir.

Q Do you know about when your father was born? A Well, no, I don't, he died in '90 and he was 67 years old.

Q He died in about '90 and was about 67 years old when he died?

A Yes, sir.

Q And he was the youngest child? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, do you know how many children your grandfather had, that is brothers and sisters of your father? A I heard him say seven.

Q Well, did you ever hear your father or grandfather speak of whether or not your grandmother was a white woman or an Indian?

A Well, I heard my father speak about it, I don't know that I ever heard my grandfather say anything about it.

Q Well, what did he say about it? A I have heard him say his mother was not an Indian.

Q Did you father come here and apply once for citizenship?

A Yes, sir.

Q Was he admitted? A I think not.

Q Did you hear him make any statements about the ground he expected to get in? A He said his brothers had proved their rights here and if his brothers had any rights he did, but I don't know.

Q Well, in that connection did he say whether his mother was an Indian or white woman? A Never heard him say that his mother was a white woman in speaking about that, I don't know whether he said anything about that or not; I have heard him say his mother wasn't no Indian.

Mr. McKinnon: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness because it is wholly irrelevant and incompetent.

- Q Did you ever hear your father speak of his relations, his father and mother, as to whether they were white people or Indians? A Yes, sir, they were white people.

Q. You know whether in the family you grandfather was spoken of by the name of Annie, always? A. Yes, sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness because it is wholly irrelevant and incompetent.

ALEX S. LEWIS, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q. State your name? A. Alex S. Lewis.

Q. What is your post-office? A. Dawson, Indian Territory.

Q. How old are? A. 59 years.

Q. What was your wife's maiden name? A. Elizabeth Parales Dawson.

Q. Who was your wife's father and mother? A. Her father was Samuel R. Dawson and her mother was the wife of Samuel R. Dawson, did you want her maiden name?

Q. Well, if you know the maiden name of your wife's mother, state how you know it? A. Well she was called Margaret, Margaret Queen or her maiden name.

Q. The maiden name now of your wife's father's mother? A. Why the maiden name of my wife's father's mother?

Q. Yes, sir? A. From what her husband and my father-in-law told me it was Annie Pruett.

Q. What was the name of your wife's father's father? A. My wife's grandfather on her father's side, Samuel Dawson.

Q. And his wife's maiden name was Annie Pruett? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you know the old gentleman, Samuel Dawson, your wife's grandfather? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Personally? A. Yes, sir.

Q. What opportunities had you to be acquainted with him? A. He lived with his youngest son, my father-in-law, and visited me, my wife and I, after we were married, stayed with us quite a while; I lived near my father-in-law and he visited very often.

Q. When did he die? A. '74.

Q. Have you any particular method of recalling that date? A. Well, I was away from the house when he was taken sick, and they sent for my wife and myself, and so when I got home my wife had gone to her father's to see her grandfather, he was sick, and I remember my first wife was a baby at that time.

Q. And when was your first child born? A. He was born December, '73.

Q. You know how old your wife's father was when he died? A. Why he was up in 60, but I don't remember his age.

Q. Did the old original Samuel Dawson ever tell you his age? A. Yes, sir, several times.

Q. How old was he at the time of his death? A. He was past 84.

Q. Did he ever tell you whether or not his wife Annie Pruett had any sister or brother? A. Told me she only had one brother named Bob Pruett.

Q. Have any of the members of the family named their children after him? A. Make it a little plain, it is a little long; my wife's oldest brother was a particular favorite of his grandfather, and he always took this boy with him everywhere, and he had named one of his, - oldest child for this brother-in-law who was a particular favorite of his grandfather; he called it for him I understood.

Q. Now, what is his name? A. Of course I don't know why he named it, but he gave him the name of Robert Pruett, and I understood it was on account of his grandfather thinking, so much of Robert Pruett.

Q. Did you ever hear the old Samuel Dawson speak of his brother-in-law? A. Yes, sir; I have heard him say that he wished he knew what had become of Bob Pruett, he never had heard of him for a long time; didn't know where he was, or whether he was alive or not.

Q Now, I want the children of Samuel Dawson and Annie Pruett, how many of them did you know, first? A How many did I know personally?

Q Yes, sir? A John James, and Samuel R. These were the only ones of his children that I remember personally.

Q Well, remember what you know of the family, what other children did he have? A Well he had two girls, as I understand the family history, he had two girls, first, and John Dawson was the third child, and the oldest boy was John Dawson.

Q Was John Dawson the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q Which was the oldest girl? That is she known by now? A I think it was Mrs. Petty, nee Bettie Dawson.

Q And John Dawson was the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q And Samuel R. Dawson was the youngest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q You know anything about the time John Dawson was born, have you any way of coming at it, the oldest boy? A Yes, sir, I know what the oldest son and his wife told us.

Q What was that? A They said he was born in 1811.

Q Who was his oldest son? A Toliver H. Dawson; told me his father was born in 1811.

Q Do you remember now whether the old man had occasion to say whether his wife, Annie Pruett was an Indian or white woman, or ever said anything about it? A I know what the old man said that she was, I don't know that I ever heard the question approached in that way, I have heard him speak as to her blood, but it was in a different way that he reached it.

Q What blood did he say she was? A Well he said that she was the daughter of Mrs. Pruett, a white woman; and that her father was Captain John Rogers, a white man who lived with the Cherokee Indians, and traded with them.

Q Did he say who Captain John Rogers afterwards married? A Said he had a wife in the Cherokee Nation.

Q But that Annie Pruett was not her child? A No, sir, she was the child of Mrs. Pruett.

Q A white woman? A Yes, sir, that was the half sister of Bob Pruett.

BY MR. HOKENON:

Applicant's object to all of the testimony of this witness, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Q Did ever you apply for citizenship here? A Yes, sir; for my wife.

Q When? A My father-in-law made the application, I don't know exactly when it was, I think probably about '86, I couldn't say as to the date.

Q Before the Cherokee authorities? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he file an application before the Daves Commission in 1896 also? A Him.

Q Yes, sir? A I don't think he did, no sir.

Q Did you? A I did.

Q On account of your wife? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you take affidavit to that application? A No, sir.

Q Who did? A I don't know, don't remember now.

Q You applied for your wife as an Indian by blood did you not? A Yes, sir.

Q Are you still an applicant? A No, sir.

Q Is she? A No, sir.

Q She was denied was she? A Yes, sir.

Q Was there an appeal taken from that? A Application was filed if I remember, before the Daves Commission, and they rejected the case, and then I appealed it to the District Court, and it was rejected there, and then I stopped.

Q Have you ever been arrested for any crime? A Yes, sir.
Q What? A Charge of murder.
Q Anything else? A No, sir.
Q Committed on the train? A Yes, sir.
Q In a train robbery? A Yes, sir, in a train robbery.
Q How long did you remain in jail? A Appealed the case to the Supreme Court, and it was reversed and sent back, and I was acquitted on that charge.
Q That all the crime you were ever charged with? A Yes, sir.
Q Haven't you been having some trouble with the Dawson family?
A Well personally I have no trouble with any of them, there is one of my boys and one of W. A. Dawson's sons-in-law had some trouble.
Q You are not friendly with the Dawson family? A That son-in-law Mr. Wooley, and myself, don't speak, and I don't think his wife speaks to me either.
Q Well you are claiming some sort of lease on the Wooley farm, aren't you? A No, sir, I don't claim any lease on the Wooley farm.

B. W. ALBERTY, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A B. W. Alberty.
Q What is your post-office? A Tahlequah.
Q What is your present official position in the Cherokee Nation?
A Assistant Executive Secretary of the Cherokee Nation.
Q As such have you charge of the citizenship records and books etc. of the Nation? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you made search recently for the original records in the various cases of the Dawson family before citizenship courts in Council? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you got what records you found with you? A I find what's supposed to be the original papers in the case, all that I could find. (Produces papers and hands to Nation's attorney.)

vs.

Cherokee Nation.

Testimony for Claimants.

Fitness:

Dr. Baker sworn testified as follows. My name is Arthur Baker I reside at Herrivill, Arkansas, Carroll County, my age is 73 years, I am not a Cherokee, I lived in the Cherokee Nation about three years when I first came to Arkansas I have been acquainted with him since he became a citizen of Carroll County some thirty five years (line drawn through the last three words.) 35 years at my mother's house near Calhoun I became acquainted with the claimants Robt Dawson's grandfather on mother's side, and was frequently at my mother's house; though she Anna Pruet lived in the Nation side. She claimed to be a half sister to Big Joe Vann, also claimed to be half Cherokee; the first time she brought the claimant's mother to my mother's house she the claimant's mother was about grown, when I was a little boy she called her daughter Polly Rogers said Capt. John Rogers who ran a boat up the river was the father of the child; I saw the girl frequently there at my mother's and there at Louis Rosses Store I saw her occasionally until I was 15 or 16 years old and I think then Old Capt John Rogers took her off to school. I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of Old Samuel Dawson. I stayed all night there and so and I had a talk over our old matters, and I asked her when she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school. And she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home to the Nation and they were there married: I have told that precisely in the words she used.

Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee, the claimant is the son of Polly Rogers and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruet, and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson Capt Rogers then resided in the Cherokee Country about twelve miles from Calhoun on the Hiwassee River.

Anna Pruet resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there the Dawsons when I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees, Robt Dawson's children is Buck, John, Marion, and two girls; the children named in the petition I recognize as being the claimants.

Question by Solicitor:

Ques. 1 How many children did Polly Rogers have?

Ans. 1 Five, I think that's all

Ques. 2 Did you say something about someone being married twice?

Ans. 2 The claimant was married twice.

Ques. 3 Could Anna Pruet speak Cherokee?

Ans. 3 Yes she could speak it well

Ques. 4 Did Polly Rogers speak Cherokee?

Ans. 4 She could when she was young.

Ques. 5 How far do you live from Anna Pruet?

Ans. 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.

Ques. 6 Was Calhoun in the Cherokee Nation?

Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river, part in the Nation and part out in the State.

Ques. 7 Which Harnage was it want to Texas?
 Ans. 7 George went first then John went they were the sons of old man Harnage that lived up here near the line.
 Ques. 8 Did the claimant go to Texas?
 Ans. 8 No the claimant didn't go to Texas.
 Ques. 9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
 Ans. 9 The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers Marion here is the grandson of Polly Rogers.
 Ques. 10 Where does claimant now live?
 Ans. 10 He lives in Carroll County, Arkansas.
 Ques. 11 Do you know what relation old Captain John Rogers was to Char'ette Rogers here in Coowesscoowee?
 Ans. 11 They claimed kin but what kin I don't know there were two Capt. John Rogers' in the Nation I am speaking of the time when I first came to this 1830 Country about the year 1830.
 Ques. 12 Was Anne Pruet the maiden name of Claimant's grandmother?
 Ans. 12 Yes that was her maiden name the Indians called her Sinee.

I saw the Claimants, Lulu Dauthett and Dallas Dauthett in Vinita, and know them to be the grandchildren of my brother E. Dawson who is a recognized Cherokee by blood. L. M. Dauthett, the father of the Claimants, Lulu and Dallas is a white man Dauthett's wife the mother of Lulu and Dallas was a Cherokee, the daughter of my brother E. Dawson, who is now dead. The eldest of these applicants is about 9 years old. I have known them about 8 years. These children is now living with their father. One is a girl and the other is a boy. I had been acquainted with her mother all her life. If she had been now living she would have been about 25 years old -- She has been dead about 4 years as well as I can recollect, She was about 17 years old when she was married.

Joseph Dawson introduced for Claimants, sworn in open Court testified as follows:

Joe Dawson, an a Cherokee live in the Cherokee Nation, am 31 years old.

Lulu Dauthett and Dallas Dauthett, the Claimants are Cherokees. Fannie Dawson was their mother. Fannie Dawson was a Cherokee, that is what I wa always told. Her father was E. Dawson. E. Dawson was my brother. Mrs. Dauthett is not living now: the last time I saw Lulu, and Dallas Dauthett, they were in Texas. But I have heard since that they are in the Cherokee Nation. E. Dawson recognizes them as his grand-children and I have known them ever since they were born.
By Solicitor:

Lulu is about 10 years old. The Dallas is about 5 or 6 years old. I heard that their father is now at Vinita Cherokee Nation, E. Dawson is Elbert Dawson. The applicants' mother has been dead about three or four years. She died at Hillsboro, Texas.

I was not present when their mother and E. Dawson had eight children to the best of my recollection, or S. Fannie, Francis, Cartenas, Zanie, Bob, Smith, Worth, Bert, Ella. All living but two, Fannie and Smith. They are all living in Texas when I left there. I am a brother to F. M. Dawson, we are full brothers. Now comes E. Dawson petitioning for the Cherokee rights of his grandchildren, Lulu Dauthett & Dallas Dauthett, by virtue of their Cherokee blood, which was admitted into the "Two Indian Court", and the "Spears Court", and are now residing as citizens in the Cherokee Nation. In the opinion of this Commission the sufficiency of the considerations which determined the decision of those Commissions of the testimony now introduced to authorize the admission of the present applicant is not relevant to the issue now pending. The 7th section of the Act of December 8th, 1886, before named provides, that "The Commission shall give a hearing to any person applying for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the ground of Cherokee blood or descent, but such applicant must be a person, or the lineal descendant of a person whose name appears upon the census rolls of Cherokees taken by the United States," as are hereafter enumerated. Neither the name of the applicant nor that of the person of whom he claims to be a lineal descendant appearing upon either of said rolls the Commission adjudge and decree that Samuel R. Dawson and family are not entitled to re-admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as Cherokees by blood. This opinion includes the cases of Andrew J. Dawson, James K. P. Dawson, Journah Barber nee Journah Dawson and Jane Queen, nee Jane Dawson, and their families, as enumerated in their respective applications.

E. Dawson, who being duly sworn, upon his oath deposes and says as follows, to wit:

I am a citizen of the Cherokee Nation and reside in Cowascoochee Dist. and am 53 years old. I am acquainted with the applicant, Andrew J. Dawson, he claims to be a relation of mine. I have known him personally about three (3) years. He said his father was Joe Dawson. I know the party, the applicant, from circumstances, and have no doubt but that he is a relation of mine.

Joe Dawson, the father of the applicant was my father's brother. Joe Dawson was considered to be a Cherokee, I think he died on the Hiwassee river in Tenn. I think he had four (4) children. I never saw any of them but Andrew J. Dawson, and Jim Dawson.

-Cross Ex. -

Joe Dawson has been dead about 35 years he lived west of the Mississippi river, I understand. My father had four brothers. I don't know how long Joe Dawson had been living in Tenn. before he died. All that I know of the applicant being the son of my Uncle Joe Dawson, is from what he himself has told me, - My grandfather, Sam Dawson was a white man. The applicant could be of the Dawson name and not be related to me - My grandfather being a Dawson and a white man.

VS

CHEROKEE NATION,

APPELLEE.

PETITION FOR APPEAL FROM THE DECISION OF THE COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

Come now the appellants in the above entitled cause and petition the Court to grant an appeal in said cause from a decision of the Commission, known as the Dawes Commission, created and empowered to treat with the Five Civilized Tribes of Indians, to-wit: the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw, and Seminole Indians, and to pass upon and decide applications for citizenship in the said Five Civilized Tribes, which decision by said Commission was rendered by authority of, but not in accordance with, an Act of Congress passed and approved June 10th, 1896, and by which decision on the 29 day of October, 1896 the aforesaid appellants were denied their rights to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

The facts relied upon by the appellants to establish their rights to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as aforesaid are as follows to-wit: The affidavits of E. Dawson, S. R. Dawson, W. A. Dawson, F. M. Dawson.

Said affidavits fully and conclusively establishing the fact that said appellants are Cherokee Indians, by blood and descent, and entitled to rights of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Said affidavits, together with the application, of said appellants, were, prior to September the 10th, 1896, filed with and submitted to said Commission for its investigation, consideration and decision.

That a certified copy of said application, together with the foregoing affidavits, were served upon the Chief, or Attorney General, of said Cherokee Nation, prior to September the 10th, 1896.

The errors of the Commission in rejecting the claims for citizenship of said appellants are the grounds for appeal to this Court, to-wit:

FIRST. The Commission erred in rendering its decision on said claims adversely to the appellants and against the proof submitted by said appellants.

SECOND. The Commission erred in investigating the claims of appellants and denying same, during the absence of a majority of the members of the Commission.

THIRD. The Commission erred in refusing the appellants the right and privilege of examining the proof submitted by appellee in support of the answers filed by the appellee and denying the appellants the right of filing replication to appellee's answer or producing proof in rebuttal of the same.

FOURTH. The Commission erred in denying the appellants the right of a trial of their claims by a competent jury, as granted to them by the law and constitution of the United States.

FIFTH. The Commission erred in refusing appellants the right to be present in person, or by attorney, during the trial and determination of their claims before the said Commission.

SIXTH. The Commission erred in refusing to issue process for witnesses and to send for persons and papers as requested to do so by the appellants.

SEVENTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the right of these appellants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

EIGHTH. The Commission erred in deciding against blood, holding that blood was not a test of the right of citizenship in said Cherokee Nation.

NINTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the question of residence, holding that residence in the Cherokee Nation was not a test of the right of citizenship in the said Cherokee Nation.

TENTH. The Commission erred in not entering upon their docket or record the grounds upon which the claims of appellants were denied and refusing to notify appellants the grounds of denial or rejection.

ELEVENTH. The Commission erred in examining the claims and proof of appellants and denying the same while the Commission was not clothed with any legal authority, nor had jurisdiction, to render decision on said claims and deny the same.

TWELFTH. That the Act of Congress approved June the 10th, 1896, was unconstitutional and had no power or legal right to confer jurisdiction on said Commission to try and determine the rights to citizenship of said appellants, and said Commission erred in determining the rights and denying the same to said appellants.

THIRTEENTH. That Congress had no power by enactment to create, appoint and empower a judiciary, and said Commission erred in denying the claims of said appellants without any legal authority to do so.

Therefore, the appellants of this cause pray that an appeal be granted to this Court and that a trial, to have be granted the appellants, and that said appellants be permitted to introduce new testimony, and that an order be made requiring said Commission to send all pleadings, papers and exhibits filed before it in this cause to this Court, and that the Cherokee Nation, the appellee in this case, be cited to appear at this Court and plead and defend against the appeal. Show why the appellants should not by the rules, orders and decisions of this Court be adjudged entitled to citizenship in the said Cherokee Nation, and the appellants will ever pray.

REPORT OF SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION. )

-----oCo-----

I, H. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to the Court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proofs of plaintiffs herein, which is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and that I find as follows:

I

That this cause was instituted on September 3th, 1896, before the Dawes Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, by Joseph Barber, and Isaac J. Barber, her husband, and their children, Onis E., William E., James E., Johnnie and Joel A.
Barber. That Joel A. Barber has the following children,
Mattie Toliver, George A., Frankie C., Jesse and Ethel Barber.
That the application includes also Mary A. Borer and her child Inez Borer, Emma L. Murphy and her child Claud Murphy, Eva Moore and her children Anna J., Jackson D., Ruby and Glady, Attie L. Hunt and her child Dorman Hunt, Albert J. Smart and her children Georgia A. and Erzey M. Smart, Joana J.
Garlinghouse and her children Myrtle C., Cora L. and Bertha
M. Garlinghouse. That this application was by the Commission tried and rejected on October 29th, 1896, with no reasons given for the decision, and that subsequently on December 23, 1896, the claimants appealed to this Court. That the parties all live in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

II

That the parties claim the right to be admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by reason of their descent from Polly Rogers, who is claimed to be a Cherokee Indian by blood. That they filed in support of their application the affidavits of S. R. Dawson, E. Dawson, Francis J. Dawson, and F. A. Dawson, who testify that Joanna Barber is the daughter of Elizabeth Poley, ne Dawson, who was the daughter of Polly Rogers, who married a white man by the name of Samuel Dawson, and that Polly Rogers was the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Ailsiey Vann. That these witnesses are all Cherokee citizens by blood, acquainted with the claimants, and according to their testimony, related to them by blood.

The appellee introduces in controversy this testimony the decision of the Cherokee Commission on citizenship, rendered in the year 1897, in which these claimants were rejected by this Commission and also the affidavits of W. C. Rogers a grandson of Captain John Rogers, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, a granddaughter of Captain John Rogers, both of whom state that they never heard of any daughter of said Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and that Cynthia Rogers was his only daughter.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation, and are relatives of the Hudson family, who are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, and are entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood, while the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the petitioners claim, is not now and was not born a citizen of the Cherokee Nation since the removal West; that his name does not appear on the rolls of the Cherokee Nation, and that he nor his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

The premises considered, in view of the unsettled condition of affairs in the Cherokee Nation at the time when Captain John Rogers, the ancestors through whom these claimants trace their Cherokee blood, lived, and especially in view of the absence of a marriage license and of records pertaining to marriage, I am of the opinion that these claimants have proved that they are descended from Capt. John Rogers, who resided in the Cherokee Nation, and was a recognized citizen, although they do not know that he was ever enrolled as such, and I therefore find that the claimants are all residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, and that they are all Cherokee Indians by blood. That law has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1837, and probably longer, but as the proof does not state definitely how long they have so resided.

I ask that the Court allow to a reasonable fee for my services here in a special master.

Respectfully submitted this 10 day of August, 1897.

(Signed) H. A. Gibson,
SPECIAL MASTER.

By fee paid.

No Exceptions filed.

BY THE COURT.

From the report it appears that the claimants base their right to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation upon the grounds that they are the descendants of a Cherokee Indian by blood, and their ancestors, through whom they claim have never resided in the Cherokee Nation since now considered. It appears that they have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1837, and probably longer, but as the proof does not state definitely how long they have so resided. It does not appear that the claimants or any of their ancestors have ever been recognized as members of the Cherokee Nation.

The judgment of the Special Master is hereby reversed, and the application of the claimants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation is denied."

Testimony for Claimants.

Witness, Dr. Arthur Baker sworn testified as follows:
My name is Arthur A. Baker I reside at Berryville Arkansas Carroll County my age is 73 years I am not a Cherokee. I lived in the Cherokee Nation about three years when I first came to Arkansas I have been acquainted with him since he became a citizen of Carrolls County some 35 years - At my mothers house near Calhoun I became acquainted with the claimants Robt Dawson grandmother on mother's side she was frequently at my mothers house though she Anna Pruet lived in the Nation side; She claimed to be a half sister to Big Joe Vann, also claimed to be half Cherokee, the first time she brought the claimants mother to my mothers house she was mothers mother was about grown when I was a little boy. She called her daughter Polly Rogers, said Captain John Rogers who ran a boat up the River was the father of the child; I saw the girl frequently there at my mothers and there at Louis Russes Store.

I saw her occasionally until I was 15 or 16 years of old and I think then Old Capt. John Rogers took her off to school, I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of old Samuel Dawson, I stayed all night there and she and I had a talk over our old matters and I asked her where she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school and she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home, to the Nation and they were there married. I have told that precisely in the words that she used, Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee. The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers, and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruet and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson.

Capt. Rogers then reside in the Cherokee Country about twenty (word "twenty" marked through) twelve miles below Calhoun on the Hiwassee River Anna Pruet resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there the Dawson when I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees. Robert Dawson children is Buck, John, Marian and two girls. The children named in the petition I recognized as being the claimants.

Question by Solicitor:

- Q. 1 How many children did Polly Rogers have?
- Ans. 1 Five I think that's all.
- Q. 2 Did you say so earlier about some one being married twice?
- Ans. 2 The claimant was married twice.
- Q. 3 Could Anna Pruet speak Cherokee?
- Ans. 3 Yes, she could speak it well.

- Ques 4 Did Polly Rogers speak Cherokee?
 Ans. 4 She did when she was young.
 Ques 5 How far did you live from Anna Pruet?
 Ans. 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.
 Ques 6 Was Salhoun in the Cherokee Nation?
 Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river part in the Nation and part out in the state.
 Ques 7 Which Harnage was it went to Texas?
 7 George went first, then John went, they were the sons of old man Harnage, that lived up near the line.
 Ques 8 Did the claimant go to Texas?
 Ans. 8 No the claimant did not go to Texas.
 9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
 9 The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers
 10 Marion here is the grandson of Polly Rogers.
 10 Where does claimant now live?
 10 He lives in Carroll Co Arkansas.
 11 Do you know what relation old Capt John Rogers was to Samuel Rogers here in Cooweesacoowee?
 11 They claimed kin but what kin I dont know there were two Capt John Rogers in the Nation I am speaking of the time when I first come to this country about the year 1831.
 12 Was Anna Pruet the maiden name of claimants grandmother?
 12 Yes that was her maiden name the Indian called her

My name is P. M. Dawson; I am 54 years of age; my post office address is Afton Indian Territory I am a farmer by occupation & I reside in the Cherokee Nation.

I am a recognized Cherokee citizen by blood. I was born in Carroll County Arkansas near Berryville. I derived my Cherokee Indian blood from my grandmother whose maiden name was Polly Rogers through my father Robert Dawson, my grandmother Polly Rogers was a Cherokee Indian and was married to Samuel Dawson my grand father in the old Cherokee Nation in Tennessee. My grand parents Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly came west from the Old Cherokee Country in about 1838 and settled in Western Arkansas and later came on to the Indian Territory and the father of this affiant Robert Dawson and family settled in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, Robert Dawson, the father of the affiant was also a recognized citizen of the present Cherokee Nation by reason of his Cherokee Indian blood.

The said Robert Dawson father of this affiant and Elizabeth Dawson who married John Petty were full brother and sister by blood, both being children of said Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly Dawson whose maiden name was Polly Rogers

The said Elizabeth Petty was the mother of Joanna Barber who is a full cousin by blood of this affiant in the Indian side. The said Joanna Barber is the mother of Irene J. House nee Barber who is a second cousin of this affiant in the Indian side.

This affiant further states that he has seventy five to a hundred blood relatives who reside in the Cherokee Nation and are recognized Cherokee Indians by blood and drew their per capita money all the last payment; said citizens and relatives derived their Indian blood from the same source that the above named Irene J. House, derives her Indian blood and right.

This statement I have made to John H. Koogler, a Notary Public at Muskogee Indian Territory and it has been written down by him at my dictation. Such part of this testimony which refers to matters occurring previous to my recollection I know by means of family history and traditions which facts I have always been taught and told of by my parents and grand parents from childhood up, the facts stated as occurring since my childhood I know of my personal knowledge. Affiant further states that he is not personally interested in the prosecution of the application of said Irene J. House for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

The said Elizabeth Pety was the mother of Joann Barber who is a full cousin by blood of this affiant on the Indian side, the said Joann Barber is the mother of Irena J. House, whose maiden name was Irena J. Barber and a second cousin of this affiant on the Cherokee Indian side. This affiant further states that he has seventy five to a hundred blood relatives who reside in the Cherokee Nation and are recognized Cherokee Indians of the present Cherokee Nation and exercise all the rights and privileges of such Cherokee citizens, they having drawn their shares of the Strip Money at the last capitation made by the Cherokee Nation.

Said citizens and relatives derived their Cherokee Indian blood from the same source, and the one named Irena J. House.

I have made this statement before J. Barricklaw, Notary Public at Salala, Ind. Ter, and this affiant further states that he has no other claim or interest in the settlement of the claim for said money of the Cherokee Nation of the said Irena J. House.

I believe the above facts which are within the personal knowledge of the said affiant, and in the exercise of his discretion he knows and believes that the other facts which appeared before the recorder and affiant are established to be what he has been told, and in making out of a true statement.

That the relatives who exist among his people in the Cherokee Nation are known from his personal knowledge and that they are related to the Cherokee Indian side.

EXHIBIT E.

Before me the undersigned authority this day, personally appeared W. A. Dawson who is to me well and personally acquainted, and after being duly sworn: deposed and says, that he is well acquainted with Irene J. House and knows she is a Cherokee Indian, and that he knows she is the daughter of Joana Barber, who is a niece of Robt. & James Dawson, who are both Cherokee Indians and recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Affiant further states that Irene House is the grand daughter of Mrs. Petty, who was a full sister of Robt & James Dawson.

Affiant further says that he knows that Irene House is a lineal descendant of Ammie Dawson whose children (line drawn through word "children") sons, Robt & James before spoken are recognized citizens.

Affiant further says he has no interest in this suit.

Mr. W. A. Gibson, Special Master to whom this case was referred, submits the following report: (Insert report)

IN THE UNITED STATES COURT IN THE INDIAN TERRITORY,

NORTHERN DISTRICT AT MUSKOGEE.

IRENE J. HOUSE ET AL

VS

238 REPORT OF SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION.

-----p00-----

I, N. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to the court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proof and pleadings on file in this case which are made a part of this report, and that I find as follows:-

I

That this case is in reality a branch of Case No. 90, Joanna Barber vs Cherokee Nation, the principal claimant herein being Irene J. House a daughter of Joanna Barber.

That this cause was instituted on September 2, 1896 at which time application was made to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes for citizenship by blood in the Cherokee Nation.

That this case was tried by the said Commission on November 24, 1896 and the applicants denied, no reasons being given for the decision, and that on January 20, 1897, the parties appealed from said decision to this Court.

That this application was made by Irene J. House, her husband, W. J. House, and their children Chas., C. Winston T., and Henry W. House. That they file in support of their application the affidavits of Joanna Barber, P. L. Dawson, Arthur A. Baker, S. Dawson, and W. A. Dawson. That these Dawson witnesses are citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, and state that they are related by blood to the claimants herein on the Cherokee side. The claimants base their contention of a right to Cherokee citizenship upon the fact that the claimant Irene J. House is the daughter of Joanna Barber, who is the daughter of Elizabeth Petty, who was the daughter of Polly Rogers, and that Polly Rogers was the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Ailsey Vann, who were recognized Cherokee citizens by blood. That the testimony shows that this Dawson family are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and that the claimants herein are cousins by blood upon the Indian side, and that they all claim through a common ancestor, Polly Rogers and Captain John Rogers and Ailsey Vann, who were all recognized Cherokee Indians.

II

The appellee introduces in defense the record of the application of these claimants to the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship in the year 1897, and the record of the rejection of the claimants, and further the affidavits of W. J. Rogers, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, a grand daughter both of them state that they never heard of any daughter of Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and that he had only one daughter whose name was Cynthia.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation and are citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, are entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood, while the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the petitioners claim, is not now and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation since the removal west. That his name does not appear on the rolls of the Nation, and that neither he nor his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

IV

The premises considered, I find that the claimants are the descendants of Captain John Rogers, and that it was entirely possible that in the condition of affairs at that early date in the Cherokee Nation, especially owing to the absence of a marriage law and of records pertaining to marriage, that these claimants should be the descendants of Captain John Rogers by a daughter, Polly Rogers, of whom the affiants for the appellee may never have heard.

I find that the claimants are residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, where they have resided since 1837, and that they are Cherokee Indians by blood.

I ask that the Court allow me a reasonable fee for my services herein as Special Master.

Respectfully submitted, this 9 day of Nov 1897.

Special Master.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Well we close for the present.

TESTIMONY INTRODUCED ON BEHALF OF THE APPLICANTS:

D. W. C. DUNCAN, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKEHNON:

- Q Please state your name, age and residence? A My name is D. W. C. Duncan, my age is 72 years, my residence, Vinita, Indian Territory.
- Q Are you a duly recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood? A I am.
- Q You gave testimony in this case once before did you not, before the Dawes Commission? A I did.
- Q Before this Commission I will say, this Commission? A The Dawes Commission? A Why I don't recollect who the Commissioner was, that was taken at Vinita, ex parte.
- Q Were you in any way connected with the Cherokee citizenship Commission in 1883 known as the "Tahoe Commission"? A I was clerk of that Commission.

Q For what length of time? A I don't recollect the exact length of time, I think it was about thirty days, during the existence of that Commission, existence of that Commission.

Q You were the only clerk it had during its existence were you?
A I think I was.

Q You were clerk of that Commission when it rendered a decision in favor of Robert Dawson et al., as found on page 114, of its record, numbered 108 (witness examines record referred to.) now in the possession of this Commission? A I was.

Q The members of that Commission were the same as shown by the signatures to this judgment were they? A The same, yes, sir.

Thomas Tebb, President of the Commission, Alex Wolfe and T. H. Thompson, Commissioners, that is correct, is it? A That's correct.

Q Were you present when this case was under consideration by that Commission and when it rendered this judgment in the case? A I was.

Q Were you at that time acquainted with F. M. Dawson, commonly called "Bud Dawson", Campbell Taylor and Samuel H. Benge, who were applicants, who were Cherokee attorneys at that time? A I might say that I merely knew Mr. Dawson; all I know of him was I met him there as a party to the suit. I knew Mr. Taylor and Mr. Benge more extensively; I have known them a number of years.

Q They were recognized Cherokee citizens were they? A They were.

Q Was Taylor not known generally as a Citizenship Attorney?
A I think he was.

Q Do you remember seeing him and Benge present at the time this case was under consideration by the Court? A Why I do not recollect seeing Mr. Benge, I cannot recollect, but I can recollect of seeing Mr. Taylor about the Court room now and then.

Q How did he admitted the case to the Court for the applicants? A Let me understand the meaning of that; who brought the case?

Q Who called up the case? A No, I don't recollect.

Q Do you remember whether that Commission rendered any other decision than that found upon this record in that case? A I never had any knowledge only but one decision.

Q Was that in favor of or against the applicants? A It was in favor of them; I will say this; that if there was another decision other than the one that appears on the docket now before you, I have no recollection of it.

Q The only decision you have any knowledge of was recorded by you in this book as here shown was it not? A That is the only one that I have any knowledge of.

Q Did Bud Dawson pay you any money in connection with that case?
A He did not.

Q Did he ever promise to pay you any money for your influence with the Court in that case? A Never.

Q Or did you any money, either directly or through any other person? A For my influence in that case?

Q Yes, sir? A Never.

Q Did you have any knowledge of his having paid to the Court or to any member of the Court any money for the purpose of influencing their judgment in that case? A None whatever.

Q Did you have opportunity of observing his conduct during that Court at the time? A The only opportunity that I had was during the session of the Commission; I saw but very little of him during the recesses of the Commission; now and then I would see him in passing.

Q Did you see anything in his conduct toward that Court which indicated that he had some undue influence in procuring that judgment? A I never observed anything of the kind; nothing that awakened a suspicion in my mind that he was engaged in that kind of practice.

Q Did Campbell Taylor at any time after the rendition of that judgment pay to you any money as coming through him from Bud Dawson for any services which you had rendered to him in that case?

A Yes, he paid me some.

Q What amount? A My recollection is that, I think it was a twenty dollar bill. I don't know but I had better go and state the transaction, all about it.

Q Yes, sir. A Mr. Dawson, Bud Dawson, during the trial of the case occasionally applied to me at my desk for writing paper, issue of a subpoena or transcript, something of that kind; I always treated him with courtesy and proper official consideration. He seemed to appreciate it, and whenever I did services of that kind to him, says he, I have no money, Mr. Duncan, but I feel as I ought to pay you. I told him I made no charges for work of that kind. And in passing I might state that I never received a cent for any kind of that work which I had been in the habit of doing for various parties before the Court.

After his trial was concluded, in the afternoon a little while before summer time I went to my hotel, The National Brick Hotel in Tablequah; went to my room, felt a little tired, laid down upon the bed to rest. I recollect Mr. Dawson stepped into the room, drew a chair up to the bedside and sat down and commenced giving expression to his gratification at the success of his case, dwelling mostly upon the testimony in the case being so satisfactorily, establishing his Cherokee blood, and that he thought that he was entitled and that he had received justice by the Court. I listened to him, and we talked there I guess some ten or fifteen minutes; after a little he says, I must go to-morrow, I think he says to-morrow, I must go home, - he then lived down in Arkansas somewhere. Says he, Mr. Duncan, I believe I owe you something, ought to pay you something. Alluding, as I understood, to these little courtesies that I extended to him at my desk. Says I, I make no charges, Mr. Dawson, for services; if I have done you any good you are welcome. Well, says he, I feel indebted to you, I ought to pay you. I says, that makes no difference; I will leave that to you. Says he, I have hardly enough money to get back home. He shook my hand, and the last word he says to me, you shan't lose anything for your kindness to me; I thought so had reference to my services at the desk. That was the last I saw of Mr. Dawson, oh it must have been a year afterwards; I had located a little claim on the public domain up there in Delaware District, staked off what I intended to be a farm, merely stakes, I didn't make any other improvements, over there on Horse Creek. Went over in that part of the country to look after my claim, and I ran across Mr. Dawson, he had come into the country and located and built him a little shanty and was living in it; I called upon him; he was very glad to see me; I asked him what he was doing there; he said he had moved into the country, and I told him, says I, you are encroaching upon me here; he had spread his claim over part of mine, mine had been made so long it was outlived under Cherokee law. Well, says Mr. Dawson, I don't feel like doing you any wrong, I will pay you for your claim, and we will settle the matter in the way that he as soon as he got his little matters together that he would satisfy me for it. Well we parted at that point. It ran on then for a long time, I don't know how long, - I think I met him in White, and says he; did Camp Taylor pay you any money that I sent to you? says I, No, I have not seen Camp Taylor.

Well, says he, I gave him some money and told him to hand it to you for me, and, says he, you ask him and he will hand it over to you I guess. Well we parted then. Well, went on for some time, some months; I happened to meet Mr. Taylor in Tahlequah; I met him on the street I think, jocularly I slapped my hand on his shoulder, says I, look here, did Mr. Dawson any money to me by you? He says, yes, and he pulled out what I recollect to be a twenty dollar bill, and handed it to me; I received it, and I received it with the idea that he was compensating me for taking my claim, or possibly for doing him those little services in the Court. Now that is the substance of the whole thing.

Q Was not that twenty-five dollars, Mr. Duncan? A It might possibly have been, my recollection does not serve me exactly, it might have been 25 dollars.

Q Did Campbell Taylor pay you any other money as coming from said Dawson? A Never a cent.

Q Did he at any time pay you fifty dollars out of a hundred dollars which he had received from Mr. Dawson? A Never.

Q Did he on a second occasion pay you fifty dollars out of one hundred dollars which he claimed to have received from Mr. Dawson?

A None at all.

Q He said you had no other money than that you have already stated; from Mr. Dawson? A Not a cent.

1883. Case ruled by solicitor January 11th, 1883.

Q. Do you recollect the report of the Court was in favor of this judgment was all or were all of them? A. My recollection from that time is not positive, but I believe it was upon what I know to be the report of the Court at the time, seeing the names of all the jurors there, I can say with a great deal of positiveness that they were all present, because I never signed the report of the Commissioners unless he was present and I believe he was present.

Q. Was the case contested to by either of the parties?
A. Yes, the case was contested to by both parties.

Q. Was the case contested to by either of the parties?
A. Yes, the case was contested to by both parties.

Q To you no order to have any other order of the judges to file about the court at that time that and about it I have been thinking, and I can't recall to mind that I saw any other Dayton except that, until after they have been in the country subsequent to the rendition of the judgment.
A At that point a party who has been sitting in the post in view of a conviction of being held, it called forward, mostly on behalf of Philippine, arranged to follow until called.

BY MR. HURCHMAN:

Q Mr. Dutton, what is your business clerk of the United States Court? A It is a clerk who was appointed in December, 1932, at the time the Commission was organized immediately at the close of the Council in which they were appointed.

Q December 1932? A I think so.
Q That are you, being rendering your services in your handwriting in 1932? A The Commission held its court after they were created sometimes.

Q That was the record in 1931 wasn't it? A Well, I don't think I don't believe to say upon the court was elected, I don't know said at that time I was business clerk, I was business clerk just at the close of the session of the National Council of that year.

Q 1932? A I think it was '34.
Q You entered it, the judgment rendered January, 1933? A Yes, that was the session of the Commission.

Q That was before you were clerk of it? A Well I think I started ship for your time you know continuously.

Q Well but when you were a clerk that you were clerk of the Bar or were you named one? A No, I don't mean to say in 1932.

Q How could you be clerk when the Commission was created in 1933 upon you were not elected until 1934? A I am not sure that, '34 means after '33, it was the year preceding 1933, it was then 1932.

Q Your first entry in the law book of the is, what is, 1932, isn't it?
Q I don't recollect what my first entry was. (Attorney shows the record to witness) Yes, that is the entry there on that day.

Q And that was shortly after you became clerk wasn't it? A Yes, shortly after I became clerk.

Q The case had been entered upon the docket before you became clerk?
A I think so, yes; it was entered at the previous term of the session of the Commission.

Q In those proceedings you had the names of the three Commissioners signed in each judgment? A Yes, you say right?

(Attorney shows record to witness again) A That is by handwriting.
Q All three names? A All three names.

Q The record shows that you were clerk of the court that day a transcript of the proceedings, do you know the date that? A
I don't know the date.

Q You don't recollect that in, was the original of the record? A Yes, that is it.

Q The record shows that you were clerk of the court that day a transcript of the proceedings, do you know the date that? A
I don't know the date.

Q The record shows that you were clerk of the court that day a transcript of the proceedings, do you know the date that? A
I don't know the date.

Q Will you look at the original transcript hereby shown you and refer to in the judgment and say who signed the names of the Commissioners there? A (Papers shown to witness) A I signed them there.

Q You recognize that as your handwriting? A I do.

Q That made you when you were testifying at Vinita before Mr. Martin, on looking at the same signatures, and being cross-examined by me, say that it was not your signature and that the signature thereto attached was the signature of Mr. Thompson? A Occurred in this way: I had not seen any of the records in the case for about nineteen years. The exact transaction in the court had vanished about entirely from my memory; I recollected at that time, however, when I gave in my testimony before the Commissioner, Martin, that that was a practice of the Court at the time I served by which I signed the names of the full-blood members of the Commission, and Mr. Thompson either uniformly or occasionally signed his own name. I based my statement in that deposition upon my knowledge of the rule or practice in the Court, without comparing the letters and refreshing my memory. I made an incorrect statement when I said that that was not my handwriting; I am convinced now that it is my handwriting. That is the way it occurred, the way it happened.

Q Then you consider your recollection of the fact that Thompson when he was present and rendering a judgment signed it himself, not on that your own knowledge of your own handwriting?

A No, I didn't so regard it. I simply spoke without advisement when I gave in that testimony; I subsequently became better informed and concluded that that was my handwriting and not entered by Mr. Thompson under the rule, but was one of those cases in which he authorized me to do it myself, and I did it.

Q Then you have changed your testimony, because you think you have a better knowledge of the surrounding facts now than you had then, and not from the fact of your judgment on your handwriting at present? A I simply corrected my testimony in reference to my statement in regard to this handwriting, this case.

Q And you wouldn't know then as I understand you whether or not that is your handwriting; if it was not refreshed by what you consider to be exterior facts? A I should know it by examining it and thinking over the circumstances, I think I should recognize my own handwriting, but if a question should be propounded instantaneously without any advisement or preconsideration I might make a mistake.

Q You did recognize the names of Thomas Jones and Alexander Wolfe as being in your handwriting at that time? A I was very clear and positive, and so stated, that the names of those Commissioners were in my handwriting, and I was very certain by reflecting on the rule that they never signed their names with their own hand, but always authorized me to do it. Hence there is no question in my mind in regard to my handwriting in their signatures.

Q And when the thing is signed under it, as compared with your own handwriting, you had to wait and learn the facts afterwards to determine whether that was your signature or not? A No, I don't think that; if I had considered the circumstances, I knew it was not my handwriting; what kind is of the opinion that that had not been in the habit of at least my writing signing his own name, and I was under the impression—and I do not now think I am much deceived—that his cursive is at least more resembling to my own, hence I doubted whether I had signed that name or not on that account.

Q You were right concerned at that time in your testimony of the fact that Mr. Thompson is more that that was his responsibility and not yours, didn't you? A Mr. Thompson I stated that that was my handwriting, not my job to go to ascertain whether I was the author or not, and all it is long as I could find that I was.

Q And he stated, did you too didn't you, that he always had had the original himself when he was present? A I do not recollect and I stated, that I used the word "always", at that time, but I don't think I was examined when the deposition was taken by it, and I don't know, but I do not recollect any examination of the fact that I was present, and occasionally I was not for

Q Then you never found out that your testimony given so often 15 or 20 years ago or half ago was wrong until you examined the book at least yesterday, and compared yours with the man's signature?

A I don't know that I have thought of it since that time until yesterday or day before yesterday, the examining the book.

Q He is the only recollection that you have got and the only one to your recollection that Thompson was present when this judgment was rendered was the fact that you saw his signature on it, in your handwriting, is it? A As a fact,

Q You can swear that you or not? A That possibly the handwriting side of recollection and I recollect not that the officials there were all present at the time that I signed it, I don't

Q Was it in the forenoon now or in the afternoon? A I don't recollect whether it was in the forenoon or afternoon.

Q In recollecting that they were all present when the record was signed, do you mean to say that they are all present when the judgment was rendered? A Yes, that is, you know when a question of admission or rejection was voted upon.

A Yes, A They were present.

Q Did you take up the record at the time that they rendered the judgment, or was a transcript of it, and then write up the judgment part days afterwards? A The record was not written up in any way from the decision of any case, but I would make the record after adjournment, generally in the evening, and presented it next day or in the next session was had, for signature, that is the practice.

Q That in this case you wrote it up the very day that it was rendered didn't you? A I don't recollect as to that.

Q Did you then a transcript the very day it was rendered?

A I don't recollect as to that.

Q And indicated the giving of the transcript on the bottom of the judgment the day it was rendered? A I should say it was given at the time in the transcript.

Q That was a very unusual thing for you to do in writing up the judgment the day it was rendered?

Q In fact, you didn't write a transcript the day the judgment was rendered? A No, I don't know that there is anything unusual about that.

Q And that was the only record of kind that you had in any event of any kind? A I don't recollect, but if I don't recollect as to that, anybody else's knowledge.

Q That is what you are saying, you saw that a transcript was made up the day the judgment was rendered, that was the only record of kind that you had in any event of any kind, and that was the only record of kind that you had in any event of any kind, and that was the only record of kind that you had in any event of any kind.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Applicant's object to all of the witness' testimony relating to the nature of taking the testimony of witnesses at the trial, the character and effect of that testimony, and the number of witnesses, etc. as far as the same may be used for the purpose of testing the memory of the witness, because the same is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

R. F. FORTNER, being first duly sworn, and being examined and testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A R. F. Fortner.
- Q What is your age? A 54.
- Q You are a physician are you not? A I am.
- Q Where do you reside? A Vinita, Indian Territory.
- Q Do you hold any official position in your position? A Yes, I am President of the National Board of Health, Cherokee National Board of Health, and member of the Legislative Councils of the Indian Territory and of the American Medical Association, those are some, and the most important positions I hold at this time.

Q Did you ever have any talk with him about his citizenship case?
A Yes sir.
Q How long have you known him? A Yes sir.
Q Did you ever have any talk with him about his citizenship case?
A Yes sir.

Q. Mr. Dawson, what number of your family came to the Cherokee Nation to file and prosecute the claim of your father, Robert Dawson, and the members of his family, to Cherokee citizenship?

A. My brother from Texas was the first to file.

Q. Tell his name?

A. Robert Dawson, they all know him by that.

Q. When was that?

A. In '31, as well as I remember, or '32, I don't know which, it was in '31 or '32.

Q. Did you file your claim at that time?

A. My brother was the one who filed the application, my brother had Joel Hayes to make it out for him.

Q. That is by understanding?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. Before what court was that filed?

A. By understanding for the clerk of the court; Hastings can tell me what court he was clerk of.

Q. He was clerk of the court at that time?

A. Yes sir, of the citizenship court; that's my understanding.

Q. What was done about the case at that time, if you remember?

A. I went back home and left my brother down there at that time, that trip.

Q. Where did you then live?

A. I lived at Jerseyville, Arkansas.

Q. When did you next come to the Cherokee Nation?

A. I believe I came back the next January, that was in 1837.

Q. Was your brother back here then?

A. I don't think he was, I don't remember.

Q. Well had he at any time of the court or session of the Commission at any time after you first came here and filed the application until after it was decided?

A. No sir, I never saw him any more until that case was decided.

Q. You conducted the business then after that did you not?

A. Yes sir.

Q. The case was finally determined in January 1837?

A. '37, yes sir, the 15th day as I remember.

Q. Were you present at that hearing?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was there any decision of that case other than the one of record here?

A. I never heard of it if there was.

Q. Was the judgment rendered in that case as recorded in the record book of that Commission and is the custody of the books considered the only judgment that was rendered in that case so far as you know?

A. Yes sir, so far as I know, if there was any I never heard of it in that case.

Q. You then knew of no decision against you in the case?

A. No sir.

Q. Who was your attorney employed at the beginning?

A. I employed A. H. Rosewood.

Q. Was he a Cherokee citizen?

A. Yes sir, I think so.

Q. Where did he live?

A. At Glasgow, by understanding.

Q. Was he present at the time before the Commission?

A. I never saw him, he never came to the Nation, but I don't know.

Q. Did you see him at any time?

A. Yes sir.

Q. How long was he there?

A. If he ever did I never knew.

Q. Was he ever employed by you?

A. My brother employed him.

or not I don't know; he was generally always at Washington City during the term those things.

Q Well what did he do about it? A I don't know, I couldn't say that he done anything about it. That is Mr. Bryant, he was always gone.

Q What next was done about the employment of an attorney? A Why I got a letter from Joel Bryant that he was going to Washington City and wanted to come down in January first and Campbell Taylor would see to it later before the court.

Q Did he say that he had engaged the services of Campbell Taylor the attorney, to attend to it in his absence? A Yes sir, in his absence.

Q Have you got that letter? A I don't think I got the letter.

Q Well what did you do then? A Well when the time come I come down on the city to Washington here and I was over from here to Fort Gibson and I was down to see Uncle Houston Benge and stays all night with him it was very cold weather, and I got him to come over and submit my case to the court; I went over on one day and the next day Uncle Houston Benge come over and the next morning after he come over the case was submitted.

Q Did he submit the case? A Yes sir, he could do so.

Q For you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you present? A I was present until they went to take the vote on the case and then we was drove out of their room and they had a secret session, acting on the case.

Q Was Houston Benge present with you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you in the court when he submitted it to them? A Yes sir, when he made his argument.

Q He made an argument before the commission? A Yes sir.

Q Was the decision rendered on that day? A Yes sir.

Q How long after he made his argument and submitted the case? A The next day, while all the commissioners were drove out of the house the first time before they went into secret session they wanted to get out the cigars in the court and the crowd in the house; after the decision was rendered then I went to get the cigars, and everybody come to me and told me to go and get the cigars and I done so.

Q And you took the cigars there and all? A Yes sir, everybody, the attorneys and all that was in the house, all had a big smoke.

Q Did they then announce their opinion in the case? A Yes sir, they told me that I was granted by citizenship right and by the commission.

Q What did you do about it then? A Why the clerk wrote me out by certificate.

Q What day was that? A That same day.

Q What arrangement did you make with Mr. Benge about his fee, and what was the amount of his fee? A There was no arrangement made until we was in there and he submitted on 7 cases then he wanted me to pay, he wanted to fifty dollars, that was his fee.

Q What was the arrangement about the money, the manner in which that fee should be paid? A My mother in law was to pay it.

Q Were you to make or was he to make? A He was to write for it.

Q Did you ever pay him his fee of fifty dollars?

A Yes sir.

Q Was the fee paid in full? A All he was to have; all he charge.

Q Where was he when he gave his decision at Fort Gibson the other day did you hear? A Yes sir.

Q Well, I made several trips out here a different time, to Tahlequah before the collision, and back, three or four trips as well as I remember now, cost me 20 or 25 dollars each trip, as I remember about it.

Q Do you remember how many trips aside from the one in which you brought Dr. Baker? A No, I think there was probably three trips I think it was, maybe more, and when I rode one time to Clatsop to see A. B. Woodward.

Q What did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it cost; I went in a wagon down there.

Q You went through and around Henge, went by railroad; what did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it was, whether it was 21 dollars or 22 dollars, one of the other, I don't remember what it was; Abe Dawson, my brother-in-law, gave me the money, it was either 21 or 22 dollars.

Q Now then is there any other expense that you know of that was paid by you or your family, any members of your family, other than that you have mentioned? A I can't remember any other now, I can't call to my recollection right now.

Q What was the condition of the members of your family generally now, financially, at that time? A Well we were considered poor people; I don't know, we didn't have much money, actually.

Q Were there any one of them that was better off than the others, and if so, which one? A I suppose Gilbert Dawson was better off than the others, and Dawson.

Q Do you know how much Dick Dawson paid of these expenses? A I don't think he paid, he paid the Henge debt and the Bryant debt, I think it was.

Q But is one hundred and fifty dollars? A Yes sir, then he got up on one trip and took some evidence with Joel Bryant when Joel Bryant was clerk of the Court before this Texas Court, I don't know what that cost him.

Q Came up and said took some to testify? A Yes, came up and went back to Texas, filed his claim and took some testimony and went back to Texas and I didn't see him.

Q Did that testimony include Dr. Baker's testimony? A No sir.

Q You know how many witnesses were examined then? A I only know what he told me.

Q How many? A Four witnesses.

Q You know whether they were residence of the Cherokee Nation or not? A He told me they was.

Q Were you present on that trip in which he came there and took that testimony? A No, I got him there and then I went back home and he took him at Tahlequah.

Q He had to do the testimony before you left him or after him? A He taken it after him; that was my understanding.

Q Did Dick Dawson pay the one hundred and fifty dollars that you mentioned? A I think it was.

Q Did you know of any other witnesses there? A Yes sir, I know of some other witnesses, but I don't know the names of your family.

Q Did you know of any other witnesses there in Tahlequah, or any other place? A I don't know of any other witnesses there in Tahlequah, or any other place.

Q Did you know of any other witnesses there in June 1853 you mentioned? A I don't know of any other witnesses there in June 1853 you mentioned.

Q Did you know of any other witnesses there? A I don't know of any other witnesses there.

Q Did you pay any witness any money? A No sir, I paid for witness for his time; he said his time was worth $5 dollars a day, and I paid it.

Q Did you pay any other witness any money than that? A No sir, no other witness was I paid for there in y' case.

Q Tell the Robert Dawson case? A Yes sir.

Q No case that you told him this in your house there on your place, did you have any house there in June 1887? A I was not living there at that time.

Q Did you have any case? A Didn't have any.

Q When did you build a house there? A I built a house on the farm I live in now by Mr. Bennett, I moved on the farm the last of July, 1887, and I occupied in y' wagon.

Q What did you do? A I went to the timber and cut poles and brought them out and had to a log cabin on the place by a spring running through.

Q About what time did you finish that house? A I was in Seattle then.

Q How long after you finished that house until you brought your family out? A I finished it up and got it covered and the floor in it and I went back to Arizona Springs after my wife.

Q What family did you have then? A I had my wife and she had one child, but my oldest children, by my first wife were with me in the Territory, coming with me three little boys and one girl were with me, and one girl back in Arizona.

Q Are you and C. G. Brought on good terms? A No sir.

Q What has been the character of the trouble between you? A Republic over our places first started it.

Q When did it begin? A As soon as I got back from Arizona he started riding crowding me out to take my farm, and y' place, and he has been in a racket ever since.

Q Then his statement that you were on friendly terms, is it correct or not? A No sir, it aint correct.

Q How did you have never been friendly to neighbors then since you first got back from Arizona and settled in the Territory? A I don't remember ever being in his house; I never was in his house.

Q Have you had any suits with each other? A Yes sir.

Q How many? A I don't know that we had any particular suits, but I have had two suits but he has been a witness against me.

Q That was your last trouble with him, was it not? A Aint last trouble.

Q That was when your boys had a little racket and he had your boy arrested? A Yes sir.

Q What was the age of those boys? A Eleven years old.

Q He had you arrested down at Vinita? A Yes sir, had him arrested and carried before the court down at Vinita.

Q He was a constable on account of, is not? A Yes sir.

Q What was the name of the constable? A Yes sir.

Q How long has he been dead? A Three years, little over three years.

Q And what was the name of the constable? A Yes sir.

Q Is your brother, James, still living? A No sir.

Q How long has he been dead? A I can't say, been dead some time, but I can't say how long, but I years, I couldn't say.

Q What was the name of the constable? A I believe it was in the Territory.

Q How long has he been dead? A I believe it was in the Territory.

Q How long has he been dead? A I believe it was in the Territory.

Q Those that lived here in the Nation they lived here in the Nation out went back to Arkneaw and died there? A Well the rest of my folks all lived here. That was James Dawson and Buck Dawson, Robert Dawson, your father, never did live to the Territory, did he? A No.

Q Did you hear the statement of the witness Beavert this morning, that about the time of hearing of the James Dawson case, at a negro church at night James Dawson came down there with someone else who was introduced to him, and he loaned him ten dollars; did you hear that statement this morning? A I heard the statement, yes sir, I heard it.

Q He says that man James Dawson was 35 or 40 years old; was there any James Dawson living belonging to your family at that time of any such age? A No sir.

Q How many James Dawson's were there belonging to your family? A There was my Uncle James Dawson and a brother James Dawson, the Doctor here.

Q How old was your brother James Dawson then? A He was a tolerable old man, I don't know his age.

Q About what age? A Must have been 60.

Q Between 60 and 70? A Yes sir.

Q What was the age of your brother James? A At that time?

Q Yes sir, in '84? A In '84 I suppose he was about 18, or thereabouts like that.

Q Was he anything to do with the James Dawson case? A No sir.

Q For or present at the time that the James Dawson case was under consideration? A No sir.

Q For James Dawson, your nephew James Dawson, present at any time during the consideration of his case? A No sir.

Q He never was present? A No sir, if Uncle Jim Dawson was ever in Tahlequah I never knew it.

Q You conducted the prosecution of the James Dawson case before the Cherokee Citizens' Commission, who conducted it? A The James Dawson case?

Q Yes sir? A I think James Low and Bill Jackson and Campbell Taylor.

Q Were you acting with them? A Yes sir.

Q They employed Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.

Q Then there was no James Dawson present during that session of the Commission? No sir.

Q What was the condition of James Dawson's health at that time?

A It was pretty poorly; was not good.

Q Was he at that time able to get about and attend to business?

A I don't think he was.

Q Was he not a very feeble, infirm old man at that time? A Yes sir.

Q Regarded as rather a silly man was he not? A Yes sir.

Q Did he attend to any kind of business of the family at that time?

A No sir, didn't.

Q What was his financial condition? A Pretty bad.

Q Did he have any money? A No sir.

Q Did he have any property? A No, probably at all, or probably, or a few dollars, or something like that.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of the family? A Yes sir.

Q Robert Dawson didn't remove here? A No, I said except Robert Dawson.

Q Did all the members of Robert Dawson family move here? A Yes sir.

Q Except himself? A Yes sir.

Q And all the members of James Dawson family? A No, not all the members, Melvina Low I don't think ever lived here.

Q She has never lived here? A No sir.

Q Well all the members of your family, your father's family included in that judgment of the committee, rendered January 11th, 1894? A All but one.

Q What was the name of that one? A Emma.

Q A daughter? A Daughter of Robert Dawson.

Q Your sister? A Yes sir.

Q How old then of age or was she a minor? A I think she was a minor, as well as I can remember.

Q Was she afterwards admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A She was.

Q By a Commission or by the Cherokee Council? A She was first admitted by the Spears Court, her and two of my nieces.

Q What are their names? A Katie Vernon and Verba Flackback.

Q What became of that? A The certificate papers they got was lost, and they went before the Council in 1894 and they was readmitted back by the act of Council.

Q That was in 1894, the Cherokee Council admitted, re-admitted they called it, the three above named? A Yes sir. Mary and Verba Flackback and Katie Vernon, they have now the same names as except Vernon, it is now, Tob Robinson married the widow, she is now Mrs. Vernon.

Q Has there been any other consideration of the Dawson case by the Cherokee authorities at any time since from these two judgments in '87 and '84 admitting the two families of Robert and James Dawson, and the act of Council of '94 admitting those three who you have just named? A Yes sir.

Q About? A The two of my sons was placed on the roll by the act of Council in 1892 I think it was left off of the rolls in per capita payment and they was placed on the rolls I think, and saw nightingale member of Council, got their draft or checks for the money.

Q Have you got that copy of the act of Council admitting them? A Yes sir.

Q Where is it? A (Produces papers.)

BY MR. HENNING: We offer in evidence an act of the Cherokee National Council making an appropriation of 20,000 dollars belonging to the general fund for the payment of certain persons therein named a per capita payment, as per amount set opposite their respective names, provided that the Principal Chief shall draw warrants for such amounts, and further provided that the names of the persons appearing on the per capita rolls in this act shall be placed on the authenticated roll of 1890 by the Principal Chief.

This act was approved December 21, 1891.

Approval signed by Stephen Jones, Assistant Acting Principal Chief, and by William H. Barboe, Assistant Principal Chief, and of Larien Dawson, for a like sum, Mrs. Dawson of 11,70, and of Larien Dawson, for a like sum, Mrs. Dawson of the names of two of your sons? A Yes sir.

(This paper above introduced, is filed and made a part of the record in this case.)

Q Was there any other notice of the Cherokee authorities relating to members of your family? A Yes sir.

Q Then? A In 1894.

Q What was that? A Allowing them their Strip money.

Q Have you a copy of that? A I think I have. (Produces papers.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: We offer in evidence a duly certified copy of an act of the Cherokee National Council approved November 24, 1894, signed C. J. Harris, Principal Chief. Senate Bill No. 19, appropriating a sufficient amount of money to make payment per capita of what is known as the strip money to certain persons named therein. Among them are members of the Hlesingare family, as follows: Jane, Elbert, Henry, James Ross Lennie, Pearl, Aros, Myrtle, Willie and Clifford. This act mentions these persons as Cherokees by blood, and those names had been left off the pay roll approved May 3, 1894, providing payment to each one of these a sum of $265.70.

Q Were these members of the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q Which one of the members of the family? A Jane.

Q This is Jane who was admitted by the judgment admitting the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q And her children? A Her children, was not admitted, she was admitted.

Q I mean this mentions her children here? A Yes, that mentions her children.

(The paper last above introduced is filed and made a part of the record in this case.)

Q Do you know whether the payment of the Cherokee Strip money was to Cherokee citizens by blood only or not? A Yes sir.

Q Was there any other act of the Cherokee authorities passing upon the citizenship of members of your family? A Why the Douthett children, my brother's grand-children. Two grand-children of E. Dawson.

Q What was that? A That, I think it was in '84.

Q Have you got a copy of that act? A No, the record is here.

Q Was that by the Spears Court? A Yes sir, by the Spears Court.

BY MR. MCKENNON: We now offer in evidence a judgment of the Cherokee Commission on citizenship, 1880 and 1884, found on page 190, case No. 181, dated September 9th, 1884, signed by Eli Spears, President, John Lee and Andrew Young, Commissioners, admitting to citizenship Lula Douthett and Dallas Douthett as Cherokees by blood.

Q These now are the Douthetts to which you refer, are they? Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Attention is called to the fact that the names of the Commissioners are all signed in the same handwriting as the record of the judgment.

The said judgment record above introduced, and found on page 190, No. 181, record of 1880 to 1884, is as follows:

"Office of Commission on Citizenship,
Tulsequah, Cherokee Nation, September 15th, 1884.

Commission on Citizenship.

Q. Now, were there any other notions of the Cherokee authorities of like character relating to the members of your family?

A. I don't remember of any others.

Q. I will ask you if when the Cherokee authorities were making the roll of 1896, in compliance with the request of the

Davis Commission for a roll to be prepared by them for the use of the said Commission, the question of the citizenship of the members of your family was not then raised and an investigation had in regard to it? A. Before the Davis Commission?

Q. No, before the Cherokee Commission making the roll of 1896, of which John T. Guter was a member? A. Yes sir, yes. I had forgot it, but since you have named it there was some investigation of that at that time; this is what I understood.

Q. That roll shows that the members of your family were duly enrolled by the Commission? A. Yes.

Q. Have you and the other members of your family since your removal to the Territory in 1863 and immediately following been recognized as Cherokee citizens by blood? A. Yes sir.

Q. Have you been exercising and enjoying all the rights of Cherokee citizens by blood since that time? A. Yes sir.

Q. You and all the members of your family are living in the Cherokee Nation? A. Yes sir.

Q. You have all drawn Cherokee annuities whenever payments were made?
A. Yes sir.

Q. And have you all male members been voting at the Cherokee elections or in the Cherokee elections? A. Yes sir, I was one of the judges of the elections that was held voting on the treaty.

Q. What treaty? A. The treaty bill that was sent back here for the Cherokees to vote on; I was one of the judges at Afton.

Q. In what year was that? A. I believe it was last spring some time, last April.

Q. Have any of you held any offices in the Cherokee Nation? A. Yes
sir.

Q. What office have the members of your family filled? A.
Deputy Clerk, under Pete Hastings, when he was clerk of Delaware District, I was a candidate once for Council in the Douglas party.

- Q Any officer of Territory could be held by any one else except a civilized citizen? A Only by a citizen, yes sir.
- Q Is that all? A (No reply).
- Q Were the children of members of your family attended the Territory schools, and been educated in Cherokee schools? A Yes, sir.
- Q Have the members of your family been all the while subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q Have they been tried for any offenses against the law? Yes sir.
- Q Have they instituted in any civil suits in the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q And had suits instituted against them in such courts? A Yes sir.
- Q And of those cases have any come to the Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q And were called upon to testify in any of them? A Yes sir.
- Q Is there anything else? A Nothing, not a word, this evening; I have a headache and I can't hardly see.
- BY MR. MITCHELL:
- Q He said you saw that Robert Dawson had died? A I don't know, I couldn't say for sure.
- Q He was a very old man? A Yes sir, he was getting tolerably old.
- Q Did you tell him you were older than that you? A No I don't know.
- Q Mr. James Dawson in 1824 must have been a very old man, didn't he?
- Q Well he was old and he was feeble.
- Q Well you stated that he had been so silly was he naturally that way? A He used to live in Texas; I didn't know him until after he came to the Territory.
- Q I say he had gotten so old, that was the occasion of that?
- Q I suppose so, the oldest one of these children was Mrs. Betty Dawson, that's my understanding.
- Q And the oldest boy was John Dawson? A He always called me Jack.
- Q John Dawson was the oldest? A Yes sir.
- Q Sam was the youngest? A Sam Riley.
- Q He was the youngest one of the crowd? A Yes sir.
- Q Your father lived four or five years after he and you were admitted to citizenship? Yes sir, something about that, it was in 1827, I think he died in 1827, I won't be positive; that is as far as I remember now. I have got a headache so bad that I can't remember anything.
- Q Did not none of the older members of the family were ever present at any of these trials of citizenship? A No sir, not a one of them.
- Q Had a one of them was ever called upon to testify as to the blood of their mother, who she was or anything about it? A I don't know they was.
- Q Your claim of kinship was through Captain John Rogers and that your grandmother was the half sister of Big Joe Vana, wasn't it?
- Q I don't know, I couldn't answer the question.
- Q You were there when they took the testimony? A I was there when Dr. Wiley's testimony was taken, that was about 18 years ago.
- Q And nobody kin to Mr. Rogers and Vana was ever called to testify in the case? A Not as I know of.
- Q They were very well known Cherokee families in the country?
- Q I suppose so, I don't know.
- Q And yet nobody on any side of the family connected with it was ever called to testify? A Not that I know of, I don't know that my brother done, he taken some of the evidence at Tablequah when I was not there; he first filed his claim.

Q You had spoken to Dr. Baker about the testifying before you brought your case didn't you? A No sir.

Q Must have been a short time afterwards? A It was a short time afterwards. I went back after him and it was too late and I fetched him the next time.

Q You had talked to your brother about what you could prove by Dr. Baker? A I told him I thought Dr. Baker, I thought he knew about our folks.

Q You had told him in a general way you expected to use Dr. Baker as a witness? A Yes sir.

Q You went off, came to Arkansas and left your brother at Tulsa after you told him that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You didn't see your brother any more until after you were admitted? A No sir.

Q You and he however had tried back and forth to Tulsa and had been at different times, but you didn't happen to get together? A No. I never met him any more and I don't know that he was there until after we were admitted.

Q But you were there and brought Dr. Baker over? A Yes sir.

Q And took his testimony a year or such a matter before ever you were admitted? A I think as well as I remember, yes sir.

Q Now the way you came to get Campbell Taylor was on the recommendation of old man Bryant? A I didn't get him, didn't use him.

Q The way he came into your case? A The way he claimed to come in.

Q He did more in your case than Bryant did? A Campbell didn't do anything.

Q What did Bryant do? A I think he helped my brother take evidence my brother employed him.

Q How did you happen to be sending money by Campbell to Mr. Duncan? A I never sent him any money.

Q Then when he, Mr. Duncan, states that Campbell delivered the money as Campbell said he did, both were wrong? A Oh no, you are mistaken, Mr. Duncan got 20 or 25 dollars, which he stated, from Campbell Taylor, for me.

Q How did you happen to give it to Campbell? A I give the money to Campbell to give to Joel Bryant, and he wouldn't do it, and I tried to get the money back from him, and I finally worked the 20 or 25 dollars he gave to Duncan.

Q Then you didn't tell Duncan as he testified that you sent 20 or 25 dollars by Campbell Taylor? A Campbell Taylor agreed to pay Duncan 20 or 25 dollars for me of the money I give him to give to Joel Bryant.

Q The family kept Campbell Taylor employed though as their attorney after that? A In the Jesse Dawson case I think so.

Q E. Dawson, you remember, had his two grand-children? A That is my understanding.

Q And your uncle James Dawson hadn't in the case of his children? A Uncle James had nothing to do with it, James Low and Bill Jackson got him that was my understanding of the employer, Bill.

Q The record here states that the case was originally instituted by G. E. Taylor and was finally admitted by him September 2nd, 1924, in the Jesse Dawson case? A I don't deny him being in that case.

Q You say he was employed in the E. Dawson case? A I don't deny that was in the E. Dawson children's case.

Q The record states that Campbell Taylor instituted the case, and it was finally admitted by him, and Dr. Baker, who testified a while ago, I don't know if he was in the case or not, doesn't say?

Q That was in the E. Dawson grand-children's case? A Yes sir.

Q No, in the Dawson children's case? A Yes sir.

Q He was likewise attorney in the Lary Dawson case was he, and before the Admir Court, the 4th of October, 1887, in the case of James K. P. Dawson? A I don't know anything about that.

Q And the case likewise of Wiley Dawson? A I don't know anything about those.

Q They are relations of yours? A Well I couldn't say.

Q James K. P. Dawson proves to be a son of Wiley Dawson? A Well if he is he is by connection then. There are so many Dawsons I don't know them all.

Q You know Andrew J. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The Dawsons have so many children their brothers didn't hardly know them did they? A That's it, I don't know them.

Q Well then you don't know who Andrew J. Dawson is? A No sir, I don't know.

Q He refers in his application as being a cousin of W. Dawson, and your self, who were admitted to citizenship by the Texas Court?

A He may be, I don't know nothing about it.

Q He resided I believe, at that time at Nevada, Missouri? A I don't know anything about these people.

Q Old John Baker was an old and paralyzed man at the time he testified wasn't he? A Getting old, he was not paralyzed.

Q Then the statement made that the reason he couldn't write his name and had to make his mark, because he was paralyzed, in the testimony isn't that true? A He didn't have good use of his fingers.

Q Then he was not paralyzed? A No, I brought him over there back from Rockyville, Arkansas.

Q Well I say he was a very old man? A Yes, getting old.

Q For didn't you come to this place up there joining Broughton and on it some time before you brought your family? A No, I brought my family with me, except my wife.

Q And you subsequently built a log house on it? A Yes sir.

Q And went back and got your wife and moved there to the log house? A Yes sir, went to Furcha and got my wife.

Q You never saw your grandfather at all? A Sam Dawson, yes sir, I saw him.

Q You remember do you of being with him such of any at all? A I was in Texas in time of the war, with my uncle Wiley Dawson, and he was there.

Q In '66 sometime? A '68, I reckon, or '67. Somewhere along there, it was in time of the war.

Q How old a man was he at that time? A Pretty old man.

Q You never saw your grandmother, she died before she came?

A Yes sir, I never saw her at all.

Q Who first started the citizenship matter, your brother in Texas or you? A They'll use me, and my brother together.

Q I mean the first conceived the idea? A I first conceived talking about it.

Q And went down for him? A I was in Texas with him and then in Arkansas; I went backwards and forwards a time or two after the war.

Q About that time nearly everybody in Arkansas were trying to get some claim of kinship to Cherokees? A No sir, not at that time.

Q They were getting pretty thick in there in 1860? A Well in '63 and '4 and '5 I think.

Q How many agents sent over there to get yourselves on the rolls?

A Just got to be something, but it wasn't at the time we was admitted there was no sign of it about the rights here.

Q Well the matter had been admitted before that? A I suppose they had; there was not much coming out over the matter claim at that time.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You did locate and board with Sam Shables when you first came to Tahlequah in '01? A I think I did.

Q Your brother Buck Dawson stayed there also? A Yes sir.

Q Sam Shables lived in the north end of town, old corner? A Yes sir, old corner, lived in the lower part of town.

Q Did you ever hear the names of any other witnesses which you stated perhaps testified in your case? A I have heard that but I have forgot them.

Q You don't recollect any name now? A I don't remember them now.

Q In the Irene House case and Joanna Barber case, in which you testified before the Commission, when you were making search for this testimony you couldn't find any other testimony from that of record except the Dr. Baker testimony, could you? A That's all we could find; no we didn't find the testimony, we got a copy.

Q Well it must have been a copy of the original, the certificate shows that? A I don't know; House got a copy of what claimed to be the affidavit of Baker and he told me to give it to him; that is all I know about it.

Q Well the certificate there does not bear by certificate does it? A I don't know about that, I am no scholar.

Q Well you didn't get the testimony of any other witnesses except that of Dr. Baker; you couldn't find any other over there of record?

A I didn't hunt for any; House hunted for them.

Q None of you have ever been able to find any other? A No. Not even find our petition.

Q Samuel P. Dawson applied to what is the name the Adair Court, didn't he? A I don't remember now.

Q He was an uncle of yours wasn't he? A Yes sir, claimed to be.

Q The father of these two parties who testified here this morning?

A Well I don't know, they claimed to be, I never let them be there.

Q He was rejected by the Adair Court, or Hayes Court? A I don't know whether he filed his petition.

Q Did you testify in his case? A I don't remember; I might have done it.

Q Didn't you testify in the Andrew J. Dawson case before what is known as the Hayes Court? A I don't recollect, if I did I don't remember.

Q Did you testify in the Riley Dawson case? A No sir, don't know that I remember.

Q Didn't you know of his being rejected by that court? A I don't remember, sir.

Q You know that the Cherokee Council never authenticated the roll of 1868, don't you? A No sir, I don't know it; I didn't know this was done until I went to Tahlequah after some papers and come back and they told me about it.

Q You never found out what C. W. Taylor was a big race it up until the present time have you? A (No response)

Q The records show when that he has been in the constant employment of your family from that date up to this time? A Why it seems here from the records I would rather be excused for lack of it.

Q You were the one that let the papers go with it? A I never employed him, I don't know.

Q You are the man that let the papers go with the records in the case and Riley Dawson?

Q Didn't you testify in the case of John Sir Davenport? A Yes sir.

Q Wasn't he attorney for the case? A Yes sir.

Q Wasn't he employ'd by J. L. Dawson for you to get your citizenship?
A Why not but the grand-children.
Q J. L. Dawson's petition was filed in October 1883, after yours?
A Yes sir.
Q C. H. Taylor, attorney of record, filed his petition? A He might have filed it for a I I know.
Q Well you hadn't at that time fallen out with C. H. Taylor had you? A Why no, we never did have any trouble, only over your money, he never would give it back to me or give it to Bryant.
Q You never discovered that he was such a bad man until after your judgment was rendered? A I know he was not of good character.
Q Are you and Bryant, this man who testified for the Cherokee Nation, or speaking to him? A Hardly speak.
Q Does he refuse to speak to you? A So often he does.
Q Do you refuse to speak to him? A Yes sir.
Q Have you been speaking to him for the last two or three months?
A I have not spoken to him until I met him there at the hotel the other day.
Q First time you spoke to him since he had the boy arrested? A Yes
sir.
Q When did he have the boy arrested? A About in September or October, September I think.
Q Then did Dr. Baker die? A I don't remember.
Q You don't remember how much older your father was than you?
A No, I don't know.
Q What is your age? A I will be 60 in May.
Q Then you were born in '42? A Yes sir, '42 according to the record.
Q Was your father as much as 25 years old when you were born?
A I couldn't say.
Q What was your best judgment? A I suppose he was 20 or 25 years old. My understanding he married young.
Q Can't you give any better idea than 4 or 5 years of your father's age? A I say 25.
Q Your father was born say, 25 from 42 would have made him be born in 1817; now had your father any older brothers or sisters? A I think Jack Dawson was the oldest of the family, no, Betty, the girl, was the oldest and Jack next, and then my father as well as I re order about it.
Q There were two girls older? A No, one of the girls I never saw.
Q Then you think there are only 2 older than your father? A Yes, to the best understanding of the family.
Q Dr. Baker gives his age 73 in '32, which would make him be born in '39, now he states that when he was 15 or 16 years old, which added to 1808, will make 1824, that your grandmother Anna Priest, was a school girl; whereas from your testimony and that of the family history introduced here shows that your grandmother Anna Priest was the mother of seven children, the youngest being born in 1827, how do you reconcile that? A I don't remember about the statement of Dr. Baker; I don't know what he made such statement as that,
I don't remember about it.
Q And if he did you don't know how to reconcile it? A (No response.)
Q Did you talk to any of the members of the Court that admitted you? A No sir, I was not acquainted with them.
Q You know whether they were old or young men? A They were old men like Steve Jones. I got acquainted with him afterwards, and to be Thompson, at the council you know I was there a good deal.

- Q That was the fellow that was on the Court? A Yes sir.
- Q He was afterwards assistant Chief of the Cherokee Nation?
- A I think so.
- Q Stayed there, that's the man you had reference to? A Yes sir, I think it was, I just knew the name I had no acquaintance with him at all.
- Q D. W. C. Dungan boarded when you were down there at the National Hotel? A I think he did, as well as I remember now when we were admitted.
- Q Don't you know he did? A I think he did, as well as I remember.
- Q Were not you over there to his room? A I think I was.
- Q You remember when it was that you brought Dr. Baker down there to make a statement before the Court? A It was in January, Tex., was in January Term of 1888 I believe, it was, as well as I remember about it.
- Q Well you didn't take any more testimony after Dr. Baker testified?
- A No sir, I didn't.
- Q But your case was not submitted or passed upon for a year?
- A I think it was, yes sir, as well as I remember.
- Q I would like to ask you when the Blasingame family came to the Cherokee Nation? A Alex Blasingame came with me when we moved here, and went back and got his family and moved that fall.
- Q Did he move his family here that same fall? A Yes sir.
- Q What year was that? A In the fall of '87 I believe it was, as well as I remember now.
- Q When did the Bilaska family come? A I think the girl and the old lady came in the next spring.
- Q How long did they remain that time? A The old lady stayed here, but the girl went back and in a short time her and her husband come back.
- Q Did she come back until after her marriage? A No, she was married when she come first.
- Q The last time? A She was married I think, she was married when she come out.
- Q How long has August Bilaska been a permanent and contiguous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A I think he come there in the fall of 1884 or 1885, I won't say which.
- Q How long has Robert Pierce been a continuous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A Ever since he was admitted.
- Q When was that? A '85.
- Q How long has Martin L. Patterson? A Ever since he married his wife, and he was living here before he married his wife.
- Q Who is Arizona Alvey? A That is my daughter.
- Q Did you bring her with you? A No not when I moved.
- Q When did she come? A She came out in a year or two after I moved here.
- Q Was she married when you moved here? A No sir, she was not married.
- Q She was not married when you were admitted? A No sir, she was a child.
- Q They got up here come to this country? A With his grandfather, James Brown.
- Q What was his mother's name? A Melvina Brown.
- Q How long did she live here? A No sir.
- Q Don't know how long she lived here? A No sir.
- Q Was she married? A I think she was.
- Q Married in this country? A Yes sir.
- Q Was she James H. Brown? A Married one of the Jacksons.

- Q What? A Yes sir, Bud' Dawson.
Q Well is that all he did for you? A I don't remember about it.
Q Why didn't you get your attorney to do that letter writing? A There was not any there.
Q Taylor nor Bodge was not there then? A No sir.
Q That is what you paid the 20 or 25 dollars for, was writing this letter back to your brother? A I paid him for that claim.
Q Then did you pay that? A I think I paid it, I don't exactly when, Camp Taylor paid it a year or two after I moved out here and settled where I did; might have been 2 years. I don't remember.
Q There was Duncan living then? A I couldn't say where.
Q Was he still clerk of this Court? A No sir, not when that money was paid; that is, when Camp Taylor said he paid it.
Q You did send Camp Taylor some money? A I sent some money to him for Joel Bryant.
Q You knew Joel Bryant's address didn't you? A No, I don't know that I did, No I didn't send Camp Taylor any money, I gave it to him.
Q How much did you give him? A One hundred dollars.
Q Then? A Right at that time; he claimed it before as soon as we got our papers; he came onto us and claimed it for Bryant.
Q You never sent him any then after that? A No sir.
Q Did you ever see Bryant after that? A Yes sir
Q How long after that? A I don't know, a year or two afterwards.
Q A year I believe, my brother wrote, I wrote to my brother about paying Camp Taylor money and he went onto my brother about it and he never paid him until he moved out to this country.
Q After all that you got him to attend to your uncle Jim Dawson's and the other relatives cases? A The other parties did.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to all that part of the witness' evidence in response to interrogatories by their representatives of the Cherokee Nation which relates to the character of the evidence upon which the judgments admitting members of the James and Robert Dawson families were admitted, and to the history of the members of the Dawson family, because the same is immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q One question I omitted to ask you Mr. Dawson, as to the Court at the time the judgment admitting Robert Dawson's family was rendered, who of the judges were present on that day? A They was all three of them, Wolfe, Tenee and Thompson.
Q Are you positive of that fact? A Yes sir.
Q You do not know this Andrew Dawson family who applied to the Dawes Commission for Cherokee citizenship, and who stated that they are cousins of some members of your family? A Andrew?
Q Andrew J. Dawson, who claimed to be from Missouri? A How was the question?
Q You do not know that do you? A I don't know that they are any kin to us.
Q You don't know that they are related to you at all? A No sir.
Q This Mary Dawson case, do you know the members of that family?
A No sir, I don't.
Q Don't know who they was? A No sir.
Q The Rebecca Dawson case? A I don't know her either.
Q You don't know whether they are related to you or not? A No sir.
Q If any of these persons are related to you or your family did you have any knowledge of it? A Not as I know of.

Q Jonathan Barber, do you know anything about them? A They claim to be kin to us.

Q Where are they from? A They are from Texas.

Q Do you know they are related to you? A They claim to be kin.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Will you swear for them before the Commission? A Yes, they claim to be kinfolk of mine.

BY MR. McKENNAN:

Q Irene J. Baker, who is that? A That is a cousin of mine; claims to be.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You testified for her didn't you before the Commission? A I think I did so well as I remember.

BY MR. McKENNAN:

Q Before the Court that admitted James Dawson and family, who were the witnesses there? A Oliver Miller, from Henryville, Arkansas.

Q Who were the others? A Myself and J. Dawson and there were two other witnesses, I don't remember who they are.

Q Were they Cherokee citizens and residents of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't remember their names? A I might.

Q Of those other people who claimed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and who were witnesses? A I said about re. J. Dawson was citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q You only proved that Jim Dawson was a brother of Robert Dawson before the Court? A Yes sir.

Q And that referred back to the decision in the Court before? A We proved that they were citizens, and he had my folks before he ever came here.

Q You're older than Dr. Baker? A About the same age.

Q Why didn't you get Oliver Miller's testimony in the House case?

Q He was dead.

Q You said no further of your family in the Irene House case or the Jonathan Barber case or any of those cases that were tried before the Dimes Commission in your affidavits ever had reference to the fact that Oliver Miller testified in Jim Dawson's case in '84 did you? A I don't remember about that.

Q You did make reference to the fact that Dr. Baker testified there in '87, didn't you? A I don't remember about that now.

Q You never had reference to any other witness having testified other than Dr. Baker did you? A I don't remember about it now.

BY MR. McKENNAN:

Q Now just one more question: All of these papers in the original application and everything, so far as you know, in the James Dawson case, were filed before the Commission which admitted the Jim Dawson family, are lost or missing are they not? A I suppose they are, I don't know, I never saw them.

Q Have you ever been able to get copies of them? A Yes sir, I tried to get the original papers.

This case is continued until 8:30 a.m., to-morrow, March 20th, 1908, at not being the hour for adjournment.

J. L. DAWSON sworn on the Oath,
Irene J. Baker sworn on the Oath.

These are the only witnesses that having refused A. J. Hastings

Q What County? A Carroll.
Q Was that town? A Berryville.
Q Did Dr. Baker live at Berryville? A Yes sir.
Q Has your brother initiated acquaintance with him for many years?
A Yes sir.
Q Did he know him sufficiently to be acquainted with his character and habits of life? A Yes sir.
Q Do you know Josephine Pierce? A Yes sir.
Q Whose daughter was she? A Robert Dawson's.
Q Is she the same identical person who is called Josie Pierce, and Josie Dawson? A Yes sir.
Q Is there any other Josie Pierce or Josie Dawson or Josephine Pierce or Josephine Dawson? A I don't know but the one.
Q She was also called Josephine or Josie Kelly? A Yes, after she married; her first husband was Pierce.
Q And her second husband? A Was Kelly.
Q There was another Josephine Dawson wasn't there, Balaska's wife?
A They called her Joe, I suppose that's her name, I could not be positive; that was Riley Dawson's daughter, August Balaska's wife.
Q She is much younger than your sister, Josephine, above referred to? A Yes sir, oh yes.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Where were you born, Mr. Dawson? A Carroll County, Arkansas.
Q You know how old you are? A 42.
Q 42? A I think so.
Q How many older children were there of your father and mother than yourself? A Three.
Q Which were they? A E. Dawson, Riley Dawson and Jasper Dawson.
Q You are the fourth child and the fourth boy? A Yes sir, fourth boy.
Q Where were your father and mother married, do you know, from family history? A I think it was in Arkansas, I couldn't be positive, I think they was.
Q Do you know how long your grandfather lived in Arkansas? A No sir I don't.
Q Don't know what year he came to Arkansas? A Only from statement.
Q Well what did they say about it? A I think they came here sometime in '30.
Q You don't know whether your father was born in Arkansas? No I say of your grandfather's children were born there? A There was none of them born in Arkansas according to history and according to what he always told me, they were born in Tennessee.
Q He came there in '30, and all the other children were born on the Mississippi River in Tennessee, before he ever came? A That is what I think, yes sir. Now I do not recollect about that.
They were from Tennessee, but either Mr. Baker lived there or you folks came from there; I don't know as I remember that I ever heard my father say where he was born at.
Q In Tennessee or where; he said he was a good big boy when he came to Arkansas? A I don't know as I ever heard him say.
Q Do you know the difference in the age of yourself and your three other brothers? A No I don't.
Q Don't know the difference that comes in between you? A No I don't know that I know it is about two years than I.
Q That would make E. Dawson about eight years older than you, probably? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q Did Josephine Pierce have a daughter who married Mr. Bogle?
A Yes sir.
Q What was her name? A I always known her by Dada Pierce; I don't know whether that is her right name or not.
Q What is Bogle's name? A John Bogle.
Q She is the child of Josephine Pierce who married John Bogle?
A Yes sir.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q Where did she marry John Bogle? A Near Afton.
Q When? A I couldn't state.
Q About when? A You have got a copy of the marriage license.
Q When did Josephine Pierce come to the Cherokee Nation? A '83.
Q Has she lived here continuously since that time? A Up until her death; she is dead.
Q Any of her children come with her at that time? A Yes sir.
Q And have they lived here continuously since that time? A Yes sir, except Bill Pierce, he went to Colorado and died.

J. G. STARR, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q Your name is J. G. Starr is it? A Yes sir.
Q Mr. Starr, was that instrument taken by you, or before you? (Showing witness document.)
A Yes sir.
Q Where? A At the residence of S. H. Bengel near Fort Gibson.
Q When? A On the 15th day of this month.
Q What day of the week was that? A On Saturday.
Q Is that the day it was taken? A Yes sir.
Q Did you go there on Saturday to take this? A Yes sir.
Q Then when Judge Bengel stated on Tuesday that it was taken "yesterday" meaning Monday, the 17th, he was mistaken, was he?
A It was taken Saturday, the 15th.
Q Was he mistaken or not? A It was not taken then.
Q Then his statement made on Tuesday the 18th that it was taken on "yesterday", meaning Monday, the 17th, was not correct, was it?
A I think not, because I was there, and it was taken on the 15th.
Q And it was taken on the 15th, you are positive it was taken on the 15th? A Yes sir.
Q Then of course his statement could not be correct? A I guess not.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q He was just mistaken about the date, wasn't he? A Yes sir.
BY MR. MCKENNON:
Q Did you tell Charles T. Moore who is now present, on last Tuesday that they went there on Monday to take that? A No sir.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q I sent you there last Saturday? A Yes sir.
Q And you went there at my direction, didn't you? A Yes sir, and came back Sunday night.

ROBERT L. DOWMAN, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A My name is Robert L. Dowman.
Q What is your age? A My age is something close to 30 years old.
A 29 years.

Q Are you a son of E. Dawson, commonly known as Buck Dawson?

A Yes sir.

Q I will ask you if you will examine this letter sent with the enclosure and state whether or not you found that among the papers of your father after his death? A (Hands letter to witness and examines it) A Yes sir, I found this amongst the papers of my father. He always kept all his own papers, and was looking over them I saw this letter.

Q How long has it been in your custody ever since you found it? A Yes sir, it was the letter that was in the envelope.

Q Well, that's what it is, you can tell whether it is or not. (Witness further examines letter) Q That purports to be a letter from Samuel H. Benge, does it not, to your father? A Yes sir. (Here applicants' attorney hands letter and envelope referred to to attorneys for Cherokee Nation.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: I want to offer this letter in evidence in this case. It is a letter signed by S. H. Benge, attorney at law, dated Fort Gibson, C. N., Jan. 13, 1883, addressed to Mr. E. Dawson, Esq., together with the envelope in which it was enclosed, with the card of C. H. Taylor upon it, attorney at law, Tahlequah, Indian Territory, and postmarked Tahlequah, Ind. T., January 13.

BY MR. HUGHES: The Nation objects to the introduction of this letter for the reason that S. H. Benge is living and has testified in this case, and his handwriting should be either proven or denied by himself.

G. W. BERGE, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q What is your name? A G. W. Benge.

Q Are you a son of Samuel H. Benge? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know his handwriting? A I believe so.

Q Is that his handwriting? (Shows witness letter before referred to.) A Yes sir, it is either his or a resemblance of his.

Q To the best of your knowledge and belief is that his letter?

A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Now we offer it in evidence.

BY COMMISSION: (Reading letter)

Fort Gibson, C. N.,
Jan 13th, 1883.

Mr. E. Dawson, Esq.,

Dear Sir: I write this note to inform you that your case came off before the Court on Christmas on the 11th inst., and was decided in your favor. You are an attorney of this Nation, P. M. Dawson was your opponent, and he lost the decision at the court. He will write to you also. He will please send me fifty dollars as per the contract according to contract, send it to Mrs. Benge, Cherokee Nation.

Respectfully yours,

S. H. Benge,

Attorney at Law

Enclosed by envelope, as filled out and is hereby given, left hand:

Witnessed 13th day of Jan. 1883,

Attorney at Law,

Tahlequah, Ind. Ter.

Addressed: Mr. E. Dawson,

Henryetta,
Clay Co., Texas."

Post-marked: "Tahlequah, Jan 13-1887."

ROBERT L. DAWSON, re-called and further examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Now examine that and see if that is also a paper which you found among your father's papers after his death? (Harris papers to witness) A That is the same letter that I found.

Q Among the name that you found the Bengt letter? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: This is a letter purporting to have been written by J. M. Bryan, to E. Dawson, dated at Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation, and not dated, which we offer in evidence. (Applicants' attorney hands said paper to Nation's attorneys.)

Q Mr. Bryan is dead is he not? A I think so.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: We have no objection.

BY COMMISSION: (reads letter)

"Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation.
I. T., M. E. & T. R. R.

MR. Dawson:

Dear Sir:-

I am in receipt of your favor of the 30th inst in regard to our contract.

After I had got the claim and there would be little more to do I employed Campbell Taylor to answer for me when the case came up, for which I was to pay him $20 out of my fee.

This all the action I had in the matter with Taylor.

I saw Taylor in Washington last month, and he told me that your brother had made another contract with him, and paid him, or that you was to pay him $100- and that you had offered him a check on some bank in Texas.

That $100- matter with Taylor, I have nothing to do with, nor couldn't have if I wanted to.

I hope Mr. Dawson this letter will explain the matter fully.

And I am satisfied that you are apprised of the earnest work I done for you. Please write to me.

Very respectfully,

Very truly,

J. M. Bryan."

Q I will ask you if you know of your father having paid Bryan that money? A Yes sir, paid him a horse and some other money.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How old was your father when he died? A He, I don't know whether I know his age or not.

Q If you don't know you can't say? A I wouldn't have no reason to know his age; never asked him his age; of course I guess by other knows.

Q Never had occasion to talk about his age or will? A Oh I have heard him speaking of his age at different times, but then I never paid enough attention to it.

Old Orphan, being first duly sworn and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q What is your name? A Old Orphan.

- Q How old are you? A Mr. Graham? A I am 35 years old.
- Q How long have you been living in the Territory? A I came out here in 1887 or '88.
- Q To the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you been living in the Cherokee Nation, what year was that '87 or '8? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you resided here continuously from that time ever since in the Territory? A Yes sir.
- Q How long did you live in the Cherokee Nation? A About 6 years.
- Q Where did you go then? A Wagoner.
- Q In the Creek Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q And been residing there ever since? A Yes sir.
- Q In business? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you all the while been recognized as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q Mr. Graham, do you know Judge Samuel H. Bengel? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you have a conversation with him in Fort Gibson about September of 1900? A Well as to the exact time I couldn't say, it was sometime about the time that the Dawes Commission were at Sallisaw, or possibly a little later, somewhere about there.
- Q Taking the census of the Cherokees? A Yes sir.
- Q At that time had the question of the validity of the judgment of the Cherokee citizenship commission admitting Robert Dawson and family been called in question? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you talk to him about the facts concerning the obtaining of that judgment? A I did.
- Q What did he tell you about it: well I will just ask you, did he then and there tell you that that judgment was regular and all right nothing wrong with it? A He did.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, Mr. Graham, were you? A How was that?
- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, expecting this case to be questioned? A Since the validity of that judgment had been attacked by the authorities of the Cherokee Nation, I thought it was well to look into the matter.
- Q And he told you the judgment was all right? A Having known that Mr. Bengel was connected with the case, I saw him in Fort Gibson, subsequent to that time and asked him about it, if there was anything wrong about the matter, and also that I might want his affidavit concerning the matter, and I also I think maybe wrote to him; possibly prior to that, I am not sure as to the writing, but I think possibly I did.
- Q Did he tell you he would make an affidavit? A I don't think at that time that I asked him for an affidavit. I thought as he lived right near here I would see him in person: he assured me that everything was all right.
- Q Your mother was Missouri Dawson was not she? A Yes sir.
- Q Her name was Missouri Graham when she was re-admitted to citizenship? A Yes sir.
- Q And was not Missouri Dawson as named in that judgment? A Yes sir.
- Q Do you know whether the other children named in there had married and changed their names also at the time they were admitted? A There were not any of them married.
- Q Ella Dawson was your aunt? A Yes sir.
- Q Was she married at that time? In 1883? A Yes sir.
- Q Melvina Dawson, was she married at that time? A Yes sir.
- Q And the fourth one you have mentioned, Missouri Dawson, was your mother? A Yes sir.

Q Can you give us the exact date of your birth? A Yes sir.
Q Do so, please? A January 21, 1867.
Q And you came to the Territory when? A In 1887 or 1888.
Q You can't make that any more definite? A Well sir, it has been a good while ago, and I didn't have anything to cause me to.

Q Well I just want to know whether you did have or not? A No sir.

Q When were you married? A 1886.

Q You were married prior to coming here? A Yes sir.

Q Your first child born away from here? A Yes sir.

Q What is its name? A John W.

Q '86 you were married, and he was born about the spring of '87?
A Somewhere in 1887, I don't remember.

Q Prior to your coming here? A Yes sir.

Q That is the only child you had that was born away from here?
A No sir, Julius.

Q Julius was not born in the Territory? A No sir.

Q And prior to the time of your removing to the Territory? A Yes sir.

Q These are the only children born out? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.

Q I will ask you if about February 1901, he came to Wagoner, and sent his son to have you come to the hotel at night where he was, and if he then and there said to you "You people are on the doubtful list, and if you will give me five hundred dollars I will make it all right and see that you are enrolled, and if you don't I will see that you don't get on".? A Well now as to the first part of that question, where you say he sent his son; that is an error; I don't know whether he came to my house or sent some one; when I returned home that evening my wife told me there was some one there to see me, and was at the city hotel at Wagoner, and said come down and see him; I went down there; I never had met Taylor; he introduced himself to me and stated what his business was; asked me if I was on the doubtful list, etc., to which I replied that we were; he asked me if I didn't want to employ him, stating that if we would give him, our family would give him five hundred dollars he would see that we were placed on the rolls all right, but if we refused to give him five hundred dollars that he would use his influence against us and see that we were rejected.

Q You never had met him before, or had any communication with him?

A I never met him before; as to the communication, I may have written him something about his affidavit as to the validity of that judgment, I can't say as to that. He said in his testimony that I did; I don't know whether I did or not now.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q You know he was the attorney in the case, originally? A After looking at the records I did.

Q I mean you knew it at the time you wrote to him about the affidavit; that was the reason why you thought he would know something? A Certainly.

Q He never told you he was going to swear against you or threatened to tell anything that was not true? A He just simply said unless we gave him that five hundred dollars he would see we were all put off the rolls.

Q Said he would use his influence against you, that is what he said? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't deny writing to him then for the affidavit? A I don't say I did or I did not; I neither affirm it or deny the question.

Q You went to Captain Sledge and also wrote him with reference to what he knew about the case? A I don't know whether I wrote him or not, I said I was under the impression I wrote his son.

Q You went to see Aaron Butler, who was interpreter before that court, what admitted you? A Yes sir.

Q And you went with Aaron Butler to see Sir Smith, attorney before that court? A Yes sir.

Q And you either wrote or went to see everybody you knew of that was before that court then? A Yes sir.

Q That is, you used considerable activity? A Yes sir, I used such activity as was to my interest.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q That was all after the representatives of the Cherokee Nation objected to the enrollment of the Dawson family and by reason thereof such as had appeared before the Commission had been placed upon a doubtful basis? A Yes sir.

Q Then you began to look up the evidence and see what there was in it? A Yes sir.

Q As Mr. Hastings has stated? A That's right.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q You are a grandson of James Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The old gentleman? A Yes sir.

Q About what was his age when he was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, in 1834, wasn't it? A Yes sir, well I can't be exact as to that.

Q Well as nearly as you can? A He was somewhere about 70 or 72, years of age.

Q Well what other James Dawson did you know belonging to the families, either one of these families, Robert Dawson family or the James Dawson family? A I never knew of but the James Dawsons.

Q Who were the others? A Dr. James R. Dawson, who is present and standing right here; my grandfather, James Dawson.

Q Was there in '34 any James R. Dawson 25 or 40 or 45 years old, that you know of, belonging to either one of these families?

A No sir.

Q Do you know how old Dr. James R. Dawson was that that time?

A James Dawson? Q No I am speaking of Dr. James R. Dawson? A Oh, how old he was, no sir, I do not.

BY MR. WITCHINGS:

Q Do you know who was here attending to your mother's citizenship case at that time; at the time they were admitted? A Yes sir, James Low and Bill Jackson, son of Ellen Jackson.

Q Who was E. A. Dawson? A That is Wilburn, my uncle.

Q Was he here? A I don't know sir.

Q You were not here any of the time? A No sir.

Q You then, your grandparents then, you had lived in the same neighborhood, is that? A Yes sir, I know his well.

Q He came to you for a year or two after that did he? A After when Mr. ...

Q After the admission to citizenship? A So he, he didn't die I think ... several years after.

Q Very old, was he then? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q About what time was he ... 50 years old.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q What he then? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q What about 1884? A I think so, yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Applicant's object to the testimony of the witness elicited by interrogatories of Counsel for the Cherokee Nation relating to his family, their history, etc., as being irrelevant, immaterial and incompetent.

James E. Dawson, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Your name is James E. Dawson, is that right? A Yes sir.

Q Where do you live? A Arden, Indian Territory.

Q How old are you? A 45.

Q You are a physician are you not? A Yes sir.

Q Was James Dawson, whose family was admitted in 1894, an uncle of yours? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know what his age was at that time? A No sir, I do not, only approximately.

Q How old was he when he died? A At the time of his admission?

Q Yes sir, about 70, I don't know exactly.

Q How old was he when he died? A I would say he was about 78.

Q What was your age in 1884? A I am 45.

Q What year were you born, Doctor? A I was born in 1855.

Q What was your father's name? A His name, that's all.

Q What was your age then? A In '84?

Q Yes sir, about 29.

Q Where you present at the time that James Dawson family was admitted, or at any time while their case was pending before the Cherokee Nation or Missouri? A Not while the James Dawson case was on.

Q You were present during your father's case? A I was there at the time.

Q What was that? A The dates I don't remember, when the case first came up, I don't remember the exact date.

Q How long were you there? A I was there about a week.

Q Was that about the first case up you say? A Yes sir.

Q Nothing was done? A No sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You never saw Dr. Baker? A Yes sir.

Q Did he and your uncle Jimmie go to talk about how they played together when they were boys? A My uncle Jim and Dr. Baker talk.

Q What? A I think they talk together.

Q They were together when you were boys? A Yes sir, I believe Dr. Baker was in the country.

Q How long were you together about in the country? A I don't know.

Q How long were you together about in the country? A I don't know.

Q How long were you together about in the country? A I don't know.

Q How long were you together about in the country? A I don't know.

Q How long were you together about in the country? A I don't know.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF THE CHEROKEE NATION.

V. W. HASTINGS, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. NUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A W. W. Hastings.

Q Residence? A Tallapoosa, age 35.

Q You are attorney for the Cherokee Nation in the general preparation of these cases? A Yes sir.

Q Just state how it happened that you summoned Mr. Campbell Taylor, and what occurred between you with reference to his testimony?

A Well there had been some talk, as the testimony here indicates, that there was perhaps fraud in the admission of this family, and by agreement with counsel on the other side, and the Commission, this case was set for the 17th day of March, and some short time prior to that, as the attorney for the Nation I began to make some preparation or inquiry into the case, and I wrote a great many letters around to different people and among them I wrote C. R. Taylor to come down here. I don't think in that letter that I told him what I wanted with him. I don't think I told him the case that I wanted him to testify in; that is my recollection now. Mr. Taylor prior to that time, neither directly nor indirectly, so far as I know, ever gave me any information voluntarily against this family, or ever said anything that would lead me to believe that he knew anything of a fraudulent character connected with it. But I summoned him; perhaps the fact that I knew he had been connected with them in some way and that I perhaps also would get some information from him. Well he came in response to a letter that I wrote, and I took him up to my office. I talked to him quite a long while. He was exceedingly reluctant about giving any testimony whatever, he told me first and last that he didn't intend to testify before the Commission. He told me he had been attorney for these people, and he didn't believe he could be compelled to testify, and that is he was put upon the stand he would claim that privilege, and he didn't believe I could force him to testify. I talked to him at some considerable length; I asked him what he knew about it, of course he for a long time declined to tell me; and what information I did get from him was by piecemeal. He was exceedingly reluctant all through the interview to give any information. I asked him finally though that if the Court compelled him to testify when he got before the Commission, if he would tell the facts about it, and he said that he would. I told him then that I would subpoena him.

Well we talked quite a good while and finally after always telling me that he intended to claim that privilege, and never wanting to testify, he detailed to me the facts just as he told them on the stand; I don't believe there is the slightest variation, except that he perhaps was not so full at that time and it was told by piecemeal, but I got all those facts out of him, or very nearly all those facts out of him. He may have elaborated a little more here by imagination; but he never voluntarily gave me any information at all, either directly or so far as I know indirectly. I don't think he told any one to me. I got his name because I think he was connected with the case, and perhaps knew something about it. Like I did a great many other people, some of whom I don't know. So some they didn't know what I arranged they did know about the case.

With reference to S. H. Benge, I want to state that he never voluntarily gave me any information at all about this case, nor did I know that he knew anything in connection with this case until I sent J. C. Starr over to S. H. Benge's place to take his affidavit on Saturday, March 15, in the W. H. and J. W. Shoemaker case, and their descendants. I had heard that Mr. Benge knew some important facts in connection with the Shoemaker case and I sent him over there then to take that affidavit; and when Mr. Starr came back he told me that he knew some facts also in connection with these other cases, and I was surprised to find he had instead of one affidavit, in the Shoemaker case, that he also had another affidavit in the Dawson case. That is the first information I had that Mr. Benge knew anything whatever in connection with the Dawson case, and therefore he never voluntarily, either directly or indirectly gave any information prior to that time to me.

I impressed upon Mr. Taylor that the Nation only wanted the absolute truth in this matter; that it was not seeking anything else but the truth, and didn't want him to tell anything else but the truth.

I want to say again that after he was on the stand and left that evening, and after Captain McKennon, or counsel for the family, had indicated his willingness for Mr. Taylor to testify, that he went over all of these facts that he testified to on the stand subsequent to that time in the presence of J. C. Starr in my office. I simply wanted to go on the stand for the purpose of showing that Mr. Taylor hadn't voluntarily given me any information, and

I make this statement for that purpose.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q You had no power to compel him to give you any information at that time at all did you? A No sir, none other than the persuasion that I brought to use.

Q He therefore did it simply upon your persuasion? A Yes sir.

Q You knew he had been acting as attorney for these parties?

A Yes sir, I had seen from the record that he did too.

Q And he told you so? A Yes sir.

All of these proceedings have been made a part of the record herein.

The evidence, and an examination of the records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission show that on January 11, 1883, one Robert Dawson and his adult children, F. M. Dawson, Elbert Dawson, Jasper Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilborn Dawson, James Dawson, Rial Dawson, Josephine Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson and John Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, commonly known as the "Techee Court", and that on September 9, 1884, one James Dawson, a brother of the Robert Dawson aforesaid, together with his adult children, Ella Dawson, W. A. Dawson, Malvina Dawson and Missouri Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship commonly known as the "Spears Court." In addition to their tribal enrollment as shown by the evidence herein, it also appears from an examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, that F. M. Dawson is identified on the Cherokee pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Elbert Dawson on the Cherokee pay roll of 1886, Mollie Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Wilborn Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, James Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Rial Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Josephine Dawson on the pay roll of 1886, Jane Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Joseph Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, 1886 and 1884, Ella Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884, Mollie Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884, Wilborn Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884, James Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884, Rial Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884, Josephine Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884, Jane Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884, and John Dawson and F. M. Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1886 and 1884.

Dawson on the pay roll of 1886, and Missouri Dawson on the pay roll of 1894.

A majority of the above named persons, together with the descendants of the persons admitted as aforesaid and such white persons as may have intermarried with the said Dawsons or their descendants are the applicants herein.

For convenience, the applications are divided into groups:

Group 1, includes the applications of Francis M. Dawson and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 324, D 500, D 501, D 584, D 588 and D 835.

The evidence shows that Francis M. Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship as hereinbefore stated under the name of F.M. Dawson. Katie Dawson, his wife, was married to him on November 21, 1880. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and the six children included in the application of said Francis M. Dawson, and hereinbefore named are the issue of the marriage aforesaid. All the applicants herein are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

John Dawson, William R. Dawson, Lizzie Atkins, formerly Dawson, Francis H. Dawson, Jr., and Arizona Alfred are the children of said Francis M. Dawson by a former wife, Julia Ann. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship. John Dawson, Lizzie Atkins and Francis H. Dawson, Jr., are identified on the first payment roll of 1894, and William R. Dawson and Arizona Alfred are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Andrew G. ... married under a Cherokee ... license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 22, 1821, to the above named Lizzie Dawson. He has resided in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife since they were married, and the four children included in his application, and heretofore named are the issue of that marriage. The eldest child, Arthur, is identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1894, and the three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Arizona Allred, nee Dawson, came from Arkansas to the Cherokee Nation for the first time in 1894, remained there about two years and then returned to Arkansas, where she was married to Len Allred. Such marriage was not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Arizona Allred and her husband came to the Cherokee Nation in 1896, stayed there a month and returned to Arkansas where they remained until September, 1898, at which time they came to the Cherokee Nation, remained there about a year and returned to Arkansas in 1899, where they were living at the date of this application. William C. Allred is the child of said Arizona Allred and possesses no rights not acquired by his mother. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Paragraph 9, Section 21, of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495) provides:

"No person shall be enrolled who has not heretofore resided to and in good faith settled in the Nation in which he claims citizenship."

The evidence further shows that Francis M. Dawson, his wife, Katie and William R. Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Lizzie Atkins have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1898, and Andrew C. Atkins, the husband of said Lizzie Atkins, since 1891, and that John Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation for at least fourteen years prior to the date of his application. The residence of the named children of the above named persons is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group II, includes the applications of Samuel R. Dawson, together with those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 330, D 352, D 356, D 365, D 482 and D 492.

The evidence shows that Samuel R. Dawson is identified as the Rial Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. His wife, Catherine, a white woman, was married to him on July 11, 1866. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since their marriage, and August and Mate Dawson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. Samuel R. Dawson, his wife and children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, Josephine Balawsky, formerly Josephine Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman, formerly Katie Dawson are the children of said Samuel R. Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Sarah F. Dawson, nee Abbott, was married to the said Albert H. Dawson in October, 1894. She has lived with her said husband, since they were married. Ralph H., Alford and Cecil Dawson are the issue of that marriage. Sarah F. Dawson and her child Ralph H. are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. Alford is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission. The evidence further shows that the youngest child, Cecil Dawson, is dead.

August Balawsky, was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 22, 1892, to the said Josephine Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and heretofore stated, are the issue of that marriage.

four elder children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and the strip payment roll of 1894. May Sulawsky is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and Oscar Sulawsky is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Hannie Dawson, nee Baugher, was married to the said John W. Dawson on September 2, 1894, and she has lived with her said husband since they were married.

The evidence further shows that Samuel R. Dawson, his wife, Catharine, and Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1898, August Sulawsky and his wife Josephine, since 1892, and Sarah F. and Hannie Dawson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group III, includes the application of John Dawson, and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 578, D 360 and D 230. The evidence shows that John Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. Sarah J. Dawson, nee Wood, his wife, a white woman, was married to him on October 4, 1871. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the nine children included in the application of said John Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. John Dawson, his wife, and his seven elder children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Charles J. Dawson and Chris I. Dawson are the children of said John Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are both identified on the Cherokee

Census roll of 1896.

Thomas P. Dawson was married on April 24, 1898, to Allen A. Allie, and Marie J. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Orle H. Dawson was married on December 28, 1899, to Lillie York, and Burr R. and James W. Dawson are the issue of that marriage. The said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John Dawson and his wife, Sarah J., have resided together in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that said Orle H. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and that Thomas P. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IV, includes the applications of those claiming through the said Josephine Dawson, now deceased. At the time of her admission she was the wife of one Thomas Pierce, but was admitted to citizenship under maiden name of Dawson. The group embraces cases numbered D 408, D 409, D 431, D 471, D 478 and D 479.

The evidence shows that Robert Pierce, William Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Oma Gray, formerly Oma Pierce, Effie Pierce (no 7 Effie Akin) and Nancy J. Bogle, formerly Nancy J. Pierce are the children of said Josephine Dawson. They were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Nellie Pierce, a white woman, was married to said Robert Pierce on July 15, 1894. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and Lytle and Arthur Pierce are the issue of that marriage. Nellie Pierce is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and her two children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Oma Gray was married to John B. Gray on April 7, 1893, and Omed and Walton Gray are the issue of that marriage. Oma Gray is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894 and her children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John S. Bogle was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 5, 1894, to the above named Nancy J. Pierce. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. John S. Bogle and his two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his four younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said William Pierce died in January, 1902.

It further appears that Robert Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Nancy J. Bogle and Oma Gray have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that John S. Bogle, husband of Nancy J. Bogle, and Nellie Pierce, wife of Robert Pierce, have resided in said Nation ever since they were married, and the residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents with whom they are living. It appears that Effie Akin was seventeen years old at the date of the application for her enrollment, and it further appears that she resided in the Cherokee Nation from about 1886 up to December, 1900, when she went to Colorado, was married there to Will Akin, and is now living in that state with her said husband.

Group V, includes the application of the said Joseph Dawson, Wilbott Dawson and James Dawson, and embraces cases numbered D 584, D 475 and D 585.

Joseph R. Dawson is identified as the Joseph Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He was married to Florence Jackson on May 11, 1888, and they have lived together gether since the date of their marriage. The said Florence Jackson is the daughter of Ella Dawson, but she was of age at the date of her mother's admission to citizenship. The six children included in the application of said Joseph R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the marriage between the said Joseph R. Dawson and Florence Jackson. The applicant, his said wife and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Wilborn Dawson is identified as the person of that name admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James R. Dawson is identified as the James Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as heretofore stated. His wife, Martha A. Dawson was married to him on February 20, 1890. She has lived with her said husband since the date of their marriage, and the four children included in the application of said James R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. The applicant, his said wife and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that Joseph R. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1863; that Florence Dawson and Wilborn Dawson have resided in said Nation since 1896, and that James R. Dawson has resided in said Nation since 1863, excepting a temporary absence from 1889 to 1891. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VI, includes the application of Nellie Dawson and those claiming through her and surname case numbered D 518.

The evidence shows that Nellie Moore, formerly Dawson, is identified as the Nellie Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee tion as hereinbefore stated. Her husband, Charles T. Moore, was married to her under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on January 17, 1887. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie, and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1898; the two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that said Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie and his oldest child have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; the younger children have resided in said nation all their lives.

Group VII, includes the applications of those claiming through the above named Jane Dawson, who, at the time of her admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as hereinbefore stated, was the wife of one Alexander Blasingame, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. Jane Dawson is a resident of Arkansas, and is not an applicant for enrollment. This group embraces cases numbered D 832, D 833 and D 834.

The evidence shows that Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame, and James B. Blasingame are the children of said Jane Dawson. They were minors at the time of their mother's admission to citizenship and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1898.

Henry A. Blasingame was married to his wife Birdie J., on December 6, 1888, and Vinnie C. Blasingame is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ida Blasingame, a white woman, was married to the said Elbert L. Blasingame on September 3, 1884. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married and the four children included in the application of said Elbert L. Blasingame, and her issue of that marriage. The said Ida Blasingame and her two oldest children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Mary A. Blasingame was married to the said James R. Blasingame on August 11, 1895. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the three minor children included in the application of said James R. Blasingame, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Mary A. Blasingame and her oldest child are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame and James R. Blasingame removed to the Cherokee Nation in 1897 and have resided therein with their said wives ever since. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VIII, includes the applications of those claimants through the said Elbert Dawson, and embraces cases numbered D 435, D 604, D 608, D 605, D 609, D 617, D 626 and D 627.

The evidence shows that Zona Patterson, formerly Dawson, William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Richard W. Dawson, Ella L. Spickerman, formerly Dawson, and Francis M. Dawson are the children of the said Elbert Dawson. All of them, excepting the said Francis M. Dawson, were minors at the time of their father's admission to citizenship. Zona Patterson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson are identified on the 1896 Census roll of 1896. An examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, shows that the said Ella L. Spickerman is also identified on the 1896 Census roll of 1896.

Martin L. Patterson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 13, 1890, to the said Zona Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Martin L. Patterson and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Alice Dawson, nee Alexander, was married to the said William G. Dawson on November 18, 1886. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married.

Elbert B. Dawson was married on February 18, 1898, to Cora Bright, a non-citizen, and his child Ralph E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Sarah J. Dawson, nee Jones, was married to the above named Elbert Dawson about 1854, and lived with him as his wife until his death in February, 1899, and has not re-married since his death. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship.

Richard W. Dawson was married to Luella Mason, a white woman, on January 24, 1898. His child Ina E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage, and she is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ella L. Spickerman was married to John J. Spickerman, a white man, on September 7, 1887. Her children Hellen J. and William Glass are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

It further appears from the evidence that Francis H. ... of ... at the time of his father's ...

ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis M. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321), Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 422), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and these claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson, this group embraces cases numbered D 23, D 35, D 836, D 1124, D 1126, D 112C, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1888, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the state of Texas in 1880, and has lived with her since that time. George V. and Robert C. Graham are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. John W. Graham's wife and two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1894.

ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis K. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spiekerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered, D 23, D 35, D 836, D 1124, D 1125, D 1126, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1888, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the State of Texas in 1885, and had lived with her since that time. Joseph V. and Robert H. Graham are the issue of the former marriage. John W. Graham, who was one of the children not identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1895,

Joe E. Graham was married to Mary Kreishan, a non-citizen on January 8, 1898. William G. Graham is the issue of that marriage, and he is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

John F. Graham was married on February 11, 1900, to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, and Edna M. and Robert Lee are the issue of that marriage. Said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Bessie Graham was married on November 2, 1892, to the said James M. Graham. She has lived with him since the date of their marriage, and the six children included in the application of said James M. Graham, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. The oldest child Marion is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894, and the five younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John W. Graham, his wife Missouri Graham, Gideon Graham, Mathew A. Painter, and his wife Laverna A. Painter, Florence P. Bradshaw, John F. Graham and Joe Willie Neal have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888, and that Joe F. Graham and James M. Graham have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group X, includes the application of the said Ella Dawson and those claiming through her. The said Ella Dawson, at the time of her admission to citizenship, was the wife of Green W. Jackson, but she was admitted to citizenship under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 395, D 476, D 508, D 530 and D 531.

The evidence shows that Green W. Jackson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 24, 1887 to the said Ella Dawson. He was later lawfully married to her in Texas prior to her admission to citizenship.

citizenship. From an affidavit made a part of this record it appears that Green W. Jackson died subsequent to the date of this application, and prior to September 1, 1902.

The evidence further shows that Flora Harmon, formerly Jackson, Tashie A. Jackson, William Jackson and Fannie Lenox, formerly Jackson are the children of said Ella Dawson, now Ella Jackson. Flora Harmon, Tashie A. Jackson and Fannie Lenox were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James H. Harmon was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 24, 1887, to the said Flora Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the four minor children included in his application, and heretofore named, are the issue of the said marriage. James H. Harmon and his three elder children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

William G. Lenox was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 1, 1888, to the said Fannie Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the two children Birtie E. and Myrtle Lenox, included in his application, are the issue of the said marriage. William G. Lenox and his two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Lizzie Jackson claims to have been married in 1888 to the said William Jackson, who is now deceased. It appears that William Jackson at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship, was over twenty-one years old. There is no evidence that the said William Jackson was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, or by the Commission.

to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Lizzie Jackson and the five minor children included in her application, and heretofore named, are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and they take only such rights as may have been possessed by the said William Jackson. The authority of the Commission herein is defined in Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), heretofore quoted.

The evidence further shows that the said Ella Jackson, the said Flora Harmon and the said Toshie A. Jackson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that William C. Lenox, and his wife Fannie Lenox have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group XI, includes the applications of those claiming through Malvina Dawson and embraces case numbered D 839.

The evidence shows that James Lowe is the son of the said Malvina Dawson, and that at the time of her admission to citizenship the said James Lowe was over 21 years old. There is no evidence that the said James Lowe was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). It further appears that the said James Lowe was married on June 12, 1887, to Mollie Knight, a white woman, and the four minor children included in his application and heretofore named, are the issue of that marriage. James Lowe and his said children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896 and said children take only the rights which may have been acquired by their father.

The authority of the Commission herein is derived in Section 21 of the Act of Congress approved June 23, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), heretofore quoted.

Group XII, includes the applications of those claiming through the said W. A. Dawson and embraces cases numbered D 405, D 406, D 715, R 12 and R 13.

The evidence shows that Millie T. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in 1892 and lived with him as his wife in the Cherokee Nation until his death in 1899, and that she has not re-married since his death. Texanna Woolley is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson and his former wife Melissa A. Dawson. Texanna Woolley was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894. She was married on March 27, 1898, to James Woolley, and her children Irene W. and Wilburn K. are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Henry T. Richardson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 11, 1886, to one Sellar Dawson, who was the daughter of the said W. A. Dawson by his first wife Melissa A. Sellar Dawson was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship. Henry T. Richardson lived in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife Sellar from the date of their marriage until her death in 1892. On September 22, 1898, Henry T. Richardson married one Eitty Flournoy nee Dawson. The said Eitty Flournoy was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Of the children herein applied for, Della F. Richardson is the child of the applicant by his first wife, Sellar. Fida T. Richardson and Jasper C. Richardson are children by his wife Eitty. Edgar, Walter, Alice, Laura, Oscar, Claude and Edna Flournoy are the children of the said wife Eitty by a former husband.

The six older children were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation on December 1, 1894, with their mother as the head of her family. The youngest child Edna Flourney was born in 1896 and was living at the date of this application. Dalia S. Richardson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and Finis T. and Jasper C. Richardson are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Etta Brauer is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson, and was a minor at the date of her father's admission. She was married in 1892 to a non-citizen but such marriage was not in accordance with Cherokee laws. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Melissa A. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in the State of Texas on September 26, 1873. The Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation in the case of Melissa A. Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson, decided that Melissa A. Dawson, the applicant herein was a citizen of the Cherokee Nation by virtue of intermarriage with her said husband, W. A. Dawson. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and she has not re-married since her divorce from said W. A. Dawson.

The evidence shows that Texanna Woolley has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that Etta Brauer and Melissa A. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation, with the exception of temporary absences, since 1884; that Millie T. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1892; that Henry T. Richardson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1886, and that Kitty Richardson, his wife, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Copy XIII, includes the following applications: Eliza J. Venable, do do 3 813; William B. Davidson, 3 822; Alonzo E. Davidson, 3 823; Lawrence Morgan, do do 3 877; John B. Davidson, 3 878; George B. Hays, do do 3 879. The above mentioned applications ations are related to the above named Darsons. They are not claiming the right to enrollment by virtue of such relationship, but rely upon a separate adjudication of their rights.

The evidence shows that Hiram F. Weddle was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on September 15, 1884, to Lula F. Douthitt, who was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the said "Spears Court" on September 15, 1884. Curtis, Morris O. and Roy Weddle are the issue of the said marriage. Hiram F. Weddle and his said wife are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and their three children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

William D. Douthitt is the brother of said Lula F. Weddle, and was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation with his said sister on September 15, 1884. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Alonzo M. Fishback was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 17, 1891, to Laverna A. Dawson. He had been previously married to the said wife in Texas in 1877, and has lived with her ever since. It appears that Laverna Fishback was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. William A. and Annie B. Fishback are the issue of the said marriage. Alonzo M. Fishback and his said wife and children are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his wife is also identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1890.

Florence Morgan, the wife of Hubert I. Morgan, is the daughter of the Wiley Richardson heretofore mentioned and was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation on December 1, 1894, by the said Wiley Richardson as a member of the Council. She and Hubert I. Morgan are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John E. Fishback is the son of Laverna Fishback, who was re-admitted to citizenship on December 1, 1894, as heretofore stated. He was a minor at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship and he is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

George A. Mabry was married to one Edna Dawson in the State of Arkansas in 1884. He claims to have been married under a Cherokee marriage license to his said wife in 1889, but he presents no satisfactory proof of such marriage. Edna Dawson was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Roby and Charley Mabry are her children by her said husband, George A. Mabry. Edna Mabry is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894, and the two children were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship.

The evidence further shows that Alonzo H. Fishback and his wife Laverna A. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Lula P. Weddle, William D. Douthitt, and John E. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that Florence Morgan and Edna Mabry have resided in said Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

All birth affidavits for the minor children embraced in this decision, and hereinbefore noted, are made a part of this report.

It is contended by the Cherokee Nation that the applicants herein are not entitled to be enrolled by this Commission because they have never been lawfully admitted or enrolled by the Cherokee authorities, and that the judgment of the Cherokee Commission as to citizenship admitting Robert Morgan and his family was obtained by fraud on the part of said Bureau.

In considering the question at issue, it is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. Page 61, it is stated, "the doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment assailed." Only such facts therefore, are considered by this Commission, as were not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teehee Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teehee Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment.

Briefly stated, the circumstances attending the admission of the Dawsons appear to be as follows:

On September 24, 1881, an application was made to the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship known as the "Teehee Court" for admission to Cherokee citizenship of Robert Dawson and the members of his family above mentioned. The members of that Commission were Thomas Teehee, Alex Wolfe and T. F. Thompson. The first two were full blood Cherokee Indians; they could understand, but could not talk English. One D. W. C. Duncan was the Clerk of the Commission. The Dawson case was continued several times before final decision. J. M. Bryan appears to have been an attorney in the case, and after some delay he notified Francis M. Dawson that the case would be taken up by the Commission at its session in January, 1883, and also informed him that C. H. Taylor would look after Dawson's interests as he, Bryan, would be in Washington. On receipt of this notice Francis M. Dawson went to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation, and made arrangements with his uncle Samuel H. Denge to go to Tahlequah and conduct the case. Denge who is a witness herein testifies that he was connected with the Dawson case when it was commenced in 1861; that it was continued several times for want of evidence, and that in January, 1883, in company with F. M. Dawson he went to Tahlequah and while there secured the testimony of Toak Rogers, a negro, who knew the Dawson's ancestors, and that after getting his evidence the case was submitted to the Commission. He further testifies that the Commission rendered a decision against the Dawsons and that next morning the Commission reopened the case, but not upon motion of the witness, and rendered a judgment admitting the Dawsons to citizenship. He further states that on his way home to Fort Gibson with Dawson he remarked to the latter, "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered a decision against us," to which Dawson is alleged to have replied, "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach and he reached him with five hundred dollars."

Dawson denies ever having had such a conversation and says that he did not return to Fort Gibson with Denge but went home to Arkansas by a different route.

C. H. Taylor testifies that he was an attorney in the case and was present when the case was decided. He says there were only two Commissioners present, Teehee and Wolfe. He further testifies that D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of the Court asked the witness to let him know when any large citizenship cases came up; that he introduced F. M. Dawson to Duncan on the evening of January 10th, heard part of a conversation between them in which Duncan addressing Dawson said, "there is a hitch in your evidence, if that was straightened out it would be all right." Next morning Duncan gave Dawson $500 and he left for the State; since that time they have had no communication.

Thomas B. Dabeart testifies that one James Dawson, a man of forty or fifty years of age, in company with Butler, the Commission's interpreter and Jim Smith, solicitor for the Nation, came to the witness in Tahlequah the evening of January 10, 1883, to borrow some money; that Dawson was vouched for by Butler as a responsible party and that Dawson told the witness that he had to have money that night, that his case was to be submitted the next day if he could get some money, that Smith had agreed to submit the case without evidence, and that witness thereupon let Dawson have ten dollars.

Admitting all this to be true and that the influence of these officials was purchased for the sum of ten dollars, the Commission fails to see how these alleged facts show that the Court was imposed upon or misled. Bribery of officials to use their influence with the Commission would not necessarily vitiate the judgment, but it must appear that the fraud, or corruption reached the members of the Commission and tainted the judgment itself. The case was not submitted without evidence as appears from the record, and it is shown that such evidence was carefully considered by that Commission. Furthermore, the evidence shows that there was no such person then in Tahlequah as the James Dawson described by witness.

Clinkenbeard testifies that he had a talk with Elbert Dawson about 1881; that Dawson told him he had only one witness, Dr. Baker of Arkansas, "an old man 85 or 90 years old who did not know straight up" and that he could give Dr. Baker four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would swear black was white. Witness further testifies that Dawson told him that money was what made the mare go in Texas, and that he had found out that it goes here too.

Assuming that this Commission can go into the question of perjury in connection with evidence in that case, the testimony of Clinkenbeard establishes, if anything, only the facts stated, and does not prove that Dr. Baker committed perjury in giving his testimony before the Commission. Further, it is not clear that Dr. Baker was the only witness in the case. Benge stated that Toak Rogers was a witness, Duncan is under that impression also, and T. F. Thompson, one of the Commissioners, states that he thinks there were three witnesses. The testimony of Dr. Baker, seems, however, to be the only testimony preserved of record. As to whether Doctor Baker offered perjured testimony by Dawson's procurement, it is proper to state that the evidence of W. H. Curtis and A. S. McKennon, witnesses for applicants, show that Doctor Baker was a man of integrity and was not addicted to drinking.

The testimony of James W. Lewis is to the effect that he had a conversation with F. M. Dawson about 1883, in which Dawson had told the witness that it had cost him seven hundred dollars to get his rights. Braught also testifies that he was an applicant for citizenship about 1881 or 1882, and that while his case was pending he had a talk with F. M. Dawson who told him that if he (the witness) ever got in, it would cost him seven hundred dollars, and that Dawson told him he had paid one witness three hundred dollars, and made arrangements with the Court to get the Dawsons in at one hundred dollars a family. David Meredith testifies that he had a talk with old James Dawson in 1888, and that the latter told the witness it cost him twelve hundred dollars to get his case through.

It can hardly be urged that such evidence is sufficient to show that the members of the Teesee Commission were corrupted by the fraudulent use of money. So far as these witnesses have been able to testify the money spent by the Dawsons might have been for proper and legitimate purposes. F. M. Dawson gives a detailed statement of what the case cost him and his brother in a legitimate way. The presumption can not be indulged that such money were used for fraudulent purposes and the proof to the contrary must be very clear.

before this Commission will deny applicants the right to be enrolled upon that ground.

Admitting the truth of all the testimony in this case as to the actual transfer of money by the Dawsons, it appears that Duncan, Butler and Smith were the only beneficiaries of that money. There is no evidence that the members of the Commission received or were offered any of it.

The judgment entered in the Commission's docket shows the signature of the three members of the Commission appended thereto. There is some conflict as to whether Duncan signed Thompson's name, or whether Thompson affixed his own signature. Duncan testified that all three signatures were made by him as Clerk under authority of the Commissioners present, the two full bloods being unable to sign their names. T. F. Thompson testifies that he signed the original transcript of the judgment, which was made on the day of its rendition. The question, however, is not considered to be very material. The signing of judgments by each Commissioner appears to have been a matter of custom only. T. F. Thompson testifies that he remembers the Dawson case and recognizes the judgment therein as the final judgment of the Commission, and that there was no fraud or corruption in the procurement of that judgment by the Dawsons or by any one else so far as he knew.

Such evidence has been introduced by the Cherokee Nation for the purpose of showing that the ancestor, through whom the Dawsons claim, was not a Cherokee, and that other members of the Dawson family, claiming from the same source, have been denied Cherokee citizenship by subsequent Cherokee tribunals, and also by this Commission and by the United States Court. Such evidence, in the opinion of this Commission, is not competent for any purpose in this proceeding. The only question before this Commission is whether there are fraud in the procurement of the Robert Dawson judgment, and not whether the applicants are Cherokee Indians, or whether they ought to have been admitted to citizenship upon the proof submitted. These were questions presented, considered and passed upon by the Teehee Commission. If their decision is a valid and regular judgment, it is binding on this Commission. If, on the contrary, the applicants have never been lawfully admitted to citizenship, because the judgment under which they claim is void, for fraud, then the question as to whether they are Cherokees by blood is not material, as this Commission has now no authority to admit them to citizenship.

While it is true, that since 1863, a number of applicants, members of the Dawson family, have been denied admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, no argument derived therefrom is of any force, for it is also true that other members of the same family have been admitted to citizenship, and the action of the Cherokee authorities in admitting them has never been questioned by the Cherokee Nation. Whatever inference, therefore, may be drawn from these facts applies with equal force both for and against the validity of the judgment in question.

The Dawsons have lived in the Cherokee Nation, most of them since 1863; they have exercised the rights of Cherokee citizenship for many years, some of them occupying official positions in the Nation, and no protest seems to have been made against their citizenship until within the last few years. The records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission, show, that since 1863, there have been Commissions on citizenship charged with authority to investigate the judgments of former tribunals alleged to have been secured by fraud, and the Cherokee Legislature had power to order an investigation, and to create a tribunal with authority to set aside a judgment so obtained. No such action appears to have been taken by the Cherokee authorities with reference to the judgment of the Teehee Commission in the Robert Dawson case.

After a careful consideration of all the facts in this case this Commission is of the opinion that the evidence fails to establish that the Dawsons secured their admission to citizenship by fraud or that the judgment of the Teehee Commission as rendered January 11, 1883, was fraudulent as the result of corruption, bribery, or deception upon the part of the Dawsons, or their agents, and that such judgment, and also the judgment of the Spears Commission in 1884, and the Act of the Cherokee National Council of December 1, 1894, which have not been attacked by the Cherokee Nation, being regular on their face, must therefore be accepted by this Commission as the valid judgments of the duly constituted Cherokee authorities.

It is, therefore, the opinion of this Commission that,

(Group I.) Francis M. Dawson, son of Robert Dawson, Lula Dawson, Ray Dawson, Jessie J. Dawson, Jacob L. Dawson, Hugh A. Dawson, Laura A. Dawson, John Dawson, William R. Dawson, Lizzie Atkins, Arthur Atkins, Mena H. Atkins, Edward C. Atkins, George J. F. Atkins, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., son of Francis M. Dawson and grand-son of Robert Dawson, enrolled as citizens by intermarriage of the Cherokee Nation in accordance with the provisions of said Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress, and it is so ordered.

It is further the opinion of this Commission that, for the reasons heretofore stated, the applications for the enrollment of Arizons Allred and William C. Allred; (embraced in D 835); Francis M. Dawson, son of Ribert Dawson, (embraced in D 627); Osie Jackson, Lizzie Jackson, Jessie Jackson, Ray Jackson, and Clyde Jackson, the children of William and Lizzie Jackson, (embraced in D 830); James Lowe, May Lowe, Zelma Lowe, Roberta Lowe and Rosa Lowe; (embraced in D 839), as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, and that the applications of Lizzie Jackson, widow of William Jackson, (embraced in D 830), and George A. Mabry (embraced in D 979), as citizens by intermarriage of the Cherokee Nation should be denied, in accordance with the provisions of the law heretofore quoted, and it is so ordered.

As hereinbefore stated William Pierce (D 409) and Cecil Dawson (D 338) and Green W. Jackson (D 308), died prior to September 1, 1908. It further appears from affidavits, made a part of this record that Liddle and Margaret Graham (D 1128) have died since the date of the application for their enrollment and prior to September 1, 1908.

It is, therefore, ordered that the applications for the enrollment of said William Pierce, Cecil Dawson, Green W. Jackson, Liddle Graham and Margaret Graham be, and the same are hereby dismissed.

COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES,

(Signed) T. H. BROWN,
Acting Chairman.

(Signed) T. H. BROWN,
Commissioner.

Office of the Commissioner,
Washington, D. C.

September 1, 1908.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.
AUXILIARY CHEROKEE LAND OFFICE.

Muskogee, Indian Territory, February 25, 1905.

In the matter of the allotment of land to Tempa V. Harrod, nee Graham, Cherokee Card No. 10747, Approved Roll No. 31800.

Albert S. Harrod, non-citizen and husband being sworn,
testified as follows:

Examination by the Commission:

- Q What is your name? A Albert S. Harrod.
Q How old are you? A 31.
Q What is your post office? A McLain.

COMMISSIONERS OF FIRE INSURANCE

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.
COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.
AUXILIARY CHEROKEE LAND OFFICE.

Muskogee, Indian Territory, March 9, 1905.

In the matter of the allotment of land to Missouri Graham and her minor son, Robert L. Graham, Cherokee Card No. 10747, Approved Roll Nos. 31779 and 31801.

John W. Graham, husband and father and intermarried applicant, being sworn, testified as follows:

Examination by the Commission:

- Q What is your name? A John W. Graham.
Q How old are you? A I am 61 years old coming, I am 60 and past.
Q What is your post office? A Inola, Indian Territory.
Q Was it formerly McLain, Indian Territory? A Yes sir.
Q What is the name of your father? A Giddeon Graham.
Q What is the name of your mother? A Elisabeth.
Q Are you an applicant for intermarried rights in the Cherokee Nation?
A Yes sir.
Q What is the name of your Cherokee wife? A Missouri Graham.
Q What are the names of your children that are on the rolls that you want to file for? A Robert L. Graham.
Q Are your wife and this child living at this time? A Yes sir.
Q Are they living with you? A Yes sir.
Q What is your object in appearing at the land office today?
A To designate lands for an allotment for my wife and son.
Q Are there any improvements on this land? A Yes sir.
Q Are these lands suitable for an allotment? A Yes sir.
Q Are the lands part of your home place? A Yes sir.
Q Has any previous application been made for an allotment of lands for Missouri and Robert L. Graham? A There has not.
Q Have you any written authority from your wife to make these designations? A Yes sir. I have.

Applicant offers power of attorney executed by Missouri A. Graham, dated March 8, 1905, wherein she appoints John W. Graham her lawful attorney to select lands in the Cherokee Nation for herself and her minor child, Robert L. Graham.

CHEROKEE ENROLLMENT.

Francis M. Dawson, et al.,

GROUP IX.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

Referring to office report of even date, transmitting Group 1 of this consolidated case, there is enclosed herewith the record relative to the parties applicants to Group IX. of the Francis M. Dawson, et al. case.--

D. 23, Group IX. page 1.

John W. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself as an intermarried citizen, and for the enrollment of his wife, Missouri Graham, and their minor children, Tompa V. and Robert S. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation.

D. 24, Group IX. page 2.

Gideon Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, John W., Julia C., Francis W., Mary E., Jesse H., Gracie H. and Florence H. Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Elizabeth Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage.

D. 836, Group IX. page 11.

Matthew A. Painter applies for the enrollment of himself as an intermarried citizen, and for the enrollment of his wife, Laverne A., and their children, Ada R., Eva P., John W., Ray D., Robert A., and Roy V. Painter, as citizens by blood. Roy V. was born after the date of his father's original application and is identified by birth certificate.

D. 1124, Group IX. page 21.

Charles T. Bradshaw applies for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Florence P., and their minor children, Myrtle and Claude Bradshaw, as citizens by blood.

D. 1125, Group IX. page 25.

Joe H. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor child, William C. Graham, as citizens by blood.

D. 1126, Group IX. page 23.

John F. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Mina M. and Robert Lee Graham, as citizens by blood. Robert Lee Graham was born subsequent to the date of his father's original application, and he is identified by a birth affidavit.

D. 1127, Group IX. page 34-1/2.

James Neal applies for the enrollment of his wife, Joe Willie Neal, as a citizen by blood.

D. 1128, Group IX. page 38.

James M. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his children, Marion, Maggie, Luther, Liddie, Margaret and Floyd Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Bessie Graham, as an intermarried citizen. Floyd Graham was born after the original application and is identified by a birth affidavit

-----

The Commission in its decision of December 23, 1902, held that all the applicants above named, except Liddie and Margaret Graham, who died prior to September 1, 1902, were entitled to enrollment---- John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, as citizens by intermarriage, and the others as citizens by blood.

John W. Graham, (Group IX. page 1), February 12, 1888, married Missouri Dawson, who was admitted to citizenship by the Spears Commission or Court, September 9, 1884. This Court was composed of Eli Spears, John Lee, Andrew Young, John L. Mair was clerk pro tem of the Court. The marriage of February 12, 1888, was performed in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee nation. John W. Graham and his wife, Missouri, were first married in 1866, in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas. John W. Graham and his wife have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His name, the name of his wife and the names of his two children appear on the 1896 Cherokee census roll.

Gideon Graham, (Group IX, page 5), is the son of John W. and Missouri Graham, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation. He was married to Elizabeth Graham nee Sydow in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas, October 10, 1886. Gideon Graham, his wife and all of their minor children, except Florence H., are identified by the 1896 census roll. Gideon Graham and his family appear to have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Gideon Graham is identified by the 1894 roll.

Matthew A. Painter, (Group 9, page 11), was married to Laverna A. Painter nee Graham, under the Cherokee law, August 19, 1888. It seems that these parties were first married, September 22, 1887, but not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Laverna A. Painter is a daughter of John W. and Missouri Graham. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Matthew A. Painter, his wife and minor children, except Ray D., Robert A. and Roy V., are identified by the 1896 roll. From the record it appears that the principal applicant and his family have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

Charles T. Bradshaw, (Group IX., page 21), was married to Florence Bradshaw nee Graham in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee nation, March 24, 1894. Florence Bradshaw is a daughter of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1894, under the name of Jones. From the record it does not appear that the name of Charles T. Braishaw is found on any of the rolls of the Cherokee Nation. Florence Graham is identified by the 1894 census roll. Florence Braishaw and her family appear to have resided in the Cherokee nation since 1888.

John F. Graham, (Group IX. page 33), is the son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, and the principal applicant was a miner when his mother was admitted. He was married to Mattie Lawson, February 11, 1900. ~~Mattie Lawson is a non-citizen. His name appears on the 1894 pay-roll, but does not appear on the 1896 roll.~~

James Neal, (Group IX. page 36-1/2), is a recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood and is enrolled as such. He was married to Joe Willie Neal nee Graham, a daughter of Missouri Graham, who was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, under the name of Dawson. The name of Joe Willie Neal is found on the 1894 pay-roll, as is also the name of her husband. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship, and she has lived in the Cherokee nation since 1888.

James M. Graham, (Group IX. page 38), is a son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, September 9, 1884. November 2, 1908, James M. Graham was married to Bonnie Willis, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee nation. The name of James M. Graham is found on the 1894 pay-roll. Marion Graham is also identified by that roll. The other minor children are properly identified by birth affidavits.

In connection with this group, attention is respectfully invited to office report of even date transmitting group 1, and for the reasons therein stated the approval of the commission's decision is recommended, except as to John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, who apply for enrollment as intermarried citizens.

As hereinbefore stated, the record shows that Lizzie and Margaret Graham died before September 1, 1902.

Attention is also invited to Department letter of June 10, 1903, (I.T.D. 2306), in the Martha Hill case.

Very respectfully,

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL.

WASHINGTON, February 18, 1904.

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

I am in receipt, by reference of December 29, 1903, of the report, October 16, 1903, of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, transmitting the proceedings of the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes upon the application of Francis M. Dawson and others (230 persons) for enrollment as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, with request for my opinion----

as to the powers and duties of the Commission and the Department in cases of this class, that is, where persons have been admitted to Cherokee citizenship by tribal acts and decrees, where fraud is alleged.

If, in your opinion, the Department has the authority to investigate cases of this kind, it desires to be advised:

1. What character of evidence is sufficient to warrant such investigations?
2. If proper evidence of fraud exists, should applicants be rejected or allowed a rehearing to show, if possible, other and lawful grounds for enrollment?
3. In this, the Dawson case, what action should now be taken by reason of the alleged fraud?

Part of the applicants claim under judgments of the Cherokee Citizenship Court of January 11, and September 14, 1883, admitting them or their ancestors to citizenship, and others claim, as stated by the letter of reference, under act of the National Council, approved December 1, 1884, granting such admission. Council for the Nation oppose enrollment of those claiming under the judgments, on the ground that they were procured, as it is claimed, by bribery of the clerk of the court and by perjured testimony.

The ground of objection to enrollment of those claiming under the act of the Council does not appear to be discussed in the briefs submitted in the cases based upon judgments of the citizenship court, which are transmitted with the papers.

The Commission admitted the applicants to enrollment, and states the ground of its decision, that:

It is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. page 61, it is stated, "the doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment assailed. Only such facts therefore are considered by this Commission as were not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teahoe Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teahoe Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment.

The duties of the Commission as to persons (not freedmen) claiming enrollment are defined by the first paragraph of section 21 of the act of June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495) 504), which directed the Commission to enroll all Cherokees (except freedmen) found on the roll of 1860 and descendants afterward born to them, and all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities and have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood, have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted; and they shall investigate the right of all other persons whose names are found on any other rolls and such as may have been placed thereon by fraud or without authority of law, enrolling only such as are

have lawful right thereto, and their descendants born since such rolls were made, with such intermarried white persons as may be entitled to citizenship under Cherokee laws.

As the principal applicants here claim by enrollment after 1880, their cases must be determined under the provision above quoted. The principal applicants were admitted and enrolled by tribal authority, made permanent settlement in the nation, and have ever since resided there. The question is, whether the Commission may investigate as to the fact of the Cherokee blood of the principals admitted by judgments of the Citizenship Court, and upon a charge that the judgments were fraudulently procured.

It appears that a citizenship court or Commission was established in the Cherokee Nation which, January 11, 1883, on an application duly filed in the court, and after taking and considering evidence, adjudged that Robert Dawson, F. M. Dawson and others named-- are Cherokees by blood and that they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship within the Cherokee Nation, and that they should be, and they are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees.

Other applicants related to those thus admitted were admitted, September 14, 1883, by a similar decree and similar Commission, constituted of different persons. These decrees were duly recorded in the records of these tribunals, and no appellate or original proceeding was ever taken to reverse, modify, or vacate them. The parties so admitted were then living in the nation or soon after removed there, and have ever since resided therein, identifying themselves with the Indian community and co-operating to its development and progress. They have built homes, improved lands, accumulated property, have always been recognized as Cherokees, been chosen to office, participated in the conduct of national affairs, been borne on its various rolls, participated in distribution of public moneys, and for twenty years have been in fact recognized as Cherokee citizens. When they apply for enrollment by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes they are met by the objection that they have in fact no Cherokee blood; that the testimony upon which the original decree was rendered ( the witness being now dead) was perjured; that the first petitioner ( now dead) corrupted the court (two of whom are now dead), and the present applicants, none or few of whom are charged with wrong-doing, must give up their lands and homes to those who have not improved, cultivated or built them, lost the nationality to which many of them have been born, and all are loyal, and seek elsewhere a new nationality, establish new homes, and work out a new heritage.

Assuming for the moment that the charge were fully proven, the result contended for does not, in my opinion, follow: It is said by Freeman on Judgments, section 435, 4th edition, that "the defendant in an action upon a judgment is never permitted to show that it was procured by perjury," citing Demeritt v Lyford (27 N.H. 541), and Cottle v Cole (20 Ia., 481). The same author says, section 503, that "equity will not relieve (against a judgment) on the ground of the absence of a witness who with diligence could have been procured, nor on the ground that a witness was guilty of perjury, nor because the suitor was absent from court, for it is his business to be there," citing Cott v Carr, 6 Gill & J.

(Md), 309, and Dilly v Barnard, 8 Gill & J., 171. Again, section 289, the author says:

The settled policy of the law forbidding that a matter once adjudicated shall be again drawn in issue while the former adjudication remains in force does not permit the prosecution of an action for obtaining a judgment by false and fraudulent practices, or by false and forged evidence. Neither can a party against whom judgment has been recovered sustain an action against his adversary and the witnesses for damages occasioned by their conspiring together and procuring a judgment by fraud or perjury as long as the judgment remains in force and unreversed; (citing)

Hillsborough v Nichols, 46 N.H. 379; Engstrom v Sherburne, 137 Mass. 153; Note 265, by C.H. & E., to Phillips on Evidence; Dunlap v Glidden; 31 Me. 435; 52 Am. Dec. 625, . . . Cunningham v Brown, 28 Vt. 123; 46 Am. Dec. 140; Smith v Lewis, 3 Johns. 157; 3 Am. Dec. 469.

The general rule is that judgments of every tribunal having jurisdiction, while remaining in force and not reversed or vacated, are conclusive upon the matters adjudged and not open to question in a collateral proceeding. This rule was fully sustained by the court in United States v Throckmerton (98 U.S., 61, et seq.) wherein the United States sought to cancel the patent to lands issued upon a decree for confirmation of a Mexican land grant, obtained as it was charged by a fraudulently antedated grant.

Nothing in the act in question indicates that a rule of law so wholesome, so essential to the stability of judgments, and to the peace of society, was intended by Congress to be abrogated. I am therefore of the opinion that judgments of the Indian tribal courts upon the question of Cherokee blood, left for years in force, unquestioned, and which never have been vacated, should be held conclusive upon the nation, and that the Commission correctly so held.

It is proper, however, here to remark, in justice to the dead applicant and the judges, that the evidence in the record, in my opinion, falls far short of showing improper conduct or motive on their part, or even to show error in their judgment. The strain of Cherokee blood claimed by the Dawson family originated in a marriage contracted prior to about 1823, so remote in time that it could only be established by persons already old in 1882. It could not be neither proved nor disproved by direct testimony of any one living, and is capable of proof only by family tradition, dimmed by the lapse of almost a century. It is obvious that judgments ought not to be ~~struck~~ aside and rights supposed to be vested to be struck down on that kind of evidence and in a collateral proceeding. I am therefore of the opinion that no action for correction of the alleged fraud ought to be taken as to those cases standing upon the adjudications.

As to the cases standing upon the acts of admission of the Cherokee Council, the same result follows, but for other reasons. This was a legislative grant. The Cherokee Council had plenary power to grant rights of citizenship. Being a legislative body, it was not bound by technical rules of evidence obligatory upon judicial tribunals. It might act on any evidence satisfactory to itself of the fact of Cherokee descent, or it might grant citizenship to one not of Cherokee descent. Having made the grant, neither its motive nor the sufficiency of the evidence moving it, is open to question. That it did not annul the grant is alone and of itself sufficient.

March 31, 1904.

Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes,
Muskegee, Indian Territory.

Gentlemen:

February 25, 1903, you transmitted the record in the matter of the application of Francis M. Dawson, et al., for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee nation, with your decision of December 23, 1902, in which you disposed of these applications by groups, including in Group IX, which will be considered herein, the applications of those persons who claim enrollment through Missouri Graham, formerly Dawson, who was admitted to Cherokee citizenship September 9, 1884, by decree of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, of which Eli Spears was President.

Said decree recites that Missouri Dawson (now Graham) and others, "are Cherokees by blood and that by virtue thereof they are justly entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship in the Cherokee nation, and that they should be and are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees."

Title D/ 23 refers to the application of John W. Graham for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and his minor children, Tempa V. and Robert S. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1865. She and her children, whose names appear above, are identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1896. Her name also appears upon the 1894 roll. On February 12, 1868, she was married to the said John W. Graham. A former marriage was entered into by them under the laws of Texas, in 1866.

Title D.35 refers to the application of Gideon Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, John W., Julius E., Francis W., Mary E., Jesse E., Gracie M. and Florence M. Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Elizabeth Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage, of said nation. Gideon Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1868. On October 10, 1886, he married Elizabeth Graham, nee Sydes, and the children named above are the issue of that marriage. Elizabeth Graham, and the six older children are identified on the census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D/ 836 refers to the application of Matthew A. Painter for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Laverna A. Painter, and his minor children, Ada R., Eva P., John W., Ray D., Roberta A. and Roy V. Painter, as citizens by blood of said nation. Laverna A. Painter is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the nation since her marriage to said Matthew A. Painter, in 1888. He and their three older children are also identified on the census roll of 1896. The three younger children are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1124 refers to the application of Charles T. Bradshaw for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Florence P. Bradshaw, and his minor children, Myrtle and Claude Bradshaw, as citizens by blood of said nation. Said Bradshaw was married March 22, 1894, to Florence P. Graham, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Florence P. Bradshaw, nee Graham, is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Their children named above are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1125 refers to the application of Joe E. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor child, William C. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. Said Joe E. Graham is a son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the nation since 1884. He married Mary Bradshaw on January 6, 1888. William C. Graham is the issue of that marriage. He is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D. 1126 refers to the application of John F. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his two minor children, Edna M. and Robert Lee Graham, as Cherokees by blood. Said John F. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His children, who are the issue of his marriage to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, on February 11, 1900, are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1127 refers to the application of James Neal for the enrollment of his wife, Joe Willie Neal, nee Graham, as a citizen by blood. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified upon the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1888.

Title D. 1128 refers to the application of James M. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Marion, Maggie, Luther, Liddie, Margaret and Floyd Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Bessie Graham, as a citizen by inter-marriage. The said James M. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1864. On November 2, 1892, he was married to Bessie Willis. The six children named above are the issue of that marriage. The eldest child, Marion, is identified on the pay roll of 1894. The other children are identified by birth affidavits.

The residence of all minor children referred to herein is considered to be that of their parents.

In your decision of December 23, 1902, you held that all of the applicants mentioned above are entitled to enrollment.

Reporting relative to this group October 16, 1903, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommended that your decision be approved, in so far as it related to those applicants who claimed by blood, and as to those claiming by intermarriage he recommended that no action be taken at this time.

The Department concurs in the recommendation of the Commissioner, and you are directed to enroll the applicants named above who claim by blood.

The attorney for the Cherokee Nation protests against the enrollment of these applicants, alleging that the decree of the tribal court upon which these claims depend, was obtained through fraud. In this connection, see opinion of the Assistant Attorney General of February 18, 1904, in the Dawson case, copy of which was forwarded to you February 24, 1904.

A copy of Indian Office letter relating to this group is inclosed.

Respectfully,

(Signed) Thos Ryan,

Acting Secretary.

Q Have you a marriage license and certificate with you? A No sir.
Q What is your wife's name? A Elizabeth.
Q What was her name before she was married? A Elizabeth Sydow.
Q Does her name appear upon the rolls of the Cherokee Nation?
A It appears upon all of them I suppose.
Q Is her name upon the rolls of 1880? A No sir.
Note: 1880 roll examined, Elizabeth Graham, page 1280, Tahlequah District.
Q Is that the only roll her name appears upon? A No sir, she would be upon the roll of 1890, Delaware District.
Q Her father and mother are both white people? A Yes sir.
Q In what year were you married? A 1883.
Q You claim your wife as a lawfully married citizen? A Yes sir.

Gideon Graham, et al., #2.

- Q You being admitted in 1883? A My mother was admitted in 1883.
Q How old were you in 1883? A I was born in 1867, January first.
Q She was admitted in 1883? A Yes sir.
Q That was before you was twenty-one years of age? A Yes sir, I was about sixteen or seventeen.
Q You do not present any copy of the act of admission of your mother? A No sir, I haven't got it here.
Q Is your name in the decree admitting your mother? A No sir, it is not.
Q Have you got any children? A Yes sir.
John W. Graham, thirteen years old. (On 1896 roll, page 1178, #1305, John V. Graham, Tahlequah District;) Julius E. Graham, eleven. (On 1896 roll, page 1178, #1306, Julius Graham, Tahlequah District.) Francis W. Graham, nine years old. (On 1896 roll, as Francis Graham, page 1178, #1307, Tahlequah District. Mary E. Graham, seven years old. (On 1896 roll, page 1178, #1308, Tahlequah District.) Jesse E. Graham, five years old. On 1896 roll, page 1178, #1309, Tahlequah District. Grace W. Graham, four years old. On 1896 roll, page 1178, #1310, as Gracie Graham. Florence Graham three months old.
Q Are these children all living and living with you? A Yes sir.

Examination by Att'y W. W. Hastings, Att'y for Cherokee Nation.

- Q Where were you married? A Married in Texas.
Q In what year? A 1886.
Q What is your oldest child's name? A John W.
Q Where was this child born? A In Texas.
Q In what year? A In 1887.
Q What is your second child? A Julius.
Q Where was it born? A In Texas.
Q In what year? A In 1889.
Q Then you never moved to the Cherokee Nation until about 1889?
Q That's right.
Q You never moved to the Cherokee Nation until you were twenty-two or twenty-three years of age; and had been married three or four years? A No sir, I don't say that.
Q You were married in 1886 and the child was born in 1889?
Q About two years, I moved here before this second child was born, I left my wife in Texas and came on out here.

Com'r Needles: Gideon Graham applies for citizenship as a Cherokee by blood, claiming that his mother was admitted by act of the Cherokee Council in 1883 as a Cherokee citizen; he presents no copy of the decree or act admitting him or certified copy of same; he acknowledges that his name was not included in the act or certificate admitting his mother, but claims as a descendant, by reason of being a descendant. His name is found upon the roll of 1896, page and number as indicated. He claims to have been married to his wife, Elizabeth Sydor, in 1886, but presents no certificate of marriage or proof of same. Her name appears, though, upon the roll of 1896 as per page and number as mentioned herein. Because of the fact that Gideon Graham's name does not appear, according to his own testimony, upon the certificate of admission issued to his mother by the Cherokee authorities, his name will be placed upon a doubtful card, no proof of marriage, of any kind being presented to this Commission. His seven children as named in this statement, will also be placed upon a doubtful card, awaiting proof of citizenship of their father and mother. It will be necessary for Mr. Graham to furnish proof of his marriage to his wife, Elizabeth, and also certificate of birth as to Florence Graham, she being three months old, and her name not being found upon the roll of 1896. The six other childrens' names are found upon the roll of 1896, and identified as stated in the testimony.

Gideon Graham, et al. #3.

The representatives of the Cherokee Nation protest against the name of Gideon Graham and his family being enrolled even upon a doubtful card, as his name according to his own acknowledgement was not in the decree or act admitting his mother, and he is in no wise a Cherokee citizen and should be rejected by this Commission.

Statement by Atty W.W.Hastings, representative of the Cherokee Nation:

The representatives of the Cherokee Nation also reverse the right to contest the admission of the mother of this applicant, on the ground of fraud, in case proof is subsequently presented of that fact.

NOTICE!

IN THE MATTER OF the application of Gideon Graham, et al.
for enrollment as Cherokee citizens:
Case No. 135 Mayner, J. T.

to Gideon Graham, et al.

You are hereby notified that the Cherokee Nation will present before the United States Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes testimony on behalf of the Cherokee Nation tending to disprove your right to be enrolled as a Cherokee citizen at the office of the United States Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes in the town of Muskogee, I. T.

Indian Territory, on March, 17, 1902, at 8 o'clock A. M. or from day to day thereafter until the same can be heard by said Commission during the usual business hours of said Commission for the taking of testimony both for and against applicants for enrollment as Cherokee citizens.

In testimony whereof, the undersigned representatives of the Cherokee Nation have hereunto set our hands this March, 10, 1902.

M. W. Hastings
Attorneys for the Cherokee Nation.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
 COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.
 Muskegee, I. T., October 17, 1902.

In the matter of the application of Gideon Graham for the enrollment of himself and his seven minor children, John W., Julius E., Francis W., Mary E., Jesse E., Gracie M. and Florence M. DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES,
VINITA, I. T., SEPTEMBER 14th, 1880.

IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF FRANCIS MARION DAWSON, wife and children for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and he being sworn by Commissioner, C. R. Breakinridge, testified as follows:

- Q What is your full name? A Francis Marion Dawson.
Q What is your age? A I am fifty eight years old.
Q What is your Postoffice? A Osceola.
Q What District do you live in? A Delaware.
Q Who is it you want to have enrolled? A Myself and family.
Q Your wife? A Yes, sir.
Q How many children? A Six.
Q Do you apply for enrollment as a Cherokee by blood? A Yes, sir.
Q Is your wife a Cherokee by blood? A No, sir; she is a white man.

Q How long have you lived in the Cherokee Nation? A Since 1883.
Q Were you admitted by the Cherokee Commission? A Yes, sir.
The applicant presents a duly authenticated certificate of admission to citizenship, showing that on the 11th day of January, 1883, certain persons were admitted by the Commission on citizenship, and among them appears the name of F. M. Dawson.

- Q That is your name is it? A Yes, sir.
This is recognized as satisfactory evidence of the facts stated.
Q Have you lived in the Cherokee Nation ever since your admission?
A Yes, sir; in Delaware District ever since.
Q Give me the name of your wife? A Katie Dawson.
Q How old is she now? A Forty five.
Q Was she admitted with you? A No, sir.
Q Have you married her according to Cherokee law since your admission? A No, sir.
Q You have not remarried since your admission? A No, sir; it was not necessary.

The applicant presents a duly authenticated marriage license and certificate, showing that he was married to his wife, as stated by him, in 1880, by the Reverend R. W. Goudslock, in Carroll County, Arkansas, the license being issued by the Clerk of that County.

These papers are filed herewith.

- Q Your wife was not admitted by the Cherokee Commission, when you were? A No, sir.
Q Or at any other time? A No, sir.
Q By act of the Commission or Council? A No, sir; she was placed on the rolls.
Q On the census rolls? A Yes, sir.
Q Give me the names of your children, please? A Ella.
Q How old? A Seventeen.
Q Next child? A Ray.
Q How old? A Fifteen.
Q Next child? A Jennie Jane.
Q How old? A Fourteen.
Q Next child? A Jacob Levy.
Q How old? A Ten.
Q Next child? A Ruth A.
Q How old? A No in eight I believe.

- Q Next child? A Laura
 Q How old is that child? A She is four years old.
 Q Is that all? A Yes, sir; six of them. I have others, but they are not at home.
 Q Are they married? A No, sir.
 Q Are they over age? A Yes, sir.

- Q Is this Lula or Luly? A Luly.
 The applicant applies for the enrollment of himself, wife and six children:
 Q Were these children all born since you were admitted into the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.

The applicant is shown by the certificate of admission, cited in the testimony, to have been admitted to Cherokee citizenship, by the Commission on Citizenship, January 11th, 1883; he is identified on the roll of 1896, but the representative of the Cherokee Nation desires to make inquiry into the methods of that time, and for that reason, the application of the applicant will at present be placed on a "Doubtful Card." He has lived in the Cherokee Nation ever since his admission to citizenship. His wife was married to him under United States law, and was married prior to his admission; she has never been remarried according to Cherokee law; she has lived with him ever since his admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the roll of 1896. The application for her enrollment will be placed on a "Doubtful Card".

Their six children, as enumerated in the testimony are identified on the roll of 1896. They are living at this time, all having been born since his admission (Applicant's). These children will be placed with him on a "Doubtful Card". The applicant's marriage to the mother of these children is established by the marriage license and certificate filed herewith. If any additional papers, adverse are developed in this case, he will be given timely notice thereof.

The undersigned, being sworn, states that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, he correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of his stenographic notes thereof.

BEFORE THE HONORABLE COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

In the matter of the enrollment :
of F. M. Dawson and others as :
Cherokee citizens. :
----- :

Depositions of sundry persons in behalf of the applicants for enrollment mentioned in the title, taken before me, Lewis T. Martin, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, duly appointed, qualified and acting as such, at the office of T. B. Denison in the Gray-Halsoli building in the town of Vinita, Indian Territory, on Thursday the fourth day of October 1900, between the hours of one and a half o'clock and six o'clock in the afternoon of said day, in accordance with the agreement to take testimony, entered into between the applicants and the Cherokee Nation, by their respective attorneys, which agreement is hereto attached.

T. F. Thompson, being produced by the applicants, being first duly sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

- Q State your name, age, residence and occupation?
A T. F. Thompson, 53 years old, I live near Vinita, Cherokee Nation, I. T. I am a farmer.
Q How long have resided in the Cherokee Nation? A All my life.
Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation as now constituted?
A Yes, sir.
Q Upon what is that citizenship based, blood or otherwise?
A Blood.
Q What, if any official position have you held in the Cherokee Nation, and at what time?
A I was elected to the Cherokee Council in 1870 some odd, I don't remember the exact year, I was also on the Commission Court.
Q Do you remember when that was? A Some time in 1880 or 1881, I think, it may have been earlier.
Q Did that Commission or Court have anything to do with admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
Q State, if you remember, how many members of that Commission or Court, there were, and who they were besides yourself?
A There were three, Tohoo, Pelf and myself, Tohoo was President of the Court.
Q Where were the sessions of that body held? A Tahlequah, Cherokee Nation.
Q Did you have a clerk? A Yes, sir.
Q Do you remember who that was? A D. W. C. Duncan.
Q Do you know whether the members of that Commission besides yourself, are living or dead? A Yes, sir, they are both dead.
Q Can you recollect now what period of time that Commission lasted?
A About two years I think, two, sessions, and there was one session each year.
Q Were the sessions of that body held in Tahlequah, open to the public at all times and it was in session?
A Yes, sir.
Q Were the same sessions before that body held in open session?
A Yes.
Q Witnesses examined, correct? A Yes, sir.

Q. Signments of the Court or Commission pronounced in open session?
 A. In case of decisions I think they sometimes had secret sessions, but the judgments of the Commission were pronounced openly.
 Q. What you intended to convey by you answer to the former question after hearing the proof the Commission or Court deliberated in a secret session upon the testimony taken before reaching a decision or announcing it? A. After hearing all the testimony we had a secret session.
 Q. Will you present you with a paper which the Notary will mark and a copy of which he will attach to your deposition, and will ask you if with the exception of the certificate of record of the Commission, Bragdon, Clerk, and John L. Adair Asst. Ex. Secretary, you recognize it as a paper you have ever seen before?
 A. I recognize the signature to it, but don't remember the instrument.
 Q. Which signature on that paper do you recognize? A. My own.
 Q. That signature is in your own handwriting? A. Yes, sir.
 Q. Do you know whether Thomas Tehee, president of the Commission could write in English or not? A. No, I don't think he could.
 Q. How as to Alexander Wolfe, a member of the Commission?
 A. I don't think he could write either, I don't think either of them ever wrote except by touching the pen.
 Q. Were you, and are you familiar with the handwriting of D. W. C. Bragdon, the Clerk of that Commission?
 A. Terribly well, but it has been a long time since I saw any of it.
 Q. Will you look at the paper again and say whether you recognize the signature attached thereto?
 A. Yes, that is his signature to the best of my knowledge.
 Q. Do you preserve any personal recollection of the application before that Commission of F. M. Dawson and other members of the Dawson family, to be admitted as citizens of the Cherokee Nation by that Commission?
 A. I remember F. M. Dawson and his brother, that is about the only ones I remember.

The question was not as to the personal recollection of the individuals, but as to the claim being presented by the Dawsons for admission?

A. Yes, there was such a claim before the Commission.
 Q. Can you state as to the citizenship of Thomas Tehee, whether he was a citizen of the Nation by blood or not?
 A. Yes, sir, he was always recognized as such, full blood besides.
 Q. What is your knowledge of Alexander Wolfe?
 A. About the same, he was also a full blood and recognized as a Cherokee.

Q. Judge Thompson, if you possessed or had, or have now any knowledge of any corruption or bribery of the court or Commission, or any member of it by F. M. Dawson or any of the Dawson family or anybody connected with the presentation of their claim for citizenship, state it fully?

A. None whatever as far as I was concerned, and I don't think there was by the balance of the Court.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q. Do you mean to say Mr. Thompson that your name attached to the certificate shown you is in your handwriting?
 A. Yes, sir.

Q. Then Mr. Bragdon certified that this is a transcript of the decision in the case, he is mistaken, that is the original?
 A. No, I don't know, that may be the original, if that is not the original I did not sign it, if it is the original I signed it.

Q. You state that the witnesses were examined orally before the Court, don't you know that in almost every case you took an oath

- affidavits of witnesses when those witnesses were not present?
A Yes, sir, we ruled ex parte evidence out, as well as I remember.
Q Did you have any stenographer or anybody to copy the evidence?
A Yes, sir, all of the copying.
Q Was the evidence copied and preserved?
A Yes, sir, I think it was.
Q What was done with that evidence, where was any of it ever put?
A I don't know, it is at Tahlequah in the office of the Treasurer or Secretary.
Q When you went into secret session did you have Mr. Duncan read that evidence to you?
A Yes, sir, we went over the evidence thoroughly.
Q Did you allow the applicants or their attorneys admission to any of your secret sessions?
A No, sir.
Q When you got ready to render your decisions did you then send for the applicants or their attorneys?
A No, sir.
Q All you rendered them in secret also, did you? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you any recollection who testified in the Dawson case, as to their claim? A No, sir, I have not.
Q Have you any recollection as to who they claimed their Cherokee ancestors were? A Yes, sir, they claimed the Rogers.
Q Did they claim relationship with any of the present families of Rogers residing in the Cherokee Nation?

The applicant objects to this question as tending to elicit testimony wholly incompetent and irrelevant to the issue, and not cross-examination of this witness.

- A I don't know that they did, particularly.
Q How could your court determine when they claimed descent through some Rogers family, that that family was of Cherokee blood?

The applicant objects to the question upon the same grounds as their objection to the previous question.

- A By the evidence they produced.
Q Didn't you make them prove that that family was well known at one time to be connected with the Cherokee Nation, and were citizens thereof? A Yes.
Q Who was the attorney for the Dawsons? A Old man Kounton Benge.
Q Could either Teebe or Wolfe speak English? A They could understand, but they never spoke English, they had an interpreter.
Q Did you ever talk to either of them as to whether they got anything for deciding this case? A No, sir.
Q How long were you considering the case altogether?
A I could not say as to that, I think we were on it two or three weeks anyhow, I could not say positively now, they were a long time getting in testimony.
Q There were only two or three witnesses examined all told, were there not?
A I think so, three I think, they had quite a lot of affidavits, but I don't consider them.
Q Was the Court was a good while arriving at its conclusion after the evidence was closed?
A Yes, quite a good while, I don't remember the exact time.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION:

- Q Do you remember who the interpreter the Commission had during the hearing of the Lawson case?
A His name was Reese, I forget his given name.

Q Do you know whether he is living or dead?

A I don't know, he seemed to be in bad health at the time we had the case up, I think they are all dead but me and Mr. Duncan.

Q What was he, a Cherokee by blood?

A He was considered a Cherokee by blood.

Q Do you know where he lived at that time?

A No, sir, he lived in the South part of the Nation though, I think in Sequoyah.

D. V. C. Duncan being produced by the applicants after being sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

- Q Please state your name, age, residence and occupation?
A My name is D. V. C. Duncan, my age is 70 years, my residence is Vinita, Indian Territory, my occupation is a farmer.
- Q How long has that been your place of residence? A Since 1874.
- Q Are you a member of the Cherokee Nation as it is now constituted?
A Yes, sir.
- Q Upon what is your citizenship based, a Cherokee by blood?
A Yes, a Cherokee by blood.
- Q In January 1883, did you hold any official position in the Cherokee Nation, if so, what was it?
A About that time I held the position of Clerk of the Citizenship Court of Commission.
- Q If you remember the names of the members of that Commission or Court, please give them?
A The President of the Commission was Tehee I believe, and a member by the name of Wolfe whose first name I do not recollect, and Mr. Thompson here.
- Q T. F. Thompson?
A Yes.
- Q Do you know whether those three members of that Commission were recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and whether their citizenship was based upon blood or not?
A They were supposed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and their citizenship was based upon their blood.
- Q Will you please look at the paper now handed you which the Notary has marked exhibit "A" to the deposition of Mr. T. F. Thompson, and a copy of which he will attach to Mr. Thompson's depositions, and state whether with the exception of the certificate of H. L. Bragdon, Clerk, and of John L. Adair Asst. Sec. Secretary, you recognize the paper as one you have ever seen before?
A Yes, I think I have seen this before.
- Q When, and where, if you remember, did you first see that paper?
A This is a paper I drew up at the time I was acting as clerk of the said Citizenship Court.
- Q Looking at its date, was it drawn at you at the time it bears date?
A To the best of my recollection it was drawn at the date specified.
- Q Do you recognize the signature to the certificate attached to that paper?
A Yes, that is my signature.
- Q State if you know, in whose handwriting the body of the paper is?
A It is in my handwriting.
- Q And at that time you were Clerk of that Commission? A Yes.
- Q Will you please look at the signatures of the members of the Commission as they appear on that paper, and state if you can, by whom they were written?
A I think the first two is my handwriting, the last I recognize that as T. F. Thompson's.
- Q Explain please, how you came to write the signatures of Thomas Tehee and Alex Wolfe to that paper?
A Thomas Tehee and Alex Wolfe were full bloods and could not write, and in their presence, and at their request I wrote their signatures.

Q That the usual manner of certifying to the action of the Commission to applicants as to the decision of their application for citizenship, when admitted?

A In all instances where it was necessary for the Court to sign a paper of any kind it was adopted by that Court for the Clerk to sign Tehoo's and Wolf's names and T. P. Thompson to sign his own name.

Q You didn't catch exactly my idea, but perhaps that answered it, what I intended to call your attention to, was whether when applicants had been admitted to citizenship a paper of this kind was shown you, signed by the judges as you have explained, and certified by you as a transcript of the proceedings was issued? My recollection is that a transcript of the judgment was issued to the applicant when they were admitted at their request, the judgment was sent upon the record when they were admitted and signed by the judges, and whenever the transcript was delivered to the applicants I think it was signed by the judges.

Q If you had any knowledge at the time the application of the Dawson family, F. M. and others whose names are mentioned in the paper, was pending before that Commission, or before or after, of any corruption or bribery, or attempted corruption or bribery of the Court or any of its officers, by F. M. Dawson, or any person connected in any manner with the claim of the Dawsons to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, state it fully?

A I never heard a thing of the kind, I know nothing of the kind, all that I have ever heard about a question of that kind is what has originated recently, since the enrollment business has been inaugurated.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q If as you certify, this paper was a transcript of the record, why did you have the judges sign it?

A I know no reason further than that was the practice at that time, the members of the Court being present I presume it was thought it would be as good or better than the signature of the Clerk.

Q Examine that signature of Mr. Thompson, examine the first T in his name and the T in Tehoo's name and see if it is not all your own handwriting?

A No, I would not call that mine, there is a resemblance between the letters but I am satisfied it is a mere fortuity, accident.

Q How was the evidence taken in these cases?

A It was taken by the witness being present and detailing his knowledge of the case, I wrote it down sentence by sentence as it was delivered.

Q Do you know whether that evidence is in existence or not?

A I do not, the last I saw of it was when I turned the records over to the Executive office at Tahlequah, and I have not seen it since.

Q You say you never heard any talk about this being an improper case until very recently?

A Well, that would depend upon what you mean by recently, I don't think I ever heard of it prior to three years ago, I can safely say that did not.

Q Do you remember through what ancestor they claimed their right to citizenship here?

Objected to by applicants because the question tends to elicit testimony which is wholly incompetent and irrelevant, and because it is not proper cross-examination.

A They claimed their right of citizenship through a man by the name of Rogers, I don't recollect his first name.

Q Do you know how many Rogers families there are who have citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A I do.

Muskogee, I. T., March 17, 1902.

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of FRANK'S M. DAWSON, ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

The case having been set for final hearing March 17, 1902, the following proceedings were had:

APPEARANCES:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants;
Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of counsel for Cherokee Nation.

Mr. Hutchings: Comes now the Nation on the calling of this case and announces that it is ready for trial, provided permission is given to hereafter examine before the Commission, either at this place or Fort Gibson, the witness S. H. Benge, who has been regularly summoned to attend at this day and time but who is too sick to travel at this time and probably will be for some time to come. As evidence of a good faith of the Nation we hereby present an affidavit of the facts sought to be proven by the said Benge. If the applicant's counsel are willing to concede that the witness if present would testify to the facts herein set forth, the Nation is ready to proceed to trial without reservation of any kind. If they are not it desires to reserve this privilege of hereafter, either tomorrow or otherwise, this case being set for to-day and tomorrow, of examining before the Commission, or its authorized officer, this witness as above set forth.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the introduction of the paper presented and do not admit that the witness, Samuel H. Benge if present would testify to the facts therein stated. They consent and desire that the testimony of said Benge be taken before the Commission at its office in Muskogee but not elsewhere, and protest against it being taken at any other place, with the understanding, however, that when taken we have opportunity to introduce any evidence we may desire in rebuttal.

Mr. Hutchings:

The Nation will pay all the expenses of the opposing Counsel, their client and Commission officers in taking the deposition at Fort Gibson.

Commissioner Breekinridge: The allegations of this witness are material in their character and are quite tangent. The Commission of its own volition would acquire information of that character if it knew of its existence anywhere. While the functions of the Commission, as well known are in many respects judicial, yet it is bodied with somewhat complex powers, such as Congress creates from time to time to do business of certain character, and it is ordered to make a correct roll, which is a duty largely independent of hearing simply what is brought before them; it must be the architect and constructor of that roll and if evidence is not brought before before the Commission it must go out and get it, to be uniform on that construction of the law. The Commission, therefore, decides this information independent of any counsel on either side both with respect to the applicant and to the Nation, and if this witness is is not able to come one of the Commissioners will go to Fort Gibson and sit by his bed-side, or send a proper official, if necessary to take his testimony. The only matter to consider, therefore, is one of convenience with respect to getting this testimony. Now, I understand that this witness is an extreme sufferer from Bright's Disease and he is an old man and he may never be able to get out of the house, and it may be an injustice to him to subject him to a trip here, and therefore it seems to me better that counsel for plaintiff submit to a form of taking a deposition or else accompany an official of this Commission over to Fort Gibson and let his testimony be taken there.

After consultation with the attorneys upon the two sides it is found to be agreeable that the parties start to Fort Gibson tomorrow morning at half past eight o'clock, and it is agreed then and directed with an official of the Commission with a stenographer leave from the office of the Commission for Fort Gibson at 3:30 tomorrow morning.

FRANCIS M. DAWSON, the applicant, re-called for additional cross-examination on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q What is your name? A Francis M. Dawson.
- Q Where do you reside? A In Afton.
- Q You have been examined in this case heretofore, have you?
- A I don't know which case it is.
- Q In your own case? A Yes, sir.
- Q Are you the one that is commonly called Bud Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q You made the original application in the Dawson family for admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, didn't you? No, sir; my brother.
- Q What was his name? A A. E. Dawson.
- Q You and Robert Dawson and Elbert Dawson and others applied September 24, '81, about that time? A Yes, sir.
- Q And you were admitted about the 11th of January '83? A Yes, sir.
- Q There were other members of your family that applied and were admitted after that time? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you or not remember the evidence offered in theirs to substantiate their cases was the relationship between yourself and Robert and others and the evidence of your admission by the Territorial Court. In all the subsequent admissions I mean the only evidence offered was the fact that you and your brothers had been admitted before and that they were kin to you; that was the only evidence offered in any subsequent cases, wasn't it; so far as you know?
- A That is afterwards?
- Q Yes, afterwards? A I think there was some other evidence introduced.
- Q Don't you know that there was never any evidence offered in any other case except evidence of Dr. Baker of Arkansas? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who else? A Oliver Miller.
- Q Who was Oliver Miller the records in this case have been completely destroyed and mutilated? A Oliver Miller he lived in Arkansas.
- Q What was he, who was he? A He is no kin to me at all.
- Q Well, what station in life did he occupy; was he a farmer?
- A Yes, sir, farmer.
- Q Were you present when he testified? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.

- Q Have you a fair recollection of the testimony of those two men?
A No, not at all.
- Q You don't read do you, Mr. Dawson? A No, sir, I don't read nor write; I can barely write my name.
- Q Do you think you would remember the testimony of Mr. Baker if your mind was refreshed on it? A Part of it I think.
- Q Were you present when you were admitted? A I was not in the room.
- Q You were in Tahlequah at the time? A I was in the town of Tahlequah at the time.
- Q I will read this paper to you and desire for you to say whether or not it was the testimony of Dr. Baker in your case:
(Affidavit of Dr. Arthur Baker read to witness, and asked to be copied in the record later.)
- Q Is that the correct transcript of the testimony? A It has been so long ago, I could not say; a part of it is, I could not remember at all.
- Q Does that state the facts as to the family history correctly so far as you know about it? A So far as I know.
- Q Now, you were a son of what Dawson? A Robert Dawson.
- Q How many children did Robert Dawson have, and give me their names?
A Elbert Dawson, the oldest; Lila, Jasper, Francis Marion-
- Q That is yourself? A Yes, sir; Elizabeth Dawson, Josephine Dawson, John Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson, James Dawson, Edna Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilburn Dawson.
- Q Thirteen? (No response.)
- Q Now, Robert Dawson's father was whom? A Sam Dawson.
- Q Who was Sam Dawson's wife, your grandmother? A I have been told.
- Q By family history is all you know? A She was called Polly Dawson.
- Q Who was Anna Pruitt? A I don't know.
- Q Never heard of anybody in the family by the name of Anna Pruitt? A No, sir, that was away back in the old country; I have heard talk about it, old Dr. Baker talked about it.
- Q Your grand-mother's name was Polly Dawson? A Yes, sir; I don't remember seeing her but once, she died when I was small, died in Texas.
- Q Pollie Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q And she was known to be Pollie Rogers, her maiden name? A Yes, sir.
- Q Daughter of Captain John Rogers? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, she died in Texas what time? A I don't remember.
- Q Can't you guess at it? A Oh, I could guess.
- Q Give your best recollection? A About '58 or '59, or no, '48 or '49; I don't say positive, just guessing at it.
- Q How old a boy were you then? A I was born in '42.
- Q Have you any distinct recollection of her? A No, sir.
- Q Have you any recollection of all the children of Sam and Pollie Dawson; that is, your father, uncles and Aunts? I didn't see all of them.
- Q Do you know by family history the names of all of them? A Yes, sir.
- Q Will you give them to me?
A Betsey Ann Dawson, I believe her name was.
- Q Did she marry a Patten? A Yes, sir; the next is Robert Dawson.
- Q Your father? A Yes, sir.
- Q Next one? A I think the next was James Dawson, and I think the next one was a girl, Edna Dawson.
- Q Did he have two daughters? A Yes, sir.
- Q Well sir? A The next one was Joe Dawson; I never saw him; Riley Dawson.

- Q That is Samuel R. Dawson, Riley Dawson? A Yes, sir.
Q Any other one? A That is all I know anything about.
Q Did he have any child by the name of John? A Yes, Jack.
Q Didn't you get Jack misplaced with Joe? A No, it was Joe; I have heard my father speak of him.
Q Then they have seven children? A I never see them all.
Q How many of them did you ever see? A I see uncle Riley Dawson and James Dawson and Jack Dawson and Betsy Ann Petty; I don't think I saw but one of Pa's sisters and brother, they went to Mississippi I think.
Q Do you know what your family history says that the mother of your grand mother, Pollie Rogers' name was? A We have no history.
Q Well, as it was brought down to you; did you ever hear anybody say what your great grandmother's name was? A No, I don't remember.
Q What is that other man, Oliver Miller that testified in your case? A He testified in James Dawson's case; he never testified in my father's case.
Q Well, didn't anybody testify in your case but Dr. Baker?
A Yes, sir, several other witnesses.
Q Who were they? A I don't remember; my mother got them witnesses around Tahlequah, old people.
Q Were you present? A No, sir.
Q You were only present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.
Q Now, do you find any mistakes in Dr. Baker's statement there?
A I could not say all of them was correct or not, part of it is correct.
Q That part is correct? A Yes about knowing the family over there.
Q Who is Buck Dawson? A My brother.
Q What is his name? A He always called him Buck, it is Elbert, E. Dawson.
Q Who went with you the first time you went up to make application for citizenship do you remember? A With my brother.
Q The first time? A I got my brother in Texas.
Q Which one? A E. Dawson.
Q That is Elbert or Buck? A Yes, sir.
Q You were living in Arkansas? A Yes, sir.
Q And he was living in Texas? A Yes, sir, and another one of little brothers, Dr. Dawson now.
Q Dr. Dawson now? A Yes, sir.
Q What is his name? A James.
Q And you three went there? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants by their counsel object to all the statement of his witness relating to the testimony introduced before the Cherokee Citizenship Commission, and the history of the family as detailed by him, because the same is incompetent and irrelevant, and cannot be used for the purpose of impeaching the integrity of the judgment of said Commission, or either of the Commissioners in admitting members of the Dawson family.

Commission: The objection of the Attorney for the applicants to the testimony above will be noted. The same will be filed and noted for what it is worth.

(Attorney for applicants waives examination.)

C. H. TAYLOR, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:
MR. HITCHCOCK:

- Q State your name? A C. H. Taylor.
- Q Where do you reside, Mr. Taylor? A In near Coffeyville.
- Q Were you an attorney before various citizenship Courts along in '01 to '07 in the Cherokee Nation at Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you attorney for F. H. Dawson commonly known as Bud Dawson?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you present at the taking of testimony in that case? A No, sir; I wasn't present.
- Q Do you know who composed the court that decided the case at that time? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who were they? A Tom Tehee and Alex Wolfe and Tolly Thompson.
- Q Do you know whether or not they were all there when the case was decided? A No, sir, there were only two of them present.
- Q Which two? A Tehee and Wolfe.
- Q Who was the Clerk of the Court at that time? A Mr. Duncan, D. W. C. Duncan.
- Q Do you know what witnesses were used in the case of Bud Dawson?
- A No, sir; now I was the attorney in the case and the evidence had already been filed before the Court.
- Q When were you made attorney? A I was only called in as an attorney at the-- Well, Mr. Duncan came down there, and Mr. Bryant had the case and several other attorneys had the case and he employed me.
- Q Did you read the evidence in this case? A No, sir.
- Q Did you deliver any money? A Now, I was the attorney in the case and I don't think it would be right for me to make any statement.
- Q Now, you have claimed your privilege, I ask that you answer the question? Did Dawson ever send you any money with the direction to pay it to either member of the Court or the Clerk of the Court, D. W. C. Duncan, and if so state the amount? A I had a heap of trouble over this matter.

Commission: Just answer the question, Mr. Taylor.

A Being the attorney I don't believe it is right for me to answer that question.

Commission: Do you refuse to answer? A Yes, sir.

Q Did the matter to which you object to testifying occur prior to the rendition of the decision admitting to citizenship or afterwards? (No response)

COMMISSIONER BRECKINRIDGE:

Do you desire to reply to the last question? A I don't think it is right; I was attorney in the case.

Q Mr. Taylor, do you object to answering that question? A Yes, sir.

Q You refuse to answer that question, do you? A I had rather not answer it.

Q Either answer it or say you won't answer it? A I had rather not answer it.

Q Mr. Taylor, you have answered a number of questions down to this point, but it is at this point that you prefer to plead your privileges, as an attorney, do you? A Yes, sir.

Com'r Breckinridge: The power in regard to these matters is lodged in the United States. The Court is clothed with special power with reference to matters which arise through this Commission. Of course the Commission desires and the Government needs for the making of a correct roll the fullest information possible, but it is subject to the limitation of law, and it is not of this Commission to decide of the law in a matter of this character with any authority as I understand it at this time, but to report the matter to the United States Court and let the Court pass judgment.

Under Section 31 of the Circuit law as it is commonly called Act of June 231898, the members of the Commission shall in performing all duties required of them by law, have authority to administer oaths, examine witnesses and for papers and persons, and the court is clothed with authority to enforce obedience. The law having enumerated certain powers goes on to say so far as all others are concerned to enable said Commission to make rolls as herein required, and to punish anyone who may in any manner or by any means obstruct said work. Now, the Commission will report the facts to the United States Court and let the Court decide whether or not you are within your lawful privilege. It seems that you refuse to answer questions, or at least one question, which tends to establish as to whether or not you are claiming what what is commonly considered a matter of privilege—according to an authority referred to by an attorney, but the enforcement of an answer seems clearly to be a matter for the Court to deal with.

Q Now, Mr. Taylor, in regard to the last question asked you by Mr. Hutchings, one of the Counsel for the Cherokee Nation, I direct that you make answer, and if you refuse I shall report the matter to the United States Court; do you refuse? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, you have read to you, Mr. Taylor, the first of the two questions propounded to you by Mr. Hutchings, and which you declined at the time to make answer; viz: as to whether Mr. Dawson sent you money to pay to the Court or to any officials of the Court, it seems to come to the question as to whether there was any collusion between you and Mr. Dawson and any member of the Court; now, I understand that you refuse to answer that question upon the grounds that you were Mr. Dawson's attorney? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, I require that you answer that question, do you refuse? A Yes, sir.

Q I shall also report that refusal to the United States Court as it seems to come under the provision of law, relating to conspiracy between you and Mr. Dawson which apparently considered a privilege matter, and you base your refusal now, not upon the ground that you are incriminating yourself, but that you were counsel for Mr. Dawson. I will report the matter to the Court and you will be informed at the time of any proceedings in the matter I caution you not to talk with Mr. Dawson or any of the applicants in this case.

Mr. McKernon: Applicants do not object and have not objected to the witness answering on account of his privilege as an attorney or for any other cause whatever, they only want to object to the incompetency and irrelevancy of the testimony, with the privilege of cross-examining upon any testimony given by the witness.

COM'R BRECKINRIDGE:

Q You still refuse having the consent of the attorneys in the case to make answer? A I will just ask your Honor to let the matter go over until morning.

Commissioner Breckinridge: It will rest until in the morning at its present status; it is after business hours now.

As for the objection made by Captain McKernon, Counsel for the applicant, it will be taken into consideration, but will not be granted at the present.

(The Commission adjourns until 1:00 P. M. to-morrow or afternoon, March 13, 1902.)

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of FRANCIS H. DAWSON ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of Counsel for applicants.

Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

SAMUEL H. BENGE, being duly sworn, testified as follows
on part of the Cherokee Nation:

W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Samuel H. Bengé.

Q Where do you reside? A Fort Gibson.

Q How old are you? A I am 70 years old, going in 71.

Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; Cherokee by blood.

Q State what official position you have held in the Cherokee Nation and what your general connection with the Nation officially in the last 40 years? A Well, I had several; I have been Sheriff, Councilman, Senator, Delegate to Washington; had a hand in making the treaty of 1868, I am the only one living that signed that treaty;
President of the National Council of different tribes of Indians.

Q Were you acquainted with F. H. Dawson, commonly called Bud
Dawson? A Yes, sir; I know him.

Q State your connection with and what you know about his citizenship case before what is known as the Thomas Tohee Citizenship Court?

A Mr. Dawson come down, I was living down below here, he come and employed me to tend to his case and we went to Tahlequah, I believe if I ain't mistaken in 1881 and filed his case there; we went several times and continued his case on for the want of evidence, and finally while we was up there we run across one old darkey by the name of Tosh Rogers; we got his testimony and after we got that testimony we concluded that it was sufficient to go into the trial with. Tosh lived here at Fort Gibson, he was a horse trainer down here and stayed here; he claimed that he knew the Rogers and belonged to one of them and after that we thought we had sufficient evidence we submitted our case to the Court for trial, and the Court went to work and rendered a decision against Mr. Dawson.

I told Mr. Dawson right there that "our case is dough", just made that remark, and he just made the remark "never mind", and next morning they taken up his case again and they rendered a decision in his favor. I filed no motion nor any evidence at all whatever; I give the case up right there and the decision was then given in his favor, and on our way back from Tahlequah, why we got to talking about the case and I told him: "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered that decision against us." He said: "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach", but he reached him with five hundred dollars.

Q What position did Duncan occupy? A He was Clerk of the Court.

Q How long an educated man or-? Yes, sir; he was an educated man.

Q Who were the members of the Court? A Tom Tohee, Alex Wolfe and Tom Thorpe.

Q How many of these could speak English at all? A One.

Q Which one? A Thorpe.

Q Who was the Attorney that represented the Nation in these cases?

A Why Sanders.

Q What was his given name? A Wilson Sanders; was it Wilson Sanders?
A Wilson Sanders.

Q Was he an educated man, or could speak English well? A No, sir.

Q Did Mr. Dawson say anything about the matters having cost him a good deal of money? A He said it had cost him a right smart.

Q Was any remark made on the way back about the opening up of the case, and if so, what? A He asked me if I thought the case was ever investigated eventually and I told him I didn't know.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Were you ever a witness in the Dawson case, Judge, in any of these investigations that have been made since that time? A I don't know that you might call it a witness; that young man come to me once at Tahlequah, and asked me to help him up there that the case was going against him, him and his mother and all was about knocked out and I interceded and done what I could there before the committee. I was not a witness but the point I don't for him.

Q That was Mr. Graham, wasn't it? A Yes, sir.

Q Have you had conversations with Mr. Graham since that time about it? A No, I might, I don't recollect, I might have had conversations with him.

Q Well, after the Daves Commission began taking a census of the Cherokees and when they were about Sallisaw down here, did you have a conversation with him here in Fort Gibson about the matter?
A No, I just can't tell you; I have seen him on several occasions, but the conversations we might have had I can't state.

Q To refresh your memory I will ask you if he did not tell you that they were making a fight on the Dawson family and he wanted to know of you whether that judgment in favor of Robert Dawson's family was fairly rendered, and did you not then tell him that it was all right, that it was fairly obtained? A Not as I recollect of; all he said; that is as I have stated he talked to me in regard to his father, himself and probably his brothers and sisters, I don't recollect how many there were, but he told me they were rejected, that is just the words he used.

Q Where? A It has been sometime ago.

Q Here in Fort Gibson? A Well, that is I saw him here in Fort Gibson, and then I saw him in Tahlequah.

Q Well, did he here in Fort Gibson ask you particularly about the Robert Dawson judgment, as to whether it was fairly obtained or not?

A No, sir; he was basing his claim on the Dawson case, that is the way he-

Q What is the principal Dawson family? A Yes.

Q When was this other written statement here made, when was this made by you? (referring to affidavit heretofore referred to.)

A Yesterday I reckon.

Q Who came to take this? A Mr. Starr.

Q Who else was present when this was taken? A No, sir.

Q Or had you told about this matter, Judge? A No one as I know of.

Q Do you know how it was that they knew that you knew this?

A No, sir.

Q You never made any statement? A Never made any statement that I recollect of except I might have talked with Soales, he and him talked about these cases a good many times; if I ever made a statement it was to Joe Ab Soales.

Q How did Mr. Starr know? A I could not tell you how Mr. Starr

he.

Q He came alone here as a Notary Public? A He came alone here as a Notary Public. All he said when he come, he says "we understand that you know something in regard to these cases", I said "what case," and he went to work and named Shoemaker case and Dawson case.

Q And thereupon you made this statement? A He said he wanted to justify me.

Q Are you certain Judge that after the rendition of the judgment Mr. Dawson came back here to Fort Gibson with you?

A Yes, sir; we was together.

Q Let me ask you if it was not a very cold day when he came here and he went over ahead of you and you went over to Tahlequah the next day or two after he left? A My recollection was he and I went together.

Q And returned here together? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he not leave you there and go back direct to Arkansas?

A No, sir, we came here together. If my memory serves me right, I might be mistaken but then I don't believe I am, he came from Webbers Falls up here to my house, that is according to his statement.

Q What amount of fee did they pay you? A I don't know as that is in connection with the case whatever the money they paid me.

Q How did they pay you? A Paid me the money.

Q Who paid it to you? A Dawson there and that fellow, young fellow paid me some.

Q Mr. Graham? A Yes.

Q At the same time? A Oh, no, he wanted me to intercede for him at Tahlequah and paid me to do something for him which I did.

Q I will ask you if Mr. F. M. Dawson here did not obtain two copies of the judgment one of which you sent in a letter in which you wrote to his brother living in Texas and that brother in Texas, the one they called Buck, didn't send you $50 that they paid you? A No, if I ever got a letter of Buck whatever you might call him, I don't recollect it and if I ever got a nickel from him I don't recollect it. Old man paid me what money I got from it. I don't know nothing about his brothers; he told me he had an uncle living over in Arkansas, but not living down in Texas, I don't know about it.

Q Where did he pay you the money? A Paid it here at home.

Q Before you went out? A He paid me fifty dollars before we went up and when we went up yonder he paid me fifty dollars more; if you want to know what I got, I got one hundred dollars.

Q You were acting as his attorney in the case? A Yes, sir.

Q How many judges were there present when the judgment was rendered? A In his case?

Q Yes, sir. A Well, according to my recollect there was all there, but if they were not all there, Tom Thompson was sick. Tolson and Wolfe.

Q Don't you remember that they were all present? A No, I think they were present though.

Q Who else was present at the time? A Oh, I could not tell you, there were several people in the house; could not tell you at all.

Q Were there several in the house the evening before the judgment was rendered against them as you say? A Yes, there were several in the house.

Q And several in the house when the judgment was rendered the next day? A I don't know how many there was.

Q Do you remember the names of any of them? A Why not exactly, mostly full bloods.

Q How long did you remain out at Tahlequah on that trip?

A I guess I was there about three days.

Q Tending to this case alone, or did you have other cases? A no, sir.

Q Do you know of your own knowledge that the judges received any money (this question asked at the instance of Mr. Graham present)

A I don't know whether the judges received nay or not.

—ooo000ooo—

I, J. O. Rossen, do hereby certify upon my official oath as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes that I correctly recorded the testimony had this day in the above case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

(Signed) J. O. Rossen.

March 13, 1902. Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants.

Mr. F. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

G. H. TAYLOR takes the stand and continues his testimony.
BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Mr. Taylor, you said you would consider the matter yesterday and let us know whether you would answer those questions today; have you decided what you would do about the matter? A Well, it is like this, of course I don't want to be held as in contempt of the Court.

Q You would be held in contempt and the other Court would make you answer? A That being the case of course I would make a statement.

Q Are you acquainted with D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of what is known as the Tehee Citizenship Commission Court? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you ever have any conversation with him about letting him know of the different character of cases that would come up before the Court that you knew of, whether they were good ones or bad ones? A No, the only thing that ever come up in that respect; he asked me if whatever large cases that would come up before the Court to let him know.

Q Did you have any talk with him about the Dawson case during the progress of its trial or before and ever introduced Mr. F. M. Dawson to him, or carry him to him? A I spoke to him when Mr. Dawson came to Tahlequah to see about his case, and he said that he would take the papers over to his room, the Dawson papers.

Q Did you see him again that night? A Yes, sir; after supper I went down to his room.

Q Did he ask you about the Dawsons or Dawson case? A He asked me where Dawson was.

Q Which Dawson are you referring to now, F. M. Dawson, known as Bud Dawson? A Bud Dawson.

Q Well, what did you reply to him? A I told him that I thought he had gone to church.

Q Did you find Dawson after church? A Yes, sir, he told me to come and bring Dawson down and I did so; Dawson was in church.

Q You carried Dawson to him? A Yes, sir.

- Q Did you remain during the conversation? A Only a minute.
- Q What was said if naything while you were present? A Mr. Duncan spoke to Mr. Dawson and says "there is a hitch in your evidence."
- Q Go ahead and state what else he said? A He said "if that was frightened out it would be all right," and I turned and went away, I says, "gentlemen, I will go home."
- Q Did you know of their having any other conversation or communication after that? A No, sir.
- Q You left them there together yourself? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did Mr. Dawson give you any directions the next morning about submitting the case? A Yes, sir, he asked me to call it up the case.
- Q The next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q Had there been any additional evidence offered? A No, sir; there was not additional testimony offered.
- Q He told you the next morning to call up the case? A Yes, sir.
- Q Was it called up and submitted the next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, how many of the members of the Court were there present that morning? A There were only two, two full-blood Indians.
- Q Could they speak english at all? A Tehes could talk a little, talk some.
- Q Did that Court have open sessions all the time or what is called executive sessions sometimes? A Well, I don't remember about that; it was generally when the case was submitted th attorneys would go out. The Parties would go out and they would determine the case.
- Q Well, did they go out i. to that sort of executive session the next morning on the Dawson case? A Well, we went out when the case was submitted.
- Q And was the decision rendered that morning in their favor? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who notified you of the decision of the Court? A Why, Mr. Dawson.
- Q Do you remember whether he went out with you or was in there during the consideration of the case? A I think he went out with me.
- Q Did you at any time thereafter receive any money, checks or other evidence money from Mr. Dawson with direction to turn it in part over to D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of that Court? A Mr. Dawson gave me 20 dollars and said he would send the balance in a short time, said he would send some more money in a short time.
- Q Well, did he send any money afterwards? A Yes, sir, in the course of ten days or two weeks he send a hundred dollar check, draft.
- Q What did he direct you to do with it? A He directed me to give D. W. C. Duncan half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did he send you any at any other time after that? A Well, in the course of a couple of weeks he sent me a hundrd dollars more.
- Q Did he direct you to turn any of that and if so how much, to D. W. C. Duncan? A He told me to give him half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A I did, sir.
- Q Do you remember whether on Dr. Arthur Baker was the principal witness in behalf of the Dawson case? A No, sir, I don't because I never had any connection with the case, but I heard that he was a witness in the case.
- Q No argument was made when you submitted the case? A No, sir.
- Q Just submitted it on the testimony? A Yes, sir.
- MR. McKEITHEN:
- Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you born and reared in the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir; I was born in the old Nation.

- Q When did you come to the Cherokee Nation? A Come here in 1885.
- Q How long have you been practicing law in the Cherokee Nation?
- A I think since '68.
- Q You have done a great deal of citizenship business haven't you?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q You were in the United States Court at Fort Smith on charges in regard to the citizenship business? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you convicted there? A Yes, sir; I was convicted there on this very case.
- Q And served a term of what length? A I was sent to the jail hospital for sixty days and I stayed in about 38 or 39 days, and I was released.
- Q When was that? A I don't remember how long ago it has been.
- Q You say it was in regard to this case? A Yes, sir; this case was the bone of contention; Clem Rogers and the Chief, they are the ones that had me arrested, carried to Fort Smith.
- Q Well, now, were you charged with an offense against the law in this case, or was it in regard to some other case? A Well, it was in regard to using the rail for fraudulent purposes.
- Q Sending out propositions and obtaining case for citizenship for people of the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir, it was for answering correspondence.
- Q Not relating to this case at all? A Well, this was the main charge, Clem Rogers went before the Court there and stated that I had got in at least three hundred Dawsons, that they were white people and not entitled to citizenship and that was the main trouble.
- Q Well, now, was the charge based upon that or was it based upon your letters you sent out to other people? A That was the charge for using the rail for fraudulent purposes.
- Q The use of the rails for fraudulent purposes not in connection of this case was it? A Not particular of this case.
- Q Then the trouble you had was the prejudice of Clem Rogers and others caused by your connection with the Dawson case; that is what you mean to say? A Yes, sir.
- Q Why did you say because you were charged with an offense based upon this case? A Well, the prejudice grew out of this case.
- Q Now, then, you had full conversation with the representatives of the Cherokee Nation as to your testimony in this case, did you not before you came on the stand? A Yes, sir.
- Q You had told them of these particulars before you came on the witness stand did you not? A Yes, sir.
- Q Yet when you came on the stand you assumed to have conscientious scruples as to answering as to matters which occurred between you and your client, Bud Dawson, in relation to this matter and declined to answer claiming your privilege as an attorney did you not? A Yes, sir; I didn't want to make a statement at all in the matter.
- Q You had voluntarily made a statement to the representatives of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; I had stated to Mr. Hastings; he questioned me and I come down here and I didn't want to make a statement to him but he insisted.
- Q He had no power to compel you to make a statement? A No, sir.
- Q You could then make it very freely and your conscience did not hurt you, but when you came on the stand you were very conscientious about it? A I didn't want to make a statement at all unless I should be put in jail here if I didn't.
- Q But you had armed them with information by which they could ask you these questions when you came on the stand? A I had told Mr. Hastings.

Q You knew when you gave him that information that you would be brought on the stand as a witness, did you not, by reason of that?

A No, I didn't know that I would be compelled to make a statement in the matter, a sworn statement.

Q You thought you would not be compelled to answer?

A I didn't think the law would compel me to make a statement.

Q Now when did you make a statement to him about it? A Oh, he was asking me about it, and I told him that I didn't want to make a statement, and I didn't for quite a while after I came down here.

Q When the enrollment division of the Dawes Commission was in Pallequah, in the winter of 1900, did you not there meet F. M. Dawson and did you not then and there say to him "I told Shoemaker I would be for him if he would employ me in his case and if he didn't I would be against him, and the same to you?" A No, sir; I said to him this; I says that if there is not something done that I will likely be summoned against you and Mr. Shoemaker both.

Q What did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant this, I just left the matter with him to say what he wanted to do in the matter; I only spoke a word or two about it. I was going out of town just as he came in.

Q When you told him if something was not done you would be summoned as a witness against him; what did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant that the chances were that the Nation would summon me against him.

Q What did you mean by the expression "if there was not something done" that you would be summoned as a witness?

A Well, I meant this, if I was re-employed in the matter if he was to have a case and I was re-employed I would not be required.

Q You could be required to make a statement as to declarations made to you by your client to you in one instance, but if a little more money was put up you could not be required to make a statement; is that what you mean? A I didn't think I could be forced to make a statement at all in the matter.

Q Why did you make that expression to him "if something wasn't done you might be summoned as a witness" if you believed you could not be made to make a statement? A I meant if I was employed in the case.

Q If he would put up you would not testify? A That they could not force me to testify.

Q About the month of February, 1901, in the town of Wagoner, Indian Territory, did you not send your son to get Graham to come to the hotel at night, and did you not then and there say to Sid Graham: "you people are on the doubtful list and if you will give me $500. I will make it all right and see that you are enrolled and if you don't I will see that you don't get on?" A No, sir; I got a letter from Sid Graham in which he asked me to certify that the case was all right and after I met him I told him that I could not do it, that the case was crooked, he then said to me, he says, "I will give you a hundred dollars", he says "will you take a hundred dollars," I said "no, sir." I didn't make any bid, that is I didn't set no price with him.

Q You did not say to him then what I have embraced in that question here? A No, sir.

Q You did have a conversation with him about that time and at that place, did you not? A Yes, sir.

Q You say you didn't make any bid or set any price? A No, sir; he offered me a hundred dollars.

Q Why did you send for him to come to the hotel? A In answer to his letter.

Q Did you not a yesterday morning on the street in Muskogee, Indian Territory, in a conversation with W. H. Shoemaker say to him: "You have made a great mistake in not keeping in your employment and so have the Dawsons and it will go hard with you and you will see it"? A No, sir; I says to Mr. Shoemaker, I says: "who have you employed in your case," and he says "Judge Thomas and Mr. Owen." I said "It might have been a advantage to you if you had retained me in your matter;" Well, he says "there was nothing wrong in my case" and I says "no, there is nothing wrong on earth in your case that I know of." He said all he wanted was justice and I said "I don't know a thing on earth against you," and I says "there is not a thing on earth wrong in your case as I know it came on fairly and squarely and decided in your favor."

Q You said nothing to him about the Dawson case? A Yes, I said to him "it might have been well if the Dawsons had retained me in their case." I said "I am summoned on the part of the Nation and I don't want to make a statement and I want if I can possible avoid it."

Q Was that before or after you talked with Mr. Hastings, the representative of the Nation? A It was afterwards.

Q You meant by that if you had refused to answer you would have gone to jail? A No, sir; if they had employed me before hand I would not now.

Q You mean that if they had employed you before hand you would not have given this information to Mr. Hastings? A I would not be required, being the attorney.

Q Were you required to give him the information; did you know that you had to give him any information? A Who do you mean?

Q Mr. Hastings. A I did refuse him and he insisted.

Q Well, he no authority to compel you to do it? A No, sir; I don't know whether he did or not.

Q As a lawyer you know that he did not have authority to compel you to make a statement to him? A I told him that I was an attorney in the case and I didn't want to make any statement at all.

Q Why did you do it? A Well, he intimated to me it would go any further. He said to me "I will not make this matter — I will not use it;" that is, what I stated to him was part in confidence.

Q And he pledged you his word that it would not be used? A Well, told him I could make a statement in confidence, and that I didn't want to make a statement before the Court.

Q Well, what did he reply, as you said just now? A Oh, he says "make the statement and then I told him—I regretted very much to do it, and I regret very much to make a statement here. I tried to avoid it yesterday.

Q You stated just now that he said it would not be used; did he say that or not? A Well, something to that amount; oh, he says it won't make any difference or so something to that effect.

Q Now, don't you know that Mr. Hastings did not intimate to you that the statement he was asking you to make would not be used?

A Well, I didn't think that I could be forced to make a qualified statement before the Court here, because I thought my license would protect me in that matter.

Q Yet it did not protect you or prevent you from making a statement to the attorneys for the Nation? A No, sir.

Q Now, in this conversation with Shoemaker to which I before referred did you not ask him to again employ you and tell him if he would you would make it all right for him? A No, sir; I didn't say that; no, I said if he had employe me in the matter "maybe it would have been better for you." Now, he offered me when I was down here last week, he offered me five dollars to go down and talk with his lawyers on the matter, I didn't go I was busy.

- Q That was not your price? A No, no, I had nothing to say in his case that would be to his advantage; I knew nothing against him.
- Q Now, then, you say that you were present on the morning that the judgment was rendered in favor of the Dawsons? A I was not in the Court house.
- Q You were present in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.
- Q How long had you been at Tahlequah? A I was living there at that time.
- Q When were you first employed by them? A By Dawsons?
- Q Yes, sir. A The evening before the case was tried.
- Q You say that after the judgment was rendered Dawson handed you $20? A Yes, sir.
- Q And told you to hand to Duncan? A No, sir.
- Q What was your statement? A That he paid me $20 and says "I will send you some more in a short time, week or so."
- Q And then he sent you $100? A Yes, sir.
- Q And wrote you to give D. W. C. Duncan $50 of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q And then sent you another $100 and told you to give him half of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q How much did they pay you? A Well, that was the agreement, was that he would pay me $50 a family.
- Q How much did he pay you? A I think there was $250; now I am not sure about the $50, but it appears to me like there was a $50 sent, and Mr. Duncan asked me, as well as I remember, says "have you got a letter from Dawson," I told him "yes, sir." It was either that or the $100, and he says "I would like to have some money", and I went to Stapler's and got it changed-- I won't be sure about it being $50 or $100--I went to Stapler's and got him to cash the check and give him his part of it.
- Q How much did they pay you for your services? A That is all I got.
- Q How much? A I think it was $100, $120.
- Q What did you do for them? A Didn't do a thing only called up the case and submitted it; never read the evidence.
- Q Submitted it without remarks? A Yes, sir.
- Q And for that you say they paid you $120? A Yes, sir; $120.
- Q Was Houston Benge present when that was one? A No, sir; I don't think he was.
- Q Did you see him then at that time in Tahlequah? A I don't remember.
- Q Were you associated with him in any manner in connection with the case? A No, sir.
- Q You had a great deal of business of that character, have you before the Courts? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you paid like fees in other cases for like services? A Yes, sir.
- Q In many of them? A Yes, sir, good many.
- Q All like cases? A Oh, citizenship cases.
- Q Then was it you were in jail at Fort Smith? A I don't remember; Mr. Hallette can remember, he was there, he was my attorney.
- Q Was it about 1883? A It was somewhere along there, along in 1880 somewhere.
- Q That has been your principal business as a lawyer, has it not? A Yes, sir.
- Q You have never practiced much in any other way have you? A Very little.
- Q Were you in the habit of working your cases through in the same manner in which you state you worked this through? A No, sir.

Q This was an exception was it? A I never worked this case through. I simply called the case in by request of Mr. Dawson. I read the evidence; don't know what proof there was in it; he just asked me to call the case up.

Q And he agreed to pay you $50 a family for doing that? A Yes, sir.

Q Was that what you required of him? A That is what he agreed to pay. I says "what will you give?" He says "I will give you $50 a family."

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q At the same time that the attorney for the Nation was talking to you about the Dawson case he also made inquiries about the Shoemaker case didn't he? A Yes, sir.

Q And you told him at that time before you knew anything about whether you would be made or compelled to testify that so far as you knew there was nothing you knew detrimental to the Shoemaker case?

A Yes, sir; that is what I said.

Q You told him at the same time that you not only expected to claim your privilege as an attorney in the case, but that you told him, Mr. Hastings, with the full belief that the Court would sustain your position? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKennon: That is very leading.

Q Now, did you think that the re-employment, being the attorney in the pending case would strengthen your position or weaken it, when you spoke to Mr. Dawson? A What I thought in the matter was before ever I would be summoned in the matter, a long time ago, that if I had been employed in the matter of course my position would have been such that I would not have been required or could not have been forced.

Q Did you think under those circumstances that Mr. Hastings would approach you about the subject? A No, sir; I don't think I would be forced to, having license to practice law.

Q Did Mr. Hastings tell you at the time that he was going to put you on the stand? A Yes, sir.

Q And let the Court decide? A Yes, sir.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Now, have you a license to practice in the United States Courts? A Yes, sir.

Q In the Territory? A Yes, sir.

Q And also in the Indian Courts? A Yes, sir; do you want to see them?

JAMES W. LEWIS, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name please? A J. W. Lewis.

Q James W. Lewis? A Yes, sir.

Q Where is your postoffice, Mr. Lewis? A Afton.

Q How old are you? A 73 years old.

Q What is your business? A I work at the tin business and gun work.

Q Do you know one James Dawson, the brother of P. H. Dawson and the other Dawson? A I knew old man James Dawson.

Q That is the one I mean, old man James Dawson? A Yes, sir; I knew him.

Q How long have you known him? A Well, some four or five years.

I fear.

Q How long? A Four or five years I think.

Q When did you come to the country? A I have been in the country 30 odd years.

Q Well, when did he come to the country, do you know? A Along about somewhere in eighty if I recollect right, might have been later than that.

Q How did you happen to get acquainted with? A He lived right close by me and I built a house for him.

Q Did you have any conversation with him at the time you built that house? A Yes, several different times.

Q About how he became a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, about the circumstances? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he make any statement to you about the use of money in getting his citizenship, and if so, state what he said?

A Well, he told me that it cost him $700 to get his rights.

Q Didn't tell you to whom he paid it? A No, he didn't and I didn't ask any questions.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q How old was he at that time, do you know? A I do not know exactly, must have been somewhere near about 70 years old, he might have been older than that, I don't know.

Q He was a very old and feeble man? A Yes, he was old and feeble.

Q He seldom ever got out away from his house? A No, sir, only short distance.

Q When you first knew him he was that kind of man? A Yes, sir.

J. L. CLINKENBEARD, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A J. L. Clinkenbeard.

Q What is your post office address? A Vinita.

Q How old are you? A 56.

Q Were you ever an applicant for citizenship before the Tennesse citizenship Court in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.

Q About what time was that? A September '81, I think.

Q Did you meet there about that time, one Elbert or Buck Dawson?

A Yes, sir.

Q How did you happen to meet him? A He and I stopped at the same place, ran by the name of Sharbow.

Q You and he stopped there, did you, board there? A Yes, sir.

Q Well, did you have any talk about citizenship cases, yours and his? A

A Yes, sir.

Q Where did he state that he was from? A Texas.

Q Well, state what you can remember of the conversation between you from time to time about citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A Well, we were there on the same business and we talked about it at different times, and in talking about the evidence we had there I, of course, told him how many witnesses I had and what I could prove and so on, and he said that he didn't have but one witness, Dr. Baker from Arkansas, a man that was 85 or 90 years old, he said, and he hadn't come and said he was to have met him there, but he hadn't come.

Q Well, what did he say about the doctor's knowing anything?

A Well, he said he was 85 or 90 years old and didn't know straight up.

Q Well, did he say anything about giving him whiskey?

A Well, he said he could give him four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would swear that black was white.

Q What he say anything about how money would do in Texas or Indian Territory? A Well, in talking about the evidence, he said that money would make the stars go down in Texas and he said "I come to get the far of the land" and he says "I found out it goes here," or words to that effect.

Q Did he say what he had to spend on the question? A Well, he said that he could stand a thousand dollars on it and not be hurt very much; finally he said he could stand more than that.

Q What did he tell you what he thought about the necessity of witnesses anyhow? A Well, I don't know as he said as to that, but I understood from what he said that he thought money would beat witnesses.

Q Well, where did he go after there? A He and I left there together; he rode to Muskogee by way of Fort Gibson and there we parted.

Q Did you ever see him after that? A I saw him about two years or something like that afterwards.

Q Where? A Vinita.

Q Did you refer to the citizenship matter? A I asked him how he come out and he said all right.

Q Was he deformed in any way this man? A He had a crippled hand or stiff finger; I don't remember just what it was now.

J. R. McKENNON:

Q Your first conversation with him was in '81 was it? A Yes, sir.

Q What time in '81? A September.

Q You were then an applicant for citizenship? A Yes, sir.

Q Were you admitted? A No, sir.

Q You are still an applicant? A No, sir.

Q You are still working to get in as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir; haven't quit it entirely.

Q What business are you in now? A I am running a dairy in Vinita.

Q When did you make these statements now to the representative of the Cherokee Nation? A Well, sir, I haven't; I saw Mr. Hastings I believe here last Saturday the first time.

Q How did they ever know that you had had these conversations with Mr. Dawson? A I don't know.

Q You don't know how they found that out? A No, sir.

Q You say you saw Mr. Hastings here last Saturday? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, did you approach him or did he approach you? A He approached me.

Q You know why? A No, sir; I suppose somebody I have told someone at some time about this, I don't know when or who. I don't remember of having talked to anyone about it. I have saw Mr. Hastings for years.

Q Now, you say—how was that expression about his giving Dr. Baker three or four drinks of liquor? A He said the old man; he said that Dr. Baker, he was expecting him there and he didn't come, and he said he didn't care where he did or not; he said he was 85 or 90 years old; he said he didn't know what fit up; and he could give him three or four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would not know black or white.

Q Now, he said that did not? A Yes, sir.

Q You are just as positive of that as you are of any other statement he made are you? A Yes, sir.

Q You say you next saw Dawson at Vinita? A Yes, sir.

Q How long afterwards was that? A About two years, I think something near that.

Q Did he ride to the Territory? A Yes, sir; he lived at Vinita at one time.

Q You speak about having a dairy business there at Vinita, to what extent? A I am only milking about four cows now, I sent the others to the country.
Q Do you run a dairy wagon there? A No, sir.
Q You serve on the jury a good deal? A I have been serving on the Petit jury there this winter.
Q Generally? No, sir.
Q Are you a kind of a professional juror? A No, sir; I was on the regular petit jury, I was on the regular panel and served.

C. G. BRAUGHT, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:
MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A C. G. Braught.
Q What is your age? A 62 29th day of last January.
Q What is your post office? A Fairland.
Q How long have you been living in the neighborhood of Fairland? A Been living there 19 years.
Q Do you know one Bud Dawson or P. H. Dawson as his name is? A I do.
Q How long have you known him? A About 18 years.
Q How close do you live from him? A Half a mile of him.
Q Does he still own that place? A I think he does.
Q Were you an applicant for citizenship along about '81 or '82 at Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.
Q Did you have at any time a conversation with Bud Dawson about his and your citizenship cases? A Yes, sir.
Q State what he stated to you of citizenship cases in general and about his own in particular, you can state the time that you had these conversations as near as you can? A Well, I think it was in '83, he told me if I ever got in I would have to put up; he said it cost him $700 to get in; he said he paid one witness three hundred dollars.
Q Did he state the name of that witness? A No, he did not.
Q Whom did he say he made arrangements with? A He said he made arrangements with the Court; that is, heads of families to get them in at one hundred dollars apiece.
Q Do you know what time of the year that was, whether it was in the summer or not? A I think it was in June.
Q Did he make any other statements to you at any other time? A No, sir, I don't think he has in regards to that matter.
Q You have been living neighbors with him? A Yes, sir.

MR. McKENNON:
Q You say this was about June of '83? A I think it was in June, 1883, I won't be positive whether it was June or not.
Q You were an applicant; were you admitted? A No, sir.
Q Have you been admitted? A No, sir.
Q You are still an applicant? A Yes, sir.
Q Still trying to get in? A Yes, sir.
Q Where was this conversation had? A Had at Bud Dawson's house.
Q What part of the premises? That is, in his residence?
A Yes, sir.
Q In the house? A Yes, sir.
Q Who was present? A There wasn't anybody present; he just built the house and there wasn't anybody there.
Q Was there more than one room? A I wasn't be positive but I don't think there was but one room, log house.
Q Just one room? A Yes, sir.

Q And in that room he made this statement to you? A Yes, sir.

Q He and you are enemies are you not? A No, I don't think we are enemies.

Q You are not friendly at all? A Friendly part of the time, and part of the time we ain't.

Q Haven't you had considerable trouble about the lands between your father? A No, sir; we ain't had any trouble.

Q Didn't you have his little boy arrested recently for a difficulty?

A Yes, sir.

Q And you say that you are not on bad terms with him?

A Why we speak, have conversation, have right right along all the time.

Q Is it not a fact now that you and he have been all the while at odds? A No, sir.

Q You don't have any unkind feeling towards him? A No, sir.

Q What were your other remarks? A I said no, sir, I didn't have any unkind feeling towards him.

(It being 5 o'clock, the Commission adjourns until 8:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.)

March 19, 1902.

Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of Counsel for Applicants.

Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

C. G. BRAUGH, re-called, further testified:

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Mr. Braught, you were a claimant under the Watts family are you not? A Yes, sir.

(Witness Excused.)

CHARLES D. KENNEY, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Charles D. Kenney.

Q What is your post office? A Burton now.

Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; supposed to be.

Q Recognized to such are you? A Yes, sir.

Q How old are you? A There is no family record, my parents died when I was young. I just guess at my age, I am somewhere between 44 and 45 years old.

Q Were you personally acquainted with one Albert or Buck Dawson?

A I never saw Dawson until I saw him.

Q Did you meet him in the State of Texas, if so state what time?

A I never saw Dawson, knew him and saw him at different dates in Texas.

Q Now, in the year '81 in this country, Texas, did you ever see him?

A Yes, in '82 or '83, I think I knew him in both years.

Q In the year '82 did you have any conversation with him in the presence of any other person, if so state what time and place?

A Yes, I saw him in the presence of other persons in the Cherokee Nation.

Q Now, would you be sworn to give your name there here or at any other place?

it was mentioned, I was going up on the strip and Buck Dawson says "he an Indian" and Jiles said "yes, he is an Indian", and "By God," I believe is the way he spoke, "if I was an Indian I would not be purchasing cattle, I would have stock eating my grass."

Q What did he say about making application? A He said he was going to the Chickasaw Nation and prove up and get him some grass.

Q How was that? A Buck Dawson.

Q Well, did anybody suggest about his going to the Cherokee Nation?

A Yes, sir. I told him, I says "why don't you go to the Cherokee Nation, why don't you go up home" I believe is the way I spoke it, "up amongst God's people;" and he says "are they all white like you?" and Jiles spoke up and says "majority of them."

Q Well, what did he say to Jiles then? A He says "let's go up Jiles", just in a whole crowd of cow purchasers, and Mr. Phillip says "Hell, I am going; brother John is getting ready to go now."

Q Well, then what did he say to you? A He says "who are your best lawyers up there, Kenney," and I told him "Hookey Bell was counted the brainiest man in our country."

Q Well, do you know whether he claimed to have any Indian blood or whether he was claiming in that country, whether white ran or Indian? A No, sir, I could not say what he was; he was generally known up there as Buck Dawson, a citizen of the State of Texas, that is all I know of him.

Mr. McKemmon: The applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Mr. McKemmon:

Q Were you born and reared in the Cherokee Nation? A I can't tell you where I was born; I was raised here part of the time and in Just County, Texas. B. F. Alberty was my guardian.

Q Were you admitted to citizenship by the Council or Court? A I think both of them passed on me; I can't tell you the date.

Q About what time? A It was sometime in '80 though.

Q What tribunal first? A I don't know; I don't know either when I was admitted, I was re-instated at Council.

Q When? A I think it was in '87 or '88.

Q Haven't you been arrested for crime and charged with crime?

A Well, I didn't know that I was on trial; I have been arrested a hundred times I guess from here to the Rio Grande.

Q For what offense? A For gambling, stealing; if I am on trial I have had lots of them, I have been on the road.

MR. HASTINGS, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation:

Q Were you ever convicted? A No, sir.

Mr. McKemmon: Applicant makes further objection to the testimony of this witness on account of his criminal character stated by him.

THOMAS B. BAREART, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name, please? A Thomas B. Bareart.

Q What is your post office? A Melvin.

Q What is your age? A 49.

Q Are you a Cherokee by blood? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you know one James Dawson? A Well, yes; I did; I have seen him time or two.

Q Were you in Tahlequah about the time he had an application before the Spears or Snake Puppy Citizenship Court? A Yes, sir; I was there about the time the case was settled.

Q Did you know Aaron Butler? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was he? A He was a Cherokee Interpreter for the Court.

Q Do you know James Smith? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was he? A He was the Nation's attorney before the Court.

Q Well, did you about that time have a conversation with either Aaron Butler or Jim Smith in company with Mr. James Dawson? A Yes.

Q State the full particulars of it? A About that time this man Dawson and Butler came to me while they were all together, all three of them, and Butler came and called me off to one side, that was down at a colored church, it was after dark, and they called me off there and this man Dawson borrowed some money from me, he said he had to have it that night, his case was going to be submitted the next morning.

Q Well, did he say anything about whether he could get his case submitted if he had more money? A Well, from the language to me and Butler, he wanted this money; Smith had agreed to submit the case without further evidence in the matter.

Q Well, did you let him have the ten dollars? A Yes, sir.

Q Where did they go then? A They walked off up towards town.

Q Did they go together, those three? A Yes, sir.

MI. McKENDON:

Q Was that James Dawson, the leading applicant in that case?

A Yes, best of my recollection that was.

Q How old a man was he? A I don't know; I could not tell you; he looked, I don't know, he might have been—could not tell you just about how old he was.

Q Well, about how old was he, 25, 30 or 40? A Yes, he was older than that, from my judgment I guess he must have been 45 or 50 years old.

Q Is he living or dead? A I don't know.

Q Where have you been living? A I have been living down here near Tahlequah.

Q What was the man's name, Dawson's name? A Jim Dawson I think.

Q You are certain of that? A Yes, sir; I am pretty certain.

Q They came to you with Smith, the Prosecuting Attorney, and Butler, the Interpreter? A Yes, sir.

Q Dawson took you off to one side? A Butler took me to where Dawson was and introduced me to Dawson and vouched for Dawson being all right for the money.

Q When did you first make a statement of this matter to anybody?

A I guess—I don't remember when.

Q How long have you been in Muskogee this time?

A I have been here since, I was summoned here last Friday.

Q Did you ever make any statement to anybody about this before that time? A Yes, I talked to Butler about it.

Q When? A Oh, about, first I remember it has been about two years ago, and Butler was talking to me about it; it was at my house.

Q Were you born a citizen? A Yes, sir.

Q You weren't admitted to citizenship by the courts or Council?

A No, sir.

Q You have been living in the Cherokee Nation all your life?

A Well, I was born and raised here; I haven't been here all the time; I have been out and in.

Q You have never seen that man Dawson since? A If I have I have never known it, but I seen him the next day.

Q You saw him and took a good look at him, and know about what kind of man he was? I saw him around there about several times.

Q You think he was about 35 or 40 years old? A That would be my guess at it, my recollection.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness, all of it, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

DELIA A. BREWER, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your full name? A My husband's name was O. P. Brewer, but generally I sign my name Mrs. D. A. Brewer.

Q What was your full maiden name? A Della A. Vann; well it was really Delilah but I never was called by that name, it was De altogether in y yo n; days.

Q What was your father's name? A His name was Joseph Vann.

Q Was he called by any nicknames and if so how many, and what?

A None but the Cherokees, the full-bloods called him Joe Aney.

Q What does that name mean when you talk English? A Rich Joe.

Q Did any of them call him Big Joe Vann? A I don't know;

he was a large man; larger than the other Joe Vann.

Q There was another Joe Vann? A Yes, sir.

Q Did your father have any sisters and brothers? A He had quite a number of sisters.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had two half brothers.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had several half sisters.

Q Who did they marry? A Different persons; I knew the names of all of them but I have a bad memory, but I know that there was one, a Mrs. Ibbie Wolfe, and Mrs. Lamer, she was first a Mrs. Nicholson and she became a Mrs. Lamer and lived in Alabama and never come to this country, but she has grandchildren in this country.

Q Well, did any of your father's sisters or half sisters ever marry a Rogers? A No, sir.

Q Never had any Rogers kin-folks? A No, sir, I certainly would have heard of them through my family, there was a great many of the kin-folks I never saw, but I heard of them.

Q The Dawson case was talked of here for many years, they claiming kin?

A I never knew until I understood they claimed to be kin to the Vanns, and I flatter myself that my family was prominent enough that they never claimed kin.

Q They never claimed kin at all? A No, sir.

Q Did your father ever had a sister or half sister by the name of Annie, Anna or Aisey? A No, sir.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to all the testimony of this witness because it is incompetent and irrelevant.

- Q What was her given name? A Annie.
- Q Did you ever see your grandfather, Samuel Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q Saw him? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you know about how old he was when he died? A He was somewhere up about 90.
- Q About how old were you when your grandfather died? A I don't remember exactly how old I was, I must have been somewhere near 12 years old when my grandfather died.
- Q Was your father his youngest child? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you know about when your father was born? A Well, no, I don't, he died in '90 and he was 67 years old.
- Q He died in about '90 and was about 67 years old when he died?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q And he was the youngest child? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, do you know how many children your grandfather had, that is brothers and sisters of your father? A I heard him say seven.
- Q Well, did you ever hear your father or grandfather speak of whether or not your grandmother was a white woman or an Indian?
- A Well, I heard my father speak about it, I don't know that I ever heard my grandfather say anything about it.
- Q Well, what did he say about it? A I have heard him say his mother was not an Indian.
- Q Did you father come here and apply once for citizenship?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Was he admitted? A I think not.
- Q Did you hear him make any statements about the ground he expected to get in? A He said his brothers had proved their rights here and if his brothers had any rights he did, but I don't know.
- Q Well, in that connection did he say whether his mother was an Indian or white woman? A Never heard him say that his mother was a white woman in speaking about that, I don't know whether he said anything about that or not; I have heard him say his mother wasn't no Indian.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness because it is wholly irrelevant and incompetent.

Q. When did he die? A. '74.

Q. Have you any particular method of recalling that date? A. Well, I was away from the house when he was taken sick, and they sent for my wife and myself, and so when I got home my wife had gone to her father's to see her grandfather, he was sick, and I remember my first wife was a baby at that time.

Q. And when was your first child born? A. He was born December, '73.

Q. You know how old your wife's father was when he died? A. Why he was up in 60, but I don't remember his age.

Q. Did the old original Samuel Dawson ever tell you his age? A. Yes, sir, several times.

Q. How old was he at the time of his death? A. He was past 64.

Q. Did he ever tell you whether or not his wife Annie Pruett had any sister or brother? A. Told me she only had one brother named Bob Pruett.

Q. Have any of the members of the family named their children after him? A. Make it a little plain, it is a little long; my wife's oldest brother was a particular favorite of his grandfather, and he always took this boy with him everywhere, and he had named one of his oldest child for this brother-in-law who was a particular favorite of his grandfather; named it for him I understood.

Q. Now, what is his name? A. Of course I don't know why he named it, but he gave him the name of Robert Pruett, and I understood it was on account of his grandfather thinking, so much of Robert Pruett.

Q. Did you ever hear the old Samuel Dawson speak of his brother-in-law? A. Yes, sir; I have heard him say that he visited he knew what had become of Bob Pruett, he never had heard of him for a long time; didn't know where he was, or whether he was alive or not.

Q Now, I want the children of Samuel Dawson and Annie Pruett, how many of them did you know, first? A How many did I know personally?

Q Yes, sir? A John James, and Samuel B. Those were the only ones of his children that I remember personally.

Q Well, remember what you know of the family, what other children did he have? A Well he had two girls, as I understand the family history, he had two girls, first, and John Dawson was the third child, and the oldest boy was John Dawson.

Q Was John Dawson the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q Which was the oldest girl? What is she known by now? A I think it was Mrs. Petty, nee Bettie Dawson.

Q And John Dawson was the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q And Samuel B. Dawson was the youngest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q You know something about the time John Dawson was born, have you any way of coming at it, the oldest boy? A Yes, sir, I know what the oldest son and his wife told me.

Q What was that? A They said he was born in 1811.

Q Who was his oldest son? A Toliver H. Dawson; told me his father was born in 1811.

Q Do you remember now whether the old man had occasion to say whether his wife, Annie Pruett was an Indian or white woman, or ever said anything about it? A I know what the old man said that she was, I don't know that I ever heard the question approached in that way, I have heard him speak as to her blood, but it was in a different way that he reached it.

Q That blood did he say she was? A Well he said that she was the daughter of Mrs. Pruett, a white woman; and that her father was Captain John Rogers, a white man who lived with the Cherokee Indians, and traded with them.

Q Did he say who Captain John Rogers afterwards married? A Said he had a wife in the Cherokee Nation.

Q But that Annie Pruett was not her child? A No, sir, she was the child of Mrs. Pruett.

Q A white woman? A Yes, sir, that was the half sister of Bob Pruett.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Q Did ever you apply for citizenship here? A Yes, sir; for my wife.

Q When? A My father-in-law made the application, I don't know exactly when it was, I think probably about '86, I couldn't say as to the date.

Q Before the Cherokee authorities? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he file an application before the Dawes Commission in 1896 also? A No.

Q Yes, sir? A I don't think he did, no sir.

Q Did you? A I did.

Q On account of your wife? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you make affidavit to that application? A No, sir.

Q Who did? A I don't know, don't remember now.

Q You applied for your wife as an Indian by blood did you not?

A Yes, sir.

Q Are you still an applicant? A No, sir.

Q Is she? A No, sir.

Q She was denied was she? A Yes, sir.

Q Was there an appeal taken from that? A Application was filed if I remember, before the Dawes Commission, and they reject the case, and then I appealed it to the District Court, and it was rejected there and then I stopped.

Q Have you ever been arrested for any crime? A Yes, sir.
Q What? A Charge of murder.
Q Anything else? A No, sir.
Q Committed on the train? A Yes, sir.
Q In a train robbery? A Yes, sir, in a train robbery.
Q How long did you remain in jail? A Appealed the case to the Supreme Court, and it was reversed and sent back, and I was acquitted on that charge.
Q That all the crime you were ever charged with? A Yes, sir.
Q Haven't you been having some trouble with the Dawson family?
A Well personally I have no trouble with any of them, there is one of my boys and one of W. A. Dawson's sons-in-law had some trouble.
Q You are not friendly with the Dawson family? A That son-in-law Mr. Wooley, anyhow, don't speak, and I don't think his wife speaks to me either.
Q Well you are claiming some sort of lease on the Wooley farm, aren't you? A No, sir, I don't claim any lease on the Wooley farm.

B. W. ALBERTY, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A B. W. Alberty.
Q What is your post-office? A Tahlequah.
Q What is your present official position in the Cherokee Nation?
A Assistant Executive Secretary of the Cherokee Nation.
Q As such have you charge of the citizenship records and books etc. of the Nation? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you made search recently for the original records in the various cases of the Dawson family before citizenship courts in Council? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you got what records you found with you? A I find what's supposed to be the original papers in the case, all that I could find. (Produces papers and hands to Nation's attorney.)
Q Where did you find these papers? A I found them in the desk in which papers of that character are filed away in the Executive Office at Tahlequah. (Applicant's attorneys examine papers produced by witness.)

Testimony for Claimants.

Witness:

Dr. Baker was testified as follows. His name is Arthur Baker I reside at Morrillville, Arkansas, Carroll County, my age is 77 years, I am not a Cherokee. I lived in the Cherokee Nation about three years when I first came to Arkansas I have been acquainted with him since he became a citizen of Carroll County some thirty five years (line drawn through the last three words.) 35 years at my mother's house near Morrillville I became acquainted with the claimants Bobb Dawson's grand father on mother's side, she was frequently at my mother's house; though she Anna Pruet lived in the Nation side. She claimed to be a half sister to Big Joe Varn, also claimed to be half Cherokee; the first time she brought the claimant's mother to my mother's house she the claimant's mother was about grown, when I was a little boy she called her daughter Polly Rogers said Capt. John Rogers who ran a boat up the river was the father of the child; I saw the girl frequently there at my mother's and where at Lewis Rogers Store I saw her occasionally until I was 15 or 16 years old and I think then Old Capt John Rogers took her off to school. I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of Old Samuel Dawson. I stayed all night there and she and I had a talk over our old hat etc, and I asked her when she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school. And she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home to the Nation and they were to be married. I have told that precisely in the words she used.

Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee, the claimant is the son of Polly Rogers and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruet, and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson Capt Rogers then resided in the Cherokee Country about twelve miles from Calhoun on the Hiwassee River.

Anna Pruet resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there the Dawsons when I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees, Robt Dawson's children is Buck, John, Marion, and two girls; the children named in the petition I recognize as being the claimants.

Question by Solicitor:

Ques. 1 How many children did Polly Rogers have?

Ans. 1 Five, I think that's all.

Ques. 2 Did you say anything about someone being married twice?

Ans. 2 The claimant was married twice.

Ques. 3 Could Anna Pruet speak Cherokee?

Ans. 3 Yes she could speak it well.

Ques. 4 Did Polly Rogers speak Cherokee?

Ans. 4 She could when she was young.

Ques. 5 How far did you live from Anna Pruet?

Ans. 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.

Ques. 6 Was Calhoun in the Cherokee Nation?

Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river, part in the Nation and part out in the State.

Ques. 7 Which Harnage was it went to Texas?
Ans. 7 George went first then John went they were the sons of old man Harnage that lived up here near the line.
Ques. 8 Did the claimant go to Texas?
Ans. 8 No the claimant didn't go to Texas.
Ques. 9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
Ans. 9 The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers Marion here is the grandson of Polly Rogers.
Ques. 10 Where does claimant now live?
Ans. 10 He lives in Carroll County, Arkansas.
Ques. 11 Do you know what relation old Captain John Rogers was to Charlotte Rogers here in Cooweescoowee?
Ans. 11 They claimed kin but what kin I don't know there were two Capt. John Rogers' in the Nation I am speaking of the time when I first came to this 1830 Country about the year 1830.
Ques. 12 Was Anna Prout the maiden name of claimant's grandmother?
Ans. 12 Yes that was her maiden name the Indians called her since.

Jos. Dawson, an Cherokee live in the Cherokee Nation, 31 years old.

Lulu Dauthett and Dallas Dauthett, the claimants are Cherokees. Fannie Dawson was their mother. Fannie Dawson was a Cherokee, that is what I was always told. Her father was E. Dawson. E. Dawson was my brother. Mrs. Dauthett is not living now: the last time I saw Lulu, and Dallas Dauthett, they were in Texas. But I have heard since that they are in the Cherokee Nation. E. Dawson recognized them as his grandchildren and I have known them ever since they were born.
By Solicitor:

Lulu is about 10 years old. The Dallas is about 5 or 6 years old. I heard that their father is now at Vinita Cherokee Nation, E. Dawson is Elbert Dawson. The applicants' mother has been dead about three or four years. She died at Hillsboro, Texas.

I was not present when their mother and E. Dawson had eight children to the best of my recollection, or 9. Fannie, Francis, Cartenas, Fanie, Bob, Smith, Fern, Bert, Ella. All living but two, Fannie and Smith. They are all living in Texas when I left there, I am a brother to F. H. Dawson, we are full brothers. It is admitted that John Rogers and Gilesey Pruitt died before the rail upon which their names would appear if living at the time and specified in the 7th section of the Act of December 3th, 1833, creating the Commission on Citizenship, were made but in support of the a claimant it is urged that certain members of the Dawson family had been declared as the 37th Act were recognized to citizenship by the Commission on Citizenship on July 26th 1839."

"The Tehee Court", and the "Sears Court", and are now residing as citizens in the Cherokee Nation. In the opinion of this Commission the sufficiency of the considerations which determined the decision of the Commission of the testimony now introduced to authorize the admission of the present applicant is not relevant to the issue now pending. The 7th section of the Act of December 8th, 1898, before named provides, that "The Commission shall give a hearing to any person applying for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the ground of Cherokee blood or descent, but such applicant must be a person, or the lineal descendant of a person whose name appears upon the census rolls of Cherokees taken by the United States." APPLICATION FOR CITIZENSHIP
 TO THE HONORABLE COMMISSION ON CITIZENSHIP: Gentlemen:- The undersigned, your petitioner, this day makes this his application for re-admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, in accordance with the Constitution and with an act of the National Council, approved December 8th, 1836, creating your Commission. And, respectfully makes the following statement of the grounds of this his application, to-wit: That Mary Dawson is the Grand Daughter of one Noton who the undersigned firmly believes was duly enrolled upon the Census Rolls of Cherokees by blood, citizens of the Cherokee Nation, taken and made in the year 1835, -48 - 51 - 52. The undersigned hereby presents the above facts as the lawful grounds for this his application for Cherokee citizenship, and respectfully awaits the time when his Application shall be truly heard and tried for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Your respondent, S. H. Mayes, Principal Chief of the Cherokee Nation, comes now and demurs the said application, and for the grounds thereof says:

- 1st. That this Commission has not jurisdiction over the parties or subject matter of this controversy.
- 2nd. That the application does not state facts sufficient if true, to show that the applicant . . . entitled to citizenship.

Respondent not waiving his aforesaid demurrer, but insisting upon the same, as to the said application, says that said Andrew Dawson claims to derive his lineage from the Cherokee Nation, if not now, . . . of the Cherokee Nation, since . . . went to the Indian Territory, . . . that he was there at . . . of said matter; that nothing . . . could, or ever have existed in . . . as citizens thereof.

Filed Aug. 11, 1887. John Rogers
Registered April 20, 1889.

Now this case comes this above case for final hearing,
Samuel E. Dawson having his application for re-admission to Citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the ground that he is not son of Samuel Dawson, a white man, Polly Rogers, the alleged daughter of Captain John Rogers, and Alicy Prust said to be half sister of Joseph P. M. Prust, known as sign and who were of Cherokee blood. It is admitted that John Rogers

Willsey Burnett died before the rolls upon which their names would appear as living at the time, and specified in the 7th section of the Act of December 8th, 1886, creating the Commission on Citizenship were made, but in support of the application it is urged that certain members of the Dawson family the full brothers of the applicant as admitted to citizenship by the Commission on Citizenship commonly known as the "Tehsee Court" and "Spears Court" and are now residing as citizens in the Cherokee Nation. In the opinion of this Commission the sufficiency of the considerations which determined the decisions of those Commissions or the testimony now introduced to authorize the admission of the present applicant is not relevant to the issue now pending. The 7th section of the Act of December 8th, 1886, before named provides that the Commission hearing on any person applying for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the grounds of Cherokee blood or descent, but such applicant must be a person, or the lineal descendant of a person whose name appears upon the census rolls of Cherokee taken by the United States, and are hereafter enumerated, neither the name of the applicant nor that of the person of whom he claims to be a lineal descendant appearing upon either of said rolls, the Commission adjudge and decree that Samuel R. Dawson and family are not entitled to re-admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as Cherokee by blood. This opinion includes the case of Andrew J. Dawson, James K. P. Dawson, Joannah Barber, nee Joannah Dawson, and Jane Queen, nee Jane Dawson and their families as enumerated in their respective applications.

W. C. Rogers being duly sworn on oath deposes and says: that he is a citizen and resident of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory. That his post-office address is Skiatook, Ind. Terr. and he was born and raised in the above said Nation and Territory; that he is 45 years of age;

Affiant further states that he is slightly acquainted with Irene J. House, an applicant for admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as shown by copy of her application.

Affiant further states that his father's name was Charlie Rogers who was a son of Captain John Rogers and the said Capt. John Rogers was the only man of that name that ever lived in the Cherokee Nation that this affiant ever heard of; that the said Capt. John Rogers this affiant's grandfather lived at Grand Saline, I. T. and died in Washington, D. C.

This affiant states that his father Charlie Rogers had one sister and five brothers viz. Cynthia Rogers, Sarah Rogers, George Rogers, Nelson Rogers, Samuel Rogers and Daniel Rogers; that he [this affiant] was well acquainted with the above said Rogers except Samuel and Daniel Rogers, who were killed when this affiant was quite young.

This affiant at the time he was 34 years of age, when his father, Charlie Rogers died, that his father never had any other family (like a wife or children or brothers or sisters than the ones above mentioned; that the said Polly Rogers named in the application for citizenship of Irene J. Rogers, was not a sister of his father; that his father never had but one sister viz. Cynthia Rogers that this affiant never heard of; that this affiant was well acquainted with his aunt Cynthia Crump-

"(her) Rogers that she lived with this affiant's father for a number of years prior to her death.

Affiant states that he has often talked with his father, Charlie Rogers and his aunt Cynthia Crump (nee Rogers) about his relatives; that they never spoke of any other sister in their family; that his affiant was about 30 years of age when his aunt, Cynthia Crump died; that they told him there never was (word's "never was" marked over with ink) father never had any other daughter or daughter other than Cynthia Rogers.

Affiant states that his father told him a number of times, that this affiant's grandfather Capt John Rogers never had any other family other than the one above mentioned; that this affiant never heard his father Charlie Rogers or any of his relatives speak of his grandfather Capt John Rogers owning, or having a boat up any river.

Affiant states his father Charlie Rogers was born on Big Mulberry, South-east of Vanhook, Arkansas, in the year of 1817.

Further affiant said not.

for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Your respondent, S. H. Hayes, Principal Chief of the Cherokee Nation, comes now and demurs the said application, and for the grounds hereof says:

1st, That the Commission has not jurisdiction over the parties or subject matter of this controversy, and not legal right, therefore, to hear and determine the same.

2nd, That the application does not set forth facts sufficient, if true, to show that the applicants are entitled to citizenship.

Respondent not waiving the aforesaid demurrer, but insisting upon the same for answer to said application, says the John Rogers through whom the petitioner claims to derive their right to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, is not now, and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, since the removal of said Nation, west to the Indian Territory as at present located and defined; that his name does not appear upon any of the authenticated rolls of said Nation; that neither they nor any of their ancestors now residing or ever have resided in the Cherokee Nation and Indian Territory, as citizens thereof.

Having fully answered, your respondent asks to be deemed dismissed.

Dora Barber, Attie L. Hunt, Alogy J. Start, APPELLANTS, VS
CHEROKEE NATION, APPELLEE.

PETITION FOR APPEAL FROM THE DECISION OF THE COMMISSION
TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

Come now the appellants in the above entitled cause and petition the Court to grant an appeal in said cause from a decision of the Commission, known as the Dawes Commission, created and empowered to treat with the Five Civilized Tribes of Indians, to-wit: the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw, and Seminole Indians, and to pass upon and decide applications for citizenship in the said Five Civilized Tribes, which decision by said Commission was rendered by authority of, but not in accordance with, an Act of Congress passed and approved June 10th, 1896, and by which decision on the 29 day of October, 1896 the aforesaid appellants were denied their rights to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

The facts relied upon by the appellants to establish their rights to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as aforesaid are as follows: to-wit: The affidavits of E. Dawson, S. G. Dawson, T. A. Dawson, F. M. Dawson.

Said affidavits fully and conclusively establish the fact that said applicants are Cherokee Indians, by blood and descent, and entitled to rights of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Said affidavits, together with the application, of said appellants, were, prior to September 10th, 1896, filed with and submitted to said Commission for its investigation, consideration and decision.

That a certified copy of said application, together with the aforesaid affidavits, were served upon the Agent, of Attorney General, of said Cherokee Nation, prior to September 10th, 1896.

The error of the Commission in rejecting the claims of citizenship of said appellants are the grounds they wish to bring before this Court, to-wit:

FIRST. The Commission erred in rendering its decision on said claims adversely to the appellants and against the proofs submitted by said appellants.

SECOND. The Commission erred in investigating the claims of appellants and denying same during the absence of a majority of the members of the Commission.

THIRD. The Commission erred in refusing the appellants the right and privilege of examining the proof submitted by appellees in support of the claims filed by the appellees and denying the appellants the right of Billie's application to appellee's answer or proposed proof in rebuttal of the same.

FOURTH. The Commission erred in denying the appellants benefit of a trial of their claims by a competent jury, as granted to them by the laws and constitution of the United States.

FIFTH. The Commission erred in refusing appellants the right to be present in person, or by attorney, during the trial and determination of their claims before the said Commission.

SIXTH. The Commission erred in refusing to issue process, for witnesses and to send for records and papers when requested to do so by the appellants.

SEVENTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the right of these appellants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

EIGHTH. The Commission erred in deciding against blood, holding that blood was not a test of citizenship in said Cherokee Nation.

NINTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the location of residence, holding that residence in the Cherokee Nation was not a test of the right of citizenship in the said Cherokee Nation.

TENTH. The Commission erred in not entering upon their docket or record the grounds upon which the claims of appellants were denied and refusing to satisfy appellants the grounds of denial or rejection.

ELEVENTH. The Commission erred in examining the claims and proofs of appellants and denying the same while the Commission was not clothed with any legal authority, nor had jurisdiction, to render decision on said claims and deny the same.

TWELFTH. That the Act of Congress approved June the 10th, 1896, was unconstitutional and had no power or legislative authority to confer jurisdiction on said Commission to try and determine the rights to citizenship of said appellants, and said Commission erred in determining the rights and denying the same to said appellants.

THIRTEENTH. That Congress had no power by enactment to create, appoint and remove a judiciary, and said Commission erred in denying the claims of said appellants without any legal authority to do so.

Therefore, the appellants of this cause pray that an appeal be granted to this Court and that a trial, de novo, be granted the appellants, and that said appellants be permitted to introduce new testimony, and that an order be made requiring said Commission to send and furnish all papers and records filed heretofore in this cause in this Court, and that the Cherokee Nation, the appellees in this case, be cited to appear at this Court on plead and defend against the appeal, they why the appellants should not by the rules, orders and decisions of this Court be adjudged entitled to citizenship in the said

Cherokee Nation, and the appellants will ever pray.

JOANNA BARBER ET AL )

-VS- )

: REPORT OF SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION. )

-----oo-----

I, H. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to the Court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proof of pleading herein, which is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and what I find as follows:

I

That this cause was instituted on September 3rd, 1896, before the Deane Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, by Joanna Barber, and Isaac J. Barber, her husband, and their children, Onis E., William E., James E., Johnnie and Joel A.
Barber. That Joel A. Barber had the following children:
Mattie Toliver, George A., Frankie G., Jesse and Ethel Barber.
That the application included also Mary A. Taylor and her child Inez to say, Emma D. Wherry and her child Clara Wherry, Eva Moore and her children Anna J., Jackson D., Mary Clayton, Attie L. Hunt and her child Dora Hunt, Alice J. Smart and her children Georgia A. and Emory L. Smart, Joseph J.
Carlin Moore and her children Lottie G., Oora L. and Bertha
H. Carlin Moore. That this application was by the Commission tried and rejected on October 23rd, 1896, with no reasons given for that decision, and then subsequently on December 27, 1896, the plaintiffs appealed to this Court. That the parties all live in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

II

That the parties claim the right to be heard as to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by reason of white descent from Polly Porter, who is claimed to have married Indian by blood. That it is filed in support of this application the affidavit of S. E. Benson, E. Smyser, J. W. O'Connell and F. A. Houston, and testify that Joanna Barber, the applicant of citizenship, is a white woman who was born in the Cherokee Nation, and that all of the children of Joanna Barber, and that Polly Porter, are the children of Catherine Porter Moore and Wiley Vann. That these witnesses are all of white citizenship by blood, and white race, and claimants, and according to their testimony, related to the blood.

The appellee introduces to controvert this testimony the decision of the Cherokee Commission on citizenship, rendered in the year 1897, in which these claimants were rejected by this Commission and also the affidavits of W. C. Rogers a grandson of Captain John Rogers, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, a granddaughter of Captain John Rogers, both of whom state that they never heard of any daughter of said Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and that Cynthia Rogers was his only daughter.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation, and are relatives of the Dawson family, who are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, are entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood; while the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the petitioners claim, is not now and was not before a citizen of the Cherokee Nation since the removal West; that his name does not appear on the rolls of the Cherokee Nation, and that he nor his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

The premises considered, in view of the unsettled condition of affairs in the Cherokee Nation at the time when Captain John Rogers, the ancestors through whom these claimants trace their Cherokee blood, lived, and especially in view of the absence of a marriage law and of records pertaining to marriage, I am of the opinion that these claimants have proved that they are descended from Capt. John Rogers, who resided in the Cherokee Nation, and was a recognized citizen, though they do not show that he was ever enrolled as such, and I therefore find that the claimants are all residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, and that they are all Cherokee Indians by blood. That they have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1897, and probably longer, though the proof does not set definitely how long they have so resided.

I ask that the Court allow me a reasonable fee for my services herin as Special Master.

Respectfully submitted this 10 day of August, 1907.

(signed) H. A. Gibbon,
SPECIAL MASTER.

By fee paid.

No Exceptions filed."

THE COURT.

From this report it appears that the claimants base their right to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation upon the grounds that they are the descendants of a Cherokee Indian, by blood, but their ancestors through whom they claim have never resided in the Cherokee Nation as now constituted. It appears that they have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1897, and probably longer, though the proof does not set definitely how long they have so resided. It does not appear that the applicants or any of their ancestors have ever been recognized as members of the Cherokee Nation.

The judgment of the United States Commission rejecting this case is affirmed, and the application of the claimants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation is denied."

Testimony for Claimants.

Witness, Dr. Arthur Baker sworn testified as follows:

My name is Arthur A. Baker I reside at Berryville Arkansas Carroll County y age is 73 years I am not a Cherokee. I lived in the Cherokee Nation about three years when I first came to Arkansas I have been acquainted with him since he became a citizen of Carrolls County some 35 years - At my Mothers house near Calhoun I became acquainted with the claimants Rebt Dawson grandmother on mother's side she was frequently at my mothers house though she Anna Pruet lived in the Nation side; she claimed to be a half sister to Big Joe Vann, also claimed to be half Cherokee, the first time she brought the claimants mother to my Mothers house she said her mother was about grown when I was a little boy. She called her daughter Polly Rogers, said Captain John Rogers who ran a boat up the River was the father of the child; I saw the girl frequently there at my Mothers and there at Louis Rutes Store.

I saw her occasionally until I was 15 or 16 years of old and I think then Old Capt. John Rogers took her off to school, I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of old Samuel Burton, I stayed all night there at his and I had a talk over our old matters and I asked her where she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school and she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home, to the Nation and they were there married. I have told that precisely in the words that she used, Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee. The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers, and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruet and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson.

Capt. Rogers then reside in the Cherokee Country about twenty (Word "twenty" marked through) twelve miles below Calhoun on the Hiwassee River Anna Pruet resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there the Dawson when I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees. Robert Dawson children is Buck, John, Marian and two girls. The children named in the petition I recognized as being the claimants.

Question by Solicitor:

- Qd. 1 How many children did Polly Rogers have?
- A. 1 Five I think that's all.
- Qd. 2 Did you say anything about some one being married twice?
- A. 2 The claimant was married twice.
- Qd. 3 Could Anna Pruet speak Cherokee?
- A. 3 Yes, she could speak it well.

- Ques 4 Did Polly Rogers ever see Cherokee?
Ans. 4 She did when she was young.
Ques 5 How far did you live from Anna Pruet?
Ans. 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.
Ques 6 Was Calhoun in the Cherokee Nation?
Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river part in the Nation and part out in the state.
Ques 7 Which Harnage was it went to Texas?
Ans. 7 George went first, then John went, they were the sons of old Sam Harnage, that lived up near the line.
Ques 8 Did the claimant go to Texas?
Ans. 8 No the claimant did not go to Texas.
Ques 9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
Ans. 9 The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers.
Ques 10 Where does claimant now live?
Ans. 10 He lives in Carroll Co Arkansas.
Ques 11 Do you know what relation old Capt John Rogers was to Charles Rogers here in Coconawscowsee?
Ans. 11 They claimed kin but what kin I dont know there were two Capt John Rogers in the Nation I am speaking of the time when I first came to this country about the year 1830.
Ques 12 Was Anna Pruet the maiden name of claimants grandmother?
Ans. 12 Yes that was her maiden name the Indian called her since his

F. H. Dawson being duly sworn according to law deposes and says:

My name is F. H. Dawson; I am 54 years of age; my post office address is Afton Indian Territory; I am a farmer by occupation and reside in the Cherokee Nation.

I am a recognized Cherokee citizen by blood. I was born in Carroll County Arkansas near Berryville. I derived my Cherokee Indian blood from my grandmother whose maiden name was Polly Rogers through my father Robert Dawson, my grandmother Polly Rogers was a Cherokee Indian and was married to Samuel Dawson my grand father in the old Cherokee Nation in Tennessee.

My grand parents Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly came west from the Old Cherokee Country in about 1832 and settled in Eastern Arkansas and later came on to the Indian Territory and the father of this affiant Robert Dawson and family settled in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, Robert Dawson, the father of the affiant was also a recognized citizen of the present Cherokee Nation by reason of his Cherokee Indian blood.

The said Robert Dawson, father of this affiant and Elizabeth Dawson who married John Petty were full brother and sister by blood, both being children of said Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly Dawson whose maiden name was Polly Rogers. The said Elizabeth Petty was the mother of Joanna Barber who is a full cousin by blood of this affiant in the Indian side. The said Joanna Barber is the mother of Irene J. House nee Barber who is a second cousin of this affiant in the Indian side.

This affiant further states that he has seventy five to a hundred blood relatives who reside in the Cherokee Nation and are recognized Cherokee Indians by blood and drew their per capita money all the last payment; said citizens and relatives derived their Indian blood from the same source that the above named Irene J. House, derives her Indian blood and right.

This statement I have made to John H. Koogler, a Notary Public at Muskogee Indian Territory and it has been written down by him at my dictation. Such part of this testimony which refers to matters occurring previous to my recollection I know by means of family history and traditions which facts I have always been taught and told of by my parents and grand parents from childhood up, the facts stated as occurring since my childhood I know of by personal knowledge. Affiant further states that he is not personally interested in the prosecution of the application of said Irene J. House for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

EXHIBIT D.

E. Dawson, being duly sworn according to law on oath states his name is E. Dawson; I am 61 years old; my post office address is Talala, Ind. Ter. I am a Farmer by Occupation, and reside in Coconino District- Cherokee Nation. I am a recognized Cherokee Indian by blood, and exercise all the rights and immunities of a Cherokee Citizen now living in the present Cherokee Nation. I was born in Carroll County Arkansas near Berryville. I derived my Cherokee Indian blood from my Grandmother Polly Rogers through my father, Robert Dawson. My Grandmother Polly Rogers was a Cherokee Indian and was married to my Grandfather Samuel Dawson in the old Cherokee Nation in Tennessee. My Grand Parents, Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly Dawson whose maiden name was Polley Roger came West from the Old Cherokee Country in about the year 1832, and settled in Western Arkansas, and later came on to the Cherokee Nation. My father Robert Dawson was a recognized member of the Cherokee Nation when he died, by reason of his Cherokee Indian blood.

The said Robert Dawson, the father of this affiant, and Elizabeth Dawson who married John Petty were full brother and sister by blood, both being children of the said Samuel Dawson and Polly Dawson his wife she being the same Polly Rogers as aforesaid. The said Elizabeth Petty was the mother of Joann Barber who is a full cousin by blood of this affiant on the Indian side, the said Joann Barber is the mother of Irena J. House, whose maiden name was Irena J. Barber and a second cousin of this affiant on the Cherokee Indian side. This affiant further states that he has seventy five to a hundred blood relatives who reside in the Cherokee Nation and are recognized Cherokee Indians of the present Cherokee Nation and exercise all the rights and privileges of such Cherokee citizens, they having drawn their shares of the Strip Money at the last per capita payment made by the Cherokee Nation.

Said citizens and relatives derived their Cherokee Indian blood from the same source, as did the above named Irena J. House.

I have made this statement before J. Barricklaw, Notary Public at Talala, Ind. Ter, and affiant further states that he has no personal interest in the prosecution of the claim for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation of the said Irena J. House.

That the above facts which are within the personal knowledge of the affiant or within his years of discretion he knows personally, and the other facts which occurred before the recollection of affiant he testifies to from what he has been taught from his family history and traditions.

That the relationship existing among all his people in the Cherokee Nation he knows from his personal knowledge and that they are related to the Cherokee Indian side.

Before me the undeigned authority this day, personally appeared W. A. Dawson who is to me well and personally acquainted, and after being duly sworn; deposed and says, that he is well acquainted with Irene J. House and knows she is a Cherokee Indian, and that he knows she is the daughter of Joana Barber, who is a niece of Robt. & James Dawson, who are both Cherokee Indians and recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Affiant further states that Irene House is the grand daughter of Mrs. Petty, who was a full sister of Robt & James Dawson.

Affiant further says that he knows that Irene House is a lineal descendant of Annie Dawson whose children (line drawn through word "children") sons, Robt & James before spoken are recognized citizens.

Affiant further says he has no interest in this suit.

IN THE UNITED STATES COURT IN THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

IRENE J. HOUSE ET AL.

VS

238 REPORT OF SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION.

-----000-----

I, M. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to the Court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proof and pleadings on file in this case which are made part of this report, and that I find as follows:-

I

That this case is in reality a branch of Case No. 90, Joanna Barber vs Cherokee Nation, the principal case herein being Irene J. House a daughter of Joanna Barber.

That this case was instituted on September 1, 1896 at which time application was made to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes for citizenship by blood in the Cherokee Nation.

That this case was tried by the said Commission on November 24, 1896 and the applicants denied, no reasons being given for the decision, and that on January 29, 1897, the parties appealed from said decision to this Court.

That this application was made by Irene J. House, her husband, W. J. House, and their children Chas., C. Winston T., and Henry W. House. That their file in support of their application the affidavits of Joanna Barber, E. L. Dawson, Arthur A. Baker, E. Dawson, and W. A. Dawson. That these Dawson witnesses are citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, and state that they are related by blood to the claimants herein on the Cherokee side. The claimants base their contention of a right to Cherokee citizenship upon the fact that the claimant Irene J. House is the daughter of Joanna Barber, who is the daughter of Elizabeth Petty, who was the daughter of Polly Rogers, and that Polly Rogers was the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Ailsley Vann, who were recognized Cherokee citizens by blood. That the testimony shows that this Dawson family are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and that the claimants herein are cousins by blood upon the Indian side, and that they all claim through a common ancestor, Polly Rogers and Captain John Rogers and Ailsley Vann, who were all recognized Cherokee Indians.

II

The appellee introduces in defense the record of the application of these claimants to the Cherokee Commission on citizenship in the year 1897, and the record of the rejection of the claimants, and further the affidavits of W. D. Rogers, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, a grand daughter both of whom state that they never heard of any daughter of Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and the he had only one daughter, whose name was Cynthia.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation and are relatives of the Dawsons, who are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, are entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood, while the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the petitioners claim, is not now and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation since the removal west. That his name does not appear on the rolls of the Nation, and that neither he nor his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

IV

The premises considered, I find that the claimants are the descendants of Captain John Rogers, and that it was entirely possible that in the condition of affairs at that early date in the Cherokee Nation, especially owing to the absence of a marriage law and of records pertaining to marriage, that these claimants should be the descendants of Captain John Rogers by a daughter, Polly Rogers, of whom the affiants for the appellee may never have heard.

I find that the claimants are residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, where they have resided since 1837, and that they are Cherokee Indians by blood.

I ask that the Court allow me a reasonable fee for my services herein as Special Master.

Respectfully submitted, this 2 day of Nov 1897.

Special Master.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Well we close for the present.

TESTIMONY INTRODUCED ON BEHALF OF THE APPLICANTS:

D. F. C. DUNCAN, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HOBBS:

Q Please state your name, age and residence? A My name is D. F. C. Duncan, my age is 72 years, my residence, Vinita, Indian Territory.
Q Are you a duly recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood? A I am.

Q You gave testimony in this case once before did you not, before the Deves Commission? A I did.

Q Before this Commission I will say, this commission? A The Deves Commission? A My I don't recollect who the Commissioner was, that was taken at Vinita, ex parte.

Q Were you in any way connected with the Cherokee Citizenship Commission in 1883 known as the "Deves Commission"? A I was Clerk of that Commission.

Q For what length of time? A I don't recollect the exact length of time, I think it was about thirty days, during the continuance of that Commission, existence of that Commission.

Q You were the only clerk it had during its existence were you?
A I think I was.

Q You were Clerk of that Commission when it rendered a decision in favor of Robert Dawson et als, as found on page 114, of its record, numbered 108 (witness examines record referred to.) now in the possession of this Commission? A I was.

Q The members of that Commission were the same as shown by the signatures to this judgment were they? A The same, yes, sir.

Q Thomas Teshe, President of the Commission, Alex Wolfe and T. P. Thompson, Commissioners, that is correct, is it? A That's correct.

Q Were you present when this case was under consideration by that Commission and when it rendered this judgment in the case? A I was.

Q Were you at that time acquainted with F. H. Dawson, commonly called "Bud Dawson", Campbell Taylor and Samuel H. Benge, who were attorneys, who were Cherokee attorneys at that time? A I might say that I merely know Mr. Dawson; all I know of him was I saw him there as a party to the suit. I know Mr. Taylor and Mr. Benge more extensively; I have known them a number of years.

Q They were recognized Cherokee citizens were they? A They were.

Q Was Taylor not known generally as a Citizenship Attorney?
A I think he was.

Q Do you remember seeing him and Benge present at the time this case was under consideration by the Court? A Why I do not recollect seeing Mr. Benge, I cannot recollect, but I can recollect of seeing Mr. Taylor about the Court room now and then.

Q Do you know who submitted the case to the Court for the applicants? A Let me understand the meaning of that; who brought the case?

Q Who called up the case? A No, I don't recollect.

Q Do you remember whether that Commission rendered any other decision than that found upon this record in that case? A I never had any knowledge only but one decision.

Q Was that in favor of or against the applicants? A It was in favor of them; I will say this: that if there was another decision other than the one that appears on the docket now before you, I have no recollection of it.

Q The only decision you have any knowledge of was recorded by you in this book as here shown was it not? A That is the only one that I have any knowledge of.

Q Did Bud Dawson pay you any money in connection with that case?
A He did not.

Q Did he ever promise to pay you any money for your influence with the Court in that case? A Never.

Q Or paid you any money, either directly or through any other persons? A For my influence in that case?

Q Yes, sir? A Never.

Q Did you have any knowledge of his having paid to the Court or to any member of the Court any money for the purpose of influencing their judgment in that case? A None whatever.

Q Did you have opportunity of observing his conduct during that Court at the time? A The only opportunity that I had was during the session of the Commission; I saw but very little of him during the sessions of the Commission; now and then I would see him in the Court.

Q Did you see anything in his conduct toward that Court which indicated that he had used undue influence in procuring that judgment?

ment. A I never observed anything of the kind; nothing that awakened a suspicion in my mind that he was engaged in that kind of practice.

Q Did Campbell Taylor at any time after the rendition of that judgment pay to you any money as coming through him from Bud Dawson for any services which you had rendered in that case?

A Yes, he paid me some.

Q How much? A My recollection is that I think it was a two-dollar bill. I don't know but I had rather not state the transaction, all about it.

Q Now, Mr. A. Mr. Dawson, Bud Dawson, during the trial of the case, occasionally applied to me at my desk for writing paper, issue of a subpoena or transcript, something of that kind? I always treated him with courtesy and proper official consideration. He seemed to appreciate it, and whenever I did anything of that kind to him, says he, I have no money, Mr. Duncan, but I feel as I ought to pay you. I told him I had no charges for any of that kind. And in passing I might state that I never received a cent for any kind of that work which I had been in the habit of doing for various parties before the court.

After his trial was concluded, in the afternoon a little while before supper time I went to my hotel, The National Hotel in Tablequah; went to my room, felt a little tired, laid down upon the bed to rest. I recollect Mr. Duncan stepped into the room, drew a chair up to the bedside and sat down and commenced giving expression to his gratification at the success of his case, dwelling mostly upon the testimony in the case being so satisfactorily, establishing his Cherokee blood, and that he thought that he was entitled and that he had received justice by the Court. I listened to him, and we talked there I guess some ten or fifteen minutes; after a little he says, I must go to-morrow, I think he says to-morrow, I must go home, - he then lived down in Arkansas somewhere. Says he, Mr. Duncan, I believe I owe you something, ought to pay you something. Alluding, as I understood, to these little courtesies that I extended to him at my desk. Says I, I make no charges, Mr. Dawson, for services; as I have done you any good you are welcome. Well, says he, I feel indebted to you, I ought to pay you. I says, that makes no difference; I will leave that to you. Says he, I have hardly enough money to get back home. He shook my hand, and the last word he said to me, you shan't lose anything for your kindness in being so kind as to have reference to my services at the desk. That was the last I saw of Mr. Dawson, and it must have been a year afterwards. I have located a little claim on the public domain on these Bellevue District, staked off what I intended to be a farm, hereby takes, I didn't make any other improvements, over to the Ford Creek. Went over in that part of the country to look after my claim, and I ran across Mr. Dawson, he had come into the country and located and built him a little shanty and was living in it. I called upon him, he was very glad to see me; I asked him what he was doing there; he said he had moved into the country, and I told him, says I, you are encroaching upon me here; he had spread his claim over part of mine, mine had been made so long it was outlawed under Cherokee law. Well, says Mr. Dawson, I don't feel like doing you any wrong, I will pay you for your claim, and we will settle the matter in that way, that he as soon as he got his little matters together that he would satisfy me for it. Well we parted at that point. It ran on then for a long time, I don't know how long, - I think I ran him in visits, and says he, did Camp Taylor pay you any money that I sent to you? Says I, No, I have not seen Camp Taylor.

Well, says he, I gave him some money and told him to hand it to you for me, and, says he, you ask him and he will hand it over to you I guess. Well we parted then. Well, went on for some time, some months; I happened to meet Mr. Taylor in Tahlequah; I met him on the street I think, jocularly I slapped my hand on his shoulder, says I, look here, did Mr. Dawson any money to me by you? He says, yes, and he pulled out what I recollect to be a twenty dollar bill, and handed it to me; I received it, and I received it with the idea that he was compensating me for taking my claim, or possibly for doing him those little services in the Court. Now that is the sum and substance of the whole thing.

Q Was not that twenty-five dollars, Mr. Duncan? A It might possibly have been, my recollection does not serve me exactly, it might have been 25 dollars.

Q Did Campbell Taylor pay you any other money as coming from Bud Dawson? A Never a cent.

Q Did he at one time pay you fifty dollars out of a hundred dollars which he had received from Mr. Dawson? A Never.

Q Did he on a second occasion pay you fifty dollars out of one hundred dollars which he claimed to have received from Mr. Dawson?

A None at all.

Q He paid you no other money than that that you have already stated, from Mr. Dawson? A Not a cent.

BY MR. McKENNON: We offer in evidence the judgment of the Cherokee Citizenship Commission before referred to, and ask that it be filed in evidence in the case of every application made by members of the Robert Dawson family who claim under it, or through Robert Dawson, as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, said judgment being found on page 114, Records of the Talco Court, 1880 to 1884, case number 108, judgment dated January 11th, 1883, signed by Thomas Teben, President, Alex Wolfe, T. vs.

Cherokee Nation.

Continued by the Plaintiff, Oct. 5, 1881.

January 13th, 1882.

The above case continued by the Cherokee Nation till sept.

Q Do you remember to have seen any other member of the [unclear] family about the Court at that time [unclear] [unclear] I have been thinking, and I can't call to mind that I ever saw any other [unclear] except [unclear], until after they were into the [unclear] [unclear] to the rendition of the judgment.

(At this point a party who has been sitting in the room in which the examination is being held, is called forward, sworn on behalf of applicants, and asked to retire until called.)

BY MR. HORTON (G):

Q Mr. Duncan, when did you become clerk of the Texas Commission Court? A It must have been somewhere in December, 1884, at the time the office [unclear] was organized immediately at the close of the Council in which they were appointed.

Q December 12th '84? A I think so.

Q What are you doing [unclear] judgments here in your handwriting in 1885? A The Commission [unclear] Court after they were elected sometime.

Q The Court was elected in [unclear] month '84? A Well, I don't know the time, I don't pretend to say when the Court was elected, I might have said at the time I was chosen clerk I was chosen clerk just at the close of the session of the National Council of that year.

Q '84? A I think it was '84.

Q You entered in this judgment rendered January, 1885? A Yes, that was the session of the Commission.

Q That was before you were clerk of it? A Well I held my clerkship for some time you know continuously.

Q Well but when you mean to say that you were their clerk when the [unclear] case was passed on? A No, I don't mean to say that.

Q How could you be clerk when the [unclear] case was passed on in 1883 when you were not elected until 1884? A I am mistaken in that, '84 comes after '83, - it was the year preceding 1884, it must have been '83.

Q Your first entry in the [unclear] case is January 13, 1885, isn't it?

Q I don't recollect that my first entry was. (Attorney shows the record to witness) Yes, that is the entry there on that day.

Q And that was shortly after you became clerk wasn't it? A Yes, shortly after I became clerk.

Q The case had been entered upon the docket before you became clerk? A I think so, yes; it was entered at the previous term of the session of the Commission.

Q In these hand-writing was the name of the three Commissioners signed to that judgment? A Byron [unclear] [unclear] (Attorney shows record to witness again) A That is my handwriting.

Q All three names? A All three names.

Q The record there shows that you immediately gave them that day a transcript of the judgment, do you know who signed that? A Signed the [unclear] [unclear]

Q Yes, sir. A I do not recollect now, this is, did the writing?

Q Signed the record to it? A Yes, that's it.

Q Yes, of my signing the name of Jones and White isn't your?

A I think I did [unclear] generally; I don't know of their attempting to write [unclear]

Q [unclear] [unclear] his own name? A Some- [unclear] [unclear] to do is,

Q [unclear] [unclear] to do is

A [unclear] [unclear] frequently [unclear] [unclear]

A [unclear] [unclear] the [unclear], that is

Q Will you look at the original transcript hereby shown you and refer to it in the judgment and say who signed the names of the Commissioners there? A (Papers shown to witness) A I signed them there.

Q You recognize that as your handwriting? A I do.

Q What made you when you were testifying at Yvinta before Mr. Martin, on looking at the same signatures, and being cross-examined by me, say that it was not your signature and that the signature thereto attached was the signature of Mr. Thompson? A Occurred in this way: I had not seen any of the records in the case for about nineteen years. The exact transaction in the court is vanished about entirely from my memory; I recollected at that time, however, when I gave in my testimony before the Commissioner, Martin, that that was a practice of the Court at the time I served in which I signed the names of the full-blood members of the Commission, and Mr. Thompson either uniformly or occasionally signed his own name. I based my statement in that deposition upon my knowledge of the rule or practice in the Court, without comparing the docket and refreshing my memory. I made an incorrect statement when I said that that was not my handwriting; I am convinced now that it is my handwriting. That is the way it occurred, the way it happened.

Q Then you consider your recollection of the fact that Thompson when he was present and rendering a judgment signed it himself, not on that your own knowledge of your own handwriting?

A No, I didn't so regard it. I simply spoke without advisement when I gave in that testimony; I subsequently became better informed and concluded that that was my handwriting, and not entered by Mr. Thompson under the rule, but was one of those cases in which he authorized me to do it myself, and I did it.

Q Then you have changed your testimony, because you think you have a better knowledge of the surrounding facts now than you had then, and not from the fact of your judgment on your handwriting at present? A I simply corrected my testimony in reference to my statement in regard to this handwriting, this case.

Q And you wouldn't know then as I understand you whether or not that is your handwriting, if it was not refreshed by what you consider to be exterior facts? A I should know it by examining it and thinking over the circumstances, I think I should recognize my own handwriting, but if a question should be propounded instantaneously without any advisement or preconsideration I might make a mistake.

Q You did recognize the names of Thomas Fisher and Alexander Wolfe as being in your handwriting at that time? A I was very clear and positive, and so stated, that the names of those Commissioners were in my handwriting, and I was made certain by reflecting on the rule that they never signed their names with their own hand, but always authorized me to do it. Hence there is no question in my mind in regard to my handwriting in their signatures.

Q And then the third name, right under it, as compared with your admitted handwriting, you had to wait and learn the facts afterwards to determine whether that was your signature or not? A No, I don't think that if I had considered the circumstances, I knew that there was a resemblance; what was in of the opinion that that might have been Mr. Thompson's signature was like this: I knew that he had been in the habit of at least sometimes signing his own name, and I was under the impression—and I do not now think I was such a deceiver—that his chirography bore at least some resemblance to my own, hence I doubted whether I had signed that name or not on that account.

IT NOW BEING THE HOUR OF FOUR, 13 H., THE COMMISSION
ADJOURNS UNTIL HALF PAST ONE P. M.

AFTERNOON, WEDNESDAY, 13 H., APRIL 1903, -same as in forenoon: D. W. C. DUNCAN again on the stand,
BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q Do you remember what witnesses were before the court? A I don't recollect now distinctly except Dr. Baker, I can't remember any other cause of the length of his testimony at the time it took to take it.
- Q The Doctor was about the only distinct witness there was? A He is the only one now that I can call to mind.
- Q There was probably another old darker that testified was not there? A I have no recollection to that effect.
- Q The case was just decided really on Doctor Baker's testimony, he is about the only man that knew anything about the case? A I do not believe that Dr. Baker was the only witness; might have been others that has now escaped my recollection.
- Q Doctor Baker's testimony was taken down in writing? A Yes.
- Q There was not anybody's else taken down in writing, was there? A All the testimony that was accepted in the case was taken down in writing.
- Q Did you ever see anybody's else testimony in writing except Dr. Baker in that case? A That is not as I recollect, I can't recollect any other but Dr. Baker's.
- Q You know whether that was taken immediately before the trial or at the trial or how was it? A It was taken in the presence of the three commissioners during the session of the court.
- Q You mean the day that the case was decided or how? A I do not recollect whether the case was on trial more than one day, but my impression is that it was.
- Q Do you know whether it was the same term of the court or not? A I think it was the same term of the court.
- Q How many terms a year did that court have? When did you last see it? A I don't recollect of but serving but one term.
- Q Don't recollect the serving but one term? A Myself, it seems to me no.
- Q You didn't go in until January of 1892 did you? your first record is a record of about the 15th of January 1892, as shown by the book, isn't it? A I don't recollect in that regard.
- Q How would they take testimony in the case, then continue it, or how should they generally do about that? A I think they decided on the case at the term in which they took testimony.
- Q Did you any witness or not this testimony was taken in this case at the time it was decided or at the same term it was decided, or within a week or two of the time it was decided? A My best recollection is that it was taken at the term in which it was decided; case was taken up, testimony heard that the decision was made at the conclusion of the testimony.
- Q I will now, I see on October 13th, 1892, in your handwriting, the following entry under "It is agreed by the parties that this case shall be continued to the next January Term, 1893, and if the case is not then decided, it shall be continued to the September Term, 1893; if then a case is not then decided, the case shall be continued to the next January Term, 1894." Is that correct? A Yes, that is correct.

January and a September 1932 and this decision was rendered in the January, 1933 term. You take the testimony that during the January, 1933, term, at the time this decision was rendered? A. I find it impossible for me to recollect those facts. But the record shows that although I can see about that, that the record shows the correct statement of the facts and I can't recall them.

Q. Well there is a record here that the case was decided on the 15th day of January, 1932, upon agreement that it should be taken upon the 4th day of October, 1932; your record shows that there was nothing done in the case from January 15th, 1932 until October 4th, 1932; would you say that was correct? A. I should say it was correct if it is a mistake on the book; it is supposed to be a correct entry of the facts.

Q. I will let you see the book for yourself; I don't want to misrepresent you and do it at all. (Shows entry in book to witness.) A. I can't recall those facts in regard to the agreement.

Q. The book shows the testimony of the witnesses in court? A. I took it down.

Q. You took down the testimony of Dr. Baker? A. Yes.

Q. He was cross examined by counsel for the Nation? A. As to that I can't recollect. He was present, he was always present; I think it is in the book.

Q. And that testimony was taken at or near the 4th when the judgment was rendered in January, 1932? A. I think it was, by implication is to that effect.

Q. Well the court seems to have had no sessions to talk case from January 15, 1932 up to October 4th, 1932, according to the record? A. (No response.)

Q. You can't recall taking down anybody's else testimony in the case? A. No sir, I can't.

Q. And the responsibility is that he was the only witness examined, isn't that? A. It might have been so, my recollection is that he was regarded as the main witness of the case.

Q. He was quite an old man, about 70 at that time? A. Yes, he was quite old.

BY MR. SCREENING:

Q. The testimony of Dr. Arthur Baker, from this record, appears to have been taken in January 1932; is that correct as far as you may know, or are you able to recall? A. Is that Dr. Baker's testimony? (Attorney says witness Baker.) A. It appears to be, yes, I don't think that was the testimony that the case was decided upon, because his testimony was taken orally before the court and he wrote it down; please let me see it. (Attorney puts it in witness's hands.)

Q. Well, all I know about this is he testified before, I don't recall those facts, but whatever the record says I say that the record may be correct, according to the facts. (Witness reads copy of the testimony and agrees to its reflection in the record.) I don't see the record, but I am clearly so by our own testimony, and I agree with the record, better in that testimony that it is in the record. (Witness reads and agrees to its reflection in the record.)

Q. And that is the (over of the book) and...

Q. ...for whatever the record says... A. Yes, ...

BY MR. MCKENNON: Applicants object to all of the witness' testimony relating to the method of taking the testimony of witnesses at the trial, the character and effect of that testimony, and the number of witnesses, except so far as the same may be used for the purpose of testing the memory of the witness, because the same is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

or not I don't know; he was generally always at Washington City during the Term down there.

Q Well what did he do about it? A I don't know, I couldn't say whether he done anything about it. That is Mr. Bryant, he was always gone.

Q What next was done about the employment of an attorney? A Why I got a letter from Joel Bryant that he was going to Washington City and for us to come down in January Term and Campbell Taylor would see to my claim before the court.

Q Did he say that he had engaged the services of Campbell Taylor the attorney, to attend to it in his absence? A Yes sir, in his absence.

Q Have you got that letter? A I don't think I got the letter.

Q Well what did you do then? A Why when the time come I come down on the day to Muskogee here and I come over from here to Fort Gibson and I come down to see Uncle Houston Benge and stays all night with him; it was very cold weather, and I got him to come over and submit my case to the court; I went over one day and the next day Uncle Houston Benge come over and the next morning after he come over the case was submitted.

Q Did he submit the case? A Yes sir, he told us so.

Q For you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you present? A I was present until they went to take the vote on the case and then we was drove out of their room and they had a secret session, acting on the case.

Was Houston Benge present with you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you in the court when he submitted it to them? A Yes sir, when he made his argument.

Q He made an argument before the Courtierant? A Yes sir.

Q Was the decision rendered on that day? A Yes sir.

Q How long after he made his argument and submitted the case? A Was not but a little bit; when we were drove out of the house the first time before they went into secret session they would go to get up the cigars in the court and the crowd in the house; after the decision was rendered then I was to get up the cigars, and everybody come to me and told me to go and get the cigars and I done so.

Q And you took the cigars there and all? A Yes sir, everybody, the attorneys and all that was in the house, all had a big smoke.

Q Did they then announce their finding in the case? A Yes sir, they told us that I was granted my citizenship right and by the Courtierant.

Q What did you do about it then? A Why the clerk wrote out my certificate.

Q That was that? A That was that day.

Q What arrangement did you make with Mr. Benge about his fee, and what was the amount of his fee? A There was no arrangement made until we got up there and he submitted our case; then he wanted me to pay him fifty dollars, that was his fee.

Q What was the arrangement about the matter, the manner in which that fee should be paid? A My brother in Texas was to pay it.

Q How you is write or was he to write? A He was to write for it.

Q Did your brother in Texas ever pay his fee of fifty dollars?

A Yes sir.

Q Was that all that was to be made? A All was to be made; all was done.

Q You would not state what day he gave his decision at Fort Gibson the other day did you not? A Yes sir.

Q Did you get the money to Joel Bryant, did you not? A Joel Bryant is the name of the man, but I don't know if he is the man who paid the money. I don't know if he is the man who paid the money. I don't know if he is the man who paid the money.

Q How did you get that $25 dollars out of him, Mr. Bryant? A I rendered no services to him, and the money was to go to Joel Bryant, and I finally worked out the twenty or twenty-five dollars, that is all I ever did get back.

Q The amount that he paid to Bryant? A Yes sir. Q The five hundred paid to him, this one hundred dollars, this one hundred dollars at the time the judge was rendered, or was it sent to his attorney? A I don't know, I don't know, I don't know about it.

Q You think it was paid that? A Yes sir, that's my recollection now.

Q Did you send the one hundred dollars after you had been there, a check to the attorney, or that judge, after it was rendered? A I don't know, I don't know, I don't know about it.

Q Did you send him a check for a hundred dollars in that direction? A No sir.

Q Mr. Bryant, you say that it cost you $100 to get the money to obtain their release in the District of Columbia under this judgment? A That's what I do.

Q Tell about what you? A About five hundred dollars, maybe near 500 dollars, that is what I considered, I was bent out of some of my money, that I was bent out of and expense.

Q Now you say a statement of what that money was paid for and how, so far as you remember, it's like $100? A Well the first fifty dollars Howard got; the next fifty dollars that I got; that was the attorney's fees; I speak of the attorney's fees now; the next money was the hundred that Dr. Bell Taylor got; the next attorney's fees was Bryant's one hundred dollars.

Q Was that all the attorney's fees? A I think it was, no, wait, I paid $100 for Taylor, Baker's collection.

Q What name was that? A The name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q ... the name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q ... the name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q ... the name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q ... the name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q ... the name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q ... the name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q ... the name of the man, I don't know I think it was the name, Willie F. ...

Q Well, A Well I made several trips out here a different times, to Tahlequah before the Commission, and back, three or four times as well as I remember now, cost me 20 or 25 dollars each trip, as I remember about it.

Q Do you remember how many trips aside from the one which you brought Mr. Baker? A No, I think there was probably three trips I think it was, maybe more, and then I made one trip to Cherokee to see A. M. Norwood.

Q What did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it cost; I went in a wagon down there.

Q You went through and employed a wagon, went by railroad; what did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it was, whether it was 21 dollars or 22 dollars, one or the other, I don't remember which it was; Joe Dawson, my brother gave me the money, it was either 21 or 22 dollars.

Q Now then is there any other expense that you know of that was paid by you or your family, any members of your family, other than that you have mentioned? A I don't remember any other now; I can't call to my memory right now.

Q What was the condition of the members of your family generally now, financially, at that time? A Well we were considered poor people; I don't know, we didn't have much money, scarcely any.

Q Were there any one of them that was better off than the others, and if so, which one? A I remember Albert Dawson was better off than the others, that Dawson.

Q Do you know how much Buck Burton said of these expenses? A I don't think he said, he said the things about the Bryant debt, I think it was.

Q That is one hundred and fifty dollars? A Yes sir, that is one hundred and fifty dollars and taken some of the money with Joel Bryant who was clerk of the Court before this Texas Court, I don't know what that cost him.

Q Care to say he said took you to court? A Yes, one of us went back to Texas, filed his claim and took some testimony and went back to Texas and I didn't see him.

Q Did that testimony include Mr. Baker's testimony? A No sir.

Q You know how many witnesses were examined there? A I only know what he told me.

Q How many? A Four witnesses.

Q You know whether they were residence of the Cherokee Nation or not? A He told me they was.

Q Were you present on that trip in which he said there and took that testimony? A No, I got him there and then I got back home and left him at Tahlequah.

Q He had taken the testimony before you left him or after you? A He taken it afterwards; that was my understanding.

Q Did Buck Burton only the one hundred fifty dollars that you mentioned? A I think it was.

Q For the expense of taking those witnesses there? A Yes sir.

Q Did you furnish any of the members of your family?

A I remember the father lived down in Cherokee, as you say we all lived in together a few years ago, I don't know what year that was but I don't know what year that was

but I don't know what year that was

but I don't know what year that was

Q Those that lived here in the Nation they lived here in the Nation but went back to Arkansas and died there? A Well the rest of my folks all lived here. That was James Dawson and Buck Dawson.

Q Robert Dawson, your father, never did move to the Territory, did he? A No.

Q Did you hear the statement of the witness Beavert this morning, that about the time of hearing of the James Dawson case, at a negro chitron at night James Dawson came down there with someone else who introduced to him, and he loaned him ten dollars; did you hear that statement this morning? A I heard the statement, yes sir, I heard it.

Q He says that said James Dawson was 35 or 40 years old; was there any James Dawson living belong ing to your family at that time of any such age? A No sir.

Q How many James Dawson's were there belonging to your family?

A There was my uncle James Dawson and a brother James Dawson, the Doctor here.

Q How old was your brother James Dawson then? A He was a tolerable old man, I don't know his age.

Q About what age? A That have been 60.

Q Between 60 and 70? A Yes sir.

Q That was the age of your brother James? A At that time.

Q Yes sir, in '84? A In '84 I reckon he was about 18, some- thing like that.

Q Has he anything to do with the James Dawson case? A No sir.

Q Was he present at the time that the James Dawson case was under consideration? A No sir.

Q Was James Dawson, your uncle James Dawson, present at any time during the consideration of his case? A No sir.

Q He never was present? A No sir, if Uncle Jim Dawson was ever in Tahlequah I never knew it.

Q Who conducted the transaction of the James Dawson case before the Cherokee Citizenship Commission, who conducted it? A The James Dawson case?

Q Yes sir? A I think James Low and Will Jackson and Campbell Taylor.

Q Were you acting with them? A Yes sir.

Q They employed Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.

Q Then there was no James Dawson present during that session of the Commission? A No sir.

Q What was the condition of James Dawson's health at that time?

A It was pretty poor, it was not good.

Q Was he at that time able to get about and attend to business?

A I don't think he was.

Q It is not a very frail man; old man at that time? A Yes sir.

Q Regarded as rather a willful man was he not? A Yes sir.

Q Did he attend to any kind of business of the family at that time?

A No sir, then.

Q What was the financial condition of the family then?

A Well he had some money.

Q Did he have any money? A Yes, he had some money, but not much.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

A Well, I don't know.

Q How much money?

Q Robert Dawson didn't move here? A No, I said except Robert Dawson.

Q Did all the members of Robert Dawson family move here? A Yes sir.

Q Except himself? A Yes sir.

Q And all the members of James Dawson family? A No, not all the members, Melvina Low I don't think ever lived here.

Q She has never moved here? A No sir.

Q Well all the members of your family, your father's family included in that judgment of the committee, rendered January 11th, 1892? A All but one.

Q What was the name of that one? A Edna.

Q A daughter? A Daughter of Robert Dawson.

Q Your sister? A Yes sir.

Q Was she then of age or was she a minor? A I think she was a minor, as well as I can remember.

Q Was she afterwards admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A She was.

Q By a Commission or by the Cherokee Council? A She was first admitted by the Spears Court, her and two of my neighbors.

Q What are their names? A Katie Vernon and Verna Fishback.

Q What became of that? A The certificate papers they got was lost, and they went before the Council in 1894 and they was readmitted back by the act of Council.

Q That was in 1894, the Cherokee Council admitted, re-admitted to try called it, the three above named? A Yes sir. Mary and Verna Fishback and Katie Vernon, they have now the same names.

Q Except Vernon, it is not, Tab Robinson married the widow, a niece of mine.

Q How then was there any other consideration of the Dawson case by the Cherokee authorities at all the aside from these two judgments in '82 and '84 admitting the two families of Robert and James Dawson, and the act of Council of '84 admitting these three who you have just named? A Yes sir.

Q Where? A My two of my sons was placed on the roll by the act of Council in 1892 I think it was; left off of the rolls in per capita payment and they was placed on the rolls I think, and saw Highthrough member of Council, got their draft or checks for the money.

Q Have you got that copy of the act of Council admitting them? A Yes sir.

Q Where is it? A (Produces papers.)

BY MR. ADDENDON: We offer in evidence an act of the Cherokee National Council making an appropriation of 20,000 dollars belonging to the general fund for the payment of certain persons therein named a per capita payment, as per amount set opposite their respective names, provided that the principal chief shall draw warrants for such amounts, and further provided that the names of the persons appearing on the per capita rolls in this act shall be placed (on) the authenticated roll of 1892 by the Principal Chief.

This act was approved December 11, 1892.

Approval signed by Stephen Farrow, Assistant Acting Principal Chief.

In witness whereof the seal of the Nation is hereunto set at the Cherokee Nation, this 11th day of December, 1892.

Approved and signed by Stephen Farrow, Assistant Acting Principal Chief.

In witness whereof the seal of the Nation is hereunto set at the Cherokee Nation, this 11th day of December, 1892.

Q What? A In 1894.

Q What was that? A Allowing them their Strip money.

Q Have you a copy of that? A I think I have. (Produces papers.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: We offer in evidence a duly certified copy of an act of the Cherokee National Council approved November 24, 1894, signed G. J. Harris, Principal Chief. Senate Bill No. 19, appropriating a sufficient amount of money to make payment per capita of what is known as the strip money to certain persons named therein. Among them are members of the Blessingame family, as follows: Jane, Elbert, Henry, James Ross Leslie, Pearl, Aree, Myrtle, Winnie and Clifford; this act mentions these persons as Cherokees by blood, and whose names had been left off the pay roll approved May 3, 1894, providing a payment to each one of these a sum of $265.70.

Q Were these members of the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q Which one of the members of the family? A Jane.

Q This is Jane who was admitted by the judgment admitting the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q And her children? A Her children, was not admitted, she was admitted.

Q I mean this mentions her children here? A Yes, that mentions her children.

(The paper last above introduced is filed and made a part of the record in this case.)

Q Do you know whether the payment of the Cherokee Strip money was to Cherokee citizens by blood only or not? A Yes sir.

Q Was there any other act of the Cherokee authorities passing upon the citizenship of members of your family? A Why the Douthett children, my brother's grand-children. Two grand-children of E. Dawson.

Q What was that? A That, I think it was in '84.

Q Have you got a copy of that act? A No, the record is here.

Q Was that by the Spears Court? A Yes sir, by the Spears Court.

BY MR. MCKENNON: We now offer in evidence a judgment of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, 1880 and 1884, found on page 180, case No. 181, dated September 9th, 1884, signed by Eli Spears, President, John Lee and Andrew Young, Commissioners, admitting to citizenship Lula Douthett and Dallas Douthett as Cherokees by blood.

Q Those now are the Douthetts to which you refer, are they? Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Attention is called to the fact that the names of the Commissioners are all signed in the same handwriting as the record of the judgment.

The said judgment record above introduced, and found on page 180, No. 181, record of 1880 to 1884, is as follows:

Office of Commission on Citizenship,
Foleghash, Cherokee Nation, September 18th, 1883.

John E. Adair,
 Clerk Court.

Commission on Citizenship.

Q Now were there any other actions of the Cherokee authorities of like character relating to the members of your family?

A I don't remember of any others.

Q I will ask you if when the Cherokee authorities were making the roll of 1866, in compliance with the request of the Dawes Commission for a roll to be prepared by them for the use of the said Commission, the question of the citizenship of the members of your family was not then raised and an investigation had in regard to it? A Before the Dawes Commission?

Q No, before the Cherokee Commission making the roll of 1866, of which John T. Center was a member? A Yes sir, yes. I had forgot it, but since you have raised it there was some investigation of that at that time; this is what I understood.

Q That roll shows that the members of your family were duly enrolled by the Commission? A Yes.

Q Have you had the other members of your family since your removal to the Territory in 1837 and immediately following been recognized as Cherokee citizens by blood? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been exercising and enjoying all the rights of Cherokee citizens by blood since that time? A Yes sir.

Q You and all the members of your family are living in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q You have all drawn Cherokee rations whenever your names were called?
 A Yes sir.

Q And have you all taken part in voting in the Cherokee elections or in the Cherokee Legislature? A Yes sir, I was one of the members of the Legislature for several years.

Q You were a member of the Cherokee Nation for several years?
 A Yes sir, I was a member of the Cherokee Nation for several years.

Q I will ask you, when you were a member of the Cherokee Nation, in 1864.

Q Were you at the time held out articles of the Cherokee Constitution?
 A Yes sir.

Q And were you at the time of the signing of the Cherokee Constitution, under John Ross, in 1842?
 A Yes sir, I was a member of the Cherokee Nation at that time.

Q Can any officer of court clerk be, and be any one else except a civilized citizen? A Only a citizen, yes sir.

Q Is that all? A (No sir).

Q How did the children of your family attend the public schools, and did you attend a school? A Yes, sir.

Q How did the members of your family been all the while subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q How did they bear trial for any offences against the law? A Yes sir.

Q And have they instituted their civil suits in the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q And had suits instituted against them in such courts? A Yes sir.

Q Some of these suits have gone to the Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q And were passed upon by that tribunal? A Yes sir.

Q Is there anything else? A Nothing now; I am sick this evening; I have got a head-ache so bad I can't hardly see.

BY MR. BRIDGES:

Q How old was your father, Robert Dawson, he died? A I don't know, I couldn't give an exact.

Q He was a very old man? A Yes sir, he was getting tolerably old.

Q Could you tell me how old he was that you? A No I don't know.

Q My, John Dawson in 1854 must have been a very old man, isn't he? A Well he was old and he was feeble.

Q Well you stated that he had been so silly; was he naturally that way? A He used to live in Texas; I didn't know him until after he got to the Territory.

Q I got he had gotten so old, that was the occasion of that?

Q I got use so, the oldest one of these children was Mrs. Betty Baker, wasn't it? A Understanding.

Q And the oldest boy was John Dawson? A He always called him Jack.

Q Jack Dawson he was the oldest? A Yes sir.

Q Sam was the youngest? A Sam Riley.

Q He was the youngest one of the crowd? A Yes sir.

Q Your father lived four or five years after he and you were admitted to citizenship? Yes sir, something about that, it was in 1857, I think he died in 1867, I won't be positive; that is as near as I can say now. I have got a headache so bad that I can't remember anything.

Q He nor none of the other members of the family were ever present at any of these trials of citizenship? A No sir, not a one of them.

Q Not a one of them was ever called upon to testify as to the blood of their father, the first one or anything, about it? A I don't think they was.

Q Your claim of kinship was through Captain John Rogers and that your grandmother was the half sister of Big Joe Vann, wasn't it?

A I don't know, I couldn't answer the question.

Q You were there when they took the testimony? A I was there when Dr. Baker's testimony was taken, that was about 16 years ago.

Q And nobody kin to the Rogers or Vann was ever called to testify in the case? A Not as I know of.

Q Now, are there well known Cherokee families in the country?

A I suppose so, I don't know.

Q And yet nobody on any side of the family connected with it was ever called to testify? A Not that I know of, I don't know.

Q And your brother, James, he taken care of the evidence at Gallegah when I was not there; he first filed his claim.

Q You ha' spoken to Dr. Baker about the testifying before you brought your case didn't you? A No sir.

Q Might have been a short time afterwards? A It was a short time afterwards. I went back afterwards and it was too late and I fetched him the next time.

Q You had talked to your brother about what you could prove by Dr. Baker? A I told him I thought Dr. Baker, I thought he knew about our folks.

Q You had told him in a general way you expected to use Dr. Baker as a witness? A Yes sir.

Q You went off, come to Arkansas and left your brother at Tahlequah after you told him that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You didn't see your brother any more until after you were admitted? A No sir.

Q You and he however made trips back and forth to Tahlequah and home at different times, but you didn't happen to get together?

A No. I never met him any more and I don't know that he was there until after we were admitted.

Q But you were there and brought Dr. Baker over? A Yes sir.

Q And took his testimony a year or more thereafter before you were admitted? A I think as well as I remember, yes sir.

Q Now the way you came to get Campbell Taylor was on the recommendation of old man Bryant? A I didn't get him, didn't use him.

Q The way he came into your case? A The way he claimed to come in.

Q He did more in your case than Bryant did? A Campbell didn't do anything.

Q What did Bryant do? A I think he helped my brother take evidence by brother employed him.

Q How did you happen to be sending money by Campbell to Mr. Duncan?

A I never sent him any money.

Q That when he, Mr. Duncan, states that Campbell delivered the money as Campbell said he did, both were wrong? A Oh no, you are mistaken, Mr. Duncan got 20 or 25 dollars, which he stated, from Campbell Taylor, for us.

Q How did you happen to give it to Campbell? A I give the money to Campbell to give to Joel Bryant, and he wouldn't do it, and I tried to get the money back from him, and I finally worked the 20 or 25 dollars he gave to Duncan.

Q Then you didn't tell Duncan as he testified that you sent 20 or 25 dollars by Campbell Taylor? A Campbell Taylor agreed to pay Duncan 20 or 25 dollars for 10 of the money I give him to give to Joel Bryant.

Q The family kept Campbell Taylor employed though as their attorney after that? A In the James Dawson case I think so.

Q E. Dawson, you remember, had his for his grand-children? A That is my understanding.

Q And your uncle James Dawson had air in the case of his children?

A Uncle James had nothing to do with it; James Low and Bill Jackson got him; that was my understanding of who employed him.

Q The record here shows that the case was originally instituted by C. M. Jackson and was finally admitted by him sometime 2nd, 1884, in the James Dawson case? A I don't deny his being in that case.

Q You say he was employed in the E. Dawson case? A I don't know the way in the E. Dawson case.

Q The record shows that Campbell Taylor was employed in the case and it was finally admitted by him and he was admitted in that case while he was in the E. Dawson case?

Q That would be the E. Dawson case? A I don't know.

Q Oh, in the E. Dawson case? A Oh yes.

Q He was likewise at court in 1907.

Q Now, the Adair court, the 4th of October, 1907, in the case of K. P. Lawson? A I don't know anything about that.

Q And the case of Lewis of Piles? A I don't know anything about those.

Q They are a nation of yours? A Well I wouldn't say.

Q Is K. P. Lawson proved to be a citizen of Arkansas? A Well if he is he is by common law. There are a great many I don't know the all.

Q You know Andrew J. P... A Yes sir.

Q The Lawsons have so many children they can't hardly know they did they? A That's it, I don't know they.

Q Well, how do you don't know who Andrew J. Lawson is? A Well, I don't know.

Q I know from his application for citizenship, he was a citizen of Arkansas, he was advised to citizenship by the State of Arkansas, he says he, I don't know nothing about it.

Q He reside I believe, at that time in Arkansas, is that right? A I don't know anything about these people.

Q Andrew P... an old man paralyzed, was it due to the fact that wasn't he? A Getting old, he was not paralyzed.

Q That the statement made that the reason he couldn't give evidence was that he had to make his part, because he was paralyzed, is that true? A He didn't have to make his part, he was not paralyzed.

Q Then he was not paralyzed? A No, I don't know anything about that.

Q Well, I say he was a very old man? A Yes, I think so.

Q He didn't come to the court, did he? A Yes, he did.

Q Or he came to the court before he was paralyzed? A Yes, I know he came to the court with me, and he was paralyzed.

Q And you subsequently failed to make out it? A Yes sir.

Q He went back and got your wife and moved there to the house? A Yes sir, went to the house of the wife.

Q You never saw your grandfather at all? A Yes, I saw him, I saw him.

Q You remember do you of any other cases of citizenship in Texas in Texas in time of the war, after the war, after the war, and he was there.

Q In '60 sometime? A '60, I don't know, or '61, I don't know, I don't know in time of the war.

Q How old a man was he at that time? A Pretty old man.

Q You never saw your grandfather, and he was there, is that right? A Yes sir, I never saw her at all.

Q The first started the citizenship matter, was it either in Texas or Arkansas? A Yes, it was in Arkansas, and it was in Arkansas.

Q I mean who first conceived the idea? A I don't know, I don't know about it.

Q And sent down for him? A I was in Texas with him, and then in Arkansas; I went backwards and forwards, and I was there after the war.

Q About that time nearly everybody in Arkansas were trying to get some claim of kinship to Cherokee? A Yes sir, that's that time.

Q They were getting pretty thick in there in 1867? A Well in '67 and '4 and '5 I think.

Q How was it excited out over there to get paralyzed or was it? A Just got to be everybody; but it wasn't at that time, it was admitted there was not much stir about the rights here.

Q Well the Watts had been admitted before that? A I suppose they had; there was not much excitement over the Watts claim at that time.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You did locate the case in the State of Ohio when you first got to Tallmadge in 1897? A I think so.

Q Your brother-in-law, Daniel Taylor, was married to the wife of your brother-in-law, the name of the wife was Sarah, did you not? A Yes sir, old General lived in the lower part of town.

Q Did you ever hear the name of any other witnesses which you stated perhaps testified in your case? A I have heard the name, I have forgot the name.

Q You don't recollect any name now? A I don't remember the name.

Q In the Irwin House case and Joannet Barber case, in which you testified before the Commission, when you were making search for this testimony you wouldn't find any other testimony from that of record except the Dr. Taylor testimony, would you? A That's all we could find, no we didn't find the testimony, we got a copy.

Q Well it must have been a copy of the original, the certificate shows that? A I don't know, House got a copy of that alleged to be the affidavit of Baker and he told me to give it to him, that is all I know about it.

Q Well the certificate there does not bear by certificate does it?

A I don't know about that, I am no scholar.

Q Well you didn't get the testimony of any other witnesses except that of Dr. Taylor, you couldn't find any other over there or records?

A I didn't hunt for any House made for that.

Q None of you have ever been able to find any others? A No.

Q Not even find our petition.

Q Samuel P. Dawson applied to what is known as the Adair Court, didn't he? A I don't remember now.

Q He was an uncle of yours wasn't he? A Yes sir, claimed to be.

Q The father of these two parties who testified here this morning?

A Well I don't know, they claim to be, I never let them to know that.

Q He was rejected by the Adair Court, or Hayes Court? A I don't know whether he filed his petition.

Q Did you testify in his case? A I don't remember, I might have done it.

Q Didn't you testify in the Andrew J. Lawson case before what is known as the Hayes Court? A I don't recollect, if I did I don't remember.

Q Did you testify in the Piley Dawson case? A No sir, not that I remember.

Q Didn't you know of the being rejected by that court? A I don't remember now.

Q You know that the General Council never authenticated the roll of 1897, don't you? A No sir, I don't know it; I didn't hear that the Council never authenticated after some papers and over look and they were about it.

Q You know that C. K. Taylor was a big rascal up until the Hayes Court? A (No response)

Q He was a big rascal that he has been in the Hayes Court?

A Yes, that is what I heard up to this time, I don't know any more about it, I could swear he was a rascal.

Q He was a big rascal in the Hayes Court? A Yes.

Q He was a big rascal in the Hayes Court? A Yes.

Q He was a big rascal in the Hayes Court? A Yes.

Q He was a big rascal in the Hayes Court? A Yes.

Q He was a big rascal in the Hayes Court? A Yes.

Q He was a big rascal in the Hayes Court? A Yes.

Q Wasn't he employ'd by J. L. Davison after you got your citizenship?

A Why not but the grand-children.

Q J. L. Davison's petition was filed in September 1927, after you got?

A Yes sir.

Q C. H. Taylor, attorney of record, filed his petition? A He didn't have it filed for me I know.

Q Well you hadn't at that time fallen out with C. H. Taylor had you? A Why no, we never did have any trouble, only over the money.

Q You never discovered that he was such a bad man until after your judgment was rendered? A I know he was not of good character.

Q Are you and Bryant, this man who testified for the Cherokee Nation, on speaking terms? A Hardly speak.

Q Does he refuse to speak to you? A Sometimes he does.

Q Do you refuse to speak to him? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been speaking to him for the last two or three months?

A I have not spoken to him until I got him there at the hotel the other day.

Q First time you spoke to him since he had the boy arrested? A Yes

sir.

Q When did he have the boy arrested? A About in September or

October, September I think.

Q When did Dr. Baker die? A I don't remember.

Q You don't know either how I got older your father was than you?

A No, I don't know.

Q What is your age? A I will be 60 in May.

Q Then you were born in '42? A Yes sir, '42 according to the record.

Q Was your father as much as 25 years old when you were born?

A I couldn't say.

Q That was your best judgment? A I suppose he was 20 or 25 years old. My understanding he married young.

Q Can't you give any better idea than 4 or 5 years of your father's age? A I say 25.

Q Your father was born say, 25 from 42 would have made him be born in 1817; now had your father any older brothers or sisters? A I think Jack Davison was the oldest of the family, no, Betty, the girl, was the oldest and Jack next, and then my father as well as I remember about it.

Q There were two girls older? A No, one of the girls I never saw.

Q Then you think there are only 2 older than your father? A Yes, that's my understanding of the family.

Q Dr. Baker gives his age 73 in '28, which would make him be born in '55, now it states that when he was 15 or 16 years old, which added to 1808, will make 1824, that your grandfather Anna Pratti was a school girl; whereas from your testimony and that of the family history introduced here shows that your grandfather Anna Pratti was the father of seven children, the youngest being born in 1827, how do you reconcile that? A I don't remember about the date out of Dr. Baker; I don't know what he made such statement as that,

I don't remember about it.

Q And if he says you don't know how to reconcile it? A (No response.)

Q Did you talk to any of the members of the Court that admitted

you? A No sir, I was not acquainted with them.

Q You know whether they were old or young men? A They were all men like Steve Jones, I got acquainted with Mr. Achreverts, and to Mr. Simpson, at the Council, you know I was there a good while.

Q What was the fellow that was on the court? A Yes sir.

Q He was afterwards assistant chief of the Cherokee Nation?

A I think so.

Q Bryan Tabor, that's the one you had reference to? A Yes sir, I think it was, I just knew the fact I had no acquaintance with him at all.

Q D. W. C. Duncan boarded when you were down there at the National Hotel? A I think he did, as well as I remember now when he was admitted.

Q Don't you know he did? A I think he did, as well as I remember.

Q Were not you ever there to his room? A I think I was.

Q You remember when it was that you brought Dr. Baker down there to make a statement before the court? A It was in January, 1883, was in January Term of 1883 I believe, it was, as well as I remember about it.

Q Well you didn't take any more testimony after Dr. Baker testified? A No sir, I didn't.

Q But your case was not admitted or passed upon for a case? A I think it was, yes sir, as well as I remember.

Q I would like to ask you when the Glassingame family came to the Cherokee Nation? A Alex Glassingame came with us when we moved here, and went back and got his family and loved that fall.

Q Did he move his family here that same fall? A Yes sir.

Q That year, is that? A In the fall of '83 I believe it was, as well as I remember now.

Q When did the Sulaska family come? A I think the girl and the old lady came in the next spring.

Q How long did they remain that time? A The old lady stayed here, but the girl went back and in a short time her husband come back.

Q Did she come back until after her marriage? A No, she was married when she come first.

Q The last time? A She was married I think, she was married when she come out.

Q How long has August Sulaska been a permanent and continuous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A I think he come there in the fall of 1884 or 1885, I would say which.

Q How long has Robert Pierce been a continuous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A Ever since he was admitted.

Q When was that? A '83.

Q How long has Martin B. Patterson? A Ever since he married his wife, and he was living here before he married his wife.

Q Who is Arizona Alrey? A That is my daughter.

Q Did you bring her with you? A No not when I moved.

Q When did she come? A She come out in a year or two after I moved here.

Q Was she married when you moved here? A No sir, she was not married.

Q She was not married when you were admitted? A No sir, she was not married.

Q When did she come to this country? A With his grandfather, James Brown.

Q What was his mother's name? A Rebecca Brown.

Q You don't know her name? A No sir.

Q Don't know by all he was in this? A No sir.

Q Was he married? A I think he was.

Q When was he married? A I think he was.

Q Was he married? A I think he was.

Q Was he married? A I think he was.

Q When did they come to this country? A Right away after they was admitted.

Q In what year? A I think the winter of '84, I think at usual spring or winter of '84.

Q You know Sidom Brown? A Yes sir.

Q The father of the boy? A Minchum Brown, formerly Missouri and Brown.

Q Did you know him before he came to this country? A Yes from Texas.

Q Did you know that he was? A I know the girl.

Q You never knew the child they came to this country? A I never knew her.

Q When did you see him here? A I think they came here in the fall or winter of 1884 or '85.

Q He was married then? A I think he was.

Q Brought his wife? A I think he was, I don't know.

Q Did he have any children when you first saw him? A He come to my house and I never saw his family for-I don't know, for several years.

Q You understood he had a family? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Did you mean to say '84 or '84? A '84.

Q Did you see Sid Graham in '84? A '84, let me study, may '85.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Did you see him in '85, are you positive on that proposition?

A I think so.

Q Will you swear to it? A No sir, I won't positive about it, but I think it was, or I remember on it was; I couldn't say positive.

Q All the people Mr. Brown that have been admitted to citizenship by courts of competent jurisdiction unless they were de-citizenized by courts of required jurisdiction, enjoyed all same privileges that you have mentioned here about going to jail or not being tried in the courts? A Yes sir.

Q All that sort of thing that you have been telling here in your direct examination? A Yes is the question again.

Q I say all people who were admitted here by courts of competent jurisdiction, will they work de-citizenized by courts of like jurisdiction, enjoyed the same privilege as that you said? A So far as I know they will.

Q They all drew money and all kind of the courts as law as we are judicial courts, was they not? A Yes sir, so far as I know.

Q There was no money or thing wanted to you in preference to anybody else? A Yes but recognized citizens of the United States.

Q Will you say that you recognized them when you were admitted? A Yes.

Q I suppose the same as citizens of white race, correct?

Q Will you say that you recognized them about it? A No, I can't say.

Q You will say that you were there when you were admitted?

Q I was admitted in the year 1884, I was admitted with him, same time.

Q I was admitted in the year 1884, I was admitted with him, same time.

Q I was admitted in the year 1884, I was admitted with him, same time.

Q I was admitted in the year 1884, I was admitted with him, same time.

Q I was admitted in the year 1884, I was admitted with him, same time.

- Q What? A Yes sir, Joel Dawson.
Q Well is that all he did for you? A I don't remember about it.
Q Why didn't you get your attorney to do that letter writing? A There was not any there.
Q Taylor nor Benge was not there then? A No sir.
Q That is what you paid the 20 or 25 dollars for, was writing this letter back to your brother? A I paid him for that claim.
Q When did you pay that? A I think I paid it, I don't exactly when, Camp Taylor paid it a year or two after I moved out here and settled where I did; right have been 2 years. I don't remember.
Q Where was Duncan living then? A I couldn't say where.
Q Was he still clerk of this Court? A No sir, not when that money was paid; that is, when Camp Taylor said he paid it.
Q You did send Camp Taylor some money? A I sent some money to him for Joel Bryant.
Q You knew Joel Bryant's address didn't you? A No, I don't know that I did, No I didn't send Camp Taylor any money, I gave it to him.
Q How much did you give him? A One hundred dollars.
Q When? A Right at that time; he claimed it from me as soon as he got our papers; he came into me and claimed it for Bryant.
Q You never sent him any then after that? A No sir.
Q Did you ever see Bryant after that? A Yes sir.
Q How long after that? A I don't know, a year or two afterwards. A year I believe, my brother wrote, I wrote to my brother about paying Camp Taylor money and he went onto my brother about it and he never paid him until he moved out to this country.
Q After all that you got him to attend to your uncle Jim Dawson's and the other relatives cases? A The other parties did.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to all that part of the witness' evidence in response to interrogatories by representatives of the Cherokee Nation which relates to the character of the evidence upon which the judgments admitting members of the James and Robert Dawson families were admitted, and to the history of the members of the Dawson family, because the same is immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q One question I omitted to ask you Mr. Dawson, as to the Court at the time the judgment admitting Robert Dawson's family was rendered, who of the judges were present on that day? A They was all three of them, Wolfe, Tehee and Thompson.
Q Are you positive of that fact? A Yes sir.
Q You do not know this Andrew Dawson family who applied to the Dawes Commission for Cherokee citizenship, and who stated that they are cousins of some members of your family? A Andrew?
Q Andrew J. Dawson, who claims to be from Missouri? A How was the question?
Q You do not know that to you? A I don't know that they are any kin to me.
Q You don't know that they are related to you at all? A No sir.
Q This Roger Dawson one, do you know any members of that family?
A No sir, I don't.
Q Don't know who they are? A No sir.
Q The Sabodes Dawson case? A I don't know her either.
Q You don't know whether they are related to you or not? A No sir.
Q If any of these persons are related to you or your family did you have any knowledge of it? A Not as I know of.

Q Joanne Barber, do you know anything about them? A They claim to be kin to us.

Q Where are they from? A They are from Tampa.

Q Do you know they are related to you? A They claim to be kin.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Well you swore for them before the Commission? A Yes, they claim to be kinfolk to me.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Irene J. Barber, who is that? A That is a cousin of mine; claims to be.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You testified for her didn't you before the Commission? A I think I did as well as I remember.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Before the Court that admitted Joann Barber and family, who were the witnesses there? A Oliver Miller, from Berryville, Arkansas.

Q Who were the others? A Myself and J. Dawson and there was two other witnesses, I don't remember who they are.

Q Were they Cherokee citizens and residents of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't remember their names? A Right.

Q Of these other people who claimed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and who were witnesses? A I said about Mr. and Mrs. Barber was citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q You only proved that Mr. Dawson was a brother of Robert Barber before the Court? A Yes sir.

Q And that referred back to the decision of the Court before? A We proved that they were citizens, and had no other folks before me ever come here.

Q How he older than Dr. Baker? A About the same age.

Q Why didn't you get Oliver Miller's testimony in the House case?

Q He was dead.

Q You and no member of your family in the Irons House case or the Joann Barber case or any of those cases that were tried before the House Commission in your affidavits ever had reference to the fact that Oliver Miller testified in Mr. Dawson's case in '84 did you?

A I don't remember about that.

Q You did make reference to the fact that Dr. Baker testified there in '83, didn't you? A I don't remember about that now.

Q You never made reference to any other witness having testified other than Dr. Baker did you? A I don't remember about it now.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Now just one other question: All of these papers in the original application and everything, so far as you know, in the James Dawson case, were filed before the Commission which admitted the Joann Barber family, are lost or missing, are they not? A I suppose they are, I don't know, I never saw them.

Q Have you tried to get copies of them? A Yes sir, I tried to get the original papers.

This case is continued until 8:30 a.m., tomorrow, March 20th, 1962, it now being the hour for

- Q She was also called Josephine or Josie Kelly? A Yes, after she married her first husband was Pierce.
- Q And her second husband? A Was Kelly.
- Q There was another Josephine Dawson wasn't there, Bulack's wife?
- A Yes they called her Joe, I suppose that's her name, I could not be positive; that was Rita Dawson's daughter, August Bulack's wife.
- Q She is much younger than your sister, Josephine, above referred to? A Yes sir, oh yes.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q Where were you born, Mr. Dawson? A Carroll County, Arkansas.
- Q You know how old you are? A 42.
- Q 42? A I think so.
- Q How many older children were there of your father and mother than yourself? A Three.
- Q Which were they? A E. Dawson, Wiley Dawson and Jasper Dawson.
- Q You are the fourth child and the fourth boy? A Yes sir, fourth boy.
- Q There were your father and mother married, do you know, from family history? A I think it was in Arkansas, I couldn't be positive, I think they was.
- Q Do you know how long your grandfather lived in Arkansas? A No sir I don't.
- Q Don't know what year he came to Arkansas? A Only from statement.
- Q Well what did they say about it? A I think they come there sometime in '30.
- Q You know whether your father was born in Arkansas? No many of your grandfather's children were born there? A There are none of them born in Arkansas according to history and according to what he always told me, they were born in Tennessee.
- Q He came there in '30, and all the other children were born on the Kansas River in Tennessee, before he ever came? A That is what I think, yes sir. No I am not positive about that.
- Q They were from Tennessee, but either Dr. Baker lived there or your father came from there; I don't know as I remember that I ever heard your father say where he was born at.
- Q In Tennessee somewhere; he said he was a good big boy when he came to Arkansas? A I don't know as I ever heard him say.
- Q Do you know the difference in the ages of yourself and your three older brothers? A No I don't.
- Q Don't know the time that comes in between you? A No I don't know what I think it is about two years though.
- Q Ever heard of the E. Dawson about eight years older than you, brother? A Yes sir.

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q Did Josephine Pierce have a daughter who married Mr. Bogle?
A Yes sir.
Q What was her name? A I always known her by Dede Pierce; I don't know whether that is her right name or not.
Q What is Bogle's name? A John Bogle.
Q She is the child of Josephine Pierce who married John Bogle?
A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

- Q Where did she marry John Bogle? A Near Afton.
Q When? A I couldn't state.
Q About when? A You have got a copy of the marriage license.
Q When did Josephine Pierce come to the Cherokee Nation? A '83.
Q Has she lived here continuously since that time? A Up until her death; she is dead.
Q Any of her children come with her at that time? A Yes sir.
Q And have they lived here continuously since that time? A Yes sir, except Bill Pierce, he went to Colorado and died.

J. C. STARR, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q Your name is J. C. Starr is it? A Yes sir.
Q Mr. Starr, was that instrument taken by you, or before you? (Showing witness document.)
A Yes sir.
Q Where? A At the residence of S. H. Benge near Fort Gibson.
Q When? A On the 15th day of this month.
Q What day of the week was that? A On Saturday.
Q Is that the day it was taken? A Yes sir.
Q Did you go there on Saturday to take this? A Yes sir.
Q Then when Judge Benge stated on Tuesday that it was taken "yesterday" meaning Monday, the 17th, he was mistaken, was he?
A It was taken Saturday, the 15th.
Q Was he mistaken or not? A It was not taken then.
Q Then his statement made on Tuesday the 18th that it was taken on "yesterday", meaning Monday, the 17th, was not correct, was it?
A I think not, because I was there, and it was taken on the 15th.
Q And it was taken on the 15th, you are positive it was taken on the 15th? A Yes sir.
Q Then of course his statement could not be correct? A I guess not.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q He was just mistaken about the date, wasn't he? A Yes sir.
BY MR. McKENNON:
Q Did you tell Charles T. Moore who is now present, on last Tuesday that they sent you out there on Monday to take that? A No sir.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q I sent you there last Saturday? A Yes sir.
Q And you went there at my direction, didn't you? A Yes sir, and come back Saturday night.

ROBERT L. DAWSON, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A My name is Robert L. Dawson.
Q What is your age? A My age is something close to 30 years old, I am 29 past.

Q Are you a son of E. Dawson, commonly known as Dick Dawson?

A Yes sir.

Q I will ask you if you will examine this letter sent with the enclosure and state whether or not you found that among the papers of your father after his death? A (Hands letter to witness who examines it) A Yes sir, I found this amongst the papers of my father. He always kept all his own papers, and he looking over them I saw this letter.

Q Has that been in your custody ever since you found it? A Yes sir, if that's the letter that was in the envelope.

Q Well that's what it is, you can tell whether it is or not.

(Witness further examines letter) Q That purports to be a letter from Samuel H. Bengé, does it not, to your father? A Yes sir. (Here applicants' attorney hands letter and envelope referred to to attorneys for Cherokee Nation.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: I want to offer this letter in evidence in this case; it is a letter signed by S. H. Bengé, attorney at law, dated Fort Gibson, C. N., Jan. 13, 1883. Addressed to Mr. E. Dawson, Esq., together with the envelope, in which it was enclosed, with the card of C. H. Taylor upon it, attorney at law, Tahlequah, Indian Territory, and postmarked Tahlequah, Ind. T., January 17.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: The Nation objects to the introduction of this letter for the reason that S. H. Bengé is living and has testified in this case, and his handwriting should be either proven or denied by his self.

G. W. BENGÉ, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q What is your name? A G. W. Bengé.

Q Are you a son of Samuel H. Bengé? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know his handwriting? A I believe so.

Q Is that his handwriting? (Shows witness letter before referred to.) A Yes sir, it is either his or a resemblance of his.

Q To the best of your knowledge and belief is that his letter?

A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Now we offer it in evidence.

BY COMMISSION: (Reading letter)

Fort Gibson, C. N.,
Jan 13th, 1883.

Mr. E. Dawson, Esq.,

Dear Sir:- I write this note to inform you that your case came off before the Court on Citizenship on the 11th inst, and was decided in your favor, as you all are citizens of this Nation. F. M. Dawson was furnished with a copy of the decision at the court. He will write to you also. You will please send me fifty dollars as my fee in your case according to contract. Send it to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation.

Respectfully yours,

S. H. Bengé,

Attorney at Law."

Enclosed in envelope, as follows:

Card in upper corner, left hand:

"Return in ten days to C. H. Taylor,

Attorney at Law,

Tahlequah, Ind. Ter."

Addressed: "Mr. E. Dawson,

Henryetta,
Clay Co., Texas.

Post-marked: "Tahlequah, Jan 13 Ind T."

ROBERT L. DAWSON, -re-called and further examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Now examine that and see if that is also a paper which you found among your father's papers after his death? (Hands papers to witness) A That is the same letter that I found.

Q Along the same that you found the Benge letter? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: This is a letter purporting to have been written by J. M. Bryan, to E. Dawson, dated at Cheuteau Station, Cherokee Nation, and not dated, which we offer in evidence. (Applicants' attorney hands said paper to Nation's attorney.)

Q Mr. Bryan is dead is he not? A I think so.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: We have no objection.

BY COMMISSION: (reads letter)

"Cheuteau Station, Cherokee Nation.
I. T., M. K. & T. R. R.

MR. Dawson:

Dear Sir:-

I am in receipt of your favor of the 30th inst in regard to our contract.

After I had got the claim so there would be little more to do I employed Campbell Taylor to answer for me when the case came up, for which I was to pay him $20 out of my fee.

This all the action I had in the matter with Taylor.

I saw Taylor in Washington last month, and he told me that your brother had made another contract with him, and paid him, so that you was to pay him $100- and that you had offered him a check in some bank in Texas.

That $100- matter with Taylor, I have nothing to do with, nor couldn't have if I wanted to.

I hope Mr. Dawson this letter will explain the matter fully.

And I am satisfied that you are apprised of the correct work I done for you. Please write to me.

Very respectfully,

Very truly,

J. M. Bryan.

Q I will ask you if you know of your father having paid Bryan any money? A Yes sir, paid him a horse and some other money.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How old was your father when he died? A He, I don't know whether I know his age or not.

Q If you don't know you can't say? A I wouldn't have no reason to know his age; never asked his age; of course I guess by looking at him.

Q Never had occasion to talk about his age at all? A Oh I have heard his age mentioned at different times, but then I never said much about it.

The witness being first duly sworn and being examined as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q That is your name? A Old Green.

- Q How old are you? A Mr. Graham? A I am 35 years old.
- Q How long have you been living in the Territory? A I came out here in 1887 or '88.
- Q To the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you been living in the Cherokee Nation, what year was that '87 or '88? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you resided here continuously from that time ever since in the Territory? A Yes sir.
- Q How long did you live in the Cherokee Nation? A About 6 years.
- Q Where did you go then? A Wagoner.
- Q In the Creek Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q And been residing there ever since? A Yes sir.
- Q In business? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you all the while been recognized as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q Mr. Graham, do you know Judge Samuel H. Benge? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you have a conversation with him in Fort Gibson about September of 1900? A Well as to the exact time I couldn't say, it was sometime about the time that the Dawes Commission were at Sallisaw, or possibly a little later, somewhere about there.
- Q Taking the census of the Cherokees? A Yes sir.
- Q At that time had the question of the validity of the judgment of the Cherokee citizenship commission admitting Robert Dawson and family been called in question? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you talk to him about the facts concerning the obtaining of that judgment? A I did.
- Q What did he tell you about it; well I will just ask you, did he then and there tell you that that judgment was regular and all right nothing wrong with it? A He did.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, Mr. Graham, were you? A How was that?
- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, expecting this case to be questioned? A Since the validity of that judgment had been attacked by the authorities of the Cherokee Nation, I thought it was well to look into the matter.
- Q And he told you the judgment was all right? A Having known that Mr. Benge was connected with the case, I saw him in Fort Gibson, subsequent to that time and asked him about it, if there was anything wrong about the matter, and also that I might want his affidavit concerning the matter, and I also I think maybe wrote to him; possibly prior to that, I am not sure as to the writing, but I think possibly I did.
- Q Did he tell you he would make an affidavit? A I don't think at that time that I asked him for an affidavit. I thought as he lived right near here I would use him in person; he assured me that everything was all right.
- Q Your mother was Missouri Dawson was not she? A Yes sir.
- Q Her name was Missouri Graham when she was re-admitted to citizenship? A Yes sir.
- Q And was not Missouri Dawson as named in that judgment? A Yes sir.
- Q Do you know whether the other children named in there had married and changed their names also at the time they were admitted? A There were not any of them married.
- Q Ella Dawson was your aunt? A Yes sir.
- Q Was she married at that time? In 1883? A Yes sir.
- Q Malvina Dawson, was she married at that time? A Yes sir.
- Q And the fourth one you have mentioned, Missouri Dawson, was your mother? A Yes sir.

- Q Can you give us the exact date of your birth? A Yes sir.
Q Do so, please? A January 21, 1887.
Q And you came to the Territory when? A In 1887 or 1888.
Q You can't rate that any more definite? A Well sir, it has been a good while ago, and I didn't have anything to cause me to.
Q Well I just want to know whether you did have or not? A No sir.
Q When were you married? A 1886.
Q You were married prior to coming here? A Yes sir.
Q Your first child born away from here? A Yes sir.
Q What is its name? A John W.
Q '86 you were married, and he was born about the spring of '87?
A Somewhere in 1887, I don't remember.
Q Prior to your coming here? A Yes sir.
Q That is the only child you had that was born away from here?
A No sir, Julius.
Q Julius was not born in the Territory? A No sir.
Q And prior to the time of your removing to the Territory? A Yes sir.
Q These are the only children born out? A Yes sir.

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.
Q I will ask you if about February 1901, he came to Wagoner, and sent his son to have you come to the hotel at night where he was, and if he then and there said to you "You people are on the doubtful list, and if you will give me five hundred dollars I will make it all right and see that you are enrolled, and if you don't I will see that you don't get on".? A Well now as to the first part of that question, where you say he sent his son; that is an error; I don't know whether he came to my house or sent some one; when I returned home that evening my wife told me there was some one there to see me, and was at the city hotel at Wagoner, and said come down and see him; I went down there; I never had met Taylor; he introduced himself to me and stated what his business was; asked me if I was on the doubtful list, etc., to which I replied that we were; he asked me if I didn't want to employ him, stating that if we would give him, our family would give him five hundred dollars he would see that we were placed on the rolls all right, but if we refused to give him five hundred dollars that he would use his influence against us and see that we were rejected.
Q You never had met him before, or had any communication with him?
A I never met him before; as to the communication, I may have written him something about his affidavit as to the validity of that judgment, I can't say as to that. He said in his testimony that I did; I don't know whether I did or not now.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q You knew he was the attorney in the case, originally? A After looking at the records I did.
Q I mean you knew it at the time you wrote to him about the affidavit; that was the reason why you thought he would know something? A Certainly.
Q He never told you he was going to swear against you or threatened to tell anything that was not true? A He just simply said unless we gave him that five hundred dollars he would see us were all cut off the rolls.
Q Said he would use his influence against you, that is what he said? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't deny writing to him then for the affidavit? A I don't say I did or I did not; I neither affirm it or deny the question.

Q You went to Captain Benge and also wrote him with reference to what he knew about the case? A I don't know whether I wrote him or not, I said I was under the impression I wrote his son.

Q You went to see Aaron Butler, who was interpreter before that court that admitted you? A Yes sir.

Q And you went with Aaron Butler to see Jim Smith, Attorney before that court? A Yes sir.

Q And you either wrote or went to see everybody you knew of that was before that court then? A Yes sir.

Q That shows you used considerable activity? A Yes sir, I used such activity as was to my interest.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q That was all after the representatives of the Cherokee Nation objected to the enrollment of the Dawson family and by reason thereof such as had appeared before the Commission had been placed upon a doubtful card? A Yes sir.

Q Then you began to look up the evidence and see what there was in it? A Yes sir.

Q As Mr. Hastings has stated? A That's right.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q You are a grandson of James Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The old gentleman? A Yes sir.

Q About what was his age when he was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, in 1834, wasn't it? A Yes sir, well I can't be exact as to that.

Q Well as nearly as you can? A He was somewhere about 70 or 72, years of age.

Q Well what other James Dawson did you know belonging to the families, either one of these families, Robert Dawson family or the James Dawson family? A I never knew of but two James Dawsons.

Q Who were the others? A Dr. James R. Dawson, who is present and standing right here; my grandfather, James Dawson.

Q Was there in '84 any James R. Dawson 35 or 40 or 45 years old, that you know of, belonging to either one of these families?

A No sir.

Q Do you know how old Dr. James R. Dawson was that that time?

A James Dawson? Q No I am speaking of Dr. James R. Dawson? A Oh, how old he was, no sir, I do not.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Do you know who was here attending to your mother's citizenship case at that time, at the time they were admitted? A Yes sir, James Low and Bill Jackson, son of Ellen Jackson.

Q Who was W. A. DeWalt? A That is Wilburn, my uncle.

Q Was he here? A I don't know sir.

Q You were not here any of the time? A No sir.

Q You knew your grandfather then, you had lived in the same neighborhood with him? A Yes sir, I knew him well.

Q He didn't die for a year or two after that did he? A After when, Mr. Hutchings?

Q After his application to citizenship? A No sir, he didn't die I think until about '84, several years after.

Q Was he the same as that? A Yes sir.

Q About what age? A He was approximately 50 years old.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Was he about? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q That about 1884? A I think so, yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to the testimony of the witness elicited by interrogatories of Counsel for the Cherokee Nation relating to his family, their history, etc, as being immaterial, irrelevant and incompetent.

James R. Dawson, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Your name is James R. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Where do you live? A Afton, Indian Territory.

Q What is your age? A 45.

Q You are a physician are you not? A Yes sir.

Q Was James Dawson, whose family was admitted in 1884, an uncle of yours? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know what his age was at that time? A No sir, I do not, only approximately.

Q State as nearly as you can? A At the time of the admission?

Q Yes sir? A About 70, I don't know exactly.

Q How old was he when he died? A I would suppose he was about 78.

Q What was your age in 1884? A I am 45.

Q What year were you born, Doctor? A I was born in '45.

Q That would have been '45? A Yes sir, that's right.

Q That was your age then? A In '84?

Q Yes sir? A About 38.

Q Were you present at the time that James Dawson family was admitted, or at any time while their case was pending before the Cherokee citizenship commission? A Not while the James Dawson case was on.

Q You were present during your father's case? A I was there at the time.

Q When was that? A The date I cannot say when the case first came up, I don't know the exact date.

Q How long were you there? A I was there about a week.

Q Was that when it first came up you say? A Yes sir.

Q Nothing was done? A No sir.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q You never saw Dr. Baker? A Yes sir.

Q Did he and your uncle Jim go to talk about how they played together when they were boys? A My uncle Jim and Dr. Baker talk?

Q Yes? A I never saw them together.

Q They were about the same age? A Yes sir, I believe Dr. Baker was 15 years older probably.

Q Dr. Baker would have had interest about his own age? A Growing, that's all I know about his age.

Q The Doctor had been employed, rather a general looking man at his time in the army, at this citizenship business? A No sir, not at all, I don't know about it.

Q He was a general looking man? A I couldn't tell you, he was an old looking man.

Q Your uncle Jim was about 70? A Yes sir.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF THE CHEROKEE NATION.

V. W. HASTINGS, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q State your name? A W. W. Hastings.

Q Residence? A Tallapoosa, page 35.

Q You are attorney for the Cherokee Nation in the general preparation of these cases? A Yes sir.

Q Just state how it happened that you mentioned Mr. Campbell Taylor, and what occurred between you with reference to his testimony?

A Well there had been some talk, as the testimony here indicates, that there was perhaps fraud in the admission of this family, and by agreement with counsel on the other side, and the Commission, this case was set for the 17th day of March, and some short time prior to that, as the attorney for the Nation I began to make some preparation or inquiry into the case, and I wrote a great many letters around to different people and among them I wrote C. H. Taylor to come down here. I don't think in that letter that I told him what I wanted with him. I don't think I told him the case that I wanted him to testify in; that is my recollection now. Mr. Taylor prior to that time, neither directly nor indirectly, so far as I know, ever gave me any information voluntarily against this family, or ever said anything that would lead me to believe that he knew anything of a fraudulent character connected with it. But I surmised him; perhaps the fact that I knew he had been connected with them in some way and that I perhaps also would get some information from him. Well he came in response to a letter that I wrote, and I took him up to my office. I talked to him quite a long while. He was exceedingly reluctant about giving any testimony whatever, he told me first and last that he didn't intend to testify before the Commission. He told me he had been attorney for these people, and he didn't believe he could be compelled to testify, and that is he was but upon the stand he would claim that privilege, and he didn't believe I could force him to testify. I talked to him at some considerable length; I asked him what he knew about it; of course he for a long time declined to tell me; and what information I did get from him was by piecemeal. He was exceedingly reluctant all through the interview to give any information. I asked him finally though that if the Court compelled him to testify when he got before the Commission, if he would tell the facts about it, and he said that he would. I told him then that I would subpoena him.

Well we talked quite a good while and finally after always telling me that he intended to claim that privilege, and never wanting to testify, he detailed to me the facts just as he told them on the stand; I don't believe there is the slightest variation, except that he perhaps was not so full at that time and it was told by piecemeal, but I got all these facts out of him, as very nearly all these facts out of him. He may have elaborated a little more here by examination; but he never voluntarily gave me any information at all, either directly or so far as I know indirectly. I don't think he sent any one to me. I got his name because I heard he was connected with the case, and perhaps knew something about it, like I did a good many other people, some of whom I don't know, because they didn't know what I desired they did know about the case.

With reference to S. H. Benge, I want to state that he never voluntarily gave me any information at all about this case, nor did I know that he knew anything in connection with this case until I sent J. C. Starr over to S. H. Benge's place to take his affidavit on Saturday, March 15, in the W. H. and J. V. Shoemaker case, and their descendants. I had heard that Mr. Benge knew some important facts in connection with the Shoemaker case and I sent him over there then to take that affidavit, and when Mr. Starr came back he told me that he knew some facts also in connection with these other cases, and I was surprised to find he had instead of one affidavit, in the Shoemaker case, that he also had another affidavit in the Dawson case. That is the first information I had that Mr. Benge knew anything whatever in connection with the Dawson case, and therefore he never voluntarily, either directly or indirectly gave me any information prior to that time to me.

I impressed upon Mr. Taylor that the Nation only wanted the absolute truth in this matter; that it was not seeking anything else but the truth, and didn't want him to tell anything else but the truth.

I want to say again that after he was on the stand and left that evening, and after Captain McKennon, or counsel for the family, had indicated his willingness for Mr. Taylor to testify, that he went over all of these facts that he testified to on the stand subsequent to that time in the presence of J. C. Starr in my office. I simply wanted to go on the stand for the purpose of showing that Mr. Taylor hadn't voluntarily given me any information, and

I make this statement for that purpose.

BY MR. McKENNON:

Q You had no power to compel him to give you any information at that time at all did you? A No sir, none other than the persuasion that I brought to use.

Q He therefore did it simply upon your persuasion? A Yes sir.

Q You knew he had been acting as attorney for these parties?

A Yes sir, I had seen from the record that he did too.

Q And he told you so? A Yes sir.

BY COMMISSION: The attorneys for the applicant and the representatives of the Cherokee Nation will be granted thirty days from the receipt of the transcript in this case in which to file a brief in this case with the Commission.

I, M. D. Green, do hereby certify that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes I correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

(signed) M. D. Green.

Proceedings were had in the matter of F. M. Dawson, et al., before Lewis T. Martin, a Notary Public on October 4, 1900, and further proceedings were had therein before the Commission at Muskogee, Indian Territory on March 17, 1902. All of these proceedings have been made a part of the record herein.

The evidence, and an examination of the records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission show that on January 11, 1883, one Robert Dawson and his adult children, F. H. Dawson, Elbert Dawson, Jasper Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilborn Dawson, James Dawson, Rial Dawson, Josephine Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson and John Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, commonly known as the "Teehee Court", and that on September 9, 1884, one James Dawson, a brother of the Robert Dawson aforesaid, together with his adult children, Ella Dawson, W. A. Dawson, Malvina Dawson and Missouri Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship commonly known as the "Stonewall Court." In addition to their tribal enrollment as shown by the evidence herein, it also appears from an examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, that F. H. Dawson is identified on the Cherokee pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Elbert Dawson on the Cherokee pay roll of 1886, Mollie Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Wilborn Dawson on the pay rolls of 1888 and 1884, James Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Rial Dawson on the pay rolls of 1888 and 1884, Josephine Dawson on the pay roll of 1886, Jane Dawson on the pay roll of 1885, Joseph Dawson and John Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1884 and 1884, Ella Dawson on the Dawson on the pay roll of 1886, and Missouri Dawson on the pay roll of 1894.

A majority of the above named persons, together with the descendants of the persons admitted as aforesaid and such white persons as may have intermarried with the said Dawsons or their descendants are the applicants herein.

For convenience, the applications are divided into groups:

Group 1, includes the applications of Francis M. Dawson and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 524, D 530, D 531, D 534, D 538 and D 835.

The evidence shows that Francis M. Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship as hereinbefore stated under the name of F.M. Dawson. Katie Dawson, his wife, was married to him on November 21, 1880. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and the six children included in the application of said Francis M. Dawson, and hereinbefore named are the issue of the marriage aforesaid. All the applicants herein are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

John Dawson, William R. Dawson, Lizzie Atkins, formerly Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Arizona Alfred are the children of said Francis M. Dawson by a former wife, Julia Ann. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship. John Dawson, Lizzie Atkins and Francis M. Dawson, Jr., are identified on the strip pay-roll roll of 1894, and William R. Dawson and Arizona Alfred are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James C. Atkins was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 23, 1881, to the above named Lizzie Dawson. He has resided in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife since they were married, and the four children included in his application, and heretofore raised and the issue of that marriage. The oldest child, Arthur, is identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1894, and the three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Arizona Allred, nee Dawson, came from Arkansas to the Cherokee Nation for the first time in 1894, remained there about two years and then returned to Arkansas, where she was married to Len Allred. Such marriage was not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Arizona Allred and her husband came to the Cherokee Nation in 1896, stayed there a month and returned to Arkansas where they remained until September, 1898, at which time they came to the Cherokee Nation, remained there about a year and returned to Arkansas in 1899, where they were living at the date of this application. William C. Allred is the child of said Arizona Allred and possesses no rights not acquired by his mother. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Paragraph 9, Section 21, of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1888 (50 Stats., 495) provides:

"No person shall be enrolled who has not heretofore removed to and in good faith settled in the Nation in which he claims citizenship."

The evidence further shows that Francis M. Dawson, his wife, Katie and William R. Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Lizzie Atkins have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and Andrew C. Atkins, the husband of said Lizzie Atkins, since 1891, and that John Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation for at least fourteen years prior to the date of his application. The residence of the minor children of the above named persons is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group II, includes the applications of Samuel R. Dawson, together with those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 350, D 352, D 353, D 355, D 422 and D 402.

The evidence shows that Samuel R. Dawson is identified as the Rial Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. His wife, Catherine, a white woman, was married to him on July 11, 1868. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the case of Cherokee Nation vs. Nanoy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since their marriage, and August and Mate Dawson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. Samuel R. Dawson, his wife and children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, Josephine Rilawaky, formerly Josephine Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman, formerly Katie Dawson are the children of said Samuel R. Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Sarah F. Dawson, nee Abbott, was married to the said Albert H. Dawson in October, 1894. She has lived with her said husband, since they were married. Ralph H., Alford and Cecil Dawson are the issue of that marriage. Sarah F. Dawson and her child Ralph H. are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. Alford is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this commission. The evidence further shows that the youngest child, Cecil Dawson, is dead.

August Rilawaky, was married under a Cherokee marriage license and is accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 22, 1892, to the said Josephine Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the children included on his application, and marriage license record, are the issue of that marriage. The Four other children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1890, and the state census roll of 1894. May Salawsky is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1890, and Oscar Salawsky is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Hannie Dawson, nee Baugher, was married to the said John V. Dawson on September 8, 1894, and she has lived with her said husband since they were married.

The evidence further shows that Samuel R. Dawson, his wife, Catherine, and Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, John V. Dawson, and Katie Newman have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1838, August Salawsky and his wife Josephine, since 1892, and Sarah F. and Hannie Dawson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group III, includes the application of John Dawson, and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 578, D 360 and D 530. The evidence shows that John Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. Sarah J. Dawson, nee Wood, his wife, a white woman, was married to him on October 4, 1871. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the case of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Burton held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the nine children included in the application of said John Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. John Dawson, his wife, and his seven older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1890. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

William B. Brown and John H. Brown are the children of said John Dawson. They were citizens at the date of their admission to the Cherokee Nation, and they are both identified on the Cherokee

Census roll of 1890.

Thomas F. Dawson was married on April 24, 1882, to Allen A. Allison, and Marie J. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Orle H. Dawson was married on December 23, 1889, to Willie York, and Rurr H. and James W. Dawson are the issue of that marriage. The said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John Dawson and his wife, Sarah J., have resided together in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that said Orle H. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and that Thomas F. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IV, includes the applications of those claiming through the said Josephine Dawson, now deceased. At the time of her admission she was the wife of one Thomas Pierce, but was admitted to citizenship under maiden name of Dawson. The group embraces cases numbered D 408, D 409, D 431, D 471, D 478 and D 479.

The evidence shows that Robert Pierce, William Pierce, Charles F. Pierce, Oma Gray, formerly Oma Pierce, Effie Pierce (nee Effie Axin) and Nancy J. Bogle, formerly Nancy J. Pierce are the children of said Josephine Dawson. They were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1890.

Nellie Pierce, a white woman, was married to said Robert Pierce on July 15, 1884. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and Lyrtle and Arthur Pierce are the issue of that marriage. Nellie Pierce is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1890, and her two children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Oma Gray was married to John B. Gray on April 7, 1898, and Ossie and Volton Gray are the issue of that marriage. Oma Gray is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894 and her children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John S. Bogle was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 5, 1894, to the above named Nancy J. Pierce. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. John S. Bogle and his two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his four younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said William Pierce died in January, 1892.

It further appears that Robert Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Nancy J. Bogle and Oma Gray have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that John S. Bogle, husband of Nancy J. Bogle, and Nellie Pierce, wife of Robert Pierce, have resided in said Nation ever since they were married, and the residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents with whom they are living. It appears that Effie Akin was seventeen years old at the date of the application for her enrollment, and it further appears that she resided in the Cherokee Nation from about 1886 up to December, 1900, when she went to Colorado, was married there to Will Akin, and is now living in that state with her said husband.

Group V, includes the application of the said Joseph Dawson, Wilborn Dawson and James Dawson, and embraces cases number D 364, D 475 and D 526.

Joseph R. Dawson is identified as the Joseph Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He was married to Florence Jackson on May 16, 1888, and they have lived together since the date of their marriage. The said Florence Jackson is the daughter of Elic Dawson, but she was of age at the date of her mother's admission to citizenship. The six children included in the application of said Joseph R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the marriage between the said Joseph R. Dawson and Florence Jackson. The applicant, his said wife and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Wilborn Dawson is identified as the person of that name admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James R. Dawson is identified as the James Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as heretofore stated. His wife, Martha A. Dawson was married to him on February 20, 1890. She has lived with her said husband since the date of their marriage, and the four children included in the application of said James R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. The applicant, his said wife and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that Joseph R. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Florence Dawson and Wilborn Dawson have resided in said Nation since 1886, and that James R. Dawson has resided in said Nation since 1883, excepting a temporary absence from 1887 to 1891. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VI, includes the application of Nellie Dawson as those claiming through her and Johnson case numbered 3 318.

The evidence shows that Nellie Harts, formerly Dawson, is identified as the Nellie Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Native as hereinbefore stated. Her husband, Charles T. Moore, was married to her under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on January 17, 1887. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie, and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896; the two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that said Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie and his oldest child have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; the younger children have resided in said nation all their lives.

Group VII, includes the applications of those claiming through the above named Jane Dawson, who, at the time of her admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as hereinbefore stated, was the wife of one Alexander Blasingame, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. Jane Dawson is a resident of Arkansas, and is not an applicant for enrollment. This group embraces cases numbered D 831, D 833 and D 834.

The evidence shows that Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame, and James R. Blasingame are the children of said Jane Dawson. They were minors at the time of their mother's admission to citizenship and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Henry A. Blasingame was married to his wife Birdie J., on December 6, 1898, and Vinnie C. Blasingame is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Jan Blasingame, a white woman, was married to the said Elbert L. Blasingame on September 5, 1894. She has lived with the said Elbert L. Blasingame since they were married and the five younger children included in the application of said Elbert L. Blasingame are the issue of that marriage. The said Ida Blasingame and her two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Mary A. Blasingame was married to the said James R. Blasingame on August 11, 1895. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the three minor children included in the application of said James R. Blasingame, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Mary A. Blasingame and her oldest child are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame and James R. Blasingame removed to the Cherokee Nation in 1897 and have resided therein with their said wives ever since. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VIII, includes the applications of those claimants through the said Elbert Dawson, and embraces cases numbered D 435, D 604, D 608, D 605, D 609, D 617, D 626 and D 627.

The evidence shows that Zona Patterson, formerly Dawson, William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Richard W. Dawson, Ella L. Spiekerman, formerly Dawson, and Francis M. Dawson are the children of the said Elbert Dawson. All of them, excepting the said Francis M. Dawson, were minors at the time of their father's admission to citizenship. Zona Patterson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson are identified on the Strip Payment roll of 1894. An examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, shows that the said Ella L. Spiekerman is also identified on the Strip Payment roll of 1894.

Martin L. Patterson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 13, 1890, to the said Zena Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Martin L. Patterson and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1898, and his three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Alice Dawson, nee Alexander, was married to the said William C. Dawson on November 18, 1886. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married.

Elbert B. Dawson was married on February 16, 1898, to Cora Bright, a non-citizen, and his child Ralph E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Sarah J. Dawson, nee Jones, was married to the above named Elbert Dawson about 1854, and lived with him as his wife until his death in February, 1899, and has not re-married since his death. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship.

Richard W. Dawson was married to Luella Mason, a white woman, on January 24, 1898. His child Ina E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage, and she is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ella L. Spickerman was married to John J. Spickerman, a white man on September 7, 1897. Her children Helen J. and William Allen are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

It further appears from the evidence that George S. Spickerman, of Spickerman, at the time of his father's admission to citizenship,

1889 in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis W. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321), Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 498), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 23, D 35, D 836, D 1124, D 1125, D 1126, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1886, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the state of Texas in 1886, and has lived with her since that time. Tompa V. and Robert B. Graham are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. John W. Graham, his wife and two children are identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1886.

ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis M. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert P. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered, D 23, D 35, D 836, D 1124, D 1125, D 1126, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1886, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the State of Texas in 1880, and had lived with her since that time. George V. and Robert L. Dawson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. John W. Graham, her husband, was admitted as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation in 1886.

Joe E. Graham was married to Mary Bradshaw, a non-citizen on January 9, 1898. William G. Graham is the issue of that marriage, and he is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

John F. Graham was married on February 11, 1900, to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, and Edna M. and Robert Lee are the issue of that marriage. Said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Bessie Graham was married on November 9, 1892, to the said James M. Graham. She has lived with him since the date of their marriage, and the six children included in the application of said James M. Graham, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. The oldest child Marion is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894, and the five younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John W. Graham, his wife Missouri Graham, Gideon Graham, Mathew A. Painter, and his wife Laverne A. Painter, Florence P. Bradshaw, John F. Graham and Joe Willie Neal have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888, and that Joe E. Graham and James M. Graham have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group I, includes the application of the said Ella Dawson and those claiming through her. The said Ella Dawson, at the time of her admission to citizenship, was the wife of Green W. Jackson, but she was admitted to citizenship under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 328, D 474, D 506, D 529 and D 537.

The evidence shows that Green W. Jackson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 21, 1887 to the said Ella Dawson. The said marriage license is on file in the Cherokee Nation and the said Ella Dawson was admitted to citizenship on March 21, 1887.

citizenship. From an affidavit made a part of this record it appears that Green W. Jackson died subsequent to the date of this application, and prior to September 1, 1902.

The evidence further shows that Flora Harmon, formerly Jackson, Teahie A. Jackson, William Jackson and Fannie Lenox, formerly Jackson are the children of said Ella Danson, now Ella Jackson. Flora Harmon, Teahie A. Jackson and Fannie Lenox were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James H. Harmon was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 24, 1887, to the said Flora Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the four minor children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. James H. Harmon and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

William C. Lenox was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 1, 1888, to the said Fannie Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the two children Birtie E. and Myrtle Lenox, included in his application, are the issue of the said marriage. William C. Lenox and his two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Lizzie Jackson claims to have been married in 1888 to the said William Jackson, Jr. in New Scotland. It appears that William Jackson at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship, was over twenty-one years old. There is a witness that the said William Jackson was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, by the Cherokee National authorities at said Nation, as by the Commission.

to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stat., 321). Lizzie Jackson and the five minor children included in her application, and hereinbefore named, are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and they take only such rights as may have been possessed by the said William Jackson. The authority of the Commission herein is defined in Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495), heretofore quoted.

The evidence further shows that the said Ella Jackson, the said Flora Harmon and the said Toshie A. Jackson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that William C. Lenox, and his wife Fannie Lenox have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group XI, includes the applications of those claiming through Malvina Dawson and embraces case numbered D 839.

The evidence shows that James Lowe is the son of the said Malvina Dawson, and that at the time of her admission to citizenship the said James Lowe was over 21 years old. There is no evidence that the said James Lowe was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stat., 321). It further appears that the said James Lowe was married on June 12, 1887, to Nellie Knight, a white woman, and the four minor children included in his application and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. James Lowe and his said children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896 and said children take only the rights which may have been acquired by their father.

The authority of the Commission herein is derived in Section 21 of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495), heretofore quoted.

Group XII, includes the applications of those claiming through the said W. A. Dawson and embraces cases numbered D 405, D 406, D 715, R 12 and R 13.

The evidence shows that Millie T. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in 1892 and lived with him as his wife in the Cherokee Nation until his death in 1899, and that she has not re-married since his death. Texanna Woolley is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson and his former wife Melissa A. Dawson. Texanna Woolley was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894. She was married on March 27, 1898, to James Woolley, and her children Irene W. and Wilburn K. are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Henry T. Richardson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 11, 1886, to one Sellar Dawson, who was the daughter of the said W. A. Dawson by his first wife Melissa A. Sellar Dawson was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship. Henry T. Richardson lived in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife Sellar from the date of their marriage until her death in 1892. On September 22, 1896, Henry T. Richardson married one Kitty Flournoy nee Dawson. The said Kitty Flournoy was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Of the children herein applied for, Malie F. Richardson is the child of the applicant by his first wife, Sellar. John W. Richardson and Jasper C. Richardson are children by his first wife, Sellar, Malie, Alice, Laura, Carter, Claude and Mary Flournoy are children of the said wife Kitty in a second marriage.

The six older children were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation on December 1, 1894, with their mother as the members of her family. The youngest child Edna Flournoy was born in 1898 and was living at the date of this application. Della F. Richardson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and Finis T. and Jasper C. Richardson are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Etta Brauer is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson, and was a minor at the date of her father's admission. She was married in 1892 to a non-citizen but such marriage was not in accordance with Cherokee laws. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Melissa A. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in the State of Texas on September 26, 1873. The Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation in the case of Melissa A. Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson, decided that Melissa A. Dawson, the applicant herein was a citizen of the Cherokee Nation by virtue of intermarriage with her said husband, W. A. Dawson. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and she has not re-married since her divorce from said W. A. Dawson.

The evidence shows that Texanna Vealley has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that Etta Brauer and Melissa A. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation, with the exception of temporary absences, since 1884; that Millie T. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1892; that Henry T. Richardson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1886, and that Kitty Richardson, his wife, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Douthitt, who was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the said "Spears Court" on September 15, 1884. Curtis, Morris O. and Roy Weddle are the issue of the said marriage. Hiram F. Weddle and his said wife are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and their three children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

William B. Douthitt is the brother of said Lula P. Weddle, and was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation with his said sister on September 15, 1884. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Alonzo M. Fishback was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 17, 1893, to Laverna A. Dargson. He had been previously married to the same wife in Texas in 1877, and has lived with her ever since. It appears that Laverna Fishback was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. William A. and Annie B. Fishback are the issue of the said marriage. Alonzo M. Fishback and his said wife and children are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his wife is also identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1899.

Florence Morgan, the wife of Elbert L. Morgan, is the daughter of the Pitty Richardson heretofore mentioned and was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation on December 1, 1894 with the said Pitty Richardson as a member of her family. Child and other information as to her husband. The said Pitty Richardson identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John R. Fishback is the son of Laverna Fishback, who was re-admitted to citizenship on December 1, 1894, as heretofore stated. He was a minor at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship and he is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

George A. Mabry was married to one Edna Dawson in the State of Arkansas in 1884. He claims to have been married under a Cherokee marriage license to his said wife in 1889, but he presents no satisfactory proof of such marriage. Edna Dawson was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Roby and Charley Mabry are her children by her said husband, George A. Mabry. Edna Mabry is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894, and the two children were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship.

The evidence further shows that Alonzo H. Fishback and his wife Laverna A. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Lula P. Weddle, William D. Douthitt, and John R. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that Florence Morgan and Edna Mabry have resided in said Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

All birth affidavits for the minor children embraced in this decision, and hereinbefore noted, are made a part of this record.

It is contended by the Cherokee Nation that the applicants herein are not entitled to be enrolled by this Commission because they have never been lawfully admitted or enrolled by the Cherokee authorities, and that the judgment of the Cherokee Commission as to the citizenship of Robert Durrell and his family was obtained by fraud on the part of said Durrell.

In considering the question at issue, it is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. Page 61, it is stated, "the doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment assailed." Only such facts therefore, are considered by this Commission, as were not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teehee Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teehee Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment.

Briefly stated, the circumstances attending the admission of the Dawsons appear to be as follows:

On September 24, 1881, an application was made to the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship known as the "Teehee Court" for admission to Cherokee citizenship of Robert Dawson and the members of his family above mentioned. The members of that Commission were Thomas Teehee, Alex Wolfe and T. F. Thompson. The first two were full blood Cherokee Indians; they could understand, but could not talk English. One D. W. C. Duncan was the Clerk of the Commission. The Dawson case was continued several times before final decision. J. M. Bryan appears to have been an attorney in the case, and after some delay he notified Francis M. Dawson that the case would be taken up by the Commission at its session in January, 1883, and also informed him that G. H. Taylor would look after Dawson's interests as Mr. Bryan.

would be in Washington. On receipt of this notice Francis M. Dawson went to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation, and made arrangements with his uncle Samuel K. Benge to go to Tahlequah and conduct the case. Benge who is a witness herein testifies that he was connected with the Dawson case when it was commenced in 1881; that it was continued several times for want of evidence, and that in January, 1885, in company with F. M. Dawson he went to Tahlequah and while there secured the testimony of Toah Rogers, a negro, who knew the Dawson's ancestors, and that after getting his evidence the case was submitted to the Commission. He further testifies that the Commission rendered a decision against the Dawsons and that next morning the Commission reopened the case, but not upon motion of the witness, and rendered a judgment admitting the Dawsons to citizenship. He further states that on his way home to Fort Gibson with Dawson he remarked to the latter, "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered a decision against us," to which Dawson is alleged to have replied, "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach and he reached him with five hundred dollars."

Dawson denies ever having had such a conversation and says that he did not return to Fort Gibson with Benge but went home to Arkansas by a different route.

C. H. Taylor testifies that he was an attorney in the case and was present when the case was decided. He says there were only two Commissioners present, Teehee and Wolfe. He further testifies that D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of the Court asked the witness to let him know when any large citizenship cases came up; that he introduced F. M. Dawson to Duncan on the evening of January 10th, heard part of a conversation between them in which Duncan addressing Dawson said, "there is a hitch in your evidence, if that was straightened out it would be all right." Next morning witness says Dawson told him to contact the State, which he did. This being the case witness evidence introduced and no argument made, and that the case was then decided in favor of the Dawsons. Witness further testifies that Dawson gave him twenty dollars and said he would send him the balance in a short time, that in the course of ten days he sent him one hundred dollars with directions to pay over half of it to Duncan; that Dawson soon afterwards sent him another hundred dollars with the same instruction to give Duncan half of it.

Dawson denied the matters testified to by Taylor excepting in the matter of paying Taylor money, which he admits in part, but says that the twenty dollars mentioned was sent to Taylor about a year after the decision, and that he instructed Taylor to pay it over to Duncan to pay him for a land claim, and that the other money was in payment of J. M. Bryan's attorney fees which Taylor represented to Dawson he had for collection against him. Taylor's reputation for truth and veracity has been impeached by various disinterested witnesses.

The evidence which may be considered as tending to support the charge of fraud is the testimony of S. H. Deuge, C. H. Taylor, Thomas L. Debeart, J. L. Clinkenbeard, James W. Lewis, C. G. Draught and David Meredith.

S. H. Deuge testifies that a judgment adverse to the Dawsons was rendered by the Commission on the evening of one day and without any additional proceedings in the case that judgment was reversed on the morning of the next day.

Even if this were a material fact, there is no other proof that two judgments in the case were ever rendered. The record of the proceedings and judgment in the Commission's docket is all on one page, the entry of the application in 1881 and the first order being entered under authority of a former Commission and by a different clerk, and there is no evidence of transfer on that page. The record is a single page for a Court of claims, its judgment, and the fact that it is a Court of claims, is not in dispute.

Thomas B. Babart testified that one James Dawson, a man of forty or fifty years of age, in company with Butler, the Commission's interpreter and Jim Smith, solicitor for the Nation, came to the witness in Taklequah the evening of January 10, 1883, to borrow some money; that Dawson was vouched for by Butler as a responsible party and that Dawson told the witness that he had to have money that night, that his case was to be submitted the next day if he could get some money, that Smith had agreed to submit the case without evidence, and that witness thereupon let Dawson have ten dollars.

Admitting all this to be true and that the influence of these officials was purchased for the sum of ten dollars, the Commission fails to see how these alleged facts show that the Court was imposed upon or misled. Bribery of officials to use their influence with the Commission would not necessarily vitiate the judgment, but it must appear that the fraud, or corruption reached the members of the Commission and tainted the judgment itself. The case was not submitted without evidence as appears from the record, and it is shown that such evidence was carefully considered by that Commission. Furthermore, the evidence shows that there was no such person then in Taklequah as the James Dawson described by witness.

Clinkenbeard testifies that he had a talk with Elbert Dawson about 1881; that Dawson told him he had only one witness, Dr. Baker of Arkansas, "an old man 65 or 90 years old who did not know straight up" and that he could give Dr. Baker four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would swear black was white. Witness further testifies that Dawson told him that money was what made the mare go in Texas, and that he had found out that it goes here too.

Assuming that this Commission can go into the question of perjury in connection with evidence in that case, the testimony of Clinkenbeard establishes, if anything, only the facts stated, and does not prove that Dr. Baker collected money for giving his testimony before the Commission. Further, it is not clear that Dr. Baker was the only witness in the case. Beuge stated that Tom Rogers was a witness, Duncan is under that impression, also, and T. P. Thompson, one of the Commissioners, states that he thinks there were three witnesses. The testimony of Dr. Baker, seems, however, to be the only testimony preserved of record. As to whether Doctor Baker offered perjured testimony by Dawson's procurement, it is proper to state that the evidence of W. H. Curtis and A. S. McKennon, witnesses for applicants, show that Doctor Baker was a man of integrity and was not addicted to drinking.

The testimony of James W. Lewis is to the effect that he had a conversation with F. M. Dawson about 1883, in which Dawson had told the witness that it had cost him seven hundred dollars to get his rights. Braught also testifies that he was an applicant for citizenship about 1881 or 1882, and that while his case was pending he had a talk with F. M. Dawson who told him that if he (the witness) ever got in, it would cost him seven hundred dollars, and that Dawson told him he had paid one witness three hundred dollars, and made arrangements with the Court to get the Dawsons in at one hundred dollars a family. David Meredith testifies that he had a talk with old James Dawson in 1886, and that the latter told the witness it cost him twelve hundred dollars to get his case through.

It can hardly be urged that such evidence is sufficient to show that the members of the Teesee Commission were corrupted by the fraudulent use of money. So far as these witnesses have been able to testify the money spent by the Dawsons might have been for proper and legitimate purposes. F. M. Dawson gives a detailed statement of how the case cost him and his brother in a legitimate way. The Commission can not be indulged that such money was used for fraudulent purposes and the great to the country must be very clear.

before this Commission will deny applicants the right to be enrolled upon that ground.

Admitting the truth of all the testimony in this case as to the actual transfer of money by the Dawsons, it appears that Duncan, Butler and Smith were the only beneficiaries of that money. There is no evidence that the members of the Commission received or were offered any of it.

The judgment entered in the Commission's docket shows the signature of the three members of the Commission appended thereto. There is some conflict as to whether Duncan signed Thompson's name, or whether Thompson affixed his own signature. Duncan testified that all three signatures were made by him as Clerk under authority of the Commissioners present, the two full bloods being unable to sign their names. T. F. Thompson testifies that he signed the original transcript of the judgment, which was made on the day of its rendition. The question, however, is not considered to be very material. The signing of judgments by each Commissioner appears to have been a matter of custom only. T. F. Thompson testifies that he remembers the Dawson case and recognizes the judgment therein as the final judgment of the Commission, and that there was no fraud or corruption in the procurement of that judgment by the Dawsons or by any one else so far as he knew.

Such evidence has been introduced by the Cherokee Nation for the purpose of showing that the ancestor, through whom the Dawsons claim, was not a Cherokee, and that other members of the Dawson family, claiming from the same source, have been denied Cherokee citizenship by subsequent Cherokee tribunals, and also by this Commission and by the United States Court. Such evidence, in the opinion of this Commission, is not competent for any purpose in this proceeding. The only question before this Commission is whether there are fraud in the procurement of the Robert Dawson judgment, and not whether the applicants are Cherokee Indians, or whether they ought to have been admitted to citizenship upon the proof submitted. These were questions presented, considered and passed upon by the Teehee Commission. If their decision is a valid and regular judgment, it is binding on this Commission. If, on the contrary, the applicants have never been lawfully admitted to citizenship, because the judgment under which they claim is void, for fraud, then the question as to whether they are Cherokees by blood is not material, as this Commission has now no authority to admit them to citizenship.

While it is true, that since 1863, a number of applicants, members of the Dawson family, have been denied admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, no argument derived therefrom is of any force, for it is also true that other members of the same family have been admitted to citizenship, and the action of the Cherokee authorities in admitting them has never been questioned by the Cherokee Nation. Whatever inference, therefore, may be drawn from these facts applies with equal force both for and against the validity of the judgment in question.

The Dawsons have lived in the Cherokee Nation, most of them since 1863; they have exercised the rights of Cherokee citizenship for many years, some of them occupying official positions in the Nation, and no protest seems to have been made against their citizenship until within the last few years. The records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission, show, that since 1863, there have been Commissions on citizenship charged with authority to investigate the judgments of former tribunals alleged to have been secured by fraud, and the Cherokee Legislature had power to order an investigation, and to create a tribunal with authority to set aside a judgment so obtained. No such action appears to have been taken by the Cherokee authorities with reference to the judgment of the Teehee Commission in the Robert Dawson case.

After a careful consideration of all the facts in this case this Commission is of the opinion that the evidence fails to establish that the Dawsons secured their admission to citizenship by fraud or that the judgment of the Teehee Commission as rendered January 11, 1883, was fraudulent as the result of corruption, bribery, or deception upon the part of the Dawsons, or their agents, and that such judgment, and also the judgment of the Spears Commission in 1884, and the Act of the Cherokee National Council of December 1, 1894, which have not been attacked by the Cherokee Nation, being regular on their face, must therefore be accepted by this Commission as the valid judgments of the duly constituted Cherokee authorities.

It is, therefore, the opinion of this Commission that,

CHEROKEE ENROLLMENT,

Francis M. Dawson, et al.,

GROUP IX.

The Honorable,

the Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

Referring to office report of even date, transmitting Group 1 of this consolidated case, there is enclosed herewith the record relative to the parties applicants to Group IX. of the Francis M. Dawson, et al. case.--

D. 23, Group IX, page 1.

John W. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself as an intermarried citizen, and for the enrollment of his wife, Missouri Graham, and their minor children, Tempa V. and Robert S. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation.

D. 23, Group IX, page 3.

Gideon Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, John W., Julia C., Francis W., Mary E., George H., Gracie H., and Florence H. Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Elizabeth Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage.

D, 836, Group IX, page 11.

Matthew K. Painter, applies for the enrollment of himself as an intermarried citizen, and for the enrollment of his wife, Laverna, A., and their children, Ada E., Eva P., John V., Ray D., Robert A., and Roy V. Painter, as citizens by blood. Roy V. was born after the date of his father's original application and is identified by birth certificate.

D, 1124, Group IX, page 21.

Charles T. Bradshaw applies for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Florence P., and their minor children, Myrtle and Claude Bradshaw, as citizens by blood.

D, 1125, Group IX, page 26.

Joe E. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor child, William C. Graham, as citizens by blood.

D, 1126, Group IX, Page 21.

John F. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Mina W. and Robert Lee Graham, as citizens by blood. Robert Lee Graham was born subsequent to the date of his father's original application, and he is identified by a birth affidavit.

D. 1127, Group IX, Page 26-1/2.

James Neal applies for the enrollment of his wife, Joe Willie Neal, as a citizen by blood.

D. 1128, Group IX, page 28.

James M. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his children, Marion, Maggie, Luther, Liddie, Margaret and Floyd Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Bessie Graham, as an intermarried citizen. Floyd Graham was born after the original application and is identified by a birth affidavit.

-----
The Commission in its decision of December 23, 1902, held that all the applicants above named, except Liddie and Margaret Graham, who died prior to September 1, 1902, were entitled to enrollment---- John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, as citizens by intermarriage, and the others as citizens by blood.

John W. Graham, (Group IX, page 1), February 12, 1888, married Missouri Dawson, who was admitted to citizenship by the Spears Commission or Court, September 9, 1884. This Court was composed of H. B. Spears, John Lee, Andrew Young, John L. Adair was clerk pro tem of the Court. The marriage of February 12, 1888, was performed in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. John W. Graham and his wife, Missouri, were first married in 1866, in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas. John W. Graham and his wife have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His name, the name of his wife and the names of his two children appear on the 1896 Cherokee census roll.

Gideon Graham, (Group IX, page 8), is the son of John V. and Missouri Graham, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation. He was married to Elizabeth Graham nee Bydow in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas, October 10, 1886. Gideon Graham, his wife and all of their minor children, except Florence N., are identified by the 1896 census roll. Gideon Graham and his family appear to have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Gideon Graham is identified by the 1894 roll.

Matthew A. Painter, (Group 9, page 11), was married to Laverne A. Painter nee Graham, under the Cherokee law, August 19, 1888. It seems that these parties were first married, September 22, 1887, but not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Laverne A. Painter is the daughter of John V. and Missouri Graham. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Matthew A. Painter, his wife and minor children, except Ray D. Robert A. and Roy P., are identified by the 1896 roll. From the record it appears that the principal applicant and his family have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

Charles T. Bradshaw, (Group IX., page 21), was married to Florence Bradshaw nee Graham in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation, March 24, 1894. Florence Bradshaw is a daughter of John V. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, under the name of Dawson. From the record it does not appear that the name of Charles T. Bradshaw is found on any of the rolls of the Cherokee Nation. Florence Graham is identified by the 1894 census roll. Florence Bradshaw and her family appear to have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

John F. Graham, (Group IX, page 35), is the son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, and the principal applicant was a minor when his mother was admitted. He was married to Mattie Lawson, February 11, 1900. Mattie Lawson is a non citizen. His name appears on the 1894 pay-roll, but does not appear on the 1896 roll.

James Neal, (Group IX, page 36-1/2), is a recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood and is enrolled as such. He was married to Joe Willie Neal nee Graham, a daughter of Missouri Graham, who was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, under the name of Dawson. The name of Joe Willie Neal is found on the 1894 pay-roll as is also the name of her husband. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship, and she has lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

James M. Graham, (Group IX, page 38), is a son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, September 9, 1884. November 2, 1902, James M. Graham was married to Bessie Willis, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. The name of James M. Graham is found on the 1894 pay-roll. Marion Graham is also identified by that roll. The other minor children are properly identified by birth affidavits.

In connection with this Group, attention is respectfully invited to office report of even date transmitting Group 1, and for the reasons therein stated the approval of the Commission's decision is recommended, except as to John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, who apply for enrollment as intermarried citizens.

As hereinbefore stated, the record shows that Liddie and Margaret Graham died before September 1, 1902.

Attention is also invited to Department letter of June 18, 1903, (I.T.D. 3386), in the Martha Hill case.

Very respectfully,

(Signed) W. A. Jones,

Commissioner.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
WASHINGTON.

March 21, 1904.

Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes,
Muskogee, Indian Territory.

Gentlemen:

February 28, 1903, you transmitted the record in the matter of the application of Francis M. Dawson, et al., for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, with your decision of December 23, 1902, in which you disposed of these applications by groups, including Group II, which will be considered herein, the applications of those persons who claim enrollment through Missouri Graham, formerly Dawson, who was admitted to Cherokee citizenship, September 9, 1884, by decree of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, of which Eli Spears was President.

Said decree recites that Missouri Dawson (now Graham) and others, "are Cherokees by blood and that by virtue thereof they are justly entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, and that they should be and are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees."

Title D. 23 refers to the application of John W. Graham, for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and his minor children Tempa V. and Robert S. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. Missouri ~~Graham~~ nee Dawson, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. She and her children, whose names appear above, are identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1896. Her name also appears upon the 1894 roll. On February 12, 1888, she was married to the said John W. Graham. A former marriage was entered into by them under the laws of Texas, in 1866.

Title D/ 35 refers to the application of Gideon Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, John W., Julius E., Francis W., Mary E., Jesse E., Gracie M. and Florence M. Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Elizabeth Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage, of said nation. Gideon Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. On October 10, 1886, he married Elizabeth Graham, nee Sydow, and the children named above are the issue of that marriage. Elizabeth Graham, and the six older children are identified on the census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D. 836 refers to the application of Matthew A. Painter for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, ~~Laverne~~ Laverne A. Painter, and his minor children, Ada R., Eva P., John W., Ray D., Roberta A. and Roy V. Painter, as citizens by blood of said nation. Laverna A. Painter is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the nation since her marriage to said Matthew A. Painter, in 1888. He and their three older children are also identified on the census roll of 1896. The three younger children are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1124 refers to the application of Charles T. Bradshaw for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage and for the enrollment of his wife, Florence P. Bradshaw and his minor children, Myrtle and Claude Bradshaw, as citizens by blood of said nation. Said Bradshaw was married March 22, 1894, to Florence P. Graham, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Florence P. Bradshaw, nee Graham, is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Their children named above are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D/ 1125 refers to the application of Joe K. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor child, William C. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. said Joe K.

Graham is a son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the nation since 1884. He married Mary Bradshaw on January 6, 1888. William C. Graham is the issue of that marriage. He is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D. 1126 refers to the application of John F. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his two minor children, Edna M. and Robert Lee Graham, as Cherokees by blood. Said John F. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1896 roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His children, who are the issue of his marriage to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, on February 11, 1900, are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1127, refers to the application of James Neal for the enrollment of his wife, Joe Willie Neal, nee Graham, as a citizen by blood. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified upon the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1888.

Title D. 1128, refers to the application of James M. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Marion, Maggie, Luther, Lizzie, Margaret and Floyd Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Bessie Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage. The said James M. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1884. On November 2, 1892, he was married to Bessie Willis. The six children named above are the issue of that marriage. The oldest child, Marion, is identified on the pay roll of 1894. The ~~other~~ children are identified by birth affidavits.

The residence of all minor children referred to herein is considered to be that of their parents.

In your decision of December 23, 1902, you held that all of the applicants mentioned above are entitled to enrollment.

Reporting relative to this group October 16, 1903, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommended that your decision be approved, in so far as it related to those applicants who claimed by blood, and as to those claiming by intermarriage he recommended that no action be taken at this time.

The department concurs in the recommendation of the Commissioner, and you are directed to enroll the applicants named above who claim by blood.

The attorney for the Cherokee Nation protests against the enrollment of these applicants, alleging that the decree of the tribal court upon which these claims depend, was obtained through fraud. In this connection, see opinion of the Assistant Attorney General of February 18, 1904, in the Dawson case, copy of which was forwarded to you February 24, 1904.

-7-

A copy of Indian Office letter relating to this group is inclosed.

Respectfully,

COMMISSION: The applicant presents a Cherokee marriage license signed by C. S. Chelton, Clerk of Delaware District, Cherokee Nation, issued on the 11th day of August, 1888, authorizing the marriage of M. A. Painter, a citizen of the United States, to Miss Vernia Graham, a citizen of the Cherokee Nation. He also presents a certificate showing that marriage was consummated by Joseph Faulk, a Minister of the Gospel, on the 19th day of August, 1888. The marriage license and certificate are filed herewith.

Q Have you lived with your wife continuously since you married her in 1888? A Yes, sir.

Q Are you living with her at the present time? A Yes, sir.

Q Were you ever married before? A No, we were married in the State.

Q Were you ever married to any other woman? A No sir.

Q Was she ever married to any other man? A No, sir.

Q When were you first married? A 1887

Q Where were you living at the time of your first marriage? A In Texas.

Q Where were you actually residing when you were married under the Cherokee law? A In the Cherokee Nation.

Q Did you move here and settle in good faith before you married?

A I was married in the State and in about six months I come here and remarried.

Q Have you any property in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.

Q Of what does your property consist? A Farm property and town property.

Q Do you derive any rents from that property? A Yes, sir.

Q Is any of your farm property in cultivation? A Yes, sir.

Q How much in cultivation? A I have about five or six hundred acres in cultivated land.

Q Where were these children born? A In the Cherokee Nation.

Q Have they resided here since that time? A Yes, sir.

Q Was your wife ever admitted to citizenship by an Act of the Cherokee National Council, or Commission on Citizenship? A Yes sir

Q Have you any evidence of that fact? A They have got it on the other side.

COMMISSION: Attention is called to certificate filed in the case of Lizzie Jackson et al., Cherokee Card D 830. It is signed by John L. Adair, Executive Secretary of the Cherokee Nation, and he certifies that on the 9th day of September, 1883, one Missouri Dawson was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation. The document bears the seal of the Cherokee Nation.

Q Is the Missouri Dawson mentioned in this document your wife's mother? A Yes sir.

Q You moved here and permanently located in 1887? A Yes, sir.

Q Your wife was admitted in '84? A Yes, sir.

Q Where was your wife living when her mother was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A In Texas.

Q Has your wife's mother ever resided in the Cherokee Nation?

A She has been here for the past 13 years,

Q Living here at the present time? A Yes, sir.

INTERROGATORIES BY JOHN C. STARR, Cherokee Representative:

Q Where were you living at the time you were married the first time? A In Texas.

Q How long were you married before you came to the Cherokee Nation and permanently located in the Cherokee Nation? A Only a few days after I was married.

Q What is the exact date of your first marriage? A September 1887.

Maths Alexander Painter--3

Q What is the exact date of your permanently location in the Cherokee Nation; When did you move here with your effects? A I come from, I was fixed to come when I married. I did not land here at Afton until the 10th day of November; it has been a little over 13 years.

Q You lived here continuously since that time? A Yes, sir.

Comes now the Representatives of the Cherokee Nation and protest against the enrollment of this applicant and his family, alleging that the mother of the applicant's wife, whose name is Missouri Dawson, obtained her admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by fraud.

COMMISSION: The applicant applies for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage of the Cherokee Nation and for the enrollment of his wife and five children as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation: He is identified upon the census roll of 1896 as an adopted white. He produces satisfactory proof as to his marriage in accordance with the laws and customs of the Cherokee Nation on the 19th day of August, 1888. He was previously married to his wife under the United States law in the State of Texas, in the year 1887. He avers that he has lived continuously in the Cherokee Nation for the past 13 years. He has lived with his wife ever since they were married in 1888. Neither of them were married before. He will be listed for enrollment as a Cherokee citizen by intermarriage. His wife and three oldest children are identified upon the census roll of 1896 as native Cherokees. They will be listed for enrollment as Cherokee citizens by blood. And when he files with the Commission properly executed affidavits as to the births of his two youngest children, whose names do not appear upon the census roll of 1896, they will also be listed for enrollment with their mother, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. He produces a duly attested copy of the records in the office of the Commission at Tahlequah, in which a number of persons were admitted to citizenship. Among them appears the name of one Missouri Dawson. He avers that the said Missouri Dawson is the mother of his wife and that his wife was a minor at the time her mother was admitted to citizenship, however, for the further consideration of the Commission, for the reason that the Cherokee Representatives have protested against the enrollment of the applicant and his family for the reason that they attack the validity of certain actions on the part of the Cherokee Nation admitting said Missouri Dawson to citizenship. The Commission will place your application which you make in your own behalf and that in which you make in behalf of your wife and children, on what is known as a DOUBTFUL CARD, and when the final judgment is rendered in your case you will be notified in writing at your present postoffice address.

- Q Is this Lula or Luly? A Luly.

The applicant applies for the enrollment of himself, wife and six children:

- Q Were these children all born since you were admitted into the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.

The applicant is shown by the certificate of admission, cited in the testimony, to have been admitted to Cherokee citizenship, by the Commission on Citizenship, January 13th, 1895; he is identified on the roll of 1896, but the representative of the Cherokee Nation desired to bring inquiry into the methods of that time, and for that reason, the application of the applicant will at present be placed on a "Doubtful Case." He has lived in the Cherokee Nation ever since his admission to citizenship. His wife was married to him under United States law, and was married prior to his admission; she has never been remarried according to Cherokee law; she has lived with him ever since his admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the roll of 1896. The application for her enrollment will be placed on a "Doubtful Case".

These six children, as enumerated in the testimony are identified on the roll of 1896; they are living at this time, all having been born since his admission (Applicant's). These children will be placed with him on a "Doubtful Case". The applicant's marriage to the mother of these children is established by the marriage license and certificate filed herewith. If any additional papers adverse are developed in this case, he will be given timely notice thereof.

The undersigned, being sworn, states that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, he correctly transcribed the testimony and proceedings in this case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of his stenographic notes thereof.

BEFORE THE HONORABLE COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

In the matter of the enrollment of F. K. Dawson and others as Cherokee citizens.

Deposition of sundry persons in behalf of the applicants for enrollment mentioned in the title, taken before me, Lewis T. Martin, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, duly appointed, qualified and acting as such, at the office of G. B. Denison in the Gray-Halewell building in the town of Vinita, Indian Territory, on Thursday the fourth day of October 1900, between the hours of one and a half o'clock and six o'clock in the afternoon of said day, in accordance with the agreement to take testimony, entered into between the applicants and the Cherokee Nation, by their respective attorneys, which agreement is hereto attached.

T. P. Thompson, being produced by the applicants, being first duly sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

- Q State your name, age, residence and occupation?
- A T. P. Thompson, 53 years old, I live near Vinita, Cherokee Nation.
- Q How long have you resided in the Cherokee Nation? A All my life.
- Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation as now constituted?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Upon what is that citizenship based, blood or otherwise?
- A Blood.
- Q What, if any official position have you held in the Cherokee Nation, and at what time?
- A I was elected to the Cherokee Council in 1876 some odd, I don't remember the exact year, I was also on the Commission Court.
- Q Do you remember when that was? A Some time in 1800 or 1801, I think, it may have been earlier.
- Q Did that Commission or Court have anything to do with admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
- Q State, if you remember, how many members of that Commission or Court, were there, and who they were besides yourself?
- A There were three, Tobeo, Wolf and myself, Tobeo was President of the Court.
- Q Where were the sessions of that body held? A Tahlequah, Cherokee Nation.
- Q Did you have a Clerk? A Yes, sir.
- Q What name was that was? A D. W. G. Duncan.
- Q Do you know whether the members of that Commission besides yourself, are living or dead? A Yes, sir, they are both dead.
- Q Can you recollect how what period of time that Commission lasted?
- A About two years I think, two sessions, and there was one session each year.
- Q Were the sessions of that body held in Tahlequah, open to the public at all times when it was in session?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Were the cases coming before that body heard in open session?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q With respect to that body? A Yes, sir.

Q Judgments of the Court or Commission pronounced in open session?

A In case of decisions I think they sometimes had secret sessions, yes, the judgments of the Commission were pronounced openly.

Q What you intended to convey by your answer to the former question was that after hearing the proof the Commission or Court deliberated in secret session upon the testimony taken before reaching a decision or announcing it? A After hearing all the testimony we went into secret session.

Q I will present you with a paper which the Notary will mark exhibit "A" and a copy of which he will attach to your deposition, and will ask you if with the exception of the certificate of record by M. L. Bragier, Clerk, and John L. Adair Asst. Ex. Secretary, you recognize it as a paper you have ever seen before?

A I recognize the signature to it, but don't remember the instrument.

Q Which signature on that paper do you recognize? A My own.

Q That signature is in your own handwriting? A Yes, sir.

Q Do you know whether Thomas Tehee, president of the Commission could write in English or not? A No, I don't think he could.

Q How do you know Alexander Wolfe, a member of the Commission?

A I don't think he could write either, I don't think either of them ever wrote except by touching the pen.

Q Were you, and are you familiar with the handwriting of D. W. C. Dawson, the clerk of that Commission?

A Terribly well, but it has been a long time since I saw any of it.

Q Will you look at the paper again and say whether you recognize his signature attached thereto?

A Yes, that is his signature to the best of my knowledge.

Q Do you preserve any personal recollection of the application before that Commission of F. H. Dawson and other members of the Dawson family, to be admitted as citizens of the Cherokee Nation by the Commission?

A I remember F. H. Dawson and his brother, that is about the only ones I remember.

Q The question was not as to the personal recollection of the individuals, but as to the claim being presented by the Dawsons for admission?

A Yes, there was such a claim before the Commission.

Q Can you state as to the citizenship of Thomas Tehee, whether he was a citizen of the Nation by blood or not?

A Yes, sir, he was always recognized as such, full blood besides.

Q What is your knowledge of Alexander Wolfe?

A About the same, he was also a full blood and recognized as a Cherokee.

Q Judge Thompson, if you possessed or had, or have now any knowledge of any corruption or bribery of the court or Commission, or any member of it by F. H. Dawson or any of the Dawson family or anybody connected with the presentation of their claim for citizenship, state it fully?

A None whatever as far as I was concerned, and I don't think there was by the patience of the Court.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q Do you mean to say Mr. Thompson that your name attached to the certificate shown you is in your handwriting?

A Yes, sir.

Q When Mr. Dawson certified that this is a transcript of the decision in the case, he is mistaken, that is the original?

A No, I don't know that may be the original, if that is not the original I do not sign it, if it is the original I signed it.

Q You state that the witnesses were examined equally before the Court, don't you know that in almost every case you took ex parte affidavits of witnesses when those witnesses were not present?

A I think we ruled ex parte evidence out, as well as I remember.

Q Did you have any stenographer or anybody to copy the evidence? Mr. Duncan did all of the copying.

Q Was the evidence copied and preserved?

A Yes, sir, I think it was.

Q What was done with that evidence, where was any of it ever put?

A I suppose it is at Tahlequah in the office of the Treasurer or Secretary.

Q When you went into secret session did you have Mr. Duncan read that evidence to you?

A Yes, sir, we went over the evidence thoroughly.

Q Did you allow the applicants or their attorneys admission to any of your secret sessions?

No, sir.

Q When you go ready to render your decisions did you then send for the applicants or their attorneys?

A No, sir.

Q And you rendered them in secret also, did you? A Yes, sir.

Q Have you any recollection who testified in the Dawson case, as to their claim? A No, sir, I have not.

Q Have you any recollection as to who they claimed their Cherokee ancestors were? A Yes, sir, they claimed the Rogers.

Q Did they claim relationship with any of the present families of Rogers residing in the Cherokee Nation?

The applicant objects to this question as tending to elicit testimony wholly incompetent and irrelevant to the issue, and not cross-examination of this witness.

A I don't know that they did, particularly.

Q How could your court determine when they claimed descent through some Rogers family, that that family was of Cherokee blood?

The applicant objects to the question upon the same grounds as their objection to the previous question.

A By the evidence they produced.

Q Didn't you make them prove that that family was well known at one time to be connected with the Cherokee Nation, and were citizens thereof? A Yes.

Q Who was the attorney for the Dawsons? A Old man Houston Benge.

Q Could either Tehee or Wolfe speak English? A They could understand, but they never spoke English, they had an interpreter.

Q Did you ever talk to either of them as to whether they got anything for deciding this case? A No, sir.

Q How long were you considering the case altogether?

A I could not say as to that, I think we were on it two or three weeks anyhow, I could not say positively now, they were a long time getting in testimony.

Q There were only two or three witnesses examined all told, were there not?

A I think so, three I think, they had quite a lot of affidavits, but we did not consider them.

Q Well the Court was a good while arriving at its conclusion after the evidence as closed?

A Yes, quite a good while, I don't remember the exact time.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION:

Q Do you remember who the interpreter the Commission had during the hearing of the Dawson case.

A His name was Reese, I forgot his given name.

Q Do you know whether he is living or dead?
 A I don't know, he seemed to be in bad health at the time we had the case up, I think they are all dead but me and Mr. Dunsan.
 Q What was he, a Cherokee by blood?
 A He was considered a Cherokee by blood.
 Q Do you know where he lived at that time?
 A No, sir, he lived in the south part of the Nation though, I think in Sequoyah.

Asst. Ex. Secretary.

United States of America,
Indian Territory,
Northern District,

I, Lewis T. Martin, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, duly appointed, qualified and acting as such, do hereby certify that the above and foregoing two pages, consisting of this one and the preceding one which is attached hereto, is a true, complete, and perfect copy of the transcript of the judgment of the Commission on Citizenship as the same was presented to me during the examination of T. F. Thompson as a witness, and identified by me at the time by writing thereon "Exhibit A" to testimony of T. F. Thompson, L. T. M. - N. P. Oct. 4, 1900." The foregoing copy having been carefully compared by me with the said original.

Given under my hand and seal of office as such Notary Public, this 4th day of October, A. D. 1900.

D. W. C. Duncan being produced by the applicants after being sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

- Q Please state your name, age, residence and occupation?
A My name is D. W. C. Duncan, my age is 70 years, my residence is Vinita, Indian Territory, my occupation is a farmer.
- Q How long has that been your place of residence? A Since 1874.
- Q Are you a member of the Cherokee Nation as it is now constituted?
A Yes, sir.
- Q Upon what is your citizenship based, a Cherokee by blood?
A Yes, a Cherokee by blood.
- Q In January 1883, did you hold any official position in the Cherokee Nation, if so, what was it?
A About that time I held the position of Clerk of the Citizenship Court or Commission.
- Q If you remember the names of the members of that Commission or Court, please give them?
A The President of the Commission was Tchee I believe, and a member by the name of Wolfe whose first name I do not recollect, and Mr. Thompson here.
- Q T. F. Thompson?
A Yes.
- Q Do you know whether these three members of that Commission were recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and whether their citizenship was based upon blood or not?
A They were supposed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and their citizenship was based upon their blood.
- Q Will you please look at the paper now handed you which the Notary has marked exhibit "A" to the deposition of Mr. T. F. Thompson, and a copy of which he will attach to Mr. Thompson's depositions, and state whether with the exception of the certificate of H. L. Bragden, Clerk, and of John L. Asair Asst. Ex. Secretary, you recognize the paper as one you have ever seen before?
A Yes, I think I have seen this before.
- Q When, and where, if you remember, did you first see that paper?
A This is a paper I drew up at the time I was acting as clerk of the said Citizenship Court.
- Q Looking at its date, was it drawn at you at the time it bears date?
A To the best of my recollection it was drawn at the date specified.
- Q Do you recognize the signature to the certificate attached to that paper?
A Yes, that is my signature.
- Q State if you know, in whose handwriting the body of the paper is?
A It is in my handwriting.
- Q And at that time you were Clerk of that Commission? A Yes.
- Q Will you please look at the signatures of the members of the Commission as they appear on that paper, and state if you can, by whom they were written?
A I think the first two is my handwriting, the last I recognize that as T. F. Thompson's.
- Q Explain please, how you came to write the signatures of Thomas Tchee and Alex Wolfe to that paper?
A Thomas Tchee and Alex Wolfe were full bloods and could not write, and in their presence, and at their request I wrote their signatures.

Q Was that the usual manner of certifying to the action of the Commission to applicants as to the decision of their application for citizenship, where admitted?

A In all instances here it was necessary for the Court to sign a paper of any kind it was adopted by that Court for the Clerk to sign Teehe's and Wolf's names and T. F. Thompson to sign his own name.

Q You didn't catch exactly my idea, but perhaps that answered it, what I intended to call your attention to, was whether when applicants had been admitted to citizenship a paper of this kind now shown you, signed by the judges as you have explained, and certified by you as a transcript of the proceedings was issued?

A My recollection is that a transcript of the judgment was issued to the applicant when they were admitted at their request, the judgment was entered upon the record when they were admitted and signed by the judges, and whenever the transcript was delivered to the applicants I think it was signed by the judges.

Q If you had any knowledge at the time the application of the Dawson family, F. M. and others whose names are mentioned in that paper, was pending before that Commission, or before or after, of any corruption or bribery, or attempted corruption or bribery of the Court or any of its officers, by F. M. Dawson, or any person connected in any manner with the claim of the Dawsons to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, state it fully?

A I never heard a thing of the kind, I know nothing of the kind, all that I have ever heard about a question of that kind is what has originated recently, since the enrollment business has been inaugurated.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q If as you certify, this paper was a transcript of the record, why did you have the judges sign it?

A I know no reason further than that was the practice at that time, the members of the Court being present I presume it was thought it would be as good or better than the signature of the Clerk.

Q Examine that signature of Mr. Thompson, examine the first T in his name and the T in Teehe's name and see if it is not all your own handwriting?

A No, I would not call that mine, there is a resemblance between the letters but I am satisfied it is a mere fortuity, accident.

Q How was the evidence taken in these cases?

A It was taken by the witness being present and detailing his knowledge of the case, I wrote it down sentence by sentence as it was delivered.

Q Do you know whether that evidence is in existence or not?

A I do not, the last I saw of it was when I turned the records over to the Executive office at Tallahassee, and I have not seen it since.

Q You say you never heard any talk about this being an improper case until very recently?

A Well, that would depend upon what you mean by recently, I don't think I ever heard of it prior to three years ago, I can't recall any that did not.

Q Do you remember through what ancestor they claimed their right to citizenship here?

Objected to by applicants because the question tends to elicit testimony which is wholly incompetent and irrelevant, and because it is not proper cross-examination.

A They claimed their right of citizenship through a man by the name of Rogers, I don't recollect his first name.

Q Do you know how many Rogers families there are who have citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A I do.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
INDIAN TERRITORY,
NORTHERN DISTRICT,

I, LEWIS T. MARTIN, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, do certify that the foregoing depositions of T. F. Thompson and D. W. C. Duncan were taken before me at the time and place and in the action mentioned in the caption, and said T. F. Thompson and D. W. C. Duncan, having been first by me sworn that the evidence they should give in this matter should be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and that their statements were reduced to writing by me on the typewriter in their presence: the claimants being present in person and by their attorney G. B. Denison, and the Cherokee Nation being represented by W. T. Hutchings Esquire its attorney,.

Department of the Interior,
Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes,
Muskogee, I. T., March 17, 1902.

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of
FRANCIS M. DAWSON, ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

The case having been set for final hearing March 17, 1902, the following proceedings were had:

APPEARANCES:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants;
Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of counsel for Cherokee Nation.

Mr. Hutchings: Comes now the Nation on the calling of this case and announces that it is ready for trial, provided permission is given to hereafter examine before the Commission, either at this place or Fort Gibson, the witness S. H. Benge, who has been regularly summoned to attend at this day and time but who is too sick to travel at this time and probably will be for some time to come. As evidence of a good faith of the Nation we hereby present an affidavit of the facts sought to be proven by the said Benge. If the applicant's counsel are willing to concede that the witness if present would testify to the facts herein set forth, the Nation is ready to proceed to trial without reservation of any kind. If they are not it desires to reserve this privilege of hereafter, either tomorrow or otherwise, this case being set for to-day and tomorrow, of examining before the Commission, or its authorized officer, this witness as above set forth.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the introduction of the paper presented and do not admit that the witness, Samuel H. Benge if present would testify to the facts therein stated. They consent and desire that the testimony of said Benge be taken before the Commission at its office in Muskogee but not elsewhere, and protest against it being taken at any other place, with the understanding, however, that when taken we have opportunity to introduce any evidence we may desire in rebuttal.

Mr. Hutchings:

The Nation will pay all the expenses of the opposing Counsel, their client and Commission officers in taking the deposition at Fort Gibson.

Commissioner Brackinridge: The allegations of this witness are material in their character and are quite tangent. The Commission of its own volition would acquire information of that character if it knew of its existence anywhere. While the functions of the Commission, as well known are in many respects judicial, yet it is bodied with somewhat complex powers, such as Congress creates from time to time to do business of certain character, and it is ordered to make a correct roll, which is a duty largely independent of hearing simply what is brought before them; it must be the architect and constructor of that roll and if evidence is not brought before before the Commission it must go out and get it, to be uniform on that construction of the law. The Commission, therefore, desires this information independent of any counsel on either side both with respect to the applicant and to the Nation, and if this witness is is not able to come one of the Commissioners will go to Fort Gibson and to his bed-side, or send a proper official, if necessary to take his testimony. The only matter to consider, therefore, is one of convenience with respect to getting this testimony. Now, I understand that this witness is an extreme sufferer from Bright's Disease he is an old man and he may never be able to get out of the house, and it may be an injustice to him to subject him to a trip here, and therefore it seems to me better that counsel for Plaintiff submit to a form of taking a deposition or else accompany an official of this Commission over to Fort Gibson and let his testimony be taken there.

After consultation with the attorneys upon the two sides it is found to be agreeable that the parties start to Fort Gibson to-morrow morning at half past eight o'clock, and it is agreed then and directed with an official of the Commission with a stenographer leave from the office of the Commission for Fort Gibson at 3:30 to-morrow morning.

FRANCIS M. DAWSON, the applicant, re-called for additional cross-examination on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q What is your name? A Francis M. Dawson.
 Q Where do you reside? A In Arton.
 Q You have been examined in this case heretofore, have you?
 A I don't know which case it is.
 Q In your own case? A Yes, sir.
 Q Are you the one that is commonly called Bud Dawson? A Yes, sir.
 Q You made the original application in the Dawson family for admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, didn't you? No, sir; my brother.
 Q What was his name? A A. E. Dawson.
 Q You and Robert Dawson and Elbert Dawson and others applied September 24, '81, about that time? A Yes, sir.
 Q And you were admitted about month of January '83? A Yes, sir.
 Q There were other members of your family that applied and were admitted after that time? A Yes, sir.
 Q Do you or not remember the evidence offered in theirs to substantiate their cases was the relationship between yourself and Robert and others and the evidence of your admission by the Tah Court. In all the subsequent admissions I mean the only evidence offered was the fact that you and your brothers had been admitted before and that they were kin to you; that was the only evidence offered in any subsequent cases, wasn't it; so far as you know?
 A That is afterwards?
 Q Yes, afterwards? A I think there was some other evidence introduced.
 Q Don't you know that there was never any evidence offered in any other case except evidence of Dr. Baker of Arton? A Yes, sir.
 Q Who else? A Oliver Miller.
 Q Who was Oliver Miller; the records in this case have been somewhat destroyed and mutilated? A Oliver Miller lived in Arkansas.
 Q What was he, who was he? A He is no kin to me at all.
 Q Well, what station in life did he occupy; was he a farmer?
 A Yes, sir, farmer.
 Q Were you present when he testified? A Yes, sir.
 Q Were you present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.

- Q Have you a fair recollection of the testimony of those two men?
A No, not at all.
- Q You don't read do you, Mr. Dawson? A No, sir, I don't read nor write: I can barely write my name.
- Q Do you think you could refresh the testimony of Dr. Baker if your mind was refreshed on it? A Part of it I think.
- Q Were you present when you were admitted? A I was not in the room.
- Q You were in Tahlequah at the time? A I was in the town of Tahlequah at the time.
- Q I will read this paper to you and desire for you to say whether or not it was the testimony of Dr. Baker in your case:
(Affidavit of Dr. Arthur Baker read to witness, and asked to be copied in the record later.)
- Q Is that the correct transcript of the testimony? A It has been so long ago, I could not say; a part of it is, I could not remember at all.
- Q Does that state the facts as to the family history correctly so far as you know about it? A So far as I know.
- Q Now, you were a son of what Dawson? A Robert Dawson.
- Q How many children did Robert Dawson have, and give me their names?
A Elbert Dawson, the oldest; Lila, Jesper, Francis Marion-
- Q That is yourself? A Yes, sir; Elizabeth Dawson, Josephine Dawson, John Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson, James Dawson, Edna Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilburn Dawson.
- Q Thirteen? (No response.)
- Q Now, Robert Dawson's father was whom? A Sam Dawson.
- Q Who was Sam Dawson's wife, your grandmother? A I have been told.
- Q By family history is all you know? A She was called Polly Dawson.
- Q Who was Anna Pruitt? A I don't know.
- Q Never heard of anybody in the family by the name of Anna Pruitt? A No, sir, that was away back in the old country; I have heard talk about it, old Dr. Baker talked about it.
- Q Your grand-mother's name was Polly Dawson? A Yes, sir; I don't remember seeing her but once, she died when I was small, died in Texas.
- Q Pollie Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q And she was known to be Pollie Rogers, her maiden name? A Yes, sir.
- Q Daughter of Captain John Rogers? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, she died in Texas what time? A I don't remember.
- Q Can't you guess at it? A Oh, I could guess.
- Q Give your best recollection? A About '58 or '59, or no, '48 or '49; I don't say positive, just guessing at it.
- Q How old a boy were you then? A I was born in '42.
- Q Have you any distinct recollection of her? A No, sir.
- Q Have you any recollection of all the children of Sam and Pollie Dawson; that is, your father, uncles and Aunt? I didn't see all of them.
- Q Do you know by family history the names of all of them? A Yes, sir.
- Q Will you give them to me?
A Betsy Ann Dawson, I believe her name was.
- Q Did she marry a Petty? A Yes, sir; the next is Robert Dawson.
- Q Your father? A Yes, sir.
- Q Next one? A I think the next was James Dawson, and I think the next one was a girl, Edna Dawson.
- Q Did he have two daughters? A Yes, sir.
- Q Well sir? A The next one was Joe Dawson; I never saw him; Riley Dawson.

- Q That is Samuel R. Dawson, Riley Dawson? A Yes, sir.
Q Any other one? A That is all I know anything about.
Q Did he have any child by the name of John? A Yes, Jack.
Q Didn't you get Jack replaced with Joe? A No, it was Joe; I have heard my father speak of him.
Q Then they have seven children? A I never see them all.
Q How many of them did you ever see? A I see uncle Riley Dawson and James Dawson and Jack Dawson and Retay Ann Petty; I don't think I saw but one of Pa's sisters and brother, they went to Mississippi I think.
Q So you know that your family history says that the father of your grandmother, Pollie Rogers' name was? A We have no history.
Q Well, as it was brought down to you; did you ever hear anybody say that your great grandmother's name was? A No, I don't remember.
Q What is that other man, Oliver Miller that testified in your case? A He testified in James Dawson's case; he never testified in my father's case.
Q Well, didn't anybody testify in your case but Dr. Baker?
A Yes, sir, several other witnesses.
Q Who were they? A I don't remember; my mother got them witnesses around Tallapoosa, old people.
Q Were you present? A No, sir.
Q You were only present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.
Q How do you find any mistakes in Dr. Baker's statement there?
A I could not say all of them was correct or not, part of it is correct.
Q What part is correct? A My about knowing the family over there.
Q Who is Buck Dawson? A My brother.
Q What is his name? A He always called him Buck, it is Elbert, E. Dawson.
Q Who went with you the first time you went up to make application for citizenship do you remember? A With my brother.
Q The first time? A I met my brother in Texas.
Q Which one? A E. Dawson.
Q That is Elbert or Buck? A Yes, sir.
Q You were living in Arkansas? A Yes, sir.
Q And he was living in Texas? A Yes, sir, and another one of little brothers, Dr. Dawson now.
Q Dr. Dawson now? A Yes, sir.
Q What is his name? A James.
Q And you three went there? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants by their counsel object to all the statement of the witness relating to the testimony introduced before the Cherokee Citizenship Commission, and the history of the family as detailed by him, because the same is incompetent and irrelevant, and cannot be used for the purpose of impeaching the integrity of the judgment of said Commission, or either of the commissioners in advising members of the Dawson family.

Commission: The objection of the Attorney for the applicants to the testimony above will be noted. The same will be filed and noted for what it is worth.

(Attorney for applicants waives examination.)

C. E. TAYLOR, both sides sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Citizens
MR. TAYLOR

- Q State your name? A C. H. Taylor.
- Q Where do you reside, Mr. Taylor? A To near Coffeyville.
- Q Were you an attorney before various citizenship Courts along in '81 to '87 in the Cherokee Nation at Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you attorney for F. M. Dawson commonly known as Bud Dawson?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you present at the taking of testimony in that case? A No, sir; I wasn't present.
- Q Do you know who composed the court that decided the case at that time? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who were they? A Tom Tehee and Alex Wolfe and Tony Thompson.
- Q Do you know whether or not they were all there when the case was decided? A No, sir, there were only two of them present.
- Q Which two? A Tehee and Wolfe.
- Q Who was the Clerk of the Court at that time? A Mr. Duncan, D. W. C. Duncan.
- Q Do you know what witnesses were used in the case of Bud Dawson?
- A No, sir; now I was the attorney in the case and the evidence had already been filed before the Court.
- Q When were you made attorney? A I was only called in as an attorney at the— Well, Mr. Duncan came down there, and Mr. Bryant had the case and several other attorneys had the case and he employed me.
- Q Did you read the evidence in this case? A No, sir.
- Q Did you deliver any money? A Now, I was the attorney in the case and I don't think it would be right for me to make any statement.
- Q Now, you have claimed your privilege, I ask that you answer the question? Did Dawson ever send you any money with the direction to pay it to either member of the Court or the Clerk of the Court, D. W. C. Duncan, and if so state the amount? A I had a heap of trouble over this matter.—

Commissioner: Just answer the question, Mr. Taylor.

A Being the attorney I don't believe it is right for me to answer that question.

Commissioner: Do you refuse to answer? A Yes, sir.

Q Did the matter to which you object to testifying occur prior to the rendition of the decision admitting to citizenship or afterwards? (No response)

COMMISSIONER BRECKINRIDGE:

Q Do you desire to reply to the last question? A I don't think it is right; I was attorney in the case.

Q Mr. Taylor, do you object to answering that question? A Yes, sir.

Q You refuse to answer that question, do you? A I had rather not answer it.

Q Either answer it or say you won't answer it? A I had rather not answer it.

Q Mr. Taylor, you have answered a number of questions down to this point, but it is at this point that you prefer to plead your privilege, as an attorney, do you? A Yes, sir.

Com'r Breckinridge: The power in regard to these matters is lodged in the United States. The Court is clothed with special power with reference to matters which arise through this Commission. Of course the Commission desires and the Government needs for the sake of a correct roll the fullest information possible, but it is subject to the limit of law, & it is not for this Commission to decide of the law is a matter of this character with any authority as I understand it at this time, but to report the matter to the United States Court and let the Court pass judgment.

Under Section 21 of the Cirtin law as it is commonly called Act of June 20 1898, the members of the Commission shall in performing all duties required of them by law, have authority to administer oaths, examine witnesses and send for papers and persons, and the court is clothed with authority to enforce obedience. The law having enumerated certain powers goes on to say so far as all others are concerned to enable said Commission to make rolls as herein required, and to punish anyone who may in any manner or by any means obstruct said work. Now, the Commission will report the facts to the United States Court and let the Court decide whether or not you are wit in your lawful privilege. It seems that you refuse to answer questions, or at least one question, which tends to establish as to whether or not you are claiming what what is commonly considered a matter of privilege--according to an authority referred to by an attorney, but the enforcement of an answer seems clearly to be a matter for the Court to deal with.

Q Now, Mr. Taylor, in regard to the last question asked you by Mr. Hutchings, one of the Counsel for the Cherokee Nation, I direct that you make answer, and if you refuse I shall report the matter to the United States Court; do you refuse? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, you have read to you, Mr. Taylor, the first of the two questions propounded to you by Mr. Hutchings, and which you declined at the time to make answer; viz: as to whether Mr. Dawson sent you money to pay to the Court or to any officials of the Court, it seems to come to the question as to whether there was any collusion between you and Mr. Dawson and any member of the Court; now, I understand that you refuse to answer that question upon the grounds that you were Mr. Dawson's attorney? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, I require that you answer that question, do you refuse? A Yes, sir.

Q I shall also report that refusal to the United States Court as it seems to come under the provision of law, relating to conspiracy between you and Mr. Dawson which apparently considered a privilege matter, and you base your refusal now, not upon the ground that you are incriminating yourself, but that you were counsel for Mr. Dawson. I will report the matter to the Court and you will be informed at due time of any proceedings in the matter I caution you not to talk with Mr. Dawson or any of the applicants in this case.

Mr. McKemmon: Applicants do not object and have not objected to the witness answering on account of his privilege as an attorney or for any other cause whatever, they only want to object to the incompetence and irrelevancy of the testimony, with the privilege of cross-examining upon any testimony given by the witness.

COM'R BRECKINRIDGE:

Q You still refuse having the consent of the attorneys in the case to make answer? A I will just ask your Honor to let the matter go over until morning.

Commissioner Breckinridge: It will rest until in the morning at its present status; it is after business hours now.

As for the objection made by Captain McKemmon, Counsel for the applicant, it will be taken into consideration, but will not be granted at the present.

(The Commission adjourns until 1:30 P. M. to-morrow afternoon, March 12, 1903.)

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of
FRANCIS H. DAWSON ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of Counsel for applicants.
Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

SAMUEL H. BENGE, being duly sworn, testified as follows
on part of the Cherokee Nation:
W. T. HUTCHINGS:

- Q State your name? A Samuel H. Benge.
Q Where do you reside? A Fort Gibson.
Q How old are you? A I am 70 years old, going in 71.
Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; Cherokee
by blood.
Q State what official position you have held in the Cherokee Nation and what your general connection with the Nation officially in the last 40 years? A Well, I had several; I have been Sheriff, Councilman, Senator, Delegate to Washington; had a hand in making the treaty of 1866, I am the only one living that signed that treaty;
President of the National Council of different tribes of Indians.
Q Were you acquainted with F. H. Dawson, commonly called Bud
Dawson? A Yes, sir; I know him.
Q State your connection with and what you know about his citizenship case before what is known as the Thomas Tehee Citizenship Court?
A Mr. Dawson come down, I was living down below here, he come and employed me to tend to his case and we went to Tahlequah, I believe if I ain't mistaken in 1881 and filed his case there; we went several times and continued his case on for the want of evidence, and finally while we was up there we run across one old darkey by the name of Tosh Rogers; we got his testimony and after we got that testimony we concluded that it was sufficient to go into the trial with. Tosh lived here at Fort Gibson, he was a horse trainer down here and stayed here; he claimed that he know the Rogers and belonged to one of them and after what we thought we had sufficient evidence we submitted our case to the Court for trial, and the Court went to work and rendered a decision against Mr. Dawson.
I told Mr. Dawson right there that "our case is dough", just made that remark, and he just made the remark "never mind", and next morning they taken up his case again and they rendered a decision in his favor. I filed no motion nor any evidence at all whatever; I give the case up right there and the decision was then given in his favor, and on our way back from Tahlequah, why we got to talking about the case and I told him: "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered that decision against us." He said: "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach", but he reached him with five hundred dollars.
Q What position did Duncan occupy? A He was Clerk of the Court.
Q Duncan an educated man or? Yes, sir; he was an educated man.
Q Who were the members of the Court? A Tom Tehee, Alex Wolfe and Tom Thompson.
Q How many of these could speak English at all? A One.
Q Which one? A Thompson.
Q Who was the Attorney that represented the Nation in those cases?
A Why Sanders.

Q What was his given name? A Wilson Sanders; was it Wilson Sanders?
A Wilson Sanders.

Q Was he an educated man, or could speak English well? A No, sir.

Q Did Mr. Dawson say anything about the matters having cost him a good deal of money? A He said it had cost him a right smart.

Q Was any remark made on the way back about the opening up of the case, and if so, what? A He asked me if I thought the case was ever investigated eventually and I told him I didn't know.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Were you ever a witness in the Dawson case, Judge, in any of those investigations that have been made since that time? A I don't know that you might call it a witness; that young man come to me once at Tahlequah, and asked me to help him up there that the case was going against him, him and his mother and all was about knocked out and I interceded and done what I could there before the committee. I was not a witness but they is that I don't for him.

Q That was Mr. Graham, wasn't it? A Yes, sir.

Q Have you had conversations with Mr. Graham since that time about it? A Now, I might, I don't recollect, I might have had conversations with him.

Q Well, after the Daves Commission began taking a census of the Cherokees and when they were about Sallisaw down here, did you have a conversation with him here in Fort Gibson about the matter?

A Now, I just can't tell you; I have seen him on several occasions, but the conversations we might have had I can't state.

Q To refresh your memory I will ask you if he did not tell you that they were making a fight on the Dawson family and he wanted to know of you whether that judgment in favor of Robert Dawson's family was fairly rendered, and did you not then tell him that it was all right, that it was fairly obtained? A Not as I recollect of; all he said that is as I have stated he talked to me in regard to his mother, himself and probably his brothers and sisters, I don't recollect how many there were, but he told me they were rejected, that is just the words he used.

Q Where? A It was been sometime ago.

Q Here in Fort Gibson? A Well, that is I saw him here in Fort Gibson, and then I saw him in Tahlequah.

Q Well, did he here in Fort Gibson ask you particularly about the Robert Dawson judgment, as to whether it was fairly obtained or not?

A No, sir; he was basing his claim on the Dawson case, that is the way he-

Q What is the principal Dawson family? A Yes.

Q When was this other written statement here made, when was this made by you? (referring to affidavit heretofore referred to.)

A Yesterday I reckon.

Q Who come to take this? A Mr. Starr.

Q Who else was present when this was taken? A No, sir.

Q How had you told about this matter, Judge? A No one as I know of.

Q Do you know how it was that they knew that you know this?

A No, sir.

Q You never made any statement? A Never made any statement that I recollect of except I might have talked with Seales, he and him talked about these cases a good many times; if I ever made a statement it was to Joe Ab Seales.

Q How did Mr. Starr know? A I could not tell you how Mr. Starr knew.

- Q He came alone here as a Notary Public? A He came alone here as a Notary Public. All he said when he come, he says "we understand that you know something in regard to these cases", I said "what case," and he went to work and named Shoemaker case and Dawson case.
- Q And thereupon you made this statement? A He said he wanted to qualify me.
- Q Are you certain Judge that after the rendition of that judgment Mr. Dawson came back here to Fort Gibson with you?
- A Yes, sir; we was together.
- Q Let me ask you if it was not a very cold day when he came here and he went over ahead of you and you went over to Tahlequah the next day or two after he left? A My recollection was he and I went together.
- Q And returned here together? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did he not leave you there and go back direct to Arkansas?
- A No, sir, we came here together. If my memory serves me right, I might be mistaken but then I don't believe I am, he came from Webbers Falls up here to my house, that is according to his statement.
- Q What amount of fee did they pay you? A I don't know as that is in connection with the case whatever the money they paid me.
- Q How did they pay you? A Paid me the money.
- Q Who paid it to you? A Dawson there and that fellow, young fellow paid me some.
- Q Mr. Graham? A Yes.
- Q At the same time? A Oh, no, he wanted me to intercede for him at Tahlequah and paid me to do something for him which I did.
- Q I will ask you if Mr. F. M. Dawson here did not obtain two copies of the judgment one of which you sent in a letter in which you wrote to his brother living in Texas and that brother in Texas, the one they called Buck, didn't send you $50 that they paid you? A No, if I ever got a letter of Buck whatever you might call him, I don't recollect it and if I ever got a nickel from him I don't recollect it. Old man paid me what money I got from it. I don't know nothing about his brothers; he told me he had an uncle living over in Arkansas, but not living down in Texas, I don't know about it.
- Q Where did he pay you the money? A Paid it here at home.
- Q Before you went out? A He paid me fifty dollars before we went up and when we went up yonder he paid me fifty dollars more; if you want to know what I got, I got one hundred dollars.
- Q You were acting as his attorney in the case? A Yes, sir.
- Q How many judges were there present when the judgment was rendered?
- A In his case?
- Q Yes, sir. A Well, according to my recollect there was all there, but if they were not all there, Tom Thompson was sick. Tabor and Wolfe.
- Q Don't you remember that they were all present? A No, I think they were present though.
- Q Who else was present at the time? A Oh, I could not tell you, there were several people in the house; could not tell you at all.
- Q Were there several in the house the evening before the judgment was rendered against them as you say? A Yes, there were several in the house.
- Q And several in the house when the judgment was rendered the next day? A I don't know how many there was.
- Q Do you remember the names of any of them? A Why not exactly, mostly full bloods.
- Q How long did you remain out at Tahlequah on that trip?
- A I guess I was there about three days.

Q Tending to this case alone, or did you have other cases? A No, sir.

Q Do you know of your own knowledge that the judges received any money (this question asked at the instance of Mr. Graham present)

A I don't know whether the judges received any or not.

—00000000—

I, J. O. Rosson, do hereby certify upon my official oath as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes that I correctly recorded the testimony had this day in the above case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

(Signed) J. O. Rosson.

March 18, 1902. Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants.

Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

C. H. TAYLOR takes the stand and continues his testimony.
BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Mr. Taylor, you said you would consider the matter yesterday and let us know whether you would answer those questions today; have you decided what you would do about the matter? A Well, it is like this, of course I don't want to be held as in contempt of the Court.

Q You would be held in contempt and the other Court would make you answer? A That being the case of course I would make a statement.

Q Are you acquainted with D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of what is known as the Tehee Citizenship Commission Court? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you ever have any conversation with him about letting him know of the different character of cases that would come up before the Court that you knew of, whether they were good ones or bad ones?

A No, the only thing that ever come up in that respect; he asked me if whatever large cases that would come up before the Court to let him know.

Q Did you have any talk with him about the Dawson case during the progress of its trial or before and ever introduced Mr. F. M. Dawson to him, or carry him to him? A I spoke to him when Mr. Dawson came to Tahlequah to see about his case, and he said that he would take the papers over to his room, the Dawson papers.

Q Did you see him again that night? A Yes, sir; after supper I went down to his room.

Q Did he ask you about the Dawsons or Dawson case? A He asked me where Dawson was.

Q Which Dawson are you referring to now, F. M. Dawson, known as Bud Dawson? A Bud Dawson.

Q Well, what did you reply to him? A I told him that I thought he had gone to church.

Q Did you find Dawson after church? A Yes, sir, he told me to come and bring Dawson down and I did so; Dawson was in church.

Q You carried Dawson to him? A Yes, sir.

- Q Did you remain during the conversation? A Only a minute.
- Q What was said if naything while you were present? A Mr. Duncan spoke to Mr. Dawson and says "there is a hitch in your evidence."
- Q Go ahead and state what else he said? A He said "if that was straightened out it would be all right," and I turned and went away, I says, "gentlemen, I will go home."
- Q Did you know of their having any other conversation or communication after that? A No, sir.
- Q You left them there together yourself? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did Mr. Dawson give you any directions the next morning about submitting the case? A Yes, sir, he asked me to call it up the case.
- Q The next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q And there been any additional evidence offered? A No, sir; there was not additional testimony offered.
- Q He told you the next morning to call up the case? A Yes, sir.
- Q Was it called up and submitted the next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, how many of the members of the Court were there present that morning? A There were only two, two full-blood Indians.
- Q Would they speak english at all? A Tehee could talk a little, talk some.
- Q Had that court have open sessions all the time or what is called executive sessions sometimes? A Well, I don't remember about that; it was generally when the case was submitted th attorneys would go out. The parties would go out and they would determine the case.
- Q Well, did they go out into that sort of executive session the next morning on the Dawson case? A Well, we went out when the case was submitted.
- Q And was the decision rendered that morning in their favor? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who notified you of the decision of the Court? A Why, Mr. Dawson.
- Q Do you remember whether he went out with you or was in there during the consideration of the case? A I think he went out with me.
- Q Did you at any time thereafter receive any money, checks or other evidence money from Mr. Dawson with direction to turn it in part over to D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of that Court? A Mr. Dawson gave me 20 dollars and said he would send the balance in a short time, and he would send some more money in a short time.
- Q Well, did he send any money afterwards? A Yes, sir, in the course of ten days or two weeks he send a hundred dollar check, draft.
- Q What did he direct you to do with it? A He directed me to give D. W. C. Duncan half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did he send you any at any other time after that? A Well, in the course of a couple of weeks he sent me a hundrd dollars more.
- Q Did he direct you to turn any of that and if so how much, to D. W. C. Duncan? A He told me to give him half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A I did, sir.
- Q Do you remember whether on Dr. Arthur Baker was the principal witness in behalf of the Dawson case? A No, sir, I don't because I never had any connection with the case, but I heard that he was a witness in the case.
- Q No argument was made when you submitted the case? A No, sir.
- Q Just submitted it on the testimony? A Yes, sir.
- MR. McKENNON:
- Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you born and reared in the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir; I was born in the old Nation.

- Q When did you come to the Cherokee Nation? A Come here in 1886.
- Q How long have you been practicing law in the Cherokee Nation?
- A I think since '88.
- Q You have done a great deal of citizenship business haven't you?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q You were in the United States Court at Fort Smith on charges in regard to the citizenship business? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you convicted there? A Yes, sir; I was convicted there on this very case.
- Q And served a term of what length? A I was sent to the jail hospital for sixty days and I stayed in about 38 or 39 days, and I was released.
- Q When was that? A I don't remember how long ago it has been.
- Q You say it was in regard to this case? A Yes, sir; this case was the bone of contention; Clem Rogers and the Chief, they are the ones that had me arrested, carried to Fort Smith.
- Q Well, now, were you charged with an offense against the law in this case, or was it in regard to some other case? A Well, it was in regard to using the rail for fraudulent purposes.
- Q Sending out propositions and obtaining case for citizenship for people in the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir, it was for answering correspondents.
- Q Not relating to this case at all? A Well, this was the main charge, Clem Rogers went before the Court there and stated that I had got in at least three hundred Dawsons, that they were white people and not entitled to citizenship and that was the main trouble.
- Q Well, now, was the charge based upon that or was it based upon your letters you sent out to other people? A That was the charge for using the rail for fraudulent purposes.
- Q The use of the rails for fraudulent purposes not in connection of this case was it? A Not particular of this case.
- Q Then the trouble you had was the prejudice of Clem Rogers and others caused by your connection with the Dawson case; that is what you mean to say? A Yes, sir.
- Q Why did you say because you were charged with an offense based upon this case? A Well, the prejudice grew out of this case.
- Q Now, then, you had full conversation with the representatives of the Cherokee Nation as to your testimony in this case, did you not before you came on the stand? A Yes, sir.
- Q You had told them of these particulars before you came on the witness stand did you not? A Yes, sir.
- Q Yet when you came on the stand you assumed to have conscientious scruples as to answering as to matters which occurred between you and your client, Bud Dawson, in relation to this matter and declined to answer claiming your privilege as an attorney did you not? A Yes, sir; I didn't want to make a statement at all in the matter.
- Q You had voluntarily made a statement to the representatives of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; I had stated to Mr. Hastings; he cautioned me and I come down here and I didn't want to make a statement to him but he insisted.
- Q He had no power to compel you to make a statement? A No, sir.
- Q You could then make it very freely and your conscience didn't hurt you, but when you came on the stand you were very conscientious about it? A I didn't want to make a statement at all unless I would be put in jail here if I didn't.
- Q Did you tell them with information by which they could get you these questions when you came on the stand? A I had told Mr. Hastings.

Q You know when you gave him that information that you would be brought on the stand as a witness, did you not, by reason of that?

A No, I didn't know that I would be compelled to make a statement in the matter, a sworn statement.

Q You thought you would not be compelled to answer?

A I didn't think the law would compel me to make a statement.

Q Why then did you make a statement to him about it? A Oh, he was asking me about it, and I told him that I didn't want to make a statement, and I didn't for quite a while after I came down here.

Q When the enrollment division of the Dawes Commission was in Tahlequah, in the winter of 1900, did you not there meet F. M. Dawson and did you not then and there say to him that I told Shoemaker I would be for him if he would employ me in his case and if he didn't I would be against him, and the same to you, sir? A Yes, I said to him this; I says that if there is not something done that I will likely be summoned against you and M. Shoemaker both.

Q What did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant this, I just left the matter with him to say what he wanted to do in the matter; I only spoke a word or two about it, I was going out of town just as he came in.

Q When you told him if something was not done you would be summoned as a witness against him; what did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant that the chances were that the Nation would summon me against him.

Q What did you mean by the expression "if there was not something done" that you would be summoned as a witness?

A Well, I meant this, if I was re-employed in the matter if he was to have a case and I was re-employed I would not be required.

Q You could be required to make a statement as to declarations made to you by your client to you in one instance, but if a little more money was put up you could not be required to make a statement; is that what you mean? A I didn't think I could be forced to make a statement at all in the matter.

Q Why did you make that expression to him "if something wasn't done you might be summoned as a witness" if you believed you could not be made to make a statement? A I meant if I was employed in the case.

Q If he would put up you would not testify? A That they could not force me to testify.

Q About the month of February, 1901, in the town of Wagoner, Indian Territory, did you not send your son to get Graham to come to the hotel at night, and did you not then and there say to Old Graham; "you people are on the doubtful list and if you will give me $500. I will make it all right and see that you are enrolled and if you don't I will see that you don't get on?" A No, sir; I got a letter from Old Graham in which he asked me to certify that the case was all right and after I met him I told him that I could not do it, that the case was crooked. He then said to me, he says, "I will give you a hundred dollars", he says "will you take a hundred dollars," I said "no, sir." I didn't take any bid, that is I didn't set no price with him.

Q You did not say to him then what I have embraced in that question were? A No, sir.

Q You did have a conversation with him about that time and at that place, did you not? A Yes, sir.

Q You say you didn't take any bid or set any price? A No, sir; he offered me a hundred dollars.

Q Why did you send for him to come to the hotel? A In answer to his letter.

A Did you not yesterday morning on the street in Muskogee, Indian Territory, in a conversation with W. H. Shoemaker say to him: "You have made a great mistake in not keeping in your employment and so have the Dawsons and it will go hard with you and you will not get it?" No, sir; I says to Mr. Shoemaker, I says: "Who have you employed in your case," and he says "Judge Thomas and Mr. Owen." I said "It might have been a advantage to you if you had retained me in your matter;" Well, he says "there was nothing wrong in my case" and I says "no, there is nothing wrong on earth in your case that I know of." He said all he wanted was justice and I said "I don't know a thing on earth against you," and I says "there is not a thing on earth wrong in your case as I know it came up fairly and squarely and decided in your favor."

Q You said nothing to him about the Dawson case? A Yes, I said to him "it might have been well if the Dawsons had retained me in their case." I said "I am summoned on the part of the Nation and I don't want to make a statement and I want if I can possible avoid it."

Q Was that before or after you talked with Mr. Hastings, the representative of the Nation? A It was afterwards.

Q You meant by that if you had refused to answer you would have gone to jail? A No, sir; if they had employed me before hand I meant not now.

Q You mean that if they had employed you before hand you would not have given this information to Mr. Hastings? A I would not be required, being the attorney.

Q Were you required to give him the information; did you know that you had to give him any information? A Who do you mean.

Q Mr. Hastings. A I did refuse him and he insisted.

Q Well, he no authority to compel you to do it? A No, sir; I don't know whether he did or not.

Q As a lawyer you know that he did not have authority to compel you to make a statement to him? A I told him that I was an attorney in the case and I didn't want to make any statement at all.

Q Why did you do it? A Well, he intimated to me it would go any further. He said to me "I will not make this matter — I will not use it;" that is, what I stated to him was part in confidence.

Q And he pledged you his word that it would not be used? A Well, told him I could make a statement in confidence, and that I didn't want to make a statement before the Court.

Q Well, what did he reply, as you said just now? A Oh, he says make the statement and then I told him—I regretted very much to do it, and I regret very much to make a statement here. I tried to avoid it yesterday.

Q You stated just now that he said it would not be used; did he say that or not? A Well, something to that amount; oh, he says it wont make any difference or something to that effect.

Q Now, don't you know that Mr. Hastings did not intimate to you that the statement he was asking you to make would not be used?

A Well, I didn't think that I could be forced to make a qualified statement before the Court here, because I thought my license would protect me in that matter.

Q Yet it did not protect you or prevent you from making a statement to the attorneys for the Nation? A No, sir.

Q Now, in this conversation with Shoemaker to which I before referred did you not ask him to again employ you and tell him if he would you would write it all right for him? A No, sir; I didn't say that; no, I said if he had employe me in the matter "maybe it would have been better for you." Now, he offered so then I was down here last week, he offered me five dollars to go down and talk with his lawyers on the matter, I didn't go I was busy.

- Q That was not your price? A No, no, I had nothing to say in his case that would be to his advantage; I know nothing against him.
- Q Now, then, you say that you were present on the morning that the judgment was rendered in favor of the Dawsons? A I was not in the Court house.
- Q You were present in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.
- Q How long had you been at Tahlequah? A I was living there at that time.
- Q When were you first employed by them? A By Dawsons?
- Q Yes, sir. A The evening before the case was tried.
- Q You say that after the judgment was rendered Dawson handed you $20? A Yes, sir.
- Q And told you to hand to Duncan? A No, sir.
- Q What was your statement? A That he paid me $20 and says "I will send you some more in a short time, week or so."
- Q And then he sent you $100? A Yes, sir.
- Q And wrote you to give D. W. C. Duncan $50 of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q And then sent you another $100 and told you to give him half of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q How much did they pay you? A Well, that was the agreement, was that he would pay me $50 a family.
- Q How much did he pay you? A I think there was $250; now I am not sure about the $50, but it appears to me like there was a $50 sent, and Mr. Duncan asked me, as well as I remember, says "have you got a letter from Dawson," I told him "yes, sir." It was either that or the $100, and he says "I would like to have some money", and I went to Stapler's and got it changed-- I won't be sure about it being $50 or $100--I went to Stapler's and got him to cash the check and give him his part of it.
- Q How much did they pay you for your services? A That is all I got.
- Q How much? A I think it was $100, $120.
- Q What did you do for them? A Didn't do a thing only called up the case and submitted it; never read the evidence.
- Q Submitted it without remarks? A Yes, sir.
- Q And for that you say they paid you $120? A Yes, sir; $120.
- Q Was Houston Benge present when that was one? A No, sir; I don't think he was.
- Q Did you see him then at that time in Tahlequah? A I don't remember.
- Q Were you associated with him in any manner in connection with the case? A No, sir.
- Q You had a great deal of business of that character, have you before the Courts? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you paid like fees in other cases for like services? A Yes, sir.
- Q In many of them? A Yes, sir, good many.
- Q All like cases? A Oh, citizenship cases.
- Q When was it you were in jail at Fort Smith? A I don't remember; Mr. Lellette can remember, he was there, he was my attorney.
- Q Was it about 1883? A It was somewhere along there, along in 1890 somewhere.
- Q That has been your principal business as a lawyer, has it not? A Yes, sir.
- Q You have never practiced much in any other way have you? A Very little.
- Q Were you in the habit of working your cases through in the same manner in which you state you worked this through? A No, sir.

Q This was an exception was it? A I never worked this case through. I simply called the case up by request of Mr. Dawson. I read the evidence; don't know what proof there was in it; he just asked me to call the case up.

Q And he agreed to pay you $50 a family for doing that? A Yes, sir.

Q Was that what you required of him? A That is what he agreed to pay. I says "what will you give?" He says "I will give you $50 a family."

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q At the same time that the attorney for the Nation was talking to you about the Dawson case he also made inquiries about the Shoemaker case didn't he? A Yes, sir.

Q And you told him at that time before you knew anything about whether you would be made or compelled to testify that so far as you knew there was nothing you knew detrimental to the Shoemaker case?

A Yes, sir; that is what I said.

Q You told him at the same time that you not only expected to claim you privilege as an attorney in the case, but that you told him, Mr. Hastings, with the full belief that the Court would sustain your position? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKennon: That is very leading.

Q Now, did you think that the re-employment, being the attorney in the pending case would strengthen your position or weaken it, when you spoke to Mr. Dawson? A What I thought in the matter was before ever I would be summoned in the matter, a long time ago, that if I had been employed in the matter of course my position would have been such that I would not have been required or could not have been forced.

Q Did you think under those circumstances that Mr. Hastings would approach you about the subject? A No, sir; I don't think I would be forced to, having license to practice law.

Q Did Mr. Hastings tell you at the time that he was going to put you on the stand? A Yes, sir.

Q And let the Court decide? A Yes, sir.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Now, have you a license to practice in the United States Courts?

A Yes, sir.

Q In the Territory? A Yes, sir.

Q And also in the Indian Courts? A Yes, sir; do you want to see them?

JAMES W. LEWIS, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name please? A J. W. Lewis.

Q James W. Lewis? A Yes, sir.

Q Where is your postoffice, Mr. Lewis? A Afton.

Q How old are you? A 73 years old.

Q What is your business? A I work at the tin business and gun work.

Q Do you know one James Dawson, the brother of P. M. Dawson and the other Dawson? A I know old man James Dawson.

Q That is the one I mean, old man James Dawson? A Yes, sir; I know him.

Q How long have you known him? A Well, some four or five years.

I swear.

Q How long? A Four or five years I think.

Q When did you come to the country? A I have been in the country 70 odd years.

Q Well, when did he come to the country, do you know? A Along about somewheres in eighty if I recollect right, might have been later than that.

Q How did you happen to get acquainted with? A He lived right close by me and I built a house for him.

Q Did you have any conversation with him at the time you built that house? A Yes, several different times.

Q About how he became a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, about the circumstances? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he make any statement to you about the use of money in getting his citizenship, and if so, state what he said?

A Well, he told me that it cost him $700 to get his rights.

Q Didn't tell you to whom he paid it? A No, he didn't and I didn't ask any questions.

1.R. MCKENNON:

Q How old was he at that time, do you know? A I do not know exactly, must have been somewheres near about 70 years old, he might have been older than that, I don't know.

Q He was a very old and feeble man? A Yes, he was old and feeble.

Q He seldom ever got out away from his house? A No, sir, only short distance.

Q When you first knew him he was that kind of man? A Yes, sir.

J. L. CLINKENBEARD, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

1.R. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A J. L. Clinkenbeard.

Q What is your post office address? A Vinita.

Q How old are you? A 56.

Q Were you ever an applicant for citizenship before the Tehee citizenship Court in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.

Q About what time was that? A September '81, I think.

Q Did you meet there about that time, one Elbert or Buck Dawson? A Yes, sir.

Q How did you happen to meet him? A He and I stopped at the same place, man's by the name of Sherbow.

Q You and he stopped there, did you, board there? A Yes, sir.

Q Well, did you have any talk about citizenship cases, yours and his? A

A Yes, sir.

Q Where did he state that he was from? A Texas.

Q Well, state what you can remember of the conversation between you from time to time about citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A Well, we were there on the same business and we talked about it at different times, all in talking about the evidence we had there I, of course, told him how many witness I had and what I could prove and so on, and he said that he didn't have but one witness, Dr. Baker from Arkansas, a man that was 85 or 90 years old, he said, and he hadn't come and said he was to have met him there, but he hadn't come.

Q Well, what did he say about the doctor's knowing anything?

A Well, he said he was 85 or 90 years old and didn't know straight up.

Q Well, did he say anything about giving him whisky?

A Well, he said he could give him four drinks of Arkansas whisky and he could swear that black was white.

- Q Did he say anything about the money would do in Texas or Indian Territory? A Well, in talking about the evidence, he said that money was what made the stars go down in Texas and he said "I come to get the star of the land" and he says "I found out it goes here," or words to that effect.
- Q Did he say what he had to spend on the question? A Well, he said that he could stand a thousand dollars on it and not be hurt very much; finally he said he could stand more than that.
- Q What did he tell you what he thought about the necessity of witnesses anyhow? A Well, I don't know as he said as to that, but I understood from what he said that he thought money would beat witnesses.
- Q Well, where did he go from there? A He and I left there together; he went to Muskogee by way of Fort Gibson and there we parted.
- Q Did you ever see him after that? A I saw him about two years or something like that afterwards.
- Q Where? A Vinita.
- Q Did you refer to the citizenship rather? A I asked him how he come out and he said all right.
- Q Was he deformed in any way this man? A He had a crippled hand or stiff finger; I don't remember just what it was now.
- MR. MCKENNON:
- Q Your first conversation with him was in '81 was it? A Yes, sir.
- Q What time in '81? A September.
- Q You were then an applicant for citizenship? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you admitted? A No, sir.
- Q You are still an applicant? A No, sir.
- Q You are still working to get in as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir; haven't quit it entirely.
- Q What business are you in now? A I am running a dairy in Vinita.
- Q When did you make these statements now to the representative of the Cherokee Nation? A Well, sir, I haven't; I saw Mr. Hastings I believe here last Saturday the first time.
- Q How did they ever know that you had had these conversations with Mr. Dawson? A I don't know.
- Q You don't know how they found that out? A No, sir.
- Q You say you saw Mr. Hastings here last Saturday? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, did you approach him or did he approach you? A He approached me.
- Q You know him? A No, sir; I suppose somebody I have told someone at some time about this, I don't know when or who. I don't remember of having talked to anyone about it. I have saw Mr. Hastings for years.
- Q Now, you say—now was that expression about his giving Dr. Baker three or four drinks of liquor? A He said the old man; he said that Dr. Baker, he was expecting him there and he didn't come, and he said he didn't care where he did or not; he said he was 88 or 90 years old; he said he didn't know straight up; said he could give him three or four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would not know black or white.
- Q Now, he said that didn't he? A Yes, sir.
- Q You are just as positive of that as you are of any other statement he made are you? A Yes, sir.
- Q You say you next saw Dawson at Vinita? A Yes, sir.
- Q How long afterwards was that? A About two years, I think something less than that.
- Q Did he come to the Territory? A Yes, sir he lived at Vinita at one time.

Q You speak about having a dairy business there at Vinita, to what extent? A I am only milking about four cows now, I sent the others to the country.

Q Do you run a dairy wagon there? A No, sir.

Q You serve on the jury a good deal? A I have been serving on the Petit jury there this winter.

Q Generally? No, sir.

Q Are you a kind of a professional juror? A No, sir; I was on the regular petit jury, I was on the regular panel and served.

C. G. BRAUGHT, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Rehears Motion:

BY THE COURT:

Q State your name? A C. G. Braught.

Q What day of the month? A 28th day of last January.

Q What is your post office? A Fairland.

Q How long have you been living in the neighborhood of Fairland?

A Been living there 19 years.

Q Do you know one Bud Dawson or F. H. Dawson as his name is?

A Yes, sir.

Q How long have you known him? A About 18 years.

Q How often do you live from him? A Half a mile or him.

Q Does he still live that place? A I think he does.

Q Were you a applicant for citizenship along about '81 or '2 at Tableland? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you have at any time a conversation with Bud Dawson about his and your citizenship cases? A Yes, sir.

Q State what he stated to you of citizenship cases in general and about his own in particular, you can state the facts that you had these conversations as near as you can? A Well, I think it was in '83, he told me if I ever got in I would have to put up; he said it cost him $700 to get in; he said he paid one witness three hundred dollars.

Q Did he state the name of that witness? A No, he did not.

Q Then did he say he made arrangements with? A He said he made arrangements with the Court; that is, heads of families to get them in at one hundred dollars apiece.

Q Do you know what time of the year that was, whether it was in the winter or not? A I think it was in June.

Q Did he make any other statements to you at any other time?

A No, sir, I don't think he has in regards to that matter.

Q You have been living neighbors with him? A Yes, sir.

BY THE COURT:

Q You say this was about June of '83? A I think it was in June, 1883, I won't be positive whether it was June or not.

Q You were an applicant; were you admitted? A No, sir.

Q Have you been admitted? A No, sir.

Q You are still an applicant? A Yes, sir.

Q Still trying to get in? A Yes, sir.

Q Where was this conversation had? A Had at Bud Dawson's house.

Q What part of the premises? that is, in his residence?

A Yes, sir.

Q In the house? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was present? A There wasn't anybody present; he just built the house and there wasn't anybody there.

Q Was there more than one room? A I won't be positive but I don't think there was but one room, log house.

Q Just one room? A Yes, sir.

Q And in that room he made this statement to you? A Yes, sir.

Q He and you are enemies are you not? A No, I don't think we are enemies.

Q You are not friendly at all? A Friendly part of the time, and part of the time we ain't.

Q Haven't you had considerable trouble about the lands between your farms? A No, sir; we ain't had any trouble.

Q Didn't you have his little boy arrested recently for a difficulty?

A Yes, sir.

Q And you say that you are not on bad terms with him?

A Why we speak, have conversation, have right right along all the time.

Q Is it not a fact now that you and he have been all the while at odds? A No, sir.

Q You don't have any unkind feeling towards him? A No, sir.

Q What were your other remarks? A I said no, sir, I didn't have any unkind feeling towards him.

(It being 5 o'clock, the Commission adjourns until 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.)

March 19, 1902.

Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

APPEARANCES:

Mr. A. S. McConnon, of Counsel for Applicants.

Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

C. G. BRAUGH, re-called, further testified:

MR. LICKELHORN:

Q Mr. Braught, you were a claimant under the Watts family are you not? A Yes, sir.

(witness excused.)

CHARLES D. KENNEY, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Charles D. Kenney.

Q What is your post office? A Dawson now.

Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; supposed to be.

Q Recognized as such are you? A Yes, sir.

Q How old are you? A There is no family record, my parents died when I was young; I just guess at my age, I am somewhere between 44 and 45 years old.

Q Were you personally acquainted with one Elbert or Buck Dawson?

A I knew Buck Dawson when I saw him.

Q Did you know him in the state of Texas, if so state what time?

A I knew Buck Dawson, knew him and saw him at different dates in Texas.

Q Well, in the year '81 in Clay County, Texas, did you ever see him?

A It was in '81 or '82, I think I knew him in both years.

Q Did you ever have any conversation with him in the presence of Bill Smith, Jiles Phipps and Joe Pleston about his application for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A Mr. Dawson and Pleston were talking in regard to going down there before a man called it was mentioned, I was going up on the strip and Buck Dawson says "he an Indian" and Jiles said "yes, he is an Indian", and "By God," I believe in the way he spoke, "if I was an Indian I would not be punching cattle, I would have steak eating by grass."

Q What did he say about asking application? A He said he was going to the Chickasaw Nation and prove up and get him some grass.

Q Who was that? A Buck Dawson.

Q Well, did anybody suggest about his going to the Cherokee Nation?

A Yes, sir, I told him, I says "why don't you go to the Seokee Nation, why don't you go up home" I believe is the way I spoke it, "up amongst God's people;" and he says "are they all white like you?" and Jiles spoke up and says "majority of them."

Q Well, what did he say to Jiles then? A He says "let's go up Jiles", just in a whole crowd of cow punches, and Mr. Flipin says "Hell, I am going; brother John is getting ready to go now."

Q Well, then what did he say to you? A He says "who are your best lawyers up there, Kenney," and I told him "Hookey Bell was counted the brainest man in our country."

Q Well, do you know whether he claimed to have any Indian blood or what he was claiming in that country, whether white man or Indian?

A No, sir, I could not say what he was; he was generally known down there as Buck Dawson, a citizen of the State of Texas, that is all I know of him.

Mr. McKernon: The applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Mr. McKernon:

Q Were you born and reared in the Cherokee Nation? A I can't tell you where I was born; I was raised here part of the time and in Burn County, Texas. B. W. Allerty was my guardian.

Q Were you admitted to citizenship by the Council or Court? A I think both of them passed on me; I can't tell you the date.

Q About what time? A It was sometime in '80 though.

Q What tribunal first? A I don't know; I don't know either when I was admitted, I was re-admitted at Council.

Q When? A I think it was in '87 or '88.

Q Haven't you been arrested for crime and charged with crime?

A Well, I didn't know that I was on trial; I have been arrested a hundred times I guess from here to the Rio Grande.

Q For what offense? A For gambling, stealing; if I am on trial I have had lots of them, I have been on the road.

MR. BASTINGS, of counsel for Cherokee Nation:

Q Were you ever convicted? A No, sir.

Mr. McKernon: Applicant makes further objection to the testimony of this witness on account of his criminal character stated by him.

THOMAS B. HARRART, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HARRART:

Q State your name, please? A Thomas B. Harrart.

Q What is your post office? A Helwin.

Q What is your age? A 40.

Q Are you a Cherokee by blood? A Yes, sir.

- Q Did you know one James Dawson? A Well, yes; I did; I have seen him time or two.
- Q Were you in Tahlequah about the time he had an application before the Spears or Snake Puppy Citizenship Court? A Yes, sir; I was there about the time the case was settled.
- Q Did you know Aaron Butler? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who was he? A He was a Cherokee Interpreter for the Court.
- Q Do you know James Smith? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who was he? A He was the Nation's attorney before the Court.
- Q Well, did you about that time have a conversation with either Aaron Butler or Jim Smith in company with Mr. James Dawson? A Yes.
- Q State the full particulars of it? A About that time this man Dawson and Butler come to me while they were all together, all three of them, and Butler come and called me off to one side, that was down at a colored church, it was after dark, and they called me off there and this man Dawson borrowed some money from me, he said he had to have it that night, his case was going to be submitted the next morning.
- Q Well, did he say anything about whether he could get his case submitted if he had some more? A Well, from the language to me and Butler, he wanted this money; Smith had agreed to submit the case without further evidence in the matter.
- Q Well, did you let him have the ten dollars? A Yes, sir.
- Q Where did they go then? A They walked off up towards town.
- Q Did they go together, those three? A Yes, sir.
- MR. McKENNON:
- Q Was that James Dawson, the leading applicant in that case? A Yes, best of my recollection that was.
- Q How old a man was he? A I don't know; I could not tell you; he looked, I don't know, he might have been—could not tell you just about how old he was.
- Q Well, about how old was he, 25, 30 or 40? A Yes, he was older than that, from my judgment I guess he must have been 45 or 50 years old.
- Q Is he living or dead? A I don't know.
- Q Where have you been living? A I have been living down here near Tahlequah.
- Q What was the man's name, Dawson's name? A Jim Dawson I think.
- Q You are certain of that? A Yes, sir; I am pretty certain.
- Q They came to you with Smith, the Prosecuting Attorney, and Butler, the Interpreter? A Yes, sir.
- Q Dawson took you off to one side? A Butler took me to where Dawson was and introduced me to Dawson and vouched for Dawson being all right for the money.
- Q When did you first make a statement of this matter to anybody? A I guess—I don't remember when.
- Q How long have you been in Muskogee this time? A I have been here since, I was summoned here last Friday.
- Q Did you ever make any statement to anybody about this before that time? A Yes, I talked to Butler about it.
- Q When? A Oh, about, first I remember it has been about two years ago, and Butler was talking to me about it; it was at my house.
- Q Were you born a citizen? A Yes, sir.
- Q You weren't admitted to citizenship by the Court or Council? A No, sir.
- Q You have been living in the Cherokee Nation all your life? A Well, I was born and raised here; I haven't been here all the time; I have been out and in.

Q You have never seen that man Dawson since? A If I have I have never known it, but I seen him the next day.

Q You saw him and took a good look at him, and know about what kind of man he was? I saw him around there about several times.

Q You think he was about 35 or 40 years old? A That would be my guess at it, my recollection.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness, all of it, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

DELIA A. BREWER, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your full name? A My husband's name was O. P. Brewer, but generally I sign my name Mrs. D. A. Brewer.

Q What was your full maiden name? A Delia A. Vann; well it was really Delilah but I never was called by that name, it was De altogether in my young days.

Q What was your father's name? A His name was Joseph Vann.

Q Was he called by any nicknames and if so how many, and what?

A None but the Cherokees, the full-bloods called him Joe Aney.

Q What does that name mean when you talk English? A Rich Joe.

Q Did any of them call him Big Joe Vann? A I don't know; he was a large man; larger than the other Joe Vann.

Q There was another Joe Vann? A Yes, sir.

Q Did your father have any sisters and brothers? A He had quite a number of sisters.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had two half brothers.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had several half sisters.

Q Who did they marry? A Different persons; I knew the names of all of them but I have a bad memory, but I know that there was one, a Mrs. Ibbie Wolfe, and Mrs. Lamer, she was first a Mrs. Nicholson and she became a Mrs. Lamer and lived in Alabama and never come to this country, but she has grandchildren in this country.

Q Well, did any of your father's sisters or half sisters ever marry a Rogers? A No, sir.

Q Never had any Rogers kin-folks? A No, sir, I certainly would have heard of them through my family, there was a great many of the kin-folks I never saw, but I heard of them.

Q The Dawson case was talked of here for many years, they claiming kin?

A I never knew until I understood they claimed to be kin to the Vanns, and I flatter myself that my family was prominent enough that they never claimed kin.

Q They never claimed kin at all? A No, sir.

Q Did your father ever had a sister or half sister by the name of Annie, Anna or Alsey? A No, sir.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to all the testimony of this witness because it is incompetent and irrelevant.

SAMUEL TOLLIVER DAWSON, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Samuel Tolliver Dawson.

- Q What relation are you to the Dawsons? A Well, I am not acquainted with none of these Dawsons, I guess I am cousin, that is what he told me.
- Q Who was your father? A Samuel Riley Dawson.
- Q What did you say your father's name was? A Mile Dawson.
- Q Do you know what his full name was? A Samuel Riley Dawson.
- Q What children had your father? A Why, he has got, you mean his first children or his whole family?
- Q I want all of his children? A I don't know, I will have to count a while on them, there was nine or ten of them.
- Q Just one or two of them I care for; is Mrs. Lewis your sister?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Your full sister? A Yes, sir.
- Q Was she a daughter of S. R. Dawson, Jr.? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now who were the parents of your father, Samuel Dawson?
- A Why Sam Dawson was his father.
- Q Sam Dawson was his father? A Yes, sir.
- Q What was Sam Dawson's wife, if you know their family history, what your father said or what your grandfather said? A I have heard that she was a Pruitt, my father said; of course I don't know.
- Q What was her given name? A Annie.
- Q Did you ever see your grandfather, Samuel Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q Saw him? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you know about how old he was when he died? A He was somewhere up about 90.
- Q About how old were you when your grandfather died? A I don't remember exactly how old I was, I must have been somewhere near 12 years old when my grandfather died.
- Q Was your father his youngest child? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you know about when your father was born? A Well, no, I don't, he died in '90 and he was 67 years old.
- Q He died in about '90 and was about 67 years old when he died?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q And he was the youngest child? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, do you know how many children your grandfather had, that is brothers and sisters of your father? A I heard him say seven.
- Q Well, did you ever hear your father or grandfather speak of whether or not your grandmother was a white woman or an Indian?
- A Well, I heard my father speak about it, I don't know that I ever heard my grandfather say anything about it.
- Q Well, what did he say about it? A I have heard him say his mother was not an Indian.
- Q Did you father come here and apply once for citizenship?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Was he admitted? A I think not.
- Q Did you hear him make any statements about the ground he expected to get in? A He said his brothers had proved their rights here and if his brothers had any rights he did, but I don't know.
- Q Well, in that connection did he say whether his mother was an Indian or white woman? A Never heard him say that his mother was a white woman in speaking about that, I don't know whether he said anything about that or not; I have heard him say his mother wasn't no Indian.

Mr. McKimmon: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness because it is wholly irrelevant and immaterial.

Q And had a sister named Mrs. Petty? A Yes, sir.
Q And another one named Mrs. McGee? A Yes, sir.
Q And another brother named John? A Yes, sir.
Q What relation are you to Mrs. A. S. Lewis? A Sister.
Q Did you ever see your grandfather, Samuel Dawson? A Yes, sir.
Q You have a distinct recollection of him? A I, yes, I can remember him, but I was small.
Q About how old were you you suppose when your grandfather died?
A About 6.
Q Was your father's birth recorded in the family Bible? A Yes, sir.
Q You know whether your grandfather's record of marriages and deaths were recorded in any Bible or not? A I was, but we haven't it.
Q What because of it? A Got burned.
Q Well, about what year do you remember that your father, Samuel Dawson was born? A I believe it was '23.
Q In 1823? A Yes, sir.
Q And how old was he when he died, if you recollect? A He was between 64 and '7.
Q Did you ever hear your father speak of his relations, his father and mother, as to whether they were white people or Indians?
A Yes, sir, they were white people.

Q. You know whether in the family you grandfurther was spoken of by the name of Annie, always? A Yes, sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness because it is wholly irrelevant and incompetent.

ALEX S. LEWIS, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Alex S. Lewis.

Q What is your post-office? A Dawson, Indian Territory.

Q How old are? A 59 years.

Q What was your wife's maiden name? A Elizabeth Paralee Dawson.

Q Who was your wife's father and mother? A Her father was Samuel R. Dawson and her mother was the wife of Samuel R. Dawson, did you want her maiden name?

Q Well, if you know the maiden name of your wife's mother, state how you know it? A Well she was called Margaret, Margaret Queen was her maiden name.

Q The maiden name now of your wife's father's mother? A Why the maiden name of my wife's father's mother?

Q Yes, sir? A From what her husband and my father-in-law told me it was Annie Pruett.

Q What was the name of your wife's father's father? A My wife's grandfather on her father's side, Samuel Dawson.

Q And his wife's maiden name was Annie Pruett? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you know the old gentleman, Samuel Dawson, your wife's grandfather? A Yes, sir.

Q Personally? A Yes, sir.

Q What opportunities had you to get acquainted with him? A He lived with his youngest son, my father-in-law, and visited us, my wife and I, after we were married, at least with us quite a while; I lived near my father-in-law and he visited very often.

Q When did he die? A '74.

Q Have you any particular method of recalling that date? A Well, I was away from the house when he was taken sick, and they sent for my wife and myself, and so when I got home my wife had gone to her father's to see her grandfather, he was sick, and I remember my first wife was a baby at that time.

Q And when was your first child born? A He was born December, '73.

Q You know how old your wife's father was when he died? A Why he was up in 60, but I don't remember his age.

Q Did the old original Samuel Dawson ever tell you his age? A Yes, sir, several times.

Q How old was he at the time of his death? A He was past 64.

Q Did he ever tell you whether or not his wife Annie Pruett had any sister or brother? A Told me she only had one brother named Bob Pruett.

Q Have any of the members of the family named their children after him? A Make it a little plain, it is a little long; my wife's oldest brother was a particular favorite of his grandfather, and he always took this boy with him everywhere, and he had named one of his, - oldest child for this brother-in-law who was a particular favorite of his grandfather; named it for him I understood.

Q Now, what is his name? A Of course I don't know why he named it, but he gave him the name of Robert Pruett, and I understand it was on account of his grandfather thinking so much of Robert Pruett.

Q Did you ever hear the old Samuel Dawson speak of his brother-in-law? A Yes, sir; I have heard him say that he wished he knew what had become of Bob Pruett, he never had heard of him for a long time; didn't know where he was, or whether he was alive or not.

Q Now, I want the children of Samuel Dawson and Annie Pruett, how many of them did you know first? A How many did I know personally?

Q Yes, sir? A John James, and Samuel R. Those were the only ones of his children that I remember personally.

Q Well, remember what you know of the family, what other children did he have? A Well he had two girls, as I understand the family history, he had two girls, first, and John Dawson was the third child, and the oldest boy was John Dawson.

Q Was John Dawson the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q Which was the oldest girl? What is she known by now? A I think it was Mrs. Petty, nee Bettie Dawson.

Q And John Dawson was the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q And Samuel R. Dawson was the youngest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q You know anything about the time John Dawson was born, have you any way of coming at it, the oldest boy? A Yes, sir, I know what the oldest son and his wife told me.

Q What was that? A They said he was born in 1811.

Q Who was his oldest son? A Toliver H. Dawson; told me his father was born in 1811.

Q Do you remember now whether the old man had occasion to say whether his wife, Annie Pruett was an Indian or white woman, or ever said anything about it? A I know what the old man said that she was, I don't know that I ever heard the question approached in that way, I have heard him speak as to her blood, but it was in a different way that he reached it.

Q What blood did he say she was? A Well he said that she was the daughter of Mrs. Pruett, a white woman; and that her father was Captain John Rogers, a white man who lived with the Cherokee Indians, and traded with them.

Q Did he say who Captain John Rogers afterwards married? A Said he had a wife in the Cherokee Nation.

Q But that Annie Pruett was not her child? A No, sir, she was the child of Mrs. Pruett.

Q A white woman? A Yes, sir, that was the half sister of Bob Pruett.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Q Did ever you apply for citizenship here? A Yes, sir; for my wife.

Q When? A My father-in-law made the application, I don't know exactly when it was, I think probably about '86, I couldn't say as to the date.

Q Before the Cherokee authorities? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he file an application before the Daves Commission in 1885 also? A Him.

Q Yes, sir? A I don't think he did, no sir.

Q Did you? A I did.

Q On account of your wife? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you make affidavit to that application? A No, sir.

Q Who did? A I don't know, don't remember now.

Q You applied for your wife as an Indian by blood did you not?

A Yes, sir.

Q Are you still an applicant? A No, sir.

Q Is she? A No, sir.

Q She was denied was she? A Yes, sir.

Q Was there an appeal taken from that? A Application was filed, I remember, before the Daves Commission, and they rejected it, and then I appealed it to the District Court, and it was rejected, and then I stopped.

Q Have you ever been arrested for any crime? A Yes, sir.
Q What? A Charge of murder.
Q Anything else? A No, sir.
Q Committed on the train? A Yes, sir.
Q In a train robbery? A Yes, sir, in a train robbery.
Q How long did you remain in jail? A Appealed the case to the Supreme Court, and it was reversed and sent back, and I was acquitted on that charge.
Q That all the crime you were ever charged with? A Yes, sir.
Q Haven't you been having some trouble with the Dawson family?
A Well me personally I have no trouble with any of them, there is one of my boys and one of W. A. Dawson's sons-in-law had some trouble.
Q You are not friendly with the Dawson family? A That son-in-law Mr. Fooley, and myself, don't speak, and I don't think his wife speaks to me either.
Q Well you are claiming some sort of lease on the Wooley farm, aren't you? A No, sir, I don't claim any lease on the Wooley farm.

B. W. ALBERTY, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A B. W. Alberty.
Q What is your post-office? A Tahlequah.
Q What is your present official position in the Cherokee Nation?
A Assistant Executive Secretary of the Cherokee Nation.
Q As such have you charge of the citizenship records and books etc. of the Nation? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you made search recently for the original records in the various cases of the Dawson family before citizenship courts in Council? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you got what records you found with you? A I find what's supposed to be the original papers in the case, all that I could find. (Produces papers and hands to Nation's attorney.)
Q Where did you find these papers? A I found them in the desk in which papers of that character are filed away in the Executive office at Tahlequah. (Applicant's attorneys examine papers produced by witness.)

vs.

Cherokee Nation

Testimony for Claimants.

Witness:

Dr. Baker sworn testified as follows. My name is Arthur Baker I reside at Ferrivill, Arkansas, Carroll County, my age is 73 years, I am not a Cherokee, I lived in the Cherokee Nation about three years when I first came to Arkansas I have been acquainted with him since he became a citizen of Carroll County some thirty five years (line drawn through the last three words.) 25 years at my mother's house near Calhoun I became acquainted with the claimants Robt Dawsons grandfather on Mother's side, she was frequently at my mother's house; though she Anna Pruet lived in the Nation side. She claimed to be a half sister to Big Joe Vann, also claimed to be half Cherokee; the first time she brought the claimant's mother to my mother's house she the claimant's mother was about grand, when I was a little boy she called her daughter Polly Rogers and Capt. John Rogers who ran a boat up the river was the father. The child I saw the girl frequently there at my mother's and when at Lewis Rogers Store I saw her occasionally until I was 11 or 12 years old and I think then Old Capt John Rogers took her off to school. I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of Old Samuel Dawson. I stayed all night there and a c and I had a talk over our old matters, and I asked her when she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school. And she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home to the Nation and they were there married. I have told that precisely in the words she used.

Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee, the claimant is the son of Polly Rogers and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruet, and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson Capt Rogers then resided in the Cherokee Country about twelve miles from Calhoun on the Hiwassee River.

Anna Pruet resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there the Dawsons when I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees, Robt Dawsons children is Buck, John, Marion, and two girls; the children named in the petition I recognize as being the claimants.

Question by Solicitor:

Ques. 1 How many children did Polly Rogers have?

Ans. 1 Five, I think that's all.

Ques. 2 Did you say anything about someone being married twice?

Ans. 2 The claimant was married twice.

Ques. 3 Could Anna Pruet speak Cherokee?

Ans. 3 Yes she could speak it well

Ques. 4 Did Polly Rogers speak Cherokee?

Ans. 4 She could when she was young.

Ques. 5 How far do you live from Anna Pruet?

Ans. 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.

Ques. 6 Was Calhoun in the Cherokee Nation?

Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river, part in the Nation and part out in the State.

Ques. 7 Which Harnage was it went to Texas?
 Ans. 7 George went first then John went they were the sons of old man Harnage that lived up here near the line.
 Ques. 8 Did the claimant go to Texas?
 Ans. 8 No the claimant didn't go to Texas.
 Ques. 9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
 Ans. 9 The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers Marion here is the grandson of Polly Rogers.
 Ques. 10 Where does claimant now live?
 Ans. 10 He lives in Carroll County, Arkansas.
 Ques. 11 Do you know what relation old Captain John Rogers was to Captain Rogers here in Cooweescoowee?
 Ans. 11 They claimed kin but what kin I dont know there were two Capt. John Rogers' in the Nation I am speaking of the time when I first came to this 1830 Country about the year 1830.
 Ques. 12 Was Anna Pruet the maiden name of Claimant's grandmother?
 Ans. 12 Yes that was her maiden name the Indians called her Sinee.

Joseph Dawson introduced for Claimants, sworn in open court testified as follows:

Joseph Dawson, am a Cherokee live in the Cherokee Nation, am 31 years old.

Lulu Dauthett and Dallas Dauthett, the Claimants are Cherokees. Fannie Dawson was their mother. Fannie Dawson was a Cherokee, that is what I wa always told. Her father was E. Dawson. E. Dawson was my brother. Mrs. Dauthett is not living now: the last time I s w Lula, and Dallas Dauthett, they were in Texas. But I have heard since that they are in the Cherokee Nation. E. Dawson recognizes them as his grandchildren and I have known them ever since they were born.
 My Solicitor:

Lula is about 10 years old. The Dallas is about 5 or 6 years old. I heard that their father is now at Vinita Cherokee Nation, E. Dawson is Elbert Dawson. The applicants' mother has been dead about three or four years. She died at Hillsboro, Texas.

I was not present when their mother and E. Dawson had eight children to the best of my recollection, or 9. Fannie, Francis, Cartenas, Zanie, Bob, Smith, Worth, Bert, Ella. All living but two, Fannie and Smith. They are all living in Texas when I left there. I am a brother to F. M. Dawson, we are full brothers. In red ink written along Age column is the following: "Rejected April 26, 1839."

"Now this day comes the above case for final hearing, Samuel R. Dawson, bases his application for readmission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the ground that he is the son of Samuel Dawson a white man, Polly Rogers the alleged daughter of Captain John Rogers and Gilesey Pruitt, and so be a half-breed of Joseph Vann, commonly known as Rich, and who was of Cherokee blood. It is admitted that John Rogers and Gilesey Pruitt died before the roll was taken which their names would appear if living at the time and specified in the 7th section of the Act of December 8th, 1830, entitled the Commission on Citizenship, was made but in support of the application it is urged that certain members of the Rogers family and full brothers of the applicant were admitted to citizenship by the Commission on citizenship especially those as "The Peace Court", and the "Appeals Court", and are now residing as citizens in the Cherokee Nation. In the opinion of this Commission the sufficiency of the considerations which influenced the decision of the Commission of the testimony now introduced to authorize the admission of the present applicant, is not relevant to the issue now pending. The 7th meeting of the Act of December 8th, 1886, before named provides, that "the Commission shall give a hearing to any person applying for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the ground of Cherokee blood or descent, but such applicant must be a person, or the lineal descendant of a person whose name appears upon the census rolls of Cherokees taken by the United States." As are hereafter enumerated. Neither the name of the applicant nor that of the person of whom he claims to be a lineal descendant appearing upon either of said rolls the Commission adjudge and decree that Samuel R. Dawson and family are not entitled to re-admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as Cherokees by blood. This opinion includes the case of Andrew J. Dawson, James K. P. Dawson, Jounnah Barber nee Jounnah Dawson and Jane Queen, nee Jane Dawson, and their families, as enumerated in their respective applications.

I am a citizen of the Cherokee Nation and reside in Cooweescoowee Dist. and am 53 years old. I am acquainted with the applicant, Andrew J. Dawson, he claims to be a relation of mine. I have known him personally about three (3) years. He said his father was Joe Dawson. I know the party, the applicant, from circumstances, and have no doubt but that he is a relation of mine.

Joe Dawson, the father of the applicant was my father's brother. Joe Dawson was considered to be a Cherokee, I think he died on the Hiwassee river in Tenn. I think he had four (4) children. I never saw any of them but Andrew J. Dawson, and Jim Dawson.

-Cross Ex.-

Joe Dawson has been dead about 35 years he lived west of the Mississippi River, I understand. My father had four brothers. I don't know how long Jou Dawson had been living in Tenn. before he died. All that I know of the applicant being the son of my Uncle Jou Dawson, is from what he himself has told me, - My grandfather, Sam Dawson was a white man. The applicant could be of the Dawson name and not be related to me - My grandfather being a Dawson and a white man.

Now this day covers the above case for final hearing. Samuel R. Dawson bases his application for re-admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the ground that he is the son of Samuel Dawson, a white man, Polly Rogers, the alleged daughter of Captain John Rogers, and Chilney Pruet said to be half sister of Joseph Vann cor. and known as Rich and who were of Cherokee blood. It is admitted that John Rogers was Calley Pruett died before the 7th section of the Act of December 31st, 1886, creating the Commission on citizenship were made, but in support of the application it is urged that certain members of the Dawson family the full brothers of the applicant were admitted to citizenship by the Commission on citizenship commonly known as the "Texas Court" and "Spears Court" and are now residing as citizens in the Cherokee Nation. In the opinion of this Commission the sufficiency of the consular one which determined the definiteness of those commissions or the vesting now introduced to determine the admission of the present applicant is not relevant in the issue now pending. The 7th section of the Act of December 31st, 1886, as amended provides that the Commission hearing to any person applying for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the grounds of Cherokee blood or descent, but such applicant must be a person, or the lineal descendant of a person whose name appears upon the census rolls of the Cherokee taken by the United States, or hereinafter enumerated, neither the name of the applicant nor that of the person of whom he claims to be a lineal descendant appearing upon either of said rolls, the Commission adjudge and decree that Samuel R. Dawson and family are not entitled to re-admission of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as Cherokees by blood. This opinion includes the case of Andrew J. Dawson, James K. P. Dawson, Joannah Barber, nee Joannah Dawson, and Jane Queen, nee Jane Dawson and their families as enumerated in their respective applications.

W. C. Rogers being duly sworn on oath deposes and says: that he is a citizen and resident of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory. That his post-office address is Skiatook, Ind. Ter. that he was born and raised in the above said Nation and Territory: that he is 46 years of age:

Affiant further states that he is slightly acquainted with Irene J. House, an applicant for admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as shown by copy of her application.

Affiant further states that his father's name was Charlie Rogers - he was a son of Captain John Rogers and the said Capt. John Rogers was the only man of that name that ever lived in the Cherokee Nation that this affiant ever heard of: that the said Capt. John Rogers this affiant's grandfather lived at Oriskany Hall, D. C. and died in Washington, D. C.

This affiant states that his father Charlie Rogers had one sister and two brothers viz. Captain Rogers, Lewis Rogers, George Rogers, Volney Rogers, Granvil Rogers and a daughter (name not recalled) that he (this affiant) was present and saw the bodies of the above said Volney Rogers, Granvil Rogers and Lewis Rogers, who were killed when this affiant was a child.

This affidavit states that he was 34 years of age, that his father, Charlie Rogers died, that his father never had any other children (this is in his own handwriting) brothers or sisters than the ones above mentioned; that the said Polly Rogers named in the application for citizenship of Irene J. Hesse, was not a sister of his father; that his father never had but one sister viz. Cynthia Rogers and this affiant never heard of; that this affiant was well acquainted with his aunt Cynthia Crump.

Just here the following is inserted on separate paper:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT OF
CHEROKEE NATION. I, John L. Adair, Executive Secretary of the Cherokee Nation, do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing with the original record in this Department, and that the same are correct copies and transcripts therefrom.

In witness whereof I have signed this affidavit and affixed the Great Seal of said Cherokee Nation, at Tallahassee, this, the 5th day of Feb. 1896.

(seal) (signed) John L. Adair,
Executive Secretary.

Then the above affidavit continues:

"(nee) Rogers that she lived with this affiant's father for a number of years prior to her death.

Affiant states that he has often talked with his father, Charlie Rogers and his aunt Cynthia Crump (nee Rogers) about his relatives; that they never spoke of any other sister in their family; that his affiant was about 30 years of age when his aunt, Cynthia Crump died; that they told him there never was (words "never was" marked over with ink) father never had any other daughter or daughter other than Cynthia Rogers.

Affiant states that his father told him a number of times, that this affiant's grandfather Capt John Rogers never had any other family other than the one above mentioned; that this affiant never heard his father Charlie Rogers or any of his relatives speak of his grandfather Capt John Rogers sailing or running a boat up any river.

Affiant states his father Charlie Rogers was born on Big Mulberry, South-east of Van Buren, Arkansas, in the year of 1817.

Further affiant saith nothing more.

Jennah Barber Commission's Form. et al-
for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Your respondent, S. H. Hayes, Principal Chief of the Cherokee Nation, called her attention to the said application, and for the grounds thereof as follows:

1st. That the Commission has no jurisdiction over the parties or subject matter of this controversy, and not legal right, therefore, to hear her application, and so.

2nd. That the application does not state facts sufficiently in detail to show that the applicants are entitled to citizenship.

Respondent now waiving the alleged defect, but insisting upon the facts for reasons to wit: application, signed by John Rogers through which the petitioners claim to derive their right to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, is not new, and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, since the removal of said Nation, to the Indian Territory as at present located and designated, that his name does not appear upon any of the authentic rolls of said Nation; that neither they nor any of their ancestors nor parents or grandparents have resided in the Cherokee Nation and Indian Territory, as citizens thereof.

Having fully answered your respondent asks to be once dismissed.

Ella Moore, Attie L. Hunt, Alcey J. Smart, APPELLANTS.

vs
CHEROKEE NATION,

APPELLEE.

PETITION FOR APPEAL FROM THE DECISION OF THE COMMISSION
TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

Come now the appellants in the above entitled cause and petition the Court to grant an appeal in said cause from a decision of the Commission, known as the Dawes Commission, created and empowered to treat with the Five Civilized Tribes of Indians, to-wit: the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw, and Seminole Indians, and to pass upon and decide applications for citizenship in the said Five Civilized Tribes, which decision by said Commission was rendered by authority of, but not in accordance with, an Act of Congress passed and approved June 10th, 1896, and by which decision on the 29 day of October, 1896 the aforesaid appellants were denied their rights to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

The facts relied upon by the appellants to establish their rights to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as aforesaid are as follows: to-wit: The affidavits of E. Dawson, S. R. Dawson, T. A. Dawson, F. M. Dawson.

Said affidavits fully and conclusively establishing the fact that said applicants are Cherokee Indians, by blood and descent, and entitled to rights of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Said affidavits, together with the application, of said appellants, were, prior to September the 10th, 1896, filed with and submitted to said Commission for its investigation, consideration and decision.

That a certified copy of said application, together with the aforesaid affidavits, were served upon the Chief, or Attorney General, of said Cherokee Nation, prior to September the 10th, 1896.

The errors of the Commission in rejecting the claims for citizenship of said appellants are the grounds for appeal to this Court, to-wit:

FIRST. The Commission erred in rendering its decision on said claims adversely to the appellants and against the proof submitted by said appellants.

SECOND. The Commission erred in investigating the claims of appellants and denying the same during the absence of a majority of the members of the Commission.

THIRD. The Commission erred in refusing the appellants the right and privilege of examining the proof submitted by appellees in support of the answers filed by the appellees and denying the appellants the right of filing a replication to appellee's answer or producing proof in rebuttal of the same.

FOURTH. The Commission erred in denying the appellants the right of a trial of their claims by a competent jury, as warranted to them by the laws and constitution of the United States.

FIFTH. The Commission erred in refusing appellants the right to be present in person, or by attorney, during the trial and determination of their claims before the said Commission.

SIXTH. The Commission erred in refusing to issue process for witnesses and to send subpoenas and papers when requested to do so by the appellants.

SEVENTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the right of these appellants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

EIGHTH. The Commission erred in deciding against blood, holding that blood was not a test of the right of citizenship in said Cherokee Nation.

NINTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the location of residence, holding that residence in the Cherokee Nation was not a test of the right of citizenship in the said Cherokee Nation.

TENTH. The Commission erred in not entering upon their docket and record the reasons upon which the claims of appellants were denied and refusing to notify appellants the grounds of denial or rejection.

ELEVENTH. The Commission erred in examining the claims and proof of appellants and denying the same while the Commission was not clothed with any legal authority, nor had jurisdiction, to render decision on said claims and deny the same.

TWELFTH. That the Act of Congress approved June the 16th, 1896, was unconstitutional and had no power or legal right to confer jurisdiction on said Commission to try and determine the rights to citizenship of said appellants, and said Commission erred in determining the rights and denying the same to said appellants.

THIRTEENTH. That Congress had no power by enactment to create, appoint and empower a judiciary, and said Commission erred in hearing the claims of said appellants without any legal authority to do so.

Therefore, the appellants of this cause pray that an appeal be granted to this Court and that a trial, de novo, be granted the appellants, and that said appellants be permitted to introduce new testimony, and that an order be made requiring said Commission to send all pleadings, papers and records relating hereto in this cause to this Court, and that the Cherokee Nation, the appellee in this case, be cited to do or at this Court and plead and defend against the same, showing that the appellants should not by the rules, orders and decisions of this Court be adjudged entitled to citizenship in the said Cherokee Nation, and the appellants will ever pray.

: REPORT OF SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION. )

---o0o---

I, H. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to this Court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proofs and pleadings herein, which is hereto attached and are a part of the proof, and that I find as follows:

I

In this case was instituted on September 30th, 1898, before the Dawes Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, by Joanna Barber, and Isaac J. Barber, her husband, and their children, Onis E., William E., James E., Johnnie and Joel A.
Barber; that Joel A. Barber had the following children:
Mattie Taliver, George A., Frankie C., Jesse and Etzel Barber.
That the application included also Mary A. Barber and her child Inez Barber, Emma L. Murphy and her child Clara Murphy, Eva Moore and her children Anna J., Jackson D., Ruby and Gladys, Attie L. Hunt and her child Bernard Hunt, Alvey J. Smart and her children Georgia A. and Emzey H. Smart, Joana J.
Garlinghouse and her children Lyrtle C., Corn L. and Bertha
M. Garlinghouse. That this application was by the Commission tried and rejected on October 29th, 1898, with no reasons
given for the decision, and that subsequently on December 23, 1898, the claimants appealed to this Court, that the parties
all live in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

II

That the parties claim the right to be admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by reason of their descent from Polly Rogers, who is claimed to be a Cherokee Indian by blood. That I've filed in support of their application the affidavits of S. R. Dawson, F. Dawson, Francis A. Dawson, and F. A. Dawson, who testify that Joanna Barber is the daughter of Elizabeth Estay, nee Rogers, who was the daughter of Polly Rogers, and married a white man by the name of Samuel Dawson, and that Polly Rogers was the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Alley Young. That these witnesses are all Cherokee citizens by blood, and were with the claimants, and according to their testimony, related to the by blood.

The appellee introduces to controvert this testimony the decision of the Cherokee Commission on citizenship, rendered in the year 1897, in which these claimants were rejected by this Commission and also the affidavits of T. C.
Rogers a grandson of Captain John Rogers, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, a granddaughter of Captain John Rogers, both of whom state that they never heard of any daughter of said Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and that Cynthia Rogers was his only daughter.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation, and the relatives of the Dawson family, who are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, and entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood, and the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the claimants claim, is not a citizen and has not been a member of the Cherokee Nation since the removal West; that his name does not appear on the rolls of the Cherokee Nation, and that neither his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

The reasons considered, in view of the unsettled condition of affairs in the Cherokee Nation at the time when John Rogers, the ancestors through whom these claimants trace their Cherokee blood, lived, and especially in view of the absence of a marriage law and of records pertaining to marriage, I am of the opinion that these claimants have proved that they are descended from Capt. John Rogers, who resided in the Cherokee Nation, and was a recognized citizen, though they do not show that he was ever enrolled as such, and I therefore find that the claimants are all residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, and that they are all Cherokee Indians by blood. That they have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1897, and probably longer, though the proof does not state definitely how long they have so resided.

I ask that the Court allow a reasonable fee for my services here in as Special Master.

Respectfully submitted this 16 day of August, 1897.

(Signed) H. A. Gibson,
SPECIAL MASTER.

By me paid.

No Exceptions filed.

BY THE COURT.

From this report it appears that the claimants base their right to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation upon the grounds that they are the descendants of a Cherokee Indian by blood, but their ancestors through whom they claim have never resided in the Cherokee Nation as now constituted. It appears that they have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1897, and probably longer, though the proof does not state definitely how long they have so resided.
It does not appear that the applicants or any of their ancestors have ever been recognized as members of the Cherokee Nation.

The judgment of the United States Commission rejecting this case is affirmed, and the application of the claimants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation is denied."

and more in the same case.

Witness, my name is Bill Dawson, and my address follows:

My name is Bill Dawson, I reside at Ferryville Arkansas Carroll County, and I have never been a Cherokee. I lived in the Cherokee Nation from 1840 until 1845 when I first came to Arkansas. I have never been married since he became a citizen of Carroll County. I was 25 years old at my mother's house near Calhoun. I had a dispute with the claimant's Robt Dawson grand father. I don't know where she was frequently at my mother's house until she died. I lived in the Nation side. She claimed to be half Cherokee. The first time she brought the claimant's mother to my mother's house she the mother's mother was about grown when I was a little boy. She called her daughter Polly Rogers, said Captain John Rogers who ran a boat up the River was the father of the child. I saw the girl frequently there at my mother's and there at Louis Russos Store.

I saw her occasionally until I was 15 or 16 years of age and I think then Old Capt. John Rogers took her off to school, I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of old Samuel Dawson, I stayed all night there and she and I had a talk over our old matters and I asked her where she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school and she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home, to the Nation and they were there married. I have told that precisely in the words that she said, Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee. The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers, and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruett and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson.

Capt. Rogers then reside in the Cherokee Country about twenty (word "twenty" marked through) twelve miles below Calhoun on the Hiwassee River. Anna Pruett resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there to the Dawson when I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees. Robert Dawson's children is Huck, John, Marian and two girls. The child named in the petition I recognized as being the claimant.

Question by Solicitor:

- Q. 1 How many marriages did Polly Rogers have?
- A. 1 Five I think that's all.
- Q. 2 Did you say anything about some one being married twice?
- A. 2 The claimant was married twice.
- Q. 3 Could Anna Pruett speak Cherokee?
- A. 3 Yes, she could speak it well.

- Ques 4 Did Polly Rogers speak Cherokee?
 Ans. 4 She did when she was young.
- Ques 5 How far did you live from Anna Pruet?
 Ans. 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.
- Ques 6 Was Calhoun in the Cherokee Nation?
 Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river part in the Nation and part out in the state.
- Ques 7 Which Harnage was it went to Texas?
 Ans. 7 George went first, then John went, they were the sons of old Sam Harnage, that lived up near the line.
- Ques 8 Did the claimant go to Texas?
 Ans. 8 No the claimant did not go to Texas.
- Ques 9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
 Ans. 9 The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers
 Marion here is the grandson of Polly Rogers.
- Ques 10 Where does claimant now live?
 Ans. 10 He lives in Carroll Co Arkansas.
- Ques 11 Do you know what relation old Capt John Rogers was to the old Rogers here in Coovesawcooves?
 Ans. 11 They claimed kin but what kin I dont know there were two Capt John Rogers in the Nation I am speaking of the time when I first come to this country about the year 1830.
- Ques 12 Was Anna Pruet the maiden name of claimants grandfather?
 Ans. 12 Yes that was her maiden name the Indian called her

To the Honorable the Dawes Commission on Citizenship in the Five Civilized Tribes in the Indian Territory:

Your petitioner, Irena J. House, undersigned, respectfully states that she is a Cherokee Indian by blood, as asks to be enrolled as a member of the Cherokee Nation of Indians in the Indian Territory. That she derives her said Indian blood from Joseph Barber her father, who is a Cherokee Indian by blood. The said Joseph Barber being a daughter of Elizabeth Petty who was the daughter of Polly Rogers and Samuel Dawson, the said Polly Rogers being the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Anna (alay Vani) Pruet, Cherokee Indian, as shown by a certified copy of the affidavit of Dr. Arthur A. Baker, which is hereto attached as Exhibit A also affidavits marked exhibits B- C- D- and E.

Your petitioner states the above facts as the lawful grounds for her application for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, and prays that her claim may be fully investigated by your Honorable Commission and that she be adjudged to be a citizen of said Cherokee Nation of Indians and entitled to all the rights and privileges pertaining to such citizenship in accordance with the laws and treaties with said Nation of Indians.

F. H. Dawson being duly sworn according to law deposes and says:

My name is F. M. Dawson; I am 54 years of age; My post office address is Afton Indian Territory I am a farmer by occupation and reside in the Cherokee Nation.

I am a recognized Cherokee citizen by blood. I was born in Carroll County Arkansas near Berryville. I derived my Cherokee Indian blood from my grandmother whose maiden name was Polly Rogers through my father Robert Dawson, my grandmother Polly Rogers was a Cherokee Indian and was married to Samuel Dawson my grand father in the old Cherokee Nation in Tennessee. My grand parents Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly came west from the Old Cherokee Country in about 1832 and settled in Western Arkansas and later came on to the Indian Territory and the father of this affiant Robert Dawson and family settled in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, Robert Dawson, the father of the affiant was also a recognized citizen of the present Cherokee Nation by reason of his Cherokee Indian blood.

The said Robert Dawson father of this affiant and Elizabeth Dawson who married John Petty were full brother and sister by blood, both being children of said Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly Dawson whose maiden name was Polly Rogers

The said Elizabeth Petty was the mother of Joanna Barber who is a full cousin by blood of this affiant in the Indian side. The said Joanna Barber is the mother of Irene J. House nee Barber who is a second cousin of this affiant in the Indian side.

This affiant further states that he has seventy five to a hundred blood relatives who reside in the Cherokee Nation and are recognized Cherokee Indians by blood and drew their per capita money all the last payment; said citizens and relatives derived their Indian blood from the same source that the above named Irene J. House, derives her Indian blood and right.

This statement I have made to John H. Koogler, a Notary Public at Muskogee Indian Territory and it has been written down by him at my dictation. Such part of this testimony which refers to matters occurring previous to my recollection I know by means of family history and traditions which facts I have always been taught and told of by my parents and grand parents from childhood up, the facts stated as occurring since my childhood I know of my personal knowledge. Affiant further states that he is not personally interested in the prosecution of the application of said Irene J. House for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

EXHIBIT D.

E. Dawson, being duly sworn according to law on oath states: My name is E. Dawson; I am 61 years old; my post office address is Talala, Ind. Ter. I am a Farmer by Occupation, and reside in Coconoescoowee District- Cherokee Nation. I am a recognized Cherokee Indian by blood, and exercise all the rights and immunities of a Cherokee citizen now living in the present Cherokee Nation. I was born in Carroll County Arkansas near Berryville. I derived my Cherokee Indian blood from my Grandmother Polly Rogers through my father, Robert Dawson. My grandmother Polly Rogers was a Cherokee Indian and was married to my grandfather Samuel Dawson in the old Cherokee Nation in Tennessee. My Grand Parents, Samuel Dawson and his wife Polly Dawson whose maiden name was Polloy Roger come West from the Old Cherokee Country in about the year 1832, and settled in Western Arkansas, and later came on to the Cherokee Nation. My father Robert Dawson was a recognized member of the Cherokee Nation when he died, by reason of his Cherokee Indian blood.

The said Robert Dawson, the father of this affiant, and Elizabeth Dawson who married John Petty were full brother and sister by blood, both being children of the said Samuel Dawson and Polly Dawson his wife she being the same Polly Rogers as aforesaid. The said Elizabeth Petty was the mother of ~~Joanna Barber~~ who is a full cousin by blood of this affiant on the Indian side, the said ~~Joanna Barber~~ is the mother of Irena J. House, whose maiden name was Irena J. Barber and a second cousin of this affiant on the Cherokee Indian side. This affiant further states that he has seventy five to a hundred blood relatives who reside in the Cherokee Nation and are recognized Cherokee Indians of the present Cherokee Nation and exercise all the rights and privileges of such Cherokee citizens, they having drawn their shares of the Strip Money at the last per capita payment made by the Cherokee Nation.

Said citizens and relatives derived their Cherokee Indian blood from the same source, as did the above named Irena J. House.

I have made this statement before J. Barricklaw, Notary Public at Talala, Ind. Ter, and affiant further states that he has no personal interest in the prosecution of the claim for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation of the said Irena J. House.

That the above facts which are within the personal knowledge of the affiant or within his years of discretion he knows personally, and the other facts which occurred before the recollection of affiant he testifies to from what he has been taught from his family history and traditions.

That the relationship existing among all his people in the Cherokee Nation he knows from his personal knowledge and that they are related to the Cherokee Indian side.

Before us the undesignated authority this day personally appeared W. A. Dawson who is to me well and personally acquainted, and after being duly sworn: deposes and says, that he is well acquainted with Irena J. House and knows she is a Cherokee Indian, and that he knows she is the daughter of Joana Barber, who is a niece of Robt. & James Dawson, who are both Cherokee Indians and recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Affiant further states that Irena House is the grand daughter of Mrs. Petty, who was a full sister of Robt & James Dawson.

Affiant further says that he knows that Irena House is a lineal descendant of Amie Dawson whose children (line drawn through word "children") sons, Robt & James before spoken are recognized citizens.

Affiant further says he has no interest in this suit.

Mr. N. A. Gibson, Special Master to whom this case was referred, submits the following report: (Insert report)

IN THE UNITED STATES COURT IN THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

NORTHERN DISTRICT AT MUSKOGEE.

IRENE J. HOUSE ET AL

VS

NO. 238 REPORT OF SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION.

-----000-----

I, N. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to the Court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proof and pleadings on file in this case which are made a part of this report, and that I find as follows:-

I

That this case is in reality a branch of Case No. 90, Joanna Barber vs Cherokee Nation, the principal claimant herein being Irene J. House a daughter of Joanna Barber.

That this cause was instituted on September 2, 1896 at which time application was made to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes for citizenship by blood in the Cherokee Nation.

That this case was tried by the said Commission on November 24, 1896 and the applicants denied, no reasons being given for the decision, and that on January 30, 1897, the parties appealed from said decision to this Court.

That this application was made by Irene J. House, her husband, W. J. House, and their children Chas., C. Winston T., and Henry W. House. That they file in support of their application the affidavits of Joanna Barber, E. Dawson, Arthur A. Baker, E. Dawson, and W. A. Dawson. That these Dawson witnesses are citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, and state that they are related by blood to the claimants herein on the Cherokee side. The claimants base their contention of a right to Cherokee citizenship upon the fact that the claimant Irene J. House is the daughter of Joanna Barber, who is the daughter of Elizabeth Peley, who was the daughter of Polly Rogers, and that Polly Rogers was the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Ailsay Vann, who were recognized Cherokee citizens by blood. That the testimony shows that this Dawson family are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and that the claimants herein are cousins by blood upon the Indian side, and that they all claim through a common ancestor, Polly Rogers and Captain John Rogers and Ailsay Vann, who were all recognized Cherokee Indians.

II

The appellee introduced in defense the record of the application of these claimants to the Cherokee Commission on citizenship in the year 1897, and the record of the rejection of the claimants, and further the affidavits of W. J. Rogers, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, a grand daughter both of whom state that they never heard of any daughter of Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and that he had only one daughter, whose name was Cynthia.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation and are relatives of the Dawsons, and are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, are entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood, while the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the petitioners claim, is not now and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation since the removal west. That his name does not appear on the rolls of the Nation, and that neither he nor his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

IV

The premises considered, I find that the claimants are the descendants of Captain John Rogers, and that it was entirely possible that in the condition of affairs at that early date in the Cherokee Nation, especially owing to the absence of a marriage law and of records pertaining to marriages, that these claimants should be the descendants of Captain John Rogers by a daughter, Polly Rogers, of whom the affiants for the appellee may never have heard.

I find that the claimants are residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, where they have resided since 1867, and that they are Cherokee Indians by blood.

I ask that the Court allow me a reasonable fee for my services herein as Special Master.

Respectfully submitted, this 1 day of Nov 1897.

BY MR. H. A. GIBSON:

Well we close for the present.

TESTIMONY INTRODUCED ON BEHALF OF THE APPLICANTS:

D. V. C. DUNCAN, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. GIBSON:

Q Please state your name, age and residence? A My name is D. V. C. Duncan, my age is 28 years, my residence, Vinita, Indian Territory.

Q Are you a duly recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood? A I am.

Q You gave testimony in this case once before did you not, before the Daves Commission? A I did.

Q Before this Commission I will say, this Commission? A The Daves Commission? A Why I don't recollect who the Commission was, that was taken at Vinita, ex parte.

Q Were you in any way connected with the Cherokee Citizenship Commission in 1895 known as the "Teebo Commission"? A I was Clerk of that Commission.

Q For what length of time? A I don't recollect the exact length of time, I think it was about thirty days, during the continuance of that Commission, existence of that Commission.

Q You were the only clerk it had during its existence were you?

A I think I was.

Q You were Clerk of that Commission when it rendered a decision in favor of Robert Dawson et als, as found on page 114, of its record, numbered 108 (witness examines record referred to.) now in the possession of this Commission? A I was.

Q The members of that Commission were the same as shown by the signatures to this judgment were they? A The same, yes, sir.

Q Thomas Teehee, President of the Commission, Alex Wolfe and T. F. Thompson, Commissioners, that is correct, is it? A That's correct.

Q Were you present when this case was under consideration by that Commission and when it rendered this judgment in the case? A I was.

Q Were you at that time acquainted with F. M. Dawson, one only called "Bud Dawson", Campbell Taylor and Samuel H. Benge, who were attorneys, who were Cherokee attorneys at that time? A I might say that I merely knew Mr. Dawson; all I know of him was I saw him there as a party to the suit. I know Mr. Taylor and Mr. Benge more extensively; I have known them a number of years.

Q They were recognized Cherokee citizens were they? A They were.

Q Was Taylor not known generally as a Citizenship Attorney?

A I think he was.

Q Do you remember seeing him and Benge present at the time this case was under consideration by the Court? A Why I do not recollect seeing Mr. Benge, I cannot recollect, but I can recollect of seeing Mr. Taylor about the Court room now and then.

Q Do you know who submitted the case to the Court for the applicants? A Let me understand the meaning of that: who brought the case?

Q Who called up the case? A No, I don't recollect.

Q Do you remember whether that Commission rendered any other decision than that found upon this record in that case? A I never had any knowledge only but one decision.

Q Was that in favor of or against the applicants? A It was in favor of them; I will say this: that if there was another decision other than the one that appears on the docket now before you, I have no recollection of it.

Q The only decision you have any knowledge of was recorded by you in this book as here shown was it not? A That is the only one that I have any knowledge of.

Q Did Bud Dawson pay you any money in connection with that case?

A He did not.

Q Did he ever promise to pay you any money for your influence with the Court in that case? A Never.

Q Or paid you any money, either directly or through any other person? A For my influence in that case?

Q Yes, sir? A Never.

Q Did you have any knowledge of his having paid to the Court or to any member of the Court any money for the purpose of influencing their judgment in that case? A None whatever.

Q Did you have opportunity of observing his conduct during that Court at the time? A The only opportunity that I had was during the session of the Commission; I saw but very little of him during the recesses of the Commission; now and then I would see him in passing.

Q Did you see anything in his conduct toward that Court which indicated that he had used undue influence in procuring that judg-

Well, says he, I gave him some money and told him to hand it to you for me, and, says he, you ask him and he will hand it over to you I guess. Well we parted then. Well, went on for some days, two or three months; I happened to meet Mr. Taylor in Tahlequah; I was on the street I think, peculiarly I clasped my hand on his shoulder, says I, look here, did Mr. Dawson any money to me or not, says, yes, and he pulled out what I recollect to be a twenty dollar bill, and handed it to me; I received it, and I received it with the idea that he was compensating me for taking it again, or possibly for doing him these little services in the Court. Now that is the sum and substance of the whole thing.

Q Was not that twenty-five dollars, Mr. Duncan? A It might possibly have been, my recollection does not serve me exactly, it might have been 25 dollars.

Q Did Campbell Taylor pay you any other money as coming from Bud Dawson? A Never a cent.

Q Did he at one time pay you fifty dollars out of a hundred dollars which he had received from Mr. Dawson? A Never.

Q Did he on a second occasion pay you fifty dollars out of one hundred dollars which he claimed to have received from Mr. Dawson? A None at all.

Q He paid you no other money than that you have already stated, from Mr. Dawson? A Not a cent.

BY MR. MCKENNON: We offer in evidence the judgment of the Cherokee citizenship commission before referred to, and ask that it be filed in evidence in the case of every application made by members of the Robert Dawson family who claim and it, or through Robert Dawson, as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, said judgment being found on page 114, Records of the Tennesse Court, 1880 to 1884, case number 108, judgment dated January 11th, 1883, signed by Thomas Tichenor, President, Alex Wolfe, T. F. Thompson, Commissioners. B. F. C. Duncan, Clerk Commission.

The said judgment just introduced is as follows:

... term. Action by the parties that the same shall not be taken up for final disposition before the 1st day of Oct., 1902,
October 1st, 1902.

It is agreed by the parties that the case shall be finally disposed of at the next January term of the court presently hereinafter the case, if pending, shall be considered to the effect of the 1st day of Oct., 1902.

On this agreement is carried over, and shall the next January term to wit, January, 1903.

And how this the 1st day of January, 1903, the case coming on for final hearing, the court, as stated in the case being carefully read and fully considered by the commissioner, it was adjudged and determined by the Commission on citizenship that the claimants, Robert Dawson, E. H. Dawson, Albert Dawson, Luther Dawson, John Dawson, Joseph Dawson,
Joseph D. Dawson, Kate Dawson, Sally Dawson, Elbron Dawson, Jesse Dawson, and Rial Dawson, are Cherokee by blood, and that they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship within the Cherokee Nation, and that they should be, and they are, hereby admitted to the full and entire enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees.

1903. Case submitted by Solicitor January 11th, 1903."

Q. Do you recollect how many members of the court were present when this judgment was rendered, or were all of them? A. My recollection upon that point is not positive, but from my statement upon what I know to be the practice of the court at the time, seeing the names of all these Commissioners there, I can say with a great deal of positiveness that they were all present, because I never signed the name of one of the Commissioners unless he was present, according to it or directed it.

Q. The rendition of that judgment then was concurred in by all of the three judges? A. Yes.

Q. If there had been a decision pending the day before the case was in court, and the court was in session, and the case was not decided, would you have signed it? A. I certainly could have signed it.

Q. The rendition of that judgment then was concurred in by all of the three judges? A. Yes.

Q. If there had been a decision pending the day before the case was in court, and the court was in session, and the case was not decided, would you have signed it? A. I certainly could have signed it.

Q Do you remember to have seen any other copy of the Dawson file about the Court at that time than the Dawson? A I have been thinking, and I don't want to say that I saw any other Dawson except this, until after they came into the country subsequent to the rendition of the judgment.

(At this point a party who had been sitting in the room in which the examination is being held, is called forward upon the behalf of applicants, and asked to retire until called.)

BY MR. BURTON:

Q Mr. Dawson, when did you become clerk of the Texas Commission Court? A It must have been somewhere in December, 1884, at the time the Commission was organized in a lobby of the close of the Council in which they were appointed.

Q December 1884? A I think so.

Q What are you doing rendering judgments here in your handwriting in 1887? A The Commission held its Court after they were elected sometime.

Q The Court was elected in 1881 wasn't it? A Well, I mean the time
I don't pretend to say when the Court was elected, I don't have said at the time I was chosen clerk, I was chosen clerk just at the close of the session of the National Council of that year.

Q 1882? A I think it was '84.

Q You entered this judgment rendered January, 1887? A Yes, that was the session of the Commission.

Q That was before you were clerk of it? A Well, I held my clerkship for some time you know continuously.

Q Well, but when you are asked to say that you were clerk when the Dawson case was passed on? A No, I don't mean to say that.

Q How could you be clerk when the Dawson case was passed on in 1887 when you were not elected until 1884? A I don't know in that, '84 comes after '83, - it was the year preceding 1885, it must have been '82.

Q Your first entry in the Dawson case is a entry 13, 1884, isn't it?

Q I don't recollect what my first entry was. (Attorneys show the record to witness) Yes, that is the entry there on that day.

Q And that was shortly after you became clerk wasn't it? A Yes,
shortly after I became clerk.

Q The case had been entered upon the docket before you became clerk?

A I think so, you know it was entered at the previous term of the session of the Commission.

Q In those proceedings was the name of the three commissioners signed as witnesses? A Dawson, Burdett.

(Attorney reads record to witness again) A That is my handwriting.

Q All three names? A All three names.

Q The record there shows that you immediately gave them that day a transcript of the judgment, do you know who signed that? A Signed by me.

Q Yes, but I do not recollect now, this is, did the witness signed the record to it? A Yes, that's it.

Q You signed the record as a set of hands and folks didn't count

I don't know if they generally don't count of their attempting to sign his own name? A Yes, I don't know.

Q I don't know if they generally don't count of their attempting to sign his own name? A Yes, I don't know.

Q I don't know if they generally don't count of their attempting to sign his own name? A Yes, I don't know.

Q I don't know if they generally don't count of their attempting to sign his own name? A Yes, I don't know.

Q I don't know if they generally don't count of their attempting to sign his own name? A Yes, I don't know.

Q I don't know if they generally don't count of their attempting to sign his own name? A Yes, I don't know.

Q Will you look at the original transcript hereby shown you and referred to in the judgment and say who signed the names of the Commissioners there? A [Papers shown to witness] A I signed them there.

Q You recognize that as your handwriting? A I do.

Q That was you when you were testifying at Vinita before Mr. Martin, on looking at the same signatures, and being cross-examined by me, say that it was not your signature and that the signature thereto attached was the signature of Mr. Thompson? A Occurred in this way: I had not seen any of the records in the case for about nineteen years. The exact transaction in the court had vanished about entirely from my memory; I recollected at that time, however, when I gave in my testimony before the Commissioner, Martin, that that was a practice of the Court at the time I served by which I signed the names of the full-blood members of the Commission, and Mr. Thompson either uniformly or occasionally signed his own name. I based my statement in that deposition upon my knowledge of the rule or practice in the Court, without comparing the docket and refreshing my memory. I made an incorrect statement when I said that that was not my handwriting; I am convinced now that it is my handwriting. That is the way it occurred, the way it happened.

Q Then you consider your recollection of the fact that Thompson when he was present and rendering a judgment signed it himself, bet or than your own knowledge of your own handwriting?

A No, I didn't so regard it. I simply spoke without advisement when I gave in that testimony; I subsequently became better informed and concluded that that was my handwriting, and not entered by Mr. Thompson under the rule, but was one of those cases, in which he authorized me to do it myself, and I did it.

Q Then you have changed your testimony, because you think you have a better knowledge of the surrounding facts now than you had then, and not from the fact of your judgment on your handwriting at present? A I simply corrected my testimony in reference to my statement in regard to this handwriting, this case.

Q And you wouldn't know then as I understand you whether or not that is your handwriting if it was not refreshed by what you consider to be exterior facts? A I should know it by examining it and thinking over the circumstances, I think I should recognize my own handwriting, but if a question should be propounded instantaneously without any advisement or preconsideration I might make a mistake.

Q You did recognize the names of Thomas Teneo and Alexander Wolfe as being in your handwriting at that time? A I was very clear and positive, and so stated, that the names of those Commissioners were in my handwriting, and I was quite certain by reflecting on the rule that they never signed their names with their own hands, but always authorized me to do it. Hence there is no question in my mind in regard to my handwriting in their signatures.

Q And then the third line, right under it, as compared with your admitted handwriting, you had to wait and learn the facts afterwards to determine whether that was your signature or not? A No, I don't think that if I had considered the circumstances, I knew that there was a possibility that the signature of the opinion that that might have been Mr. Thompson's signature was like this; I knew that he had been in the habit of at least sometimes signing his own name, and I was under the impression—and I do not now think I am such a deceiver—but his orthography in a at least, was recognizable to my own, hence I doubted whether I had signed that name or not on that account.

Q You were aided somewhat at that time in your testimony by the fact that Mr. Thompson also swore that that was his handwriting and not yours, didn't he? A Mr. Thompson I stating that that was his handwriting set my mind to work to ascertain whether I was not mistaken or not, and after so long a time I concluded that I was.

Q And he stated, and you too didn't you, that he always got over the original himself when he was present? A I do not recollect that I stated, that I used the word "always", at that time, but at the time I was examined upon the deposition was his only impression was that he did, but when I came to collect and examine the docket I was convinced that I was wrong, that occasionally I signed for him.

Q Did you ever find out that your testimony given sometime like a year and a half ago was wrong until you examined the docket before yesterday, and compared yours and Thompson's signatures? A I don't know, but I have thought of it since that time until yesterday of day before the examination of the docket.

Q And your recollection that you have got and the only aid to your recollection that Thompson was present when this judgment was rendered was the fact that you are himself signed to it, in your handwriting, is it? A As a fact,

Q You can show that you or not? A That seeing the handwriting aids my recollection and I recollect now that the commissioners were all present at the time that I signed it, I didn't their names out of court at all.

Q Was it in the forenoon now or in the afternoon? A I don't recollect whether it was in the forenoon or afternoon.

Q In recollection that they were all present when the record was signed, do you mean to say that they were all present when the judgment was rendered? A Yes, that is, you mean when the question of admission or rejection was voted upon?

A Yes, A They were present.

Q Did you make up the record at the time that they rendered the judgment, or gave a command or it, and then write up the judgment some days afterward? A The record was not written up immediately upon the decision of any case, but I wrote up the record after adjournment, generally in the evening, and presented it next day or when the next session was had, for signature: that is the practice.

Q But in this Darn case you wrote it on the very day that it was rendered didn't you? A I didn't recollect as to that.

Q And gave that a transcript the very day it was rendered?

A I don't recollect as to that.

Q And indicated the giving of the transcript on the bottom of the judgment the day it was rendered? A I should say it was given at the date of the transcript.

Q That was a very unusual thing for you to do in entering up judgments? A To do what?

Q To gather the bottom that you had given a transcript the same day the judgment was rendered? A No, I don't know that there is anything unusual about that.

Q Any other places in that record or were that in any event that you gave ever done that? A I don't recollect, and as I don't recollect of giving anybody else a transcript.

Q That is what I am getting at: you gave them a transcript and wrote up your judgment and everything right away? A Pretty promptly after the decision whether it was the same day or the evening, and if not next day, I don't recollect.

IT NOW BEING THE HOUR OF NOON, 12 P. M., THE COMMISSION
ADJOURNS UNTIL HALF PAST ONE P. M.

AFTERNOON, TIME-1:45, P. M. - APPROPRIATELY, -SOME OF THE
FROM: H. W. C. DRICAN AGAIN ON THE STAND.
BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Do you remember what witnesses were before the Court? A I don't recollect now distinctly except Dr. Baker, but I remember his mainly because of the length of his testimony at the time it took to take it.

Q The Doctor was about the only distinct witness there was? A He is the only one now that I can call to mind.

Q There was probably another old duskey that testified was not there? A I have no recollection to that effect.

Q The case was just decided really on Doctor Baker's testimony, is it about the only man that knew anything about the case? A I am not certain that Dr. Baker was the only witness; right have been others that has now escaped my recollection.

Q Doctor Baker's testimony was taken down in writing? A Yes.

Q There was not anybody else taken down in writing was there?

A All the testimony that was accepted in the case was taken down in writing.

Q Did you ever see anybody's else testimony in writing except Dr. Baker in that case? A That is not as I recollect, I don't recollect any other but Dr. Baker's.

Q You know whether that was taken immediately before the trial or at the trial or how was it? A It was taken in the presence of the three Commissioners during the session of the Court.

Q You mean the day that the case was decided or how? A I do not recollect whether the case was on trial more than one day, but my impression is that it was.

Q Do you know whether it was the same term of the Court or not?

A I think it was the same term of the Court.

Q How many terms a year did that Court have, when now you did they last? A I don't recollect of but serving but one term.

Q Don't recollect the serving but one term? A Myself, it seems to me so.

Q You didn't go in until January of 1838 did you; your first record is a record of about the 13th of January 1838, as shown by the book, isn't it? A I don't recollect in that regard.

Q Now would they take testimony in the case, then continue it, or how would they proceed about that? A I think they decided on the case at the term in which they took testimony.

Q Can you say whether or not this testimony was taken in this case at the time it was decided or at the next term if was decided, or within a week or two of the time it was decided? A My own recollection is that it was taken at the term in which it was decided; once was taken by, I think, that the decision was made at the conclusion of the term.

Q Will now, I'll be glad to see, M.C.S. in your handwriting, the following entry reads: "It is agreed by H. Hutchings and W. C. Drican shall finally be decided at the next January term, 1838, and would be January, 1838, the case is given to the Court, in case, if not, the case shall be continued to the next term, 1838, or this case out the Court shall continue to the next term, January term, 1838." Is that correct? A Yes, that is correct.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Examinants object to all of the witness' testimony relating to the method of taking the testimony of witnesses at the trial, the character and effect of that testimony, and the number of witnesses, except so far as the same may be used for the purpose of testing the memory of the witness, because the same is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

 Q Do you know his general reputation for truth and honesty in the community? A His general reputation, yes sir.
 Q Is it good or bad? A Well it is not good.
 Q Is it bad? A Well I suppose it must be bad then.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How long has Campbell's reputation been bad, Mr. Harris, quite a good while, hasn't it? A Why I think so, yes sir.
 Q And it kind of began mostly with this citizenship business?
 A Yes, so far as I know it did, yes sir.
 Q Campbell got his bad citizenship cases and through the courts, and they finally had him up about it, had a good deal of stir about it? A Yes sir.
 Q And some of that stir was sort of occasioned by his inability to get along in what's it? A I don't know, I don't know whether he failed the courts.
 Q The fact that one of the principal cases that brought his name notoriety? A I don't know whether he had that case or not, I know he had a good many cases.
 Q That was the principal thing that got around the time Campbell out, was citizenship cases here? A I think that is what got his into the most trouble.
 Q I say before that time, how do you talk about Campbell one way or another, and in regard to his general reputation was anything really different? A Yes, and he was a bad reputation from that time on.
 Q How Mr. Durbin's connection with the Durbin case and of both got back; people never talked much about it? A I never heard anything about it, as I know of.
 Q You have heard that there was a bad reputation, you know the name's case, that was a notorious thing? A Oh it was a notorious case, yes sir.
 Q Tell the fact of Mr. Durbin's reputation for honesty and how something about it? A Well, as far as I know, it was is that?

THOMAS A. CHASLER, being first duly sworn and being, examined, testified as follows:

- Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you known him? A I think about 15 years.
- Q Do you know his general reputation for honesty and integrity? A Yes sir.
- Q Is it good or bad? A Good so far as I know.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q How did Campbell Taylor get a bad reputation? A Well sir, I don't know how he did.
- Q You never knew him until 1885? A Well I never knew him personally, I heard of him before that.
- Q He had a bad reputation before 1885? A Yes sir.
- Q Had reputation very bad indeed? A First I remember I ever heard of him I heard people speaking bad of him when I was a child.
- Q And everybody that came through the Nation and knew anything at all knew Campbell had a bad reputation? A Yes sir, ever so far back as '79 or '80, that is as far back as I can remember; I think I heard it spoken of in '80, I think that's about the time.
- Q But Campbell got a very bad reputation in '80 and '81 when we began to have these citizenship cases? A Yes sir.
- Q You heard his reputation in reality and being the rails for these business? A Yes sir, I heard of his being in the Fort Smith Jail on that account.
- Q Citizens of the Nation talked a good deal about Campbell's being in these bad citizenship cases? A Yes sir.
- Q And I think heard he had a bad reputation for being his double, also, about the same time.
- Q You don't know whether he had the money, he might not have had the money to pay his debts? A No sir.
- Q He could have went out of wed citizenship except? A Yes sir, I am not sure.
- Q You never heard Mr. Logan's name mentioned before in connection with the Logan case, did you? A No sir, I don't think I have, I may have, but I don't remember hearing it.
- Q General impression that not every man had some responsibility with that matter, citizenship cases? A I heard some say that but I don't know.
- Q I heard some say that the Logan citizenship cases were the worst of them, I don't know if that is true or not, but I don't know.

Q And he is a money maker, talked a good deal about it, I don't think it was ever investigated, I don't know about that, I don't think it was ever investigated, I don't know about it.

- Q How long have you been in the nation? A I don't know probably 13 in two years since '13.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF THE GOVERNMENT.

Recalled and further examined, testified or not I don't know; he was generally always at Washington City during the war down there.

Q Well what did he do about it? A I can't know, I couldn't say, I don't know anything about it. That is Mr. Bryant, he was always gone.

Q What next was done about the employment of an attorney? A Well I got a letter from some Bryant that he was going to Washington City and for me to come down in January 1862 and Campbell Taylor would see to it all before the court.

Q Did he say that he had engaged the services of Campbell Taylor the attorney to attend to it in his absence? A Yes sir, in his absence.

Q Have you got that letter? A I don't know, I got the letter.

Q Well what did you do then? A Well when the time came I come down on the city to Annapolis here and I come over from here to Fort Gibson and I goes down to see Uncle Houston Benge and stays all night with him; it was very cold weather, and I got all the way over my shoulder by case to the court; I went over a one day and the next day Uncle Houston Benge come over and the next morning after he come over the case was submitted.

Q Did he say it was done? A Yes sir, he told me so.

Q For you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you present? A I was present until they want to take the vote in the case and then he was drove out of their room and they had a secret session, acting on the case.

Q Was Houston Benge present with you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you in the court when he submitted it to them? A Yes sir, when he made his argument.

Q Was there an argument before the Court then? A Yes sir.

Q Was the decision rendered on that day? A Yes sir.

Q How long after that did he submit the case? A Was not but a little bit; when we were drove out of the house the first time before they went into secret session they wanted to set up the cigars in the court and the crowd in the house; after the decision was rendered then I was to set up the cigars, and everybody come to go and told me to go and get the cigars and I then do.

Q And you took the cigars there and all? A Yes sir, everybody, the attorneys and all that were in the house, all had a big crowd.

Q Did they then announce their finding in the case? A Yes sir, they told me that I was granted my citizenship right and by the Court then.

Q What did you do about it then? A Why the clerk wrote me out by certificate.

Q That was done? A That was done.

Q What was done then did you have with Mr. Benge about his fee, what was the amount of his fee? A There was an arrangement made until we got the money and he submitted on a case then he wanted to be 200 dollars, I paid him 100 dollars and he then do.

Q What was done then did you have with Mr. Benge about his fee, what was the amount of his fee? A There was an arrangement made until we got the money and he submitted on a case then he wanted to be 200 dollars, I paid him 100 dollars and he then do.

Q What was done then did you have with Mr. Benge about his fee, what was the amount of his fee? A There was an arrangement made until we got the money and he submitted on a case then he wanted to be 200 dollars, I paid him 100 dollars and he then do.

Q What was done then did you have with Mr. Benge about his fee, what was the amount of his fee? A There was an arrangement made until we got the money and he submitted on a case then he wanted to be 200 dollars, I paid him 100 dollars and he then do.

Q What was done then did you have with Mr. Benge about his fee, what was the amount of his fee? A There was an arrangement made until we got the money and he submitted on a case then he wanted to be 200 dollars, I paid him 100 dollars and he then do.

Q What was done then did you have with Mr. Benge about his fee, what was the amount of his fee? A There was an arrangement made until we got the money and he submitted on a case then he wanted to be 200 dollars, I paid him 100 dollars and he then do.

Q Did you ever see that man before? A No sir.

Q You said that you paid him fifty dollars after he got out to Tallapoosa, did you not? A I never paid him a cent in my life.

Q After that judgment was rendered, where did you go to? A I went to Tallapoosa.

Q By what route? A I went by Siloam Springs and on by Spring Dale and then on to Rogers, took the railroad there and went on by Sallis and by here a Springfield home.

Q You then did not return to Fort Gibson with Keister, is that so, as he stated? A No sir, I did not.

Q Did you not return by way of Fort Gibson? A Well I thought maybe the others took the cheap road and struck a hack going out to Springfield where I was boarding at, I could go to Siloam Springs and I think by that route and then there was a hack going to Spring Dale, that was the best direct route.

Q That was the best direct route from your home was it not? A Yes sir.

Q At what place? A At the cheapest route.

Q Had you been going back to Fort Gibson you would have been paid directly away from the court wouldn't you? A Yes sir.

Q Your home is nearly east, due east of Tallapoosa is it not? A Yes sir, little north of east, pretty near due east.

Q While Fort Gibson is almost due west is it not? A Southwest.

Q You heard him state that you went to Fort Gibson through Tallapoosa and as you were going to Tallapoosa you were to reach the court through Duncan and you reached the court through Duncan, did you not? A I never had, I didn't have the five hundred dollars to reach it.

Q Did he state at Tallapoosa in the court room he was waiting before this judgment was rendered in your favor, tell me what the court had rendered a judgment against you? A No sir.

Q And did you then say to him, you know, "fix that"? A I had no such conversation with him.

Q Did you pay to D. W. Duncan, who was the clerk of the court any sum of money, or agreed to pay him any sum of money, directly or through any other person for any services he might render you by way of influencing the court to decide in your favor? A No sir.

Q Or for any other purpose? A No sir.

Q Did you pay him any money after that through Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.

Q That amount? A 20 or 25 dollars, I don't know which it was.

Q State what that money was paid for? A For a claim.

Q What do you mean by a claim? A Claim on the public account; he had a claim on that since he was on the Cherokee Public Board.

Q What did Campbell Taylor have to do with your case? A He had nothing to do with it.

Q Did you pay him any money for his services as an attorney?

Q Did you pay him any money for his services as a representative?

Q Yes sir.

Q How much? A 20 or 25 dollars.

Q Did you pay him any money for his services as a representative?

Q Yes sir.

Q How much? A 20 or 25 dollars.

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of Mr. Joe Bryant?

A I got it from him. He was collecting at Joe Bryant's. A Joe Bryant told me he didn't, and he went to get it again, and Joe Bryant the hundred dollars was brought to me by E. D. Duce. Paid Joe Bryant a fifty dollar bill and got the money from Campbell Taylor, and this twenty dollars or twenty-five dollars, and in all I ever got back from him.

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of Mr. Joe Bryant? A I went after him and told him to pay that money back to me, he rendered no services to me at all and the money was to go to Joe Bryant, and I finally worked out the twenty or twenty-five dollars, that is all I ever did get back.

Q The amount that he paid to Duce? A Yes sir. Q Was this money paid to him, this one hundred dollars, while you were there at the time the jury had rendered, or was it sent to him afterwards? A I think it was paid then, as well as I can see about it.

Q You think it was paid then? A Yes sir, that's my recollection now.

Q Did you send him one hundred dollars after you went away from there, subsequent to the rendering of that jury, after it was rendered in court, directly in the way fifty dollars or part of any other sum to D. W. E. Duce? A No sir.

Q Did you send him a second one hundred dollars with a check directed?

A No sir. Q Mr. Duce, do you know where it cost your family to all to obtain their citizenship in the Cherokee Nation under this judgment? A Pretty near $100.

Q Well about that sum? A About five hundred dollars, pretty near 500 dollars. That is what I considered, I was beat out of some of my money, that I was beat out of and expenses.

Q Now take recollection of what that money was paid for and how, so far as you remember, itemize it to me? Well the first fifty dollars Duce got; the next fifty dollars was a got; that was the attorney's fees; I speak of the attorney's fees too; the next money was the hundred that Campbell Taylor got; the next attorney's fees was Bryant's one hundred dollars.

Q Was that all the attorney's fees? A I think it was, no, wait, I paid some 15 dollars for taking Baker's deposition.

Q Which was the that? A The old Chief, Bill Ross I think, was his name, William P. Ross.

Q He then, this Chief William P. Ross for taking the deposition of Mr. Baker charged you fifteen dollars? A Yes sir.

Q He was charged that that he acted as an attorney and examined him? A Yes sir.

Q How did that go before the commission, and his father's wife, and what other witnesses were there present? A Mouth of Yaw was there.

Q Well, how did that go? A The expenses of taking the depositions and the... well as I got a hundred dollars... A Yes sir.

Q How did that go? A The expenses of taking the depositions and the... well as I got a hundred dollars... A Yes sir.

Q How did that go? A The expenses of taking the depositions and the... well as I got a hundred dollars... A Yes sir.

Q How did that go? A The expenses of taking the depositions and the... well as I got a hundred dollars... A Yes sir.

Q Well? A Well I made several trips out here at different times, to Tallagash before the commission, and back, three or four times, as well as I remember now, cost me 20 or 25 dollars each trip, as I remember about it.

Q Do you remember how many trips aside from the one I mention you brought Dr. Baker? A No, I think there was probably three trips I think it was, maybe more, and when I made one trip to Glendale to see A. H. Woodard.

Q What did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it cost, I went in a wagon down there.

Q You went through and crossed ponds, went by railroad; what did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it was, whether it was 21 dollars or 22 dollars, one or the other, I don't remember which it was, Joe Dawson, my brother-in-law, he had the money, it was either 21 or 22 dollars.

Q Now then is there any other expense that you know of that was paid by you or your family, any members of your family, other than that you have mentioned? A I don't remember any other now; I can't call to my memory right now.

Q What was the condition of the members of your family generally now, financially, at that time? A Well we were considered poor people; I don't know, we didn't have much money, scarcely any.

Q Was there any one of them that was better off than the others, and if so, which one? A I suppose Albert Dawson was better off than the others, that I mean.

Q Do you know how much Buck Dawson paid of these expenses? A I don't think he paid, he paid the bridge debt and the Brent debt, I think it was.

Q That is one hundred and fifty dollars? A Yes sir, that he came up on one trip and taken some evidence with Joel Brent & when Joel Brent was clerk of the court before this Texas court, I don't know what that cost him.

Q Care to be sworn and sworn to testify? A Yes, sir, and he went back to Texas, filed his claim and that was his testimony and went back to Texas and I didn't see him.

Q Did that testimony include Dr. Baker's testimony? A No sir.

Q You know how many witnesses were examined there? A I only know what he told me.

Q How many? A Four witnesses.

Q You know whether they were residence of the Cherokee Nation or not? A He told me they was.

Q Were you present on that trip in which he came there and took that testimony? A No, I met him there and then I went back home and left him at Tallagash.

Q He had taken the testimony before you left him or after you left?

A He taken it afterwards, that was my understanding.

Q Did Buck furnish only the one hundred and fifty dollars that you now remember? A I think it was.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q And the expense of taking these witnesses up there? A Yes sir.

Q Did you see any witness any other way? A No sir, I said Mr. ...
Q Did you see any other witness any other way than that? A No sir,
Q Well, the Robert Dawson case? A Yes sir.
Q He says that you told him this in your house there on your place, did you have any house there in June 1887? A I was not living on my farm at that time.
Q Did you have any farm? A Didn't have any.
Q When did you build a house there? A I built a house on the farm I live in now by Mr. Brought, I moved on the farm the last of July, 1883, and I carried in my wagon.
Q What did you do? A I went to the timber and cut poles and hauled them out and made me a log cabin on the place by a spring near Mr. Brought.
Q About what time did you finish that house? A It was in September.
Q How long after you finished that house until you brought your family out? A I finished it and got it covered and the floor in it and I went back to Durka Springs after my wife.
Q What family did you have then? A I had my wife and she had one child; but my oldest children, by my first wife were with me in the territory, coming with me; three little boys and one girl were with me, and one girl back in Arkansas.
Q Are you and C. G. Brought on good terms? A No sir.
Q What has been the character of the trouble between you? A Trouble over our place first started it.
Q When did it begin? A As soon as I got back from Arkansas he convinced my neighbors to go out to take my farm away from me, and we have been in a racket ever since.
Q Then his statement that you were on friendly terms, is it correct or not? A No sir, it isn't correct.
Q He and you have never been friendly as neighbors then since you first came back from Arkansas and settled in the Territory? A I don't remember ever being in his house; I never was in his house.
Q Have you had law suits with each other? A Yes sir.
Q How many? A I don't know that we had any particular law suits, but I have had law suits and he has been a witness against me.
Q What was your last trouble with him, when I meant? A Along last fall.
Q That was when your boys had a little racket and he had your boy arrested? A Yes sir.
Q What was the age of those boys? A Eleven years old.
Q He had him arrested down at Vinita? A Yes sir, had him arrested and carried before the Commissioner at Vinita.
Q He was discharged on account of his age? A Yes sir.
Q Black Dawson is dead is he? A Yes sir.
Q How long has he been dead? A Three years, little over three years.
Q And Sarah Dawson is dead? A Yes sir.
Q In your father, Robert Dawson Dwyer? A So is.
Q When did Sarah Dawson die? A I don't know when she died several years ago, I don't know how long, I don't know, I wouldn't know.
Q How long has she been dead? A I believe it was in the Territory.
Q How long has she been dead? A I believe it was in the Territory.

Q There that live here in the Nation they lived here in the Nation but went back to Arkansas and died there? A Well the rest of my folks all lived here. That was James Dawson and Buck Dawson.

Q Robert Dawson, your father, never did vote to the Territory, did he? A No.

Q Did you hear the statement of the witness Weaver this morning, that about the time of hearing of the James Dawson case, at a negro church at night James Dawson came down there with someone else was introduced to him, and he loaned him ten dollars; did you hear that statement this morning? A I heard the statement, yes sir, I heard it.

Q He says that Jan James Dawson was 37 or 40 years old; was there any James Dawson living belonging to your family at that time of any such age? A No sir.

Q How many James Dawson's were there belonging to your family? A There was my uncle James Dawson and a brother James Dawson, the doctor here.

Q How old was your brother James Dawson then? A He was a tolerable old man, I don't know his age.

Q About what age? A Must have been 60.

Q Between 60 and 70? A Yes sir.

Q That was the age of your brother James? A At that time?

Q Yes sir, in '84? A In '84 I suppose he was about 18, some-thing like that.

Q Had he anything to do with the James Dawson case? A No sir.

Q Was he present at the time that the James Dawson case was under consideration? A No sir.

Q Was James Dawson, your uncle James Dawson, present at any time during the consideration of his case? A No sir.

Q He never was present? A No sir, if Uncle Jim Dawson was ever in Tahlequah I never knew it.

Q Who conducted the prosecution of the James Dawson case before the Cherokee Citizenship Commission, who conducted it? A The James Dawson case?

Q Yes sir? A I think James Low and Bill Jackson and Campbell Taylor.

Q Were you acting with them? A Yes sir.

Q They employed Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.

Q Then there was no James Dawson present during that session of the Commission? A No sir.

Q What was the condition of James Dawson's health at that time?

A It was pretty poorly; was not good.

Q Was he at that time able to get about and attend to business?

A I don't think he was.

Q Was he not a very feeble, indeed old man at that time? A Yes sir.

Q Reported as rather a silly man was he not? A Yes sir.

Q Did he attend to any kind of business of the family at that time?

A No sir, didn't.

Q What was his financial condition? A Pretty bad.

Q Did he have any money? A No sir.

Q Did he have any property? A None hardly at all; horses probably on a cow or two, something that way.

Q Was that about all the property he had? A Yes sir.

Q How about the other members of his family that were considered at that time? A The other members of his family that were considered at that time were my father and my mother and my wife and my two children.

Q How then would these judgments very probably have been made if they fully resided in the Territory, Cherokee Nation, I will say?

A Robert Dawson and family and James Dawson and family, and my two children.

Q Robert Dawson didn't remove names? A No, I said except Robert Dawson.

Q Did all the members of Robert Dawson family live here? A Yes sir.

Q Except himself? A Yes sir.

Q And all the members of James Dawson family? A No, not all the members, Melvina how I don't think ever lived here.

Q She has never resided here? A No sir.

Q Were all the members of your family, your father's family included in that judgment of the committee, rendered January 11th, 1893? A All but one.

Q What was the name of that one? A Fena.

Q A daughter? A Daughter of Robert Dawson.

Q Your sister? A Yes sir.

Q Was she then of age or was she a minor? A I think she was of age, as well as I can remember.

Q Was she afterwards admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A She was.

Q By a Commission or by the Cherokee Council? A She was first admitted by the Spears Court, her and two other heirs.

Q What are their names? A Katie Vernon and Verna Fishback.

Q What became of that? A The certificate papers they got was lost, and they went before the Council in 1894 and they were readmitted back by the act of Council.

Q That was in 1894, the Cherokee Council admitted, re-admitted as they called it, the three above named? A Yes sir, Mary and Verna Fishback and Katie Vernon, they have now the same names but except Vernon, it is not, Tob Robinson married the widow, a niece of mine.

Q How then was there any other consideration of the Dawson case by the Cherokee authorities at any time aside from these two judgments in '87 and '84 admitting the two families of Robert and James Dawson, and the act of Council of '94 admitting these three who you have just named? A Yes sir.

Q That? A My two of my sons was placed on the roll by the act of Council in 1893 I think it was; left off of the rolls in per capita payment and they was placed on the rolls I think, and so I might say member of Council, got their draft or checks for the money.

Q Have you got that copy of the act of Council admitting them? A Yes sir.

Q Where is it? A (Produces papers.)

Q When? A In 1894.

Q What was that? A Allowing them their Strip money.

Q Have you a copy of that? A I think I have. (Produces papers.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: We offer in evidence a duly certified copy of an act of the Cherokee National Council approved November 24, 1894, signed C. J. Harris, Principal Chief. Senate Bill No. 19, appropriating a sufficient amount of money to make payment per capita of what is known as the strip money to certain persons named therein. Among them are members of the Blasingame family, as follows: Jane, Elbert, Henry, James Ross Lennie, Pearl, Aros, Lyrtle, Winnie and Clifford; this act mentions these persons as Cherokees by blood, and those names had been left off the pay roll approved May 3, 1894, providing a payment to each one of these a sum of $265.70.

Q Were these members of the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q Which one of the members of the family? A Jane.

Q This is Jane who was admitted by the judgment admitting the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q Any other children? A Her children, was not admitted, she was admitted.

Q I mean this mentions her children here? A Yes, that mentions her children.

(The paper last above introduced is filed and made a part of the record in this case.)

Q Do you know whether the payment of the Cherokee Strip money was to Cherokee citizens by blood only or not? A Yes sir.

Q Was there any other act of the Cherokee authorities passing upon the citizenship of members of your family? A Why the Douthett children, my brother's grand-children. Two grand-children of E. Dawson.

Q What was that? A That, I think it was in '84.

Q Have you got a copy of that act? A No, the record is here.

Q Was that by the Spears Court? A Yes sir, by the Spears Court.

BY MR. MCKENNON: We now offer in evidence a judgment of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, 1880 and 1884, found on page 190, case No. 181, dated September 9th, 1884, signed by Eli Spears, President, John Lee and Andrew Young, Commissioners, admitting to citizenship Lula Douthett and Dallas Douthett as Cherokees by blood.

Q These now are the Douthetts to which you refer, are they? Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Attention is called to the fact that the names of the commissioners are all signed in the same handwriting as the record of the judgment.

The said judgment record above introduced, and found on page 190, No. 181, record of 1880 to 1884, is as follows:

"Office of Commission on Citizenship,
Tahlequah, Cherokee Nation, September 18th, 1884.

E. Dawson, for his grand-children, )

No. 181.

Lula Douthett,
Dallas Douthett,

The Cherokee Nation.

( O. H. Taylor,
Att. Gen. Claim,

) Petition filed September
14th, 1884.

Case decided by old state court 1831.
Case submitted to Solicitor, Sept. 14th, 1831.
Continued by petitioners Jan 22 1832 to September Court 1834.
Re-sidited by petitioners and 1834, by Mary Taylor and Convent submitted by defense Sept 1834.

And you will find the 13th day of September 1834 some of this case for final deciding and all the evidence in the case having been carefully read, and considered by the Commission on Citizenship it has been decided by the Commission that the above named John Taylor and his children are citizens by blood, and that they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship in the Cherokee Nation and that they should be, and are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects, as native born Cherokees.

Andrew Young,

Com. Indian or Citizenship.

Q How were there any other children of the Cherokee authorities of like character relating to the others of your family?

A I don't recollect of any others.

Q I will ask you if when the Cherokee authorities were making the roll of 1832, in compliance with the request of the Dane Commission for a roll to be prepared by them for the use of the said Commission, the question of the citizenship of the members of your family was not then raised, and an investigation had in regard to it? A Before the roll was made.

Q No, before the Cherokee Commission making the roll of 1832, of which John T. Taylor was a member? A Yes sir, yes, I had it, but since you have asked it there was an investigation of the roll at that time; this is what I understood.

Q That roll shows that the members of your family were duly enrolled by the Commission? A Yes.

Q How soon and the other members of your family since your removal to the Territory in 1837 and immediately following had been admitted as Cherokee citizens by blood? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been exercising and enjoying all the rights of Cherokee citizens by blood since that time? A Yes sir.

Q Are not all the members of your family now living in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q You have not drawn property taxes whenever they were due? A Yes sir.

Q You have been all voting when you have been voting at the Cherokee elections as in the Cherokee elections? A Yes sir, I was one of the voters at the election that was held before the State.

Q What position? A I was one of the voters at the election for the Cherokee Nation, and at the election for the Cherokee Nation.

Q Is that all? A Yes, I believe it is all that I can say.

A Yes, I believe it is all that I can say.

A Yes, I believe it is all that I can say.

A Yes, I believe it is all that I can say.

A Yes, I believe it is all that I can say.

Q Can any office of deputy clerk be held by any one else except a recognized citizen? A Only by a citizen, yes sir.

Q Is that all? A (No reply).

Q Have the children of members of your family attended the Cherokee schools, and been educated in Cherokee schools? A Yes, sir.

Q Have the members of your family been all the while subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q Have they been tried for any offences against the law? A Yes sir.

Q And have they instituted their civil suits in the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q And had suits instituted against them in such courts? A Yes sir.

Q Some of these cases have gone to the Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q And were passed upon by that tribunal? A Yes sir.

Q Is there anything else? A Nothing now; I am sick this evening; I have got the head-ache so bad I can't hardly see.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How old was your father Robert Dawson when he died? A I don't know, I couldn't answer that.

Q He was a very old man? A Yes sir, he was getting tolerably old.

Q Could you tell how old he was that you? A No I don't know.

Q Mr. James Dawson in 1864 must have been a very old man, didn't he?

A Well he was old and he was feeble.

Q Well you stated that he had been so silly; was he naturally that way? A He used to live in Texas; I didn't know him until after he came to the Territory.

Q I say he had gotten so old, that was the occasion of that?

A I suppose so, the eldest one of these children was Mrs. Betty Baker, that's your understanding.

Q And the oldest boy was John Dawson? A We always called him Jack.

Q Jack Dawson was the oldest? A Yes sir.

Q And the youngest? A Sam Riley.

Q He was the youngest one of the crew? A Yes sir.

Q Your father lived four or five years after he and you were admitted to citizenship? A Yes sir, something about that, it was in 1837, I think he died in 1837, I won't be positive; that is as near as I remember now.

Q I have got a headache so bad that I can't remember anything.

Q He nor none of the older members of the family were ever present at any of these trials of citizenship? A No sir, not a one of them was.

Q Not a one of them was ever called upon to testify as to the blood of their father, who she was or anything about it? A I don't think they was.

Q Your claim of kinship was through Captain John Rogers and that your grandmother was the half sister of Big Joe Vann, wasn't it?

A I don't know, I couldn't answer the question.

Q You were there when they took the testimony? A I was there when Dr. Baker's testimony was taken, that was about 16 years ago.

Q And nobody kin to the Rogers and Vanns was ever called to testify in the case? A Not as I know of.

Q They were very well known Cherokee families in the country?

A I am sure so, I don't know.

Q And the nobody on any side of the family connected with it was ever called to testify? A Not that I know of, I don't know what my father says, he taken some of the evidence at Yulegan.

Q When I saw that case, he first filed his claim.

Q You had spoken to Dr. Baker about the testifying before you brought your case didn't you? A No sir.

Q Must have been a short time afterwards? A It was a short time afterwards. I went back after him and it was too late and I fetched him the next time.

Q You had talked to your brother about what you could prove by Dr. Baker? A I told him I thought Dr. Baker, I thought he knew about our folks.

Q You had told him in a general way you expected to use Dr. Baker as a witness? A Yes sir.

Q You went off, came to Arkansas and left your brother at Tallahassee after you told him that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You didn't see your brother any more until after you were admitted? A No sir.

Q You and he however made trips back and forth to Tallahassee and home at different times, but you didn't happen to get together? A No. I never met him any more and I don't know what he was there until after we were admitted.

Q But you were there and brought Dr. Baker over? A Yes sir.

Q And took his testimony a year or such a matter before ever you were admitted? A I think as well as I remember, yes sir.

Q Now the way you came to get Campbell Taylor was on the recommendation of old Sam Bryant? A I didn't get him, didn't use him.

Q The way he came into your case? A The way he claimed to come in.

Q He did more in your case than Bryant did? A Campbell didn't do anything.

Q What did Bryant do? A I think he helped my brother take evidence by brother employe him.

Q How did you happen to be sending money by Campbell to Mr. Duncan? A I never sent him any money.

Q Then when he, Mr. Duncan, states that Campbell delivered the money as Campbell said he did, both were wrong? A Oh no, you are mistaken, Mr. Duncan got 20 or 25 dollars, which he stated, from Campbell Taylor, for me.

Q How did you happen to give it to Campbell? A I give the money to Campbell to give to Joel Bryant, and he wouldn't do it, and I tried to get the money back from him, and I finally worked the 20 or 25 dollars he gave to Duncan.

Q Then you didn't tell Duncan as he testified that you sent 20 or 25 dollars by Campbell Taylor? A Campbell Taylor agreed to pay Duncan 20 or 25 dollars for me of the money I give him to give to Joel Bryant.

Q The family kept Campbell Taylor employe though as their attorney after that? A In the James Dawson case I think so.

Q Mr. Dawson, you remember, had his for his grand-children? A That is my understanding.

Q And your uncle James Dawson had him in the case of his children? A Uncle James had nothing to do with it; James Lawson had that. Jackson got him; that was my understanding of who employe him.

Q The record here, that's that the case was originally filed in the name of E. Taylor and was finally admitted by the court in 1884. In the James Dawson case? A I don't deny not being there.

Q That was the name in the E. Dawson case? A Yes, that was the name in the Dawson's children's case.

Q The name of the case was Campbell Taylor testified to the fact that he was employe to him, and Mr. Taylor testified to the fact that he was employe to the James Dawson case, that was the name of the case?

Q That was in the E. Dawson grand-children's case? A Yes.

Q No, in the Dawson's children's case? A Oh yes.

Q He was likewise attorney in the Mary Dawson case was he, and before the Adair court, the 4th of October, 1887, in the case of James K. P. Dawson? A I don't know anything about that.

Q And the case likewise of Piley Dawson? A I don't know anything about those.

Q They are relations of yours? A Well I couldn't say.

Q James K. P. Dawson proved to be a son of Piley Dawson? A Well if he is he is by connection then. There are so many Dawsons I don't know them all.

Q You know Andrew J. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The Dawsons have so many children their brothers didn't hardly know them did they? A That's it, I don't know them.

Q Well then you don't know who Andrew J. Dawson is? A No sir, I don't know.

Q He refers in his application as being a cousin of E. Dawson, and your self, who were admitted to citizenship by the Texas Court?

A He may be, I don't know nothing about it.

Q He resided I believe, at that time at Nevada, Missouri? A I don't know anything about their people.

Q Old Ben Baker was an old and paralyzed man at the time he testified wasn't he? A Getting old, he was not paralyzed.

Q Then the statement made that the reason he couldn't write his name and had to make his mark, because he was paralyzed, is the testimony isn't that true? A He didn't have good use of his fingers.

Q Then he was not paralyzed? A No, I brought him over there in a hack from Berryville, Arkansas.

Q Well I say he was a very old man? A Yes, getting old.

Q How didn't you come to this place up there joining Brown's and work on it some time before you brought your family? A No, I brought my family with me, except my wife.

Q And you subsequently built a log house on it? A Yes sir.

Q And went back and got your wife and moved them to the log house? A Yes sir, went to Durka and got my wife.

Q You never saw your grandfather at all? A Sam Dawson, yes sir, I saw him.

Q You remember do you of being with him such of any at all? A I was in Texas in time of the war, with my uncle Piley Dawson, and he was there.

Q In '60 sometime? A '62, I reckon, or '63. Somewhere along there, it was in time of the war.

Q How old a man was he at that time? A Pretty old man.

Q You never saw your grandmother, she died before she came?

A Yes sir, I never saw her at all.

Q Who first started the citizenship matter, your brother in Texas or you? A Why it was me, and my brother together.

Q I mean who first conceived the idea? A I first conceived talking about it.

Q And went down for him? A I was in Texas with him and then in Arkansas; I went back towards Ark' forward a time or two after the war.

Q About that time nearly everybody in Arkansas were trying to get some kind of citizenship to Cherokees? A No sir, not at that time.

Q They were getting pretty thick in there in 1880? A Well in '83 and '84 and '85 I think.

Q Now you were down there to get yourselves on the roll? A Well you were down there; but it wasn't at the time you were down there.

Q Well the roll had been admitted before that? A I suppose they had; there was an excitement over the Wattle claim at that time.

BY MR. BASTIEN:

Q You did locate and board with Sam Shablen when you first came to Tombiquah in '01? A I think I did.

Q Your brother Sam Dawson stayed there about a year, did he?
A Yes, Sam's wife lived in the north part of town, old German. Yes sir, old German, lived in the lower part of town.

Q Did you ever hear the names of any other witnesses which you would expect to find in your story? A I have heard that but I have forgot them.

Q You don't recollect any name now? A I don't recollect any name now.

Q In the Frank House case and Joanna Barber case, in which you testified before the Commission, when you were making records for this testimony you couldn't find any other testimony from those of records except the Dr. Baker testimony, could you? A That's all we could find; we we didn't find the testimony, we got a copy.

Q Well it must have been a copy of the testimony, the certificate shows that? A I don't know; Bruce got a copy of that claimed to be the affidavit of Baker and he told me to give it to him; that is all I know about it.

Q Well the certificate there does not bear my certificate does it?
A I don't know about that, I am no scholar.

Q Well you didn't get the testimony of any other witnesses except that of Dr. Baker; you couldn't find any other over there of record?
A I didn't hunt far any; House matter far from.

Q None of you have ever been able to find any others? A No, not even first our petition.

Q Samuel R. Dawson applied to what is known as the Adair Court, didn't he? A I don't remember now.

Q He was an uncle of yours wasn't he? A Yes sir, claimed to be.

Q The father of these two parties who testified here this morning?
A Well I don't know, they claimed to be, I never met them or know them.

Q He was rejected by the Adair Court, or Hayes Court? A I don't know whether he filed his petition.

Q Did you testify in his case? A I don't remember; I might have done it.

Q Didn't you testify in the Andrew J. Dawson case before that is known to the Hayes Court? A I don't recollect, if I did I don't remember.

Q Did you testify in the Riley Dawson case? A No sir, but that I remember.

Q Didn't you know of his being rejected by that court? A I don't remember, sir.

Q The way that the Chicago Council never authorized the trial of 1886, didn't you? A No sir, I don't know it; I don't know what was done until I went to Tombiquah after some papers got sent back and that was the way it was.

Q When you were with Sam and O. E. Taylor was a big scandal to what the Hayes Court was? (No response)

Q He had been in the Hayes Court, had he not been in the Hayes Court before that time? I don't know, I don't know what date up to that time.

Q Did you ever see the book to do with it? A I don't know.

Q Did you ever see the book to do with it? A I don't know.

Q Didn't you ever see the book to do with it? A I don't know.

Q Wasn't he employed by Jim Dawson after you got your citizenship?
A Why not but the grand-children.

Q Jim Dawson's petition was filed in September 1883, after yours?
A Yes sir.

Q C. H. Taylor, attorney of record, filed his petition? A He might have filed it for all I know.

Q Well you hadn't at that time fallen out with C. H. Taylor had you? A Why no, we never did have any trouble, only over this money, he never would give it back to me or give it to Bryant.

Q You never discovered that he was such a bad man until after your judgment was rendered? A I know he was not of good character.

Q Are you and Bryant, this man who testified for the Cherokee Nation, on speaking terms? A Hardly speak.

Q Does he refuse to speak to you? A Soetli as he does.

Q Do you refuse to speak to him? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been speaking to him for the last two or three months?
A I have not spoke to him until I met him there at the hotel the other day.

Q First time you spoke to him since he had the boy arrested? A Yes
sir.

Q When did he have the boy arrested? A Along in September or October, September I think.

Q When did Dr. Baker die? A I don't remember.

Q You don't remember how much older your father was than you?
A No, I don't know.

Q What is your age? A I will be 60 in May.

Q Then you were born in '42? A Yes sir, '42 according to the record.

Q Was your father as much as 25 years old when you were born?
A I couldn't say.

Q What was your best judgment? A I suppose he was 20 or 25 years old. My understanding he married young.

Q Can't you give any better idea than 4 or 5 years of your father's age? A I say 25.

Q Your father was born say, 25 from 42 would have made him be born in 1817; now had your father any older brothers or sisters? A I think Jack Dawson was the oldest of the family, no, Betty, the girl, was the oldest and Jack next, and then my father as well as I remember about it.

Q There were two girls older? A No, one of the girls I never saw.

Q Then you think there are only 2 older than your father? A Yes, that's my understanding of the family.

Q Dr. Baker gives his age 73 in '82, which would make him be born in '89, now he states that when he was 15 or 16 years old, which added to 1869, will make 1824, that your grandmother Anna Pruitt, was a school girl; whereas from your testimony and that of the family history introduced here shows that your grandmother Anna Pruitt was the mother of seven children, the youngest being born in 1823, how do you reconcile that? A I don't remember about the statement of Dr. Baker; I don't know that he made such statement as that,
I can't remember about it.

Q And if he did you don't know how to reconcile it? A (No response.)

Q Did you talk to any of the judges of the Court that admitted you? A No sir, I was not acquainted with them.

Q You know whether they were old or young men? A They were old men like Steve Tabor. I got acquainted with him afterwards, and Felix Thompson, at the Council you know I was there a good deal.

Q That was the fellow that was on the Court? A Yes sir.
Q He was afterwards Assistant Chief of the Cherokee Nation?
A I think so.
Q Steven Pender, that's the man you had reference to? A Yes sir, I think it was, I just know the man; I had no acquaintance with him at all.
Q B. W. C. Duncan boarded when you were down there at the National Hotel? A I think he did, as well as I remember how often we were admitted.
Q Don't you know he did? A I think he did, as well as I remember.
Q Were not you over there to his room? A I think I was.
Q You remember when it was that you brought Dr. Baker down there to make a statement before the Court? A It was in January, Tex., was in January Term of 1882 I believe, it was, as well as I remember about it.
Q Well you didn't take any more testimony after Dr. Baker testified?
A No sir, I didn't.
Q But your case was not submitted or passed upon by a Court?
A I think it was, yes sir, as well as I remember.
Q I would like to ask you when the Blessing's family came to the Cherokee Nation? A Alex Blessing's came with us when we moved here, and went back and got his family and moved that fall.
Q Did he move his family here that same fall? A Yes sir.
Q What year was that? A In the fall of '81 I believe it was, as well as I remember now.
Q When did the Bulaska family come? A I think the girl and the old lady came in the next spring.
Q How long did they remain that time? A The old lady stayed here, but the girl went back and in a short time her and her husband came back.
Q Did she come back until after her marriage? A No, she was married when she came first.
Q The last time? A She was married I think, she was married when she came out.
Q How long has August Bulaska been a permanent and continuous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A I think he came there in the fall of 1884 or 1885, I won't say which.
Q How long has Robert Pierce been a continuous resident of the Cherokee Nation? A Ever since he was admitted.
Q When was that? A '85.
Q How long has Martin L. Patterson? A Ever since he married his wife, and he was living here before he married his wife.
Q Who is Arizona Alford? A That is my daughter.
Q Did you bring her with you? A No not when I moved.
Q When did she come? A She came out in a year or two after I moved here.
Q Was she married when you moved here? A No sir, she was not married.
Q She was not married when you were admitted? A No sir, she was a child.
Q When did she come to this country? A With his grandfather, James Deane.
Q What was his father's name? A Halvina Deane.
Q You know the lady's age? A No sir.
Q How long was she here in '83? A No sir.
Q How long was she here? A I think she was.
Q Married in this country? A Yes sir.
Q How is James M. Harbort? A Married one of the Jackson girls.

Q When did they come to this country? A Right away after they was admitted.

Q In what year? A I think the winter of '94, I think it was, spring or winter of '94.

Q You know Gibson Graham? A Yes sir.

Q Who is his mother? A Missouri Ann Graham, formerly Missouri Ann Dawson.

Q Did he come from Texas to Arkansas? A Came from Texas.

Q Did you know them in Texas? A I knew the girl.

Q You never knew them until they come to this country? A I never knew 'em.

Q When did you see him later? A I think they come here in the fall or winter of 1894 or '95.

Q He was married then? A I think he was.

Q Brought his wife? A I think he was, I don't know.

Q Did he have any children when you first saw him? A He come to my house and I never saw his family for-I don't know, for several years.

Q You remember he had a family? A Yes sir.

BY MR. LAKEMAN:

Q Did you learn to say '94 or '94? A '84.

Q Did you see Gie Graham in '84? A '84, let me study, mayb '85.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Did you see him in '35, are you positive on that proposition?

A I think so.

Q Will you swear it? A No sir, I won't positive swear it, but I think it was, as I remember now it was; I couldn't say positive.

Q All the people Mr. Dawson that have been admitted to citizenship by courts of competent jurisdiction unless they were de-citizenized by courts of acquired jurisdiction, enjoyed the same privileges that you have narrated here about going to school and being tried in the courts? A Yes sir.

Q All that sort of thing that you have been telling here in your direct examination? A All the question again.

Q I say all people who were admitted here by courts of competent jurisdiction, until they were de-citizenized by courts of like jurisdiction, enjoyed the same privileges that you did. A So far as I know they was.

Q They all crossed bonds and all tried in the courts as long as we had tribal courts, were they not? A Yes sir, so far as I know.

Q There was no special privilege granted to you in preference to anybody else? A None but recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q Will you had been recognized since you were admitted? A Yes sir, I enjoyed the same privileges of native born Cherokee.

Q Well I say there is other special about it? A No, I don't know of there is.

Q You got acquainted with Mr. Deagan while you were up there during the hearing? A Yes sir, I was acquainted with him, knew him, knew his name.

Q By Mr. Hastings, now did the commission of Dr. Baker? A Yes sir.

Q Did you see any other papers before the court other than that?

Q Did you see any statement? A I never filed any statement.

Q Did you see any other papers before the court other than that?

Q Did you see any other papers before the court other than that?

Q Did you see any other papers before the court other than that?

Q That? A Yes sir, Buck Dawson.

Q Well is that all he did for you? A I don't remember now about it.

Q Why didn't you get your attorney to do that letter writing? A There was not any there.

Q Taylor nor Benge was not there then? A No sir.

Q That is what you paid the 20 or 25 dollars for, was writing this letter back to your brother? A I paid him for that claim.

Q When did you pay that? A I think I paid it, I don't exactly when, Camp Taylor paid it a year or two after I moved out here and settled where I did; right have been 2 years, I don't remember.

Q There was Duncan living then? A I couldn't say where.

Q Was he still clerk of this Court? A No sir, not when that money was paid; that is, when Camp Taylor said he paid it.

Q You did send Camp Taylor some money? A I sent some money to him for Joel Bryant.

Q You knew Joel Bryant's address didn't you? A No, I don't know that I did, No I didn't send Camp Taylor any money, I gave it to him.

Q How much did you give him? A One hundred dollars.

Q When? A Right at that time; he claimed it from me as soon as we got our papers; he came onto me and demanded he for Bryant.

Q You never sent him any then after that? A No sir.

Q Did you ever see Bryant after that? A Yes sir.

Q How long after that? A I don't know, a year or two afterwards.

A year I believe, my brother wrote, I wrote to my brother about paying Camp Taylor money and he went onto my brother about it and he never paid him until we moved out to this country.

Q After all that you got him to attend to your uncle Jim Dawson's and the other relatives cases? A The other parties did.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to all that part of the witness' evidence in response to interrogatories by their representatives of the Cherokee Nation which relates to the character of the evidence upon which the judgments admitting members of the James and Robert Dawson families were admitted, and to the history of the members of the Dawson family, because the same is immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q One question I omitted to ask you Mr. Dawson, as to the Court at the time the judgment admitting Robert Dawson's family was rendered, were of the judges were present on that day? A They was all three of them, Wolfe, Tehee and Thompson.

Q Are you positive of that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You do not know this Andrew Dawson family who applied to the Dawes Commission for Cherokee citizenship, and who stated that they are heirs of some members of your family? A Andrew?

Q Andrew J. Dawson, who claims to be from Missouri? A How was the question?

Q You do not know them do you? A I don't know that they are any kin to us.

Q You don't know that they are related to you at all? A No sir.

Q This Mary Dawson case, do you know the members of that family?

A No sir, I don't.

Q Don't know who they are? A No sir.

Q The Rebecca Dawson case? A I don't know her either.

Q You don't know whether they are related to you or not? A No sir.

Q If any of these persons are related to you or your family did you have any knowledge of it? A Not as I know of.

Q Jonathan Barber, do you know anything about that? A They claim to be kin to us.

Q Where are they from? A They are from Essex.

Q Do you know they are related to you? A They claim to be kin.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Tell you spoke for this before the Commission? A Yes, they claim to be kinfolks of mine.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Irene J. Hanks, who is that? A That is a cousin of mine; claims to be.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You testified for her, didn't you before the Commission? A I think I did as well as I could.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Before the Court that admitted James Dawson suitably, who were the witnesses there? A Oliver Miller, from Berryville, Arkansas.

Q Who were the others? A Himself and J. Dawson and there was two other witnesses, I don't remember who they are.

Q Were they Cherokee citizens and residents of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't remember their names? A Right?

Q Of these other people who claimed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and who were witnesses? A I said about me and J. Dawson was citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q You only proved that Mr. Dawson was a brother of Robert Dawson before the Court? A Yes sir.

Q And then referred back to the decision in the Court before? A We proved that they were citizens, and he had by folks people as ever come here.

Q Was he older than Dr. Baker? A About the same age.

Q Why didn't you get Oliver Miller's testimony in the House case?

Q He was dead.

Q You and no member of your family in the Irene Hanks case or the Jonathan Barber case or any of those cases that were tried before the Dawes Commission, in your affidavit ever had reference to the fact that Oliver Miller testified in Mr. Dawson's case in '84 did you?

A I don't remember about that.

Q You did make reference to the fact that Mr. Miller testified there in '83, didn't you? A I don't remember about that now.

Q You never made reference to any other witness having testified other than Dr. Baker before? A I don't remember about it now.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Now just one other question: All of these papers in the original application and everything, so far as you know, in the James Dawson case, were taken before the Commission which admitted the James Dawson family, was not at all laid out they not? A I suppose they are, I don't know, I never saw them.

Q How far back do you go to get copies of that? A Yes sir, I tried to get the original papers.

of testimony. This case is continued until 8:30 A.M. on March 20th, 1903, it now being the hour of adjournment.

W. H. DAWSON, Plaintiff, vs. J. H. BARBER, Defendant.

Q There was some other with Dawson mixed? A In application.

Q What county? A Carroll.

Q Near what town? A Berryville.

Q Did Dr. Baker live at Berryville? A Yes sir.

Q Was your brother distinctly acquainted with him for any years?

A Yes sir.

Q Did he know him sufficiently to be acquainted with his character and habits of life? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know Josephine Pierce? A Yes sir.

Q Where daughter was she? A Robert Dawson's.

Q Is she the same identical person who is called Josie Pierce, and Josie Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Is there any other Josie Pierce or Josie Dawson or Josephine Pierce or Josephine Dawson? A I don't know but the one.

Q She was also called Josephine or Josie Kelly? A Yes, after the marriage; her first husband was Pierce.

Q And her second husband? A Was Kelly.

Q There was another Josephine Dawson wasn't there, Balaska's wife?

A Why they called her Joe, I suppose that's her name, I could not be positive; that was Riley Balaska's daughter, August Balaska's wife.

Q She is much younger than your sister, Josephine, above referred to? A Yes sir, oh yes.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Where were you born, Mr. Dawson? A Carroll County, Arkansas.

Q You know how old you are? A 42.

Q 42? A I think so.

Q How many older children were there of your father and mother than yourself? A Three.

Q Which were they? A E. Dawson, Riley Dawson and Jasper Dawson.

Q You are the fourth child and the fourth boy? A Yes sir, fourth boy.

Q Where were your father and mother married, do you know, from family history? A I think it was in Arkansas, I couldn't be positive, I think they was.

Q Do you know how long your grandfather lived in Arkansas? A No sir I don't.

Q Don't know what year he came to Arkansas? A Only from statement.

Q Well what did they say about it? A I think they come here in '30.

Q You know whether your father was born in Arkansas? No, many of your grandfather's children were born there? A There was none of them born in Arkansas according to history and according to what he always told me, they were born in Tennessee.

Q No come there in '30, and all the other children were born on the Kiamichi River in Tennessee, before he ever came? A That is what I think, yes sir. Now I am not positive about that.

They were from Tennessee, but either Dr. Baker lived there or my folks come from there; I don't know as I remember that I ever heard my father say where he was born at.

Q In Tennessee or where? He said he was a good big boy when he came to Arkansas? A I don't know as I ever heard him say.

Q Do you know the difference in the ages of yourself and your three older brothers? A No I don't.

Q Don't know the time that comes in between you? A No I don't know that; I think it is about two years there.

Q That would make E. Dawson about eight years older than you, wouldn't it? A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q Did Josephine Pierce have a daughter who married Mr. Bogle?
A Yes sir.
Q What was her name? A I always knowed her by Dede Pierce; I don't know whether that is her right name or not.
Q What is Bogle's name? A John Bogle.
Q She is the child of Josephine Pierce who married John Bogle?
A Yes sir.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q Where did she marry John Bogle? A Near Afton.
Q When? A I couldn't state.
Q About when? A You have got a copy of the marriage license.
Q When did Josephine Pierce come to the Cherokee Nation? A '83.
Q Has she lived here continuously since that time? A Up until her death; she is dead.
Q Any of her children come with her at that time? A Yes sir.
Q And have they lived here continuously since that time? A Yes sir, except Bill Pierce, he went to Colorado and died.

J. C. STARR, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q Your name is J. C. Starr is it? A Yes sir.
Q Mr. Starr, was that instrument taken by you, or before you?
(Showing witness document.)
A Yes sir.
Q Where? A At the residence of S. E. Benge; near Fort Gibson.
Q When? A On the 15th day of this month.
Q That day of the week was that? A On Saturday.
Q Is that the day it was taken? A Yes sir.
Q Did you go there on Saturday to take this? A Yes sir.
Q Then when Judge Benge stated on Tuesday that it was taken "yesterday" meaning Monday, the 17th, he was mistaken, was he?
A It was taken Saturday, the 15th.
Q Was he mistaken or not? A It was not taken then.
Q Then his statement made on Tuesday the 18th that it was taken on "yesterday", meaning Monday, the 17th, was not correct, was it?
A I think not, because I was there, and it was taken on the 15th.
Q And it was taken on the 15th, you are positive it was taken on the 15th? A Yes sir.
Q Then of course his statement could not be correct? A I guess not.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q He was just mistaken about the date, wasn't he? A Yes sir.
BY MR. MCKENNON:
Q Did you tell Charles T. Moore who is now present, on last Tuesday that they sent you out there on Monday to take that? A No sir.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q I sent you there last Saturday? A Yes sir.
Q And you went there at my direction, didn't you? A Yes sir, and come back Saturday night.

ROBERT L. DAWSON, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A My name is Robert L. Dawson.
Q What is your age? A My age is something close to 30 years old, I a 29 past.

Q Are you a son of E. Dawson, commonly known as Buck Dawson?
A Yes sir.

Q I will ask you if you will examine this letter sent with the enclosure and state whether or not you found that among the papers of your father after his death? A (Hands letter to witness who examines it) A Yes sir, I found this amongst the papers of my father. He always kept all his own papers, and he looking over them I saw this letter.

Q Has that been in your custody ever since you found it? A Yes sir, if that's the letter that was in the envelope.

Q Well that's what it is, you can tell whether it is or not. (Witness further examines letter) Q That purports to be a letter from Samuel H. Bengé, does it not, to your father? A Yes sir. (Here applicants' attorney hands letter and envelope referred to to attorneys for Cherokee Nation.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: I want to offer this letter in evidence in this case; it is a letter signed by S. H. Bengé, attorney at law, dated Fort Gibson, C. N., Jan. 13, 1883. Addressed to Mr. E. Dawson, Esq., together with the envelope, in which it was enclosed, with the card of C. H. Taylor upon it, attorney at law, Tahlequah, Indian Territory, and postmarked Tahlequah, Ind. T., January 13.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: The Nation objects to the introduction of this letter for the reason that S. H. Bengé is living and has testified in this case, and his handwriting should be either proven or denied by himself.

G. W. BENGE, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q What is your name? A G. W. Bengé.

Q Are you a son of Samuel H. Bengé? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know his handwriting? A I believe so.

Q Is that his handwriting? (Shows witness letter before referred to.) A Yes sir, it is either his or a resemblance of his.

Q To the best of your knowledge and belief is that his letter?
A Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Now we offer it in evidence.

BY COMMISSION: (Reading letter)

Fort Gibson, C. N.,
Jan 13th, 1883.

Mr. E. Dawson, Esq.,

Dear Sir:- I write this note to inform you that your case came off before the Court on Citizenship on the 11th inst, and was decided in your favor, so you all are citizens of this Nation. F. M. Dawson was furnished with a copy of the decision at the court. He will write to you again. You will please send me fifty dollars as my fee in your case according to contract. send it to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation.

Respectfully yours,

S. H. Bengé,

Attorney at law.

Envelope in envelope, as follows:

Card in upper corner, left hand:

"Return in ten days to C. H. Taylor,
Attorney at Law,

Tahlequah, Ind. Ter."

Addressed: "E. Dawson."

Henryetta,
Clay Co., Texas.

Post-marked: "Tahlequah, Jan 13 Ind T."

ROBERT L. DAWSON, re-called and further examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNAN:

Q Now examine that and see if that is also a paper which you found among your father's papers after his death? (Hands papers to witness) A That is the same letter that I found.

Q Among the same that you found the Benge letter? A Yes sir.
BY MR. McKENNAN: This is a letter purporting to have been written by J. M. Bryan, to E. Dawson, dated at Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation, and not dated, which we offer in evidence. (Applicants' attorney hands said paper to Nation's attorneys.)

Q Mr. Bryan is dead is he not? A I think so.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: We have no objection.

BY COMMISSION: (reads letter)

"Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation.
I. T., M. K. & T. R. R.

MR. Dawson:

Dear Sir:-

I am in receipt of your favor of the 30th inst in regard to our contract.

After I had got the claim so there would be little more to do I employed Campbell Taylor to answer for me when the case came up, for which I was to pay him $20 out of my fee.

This all the action I had in the matter with Taylor.

I saw Taylor in Washington last month, and he told me that your brother had made another contract with him, and paid him, or that you was to pay him $100- and that you had offered him a check on some bank in Texas.

That $100- matter with Taylor, I have nothing to do with, nor couldn't have if I wanted to.

I hope Mr. Dawson this letter will explain the matter fully.

and I am satisfied that you are apprised of the earnest work I done for you. Please write to me.

Very respectfully,

Very truly,

J. M. Bryan."

Q I will ask you if you know of your father having paid Bryan that money? A Yes sir, paid him a horse and some other money.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How old was your father when he died? A He, I don't know whether I know his age or not.

Q If you don't know you can't say? A I wouldn't have no reason to know his age, never asked his age; of course I guess by other means.

Q Never had occasion to talk about his age at all? A Oh I have heard him speak of his age at different times, but then I never paid enough attention to it.

Old woman, being first only sworn by being asked if she testified to the contents of the letter

Q What is your name? A Old woman.

- Q How old are you? A Mr. Graham? A I am 35 years old.
- Q How long have you been living in the Territory? A I came out here in 1887 or '88.
- Q To the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you been living in the Cherokee Nation, what year was that '87 or '8? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you resided here continuously from that time ever since in the Territory? A Yes sir.
- Q How long did you live in the Cherokee Nation? A About 6 years.
- Q Where did you go then? A Wagoner.
- Q In the Creek Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q And been residing there ever since? A Yes sir.
- Q In business? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you all the while been recognized as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q Mr. Graham, do you know Judge Samuel H. Benge? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you have a conversation with him in Fort Gibson about September of 1900? A Well as to the exact time I couldn't say, it was sometime about the time that the Dawes Commission were at Sallisaw, or possibly a little later, somewhere about there.
- Q Taking the census of the Cherokees? A Yes sir.
- Q At that time had the question of the validity of the judgment of the Cherokee citizenship commission admitting Robert Dawson and family been called in question? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you talk to him about the facts concerning the obtaining of that judgment? A I did.
- Q What did he tell you about it; well I will just ask you, did he then and there tell you that that judgment was regular and all right nothing wrong with it? A He did.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, Mr. Graham, were you? A How was that?
- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, expecting this case to be questioned? A Since the validity of that judgment had been attacked by the authorities of the Cherokee Nation, I thought it was well to look into the matter.
- Q And he told you the judgment was all right? A Having known that Mr. Benge was connected with the case, I saw him in Fort Gibson, subsequent to that time and asked him about it, if there was anything wrong about the matter, and also that I might want his affidavit concerning the matter, and I also I think maybe wrote to him; possibly prior to that, I am not sure as to the writing, but I think possibly I did.
- Q Did he tell you he would make an affidavit? A I don't think at that time that I asked him for an affidavit. I thought as he lived right near here I would use him in person; he assured me that everything was all right.
- Q Your mother was Missouri Dawson was not she? A Yes sir.
- Q Her name was Missouri Graham when she was re-admitted to citizenship? A Yes sir.
- Q And was not Missouri Dawson as named in that judgment? A Yes sir.
- Q Do you know whether the other children named in there had married and changed their names also at the time they were admitted? A There were not any of them married.
- Q Ella Benge was your mother? A Yes sir.
- Q For she married at that time? In 1883? A Yes sir.
- Q Having Benge, was she married at that time? A Yes sir.
- Q And the father you have mentioned, Missouri Dawson, was your mother? A Yes sir.

- Q Can you give us the exact date of your birth? A Yes sir.
Q Do so, please? A January 21, 1867.
Q And you came to the Territory when? A In 1887 or 1888.
Q You can't rate that any more definite? A Well sir, it has been a good while ago, and I didn't have anything to cause me to.
Q Well I just want to know whether you did have or not? A No sir.
Q When were you married? A 1886.
Q You were married prior to coming here? A Yes sir.
Q Your first child born away from here? A Yes sir.
Q What is its name? A John W.
Q '86 you were married, and he was born about the spring of '87?
A Somewhere in 1887, I don't remember.
Q Prior to your coming here? A Yes sir.
Q That is the only child you had that was born away from here?
A No sir, Julius.
Q Julius was not born in the Territory? A No sir.
Q And prior to the time of your removing to the Territory? A Yes sir.
Q These are the only children born out? A Yes sir.

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.
Q I will ask you if about February 1901, he came to Wagoner, and sent his son to have you come to the hotel at night where he was, and if he then and there said to you "You people are on the doubtful list, and if you will give me five hundred dollars I will make it all right and see that you are enrolled, and if you don't I will see that you don't get on".? A Well now as to the first part of that question, where you say he sent his son; that is an error; I don't know whether he came to my house or sent some one; when I returned home that evening my wife told me there was some one there to see me, and was at the city hotel at Wagoner, and said come down and see him; I went down there; I never had met Taylor; he introduced himself to me and stated what his business was; asked me if I was on the doubtful list, etc., to which I replied that we were; he asked me if I didn't want to employ him, stating that if we would give him, our family would give him five hundred dollars he would see that we were placed on the rolls all right, but if we refused to give him five hundred dollars that he would use his influence against us and see that we were rejected.
Q You never had met him before, or had any communication with him?
A I never met him before; as to the communication, I may have written him something about his affidavit as to the validity of that judgment, I can't say as to that. He said in his testimony that I did; I don't know whether I did or not now.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q You knew he was the attorney in the case, originally? A After looking at the records I did.
Q I mean you knew it at the time you wrote to him about the affidavit; that was the reason why you thought he would know some-thing? A Certainly.
Q He never told you he was going to swear against you or threaten to tell anything that was not true? A He just simply said unless we gave him that five hundred dollars he would see we were all cut off the rolls.
Q And he would use his influence against you, that is what he said? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't deny writing to him then for the affidavit? A I don't say I did or I did not. I neither affirm it or deny the question.

Q You went to Captain Bange and also wrote him with reference to what he knew about the case? A I don't know whether I wrote him or not, I said I was under the impression I wrote him.

Q You went to see Aaron Butler, who was interpreter before that court that admitted you? A Yes sir.

Q And you went with Aaron Butler to see Jir Smith, attorney before that court? A Yes sir.

Q And you either wrote or went to see everybody you know of that was before that court then? A Yes sir.

Q That shows you used considerable activity? A Yes sir, I used such activity as was to my interest.

BY MR. McKENNON:

Q That was all after the representatives of the Cherokee Nation objected to the enrollment of the Dawson family and by reason thereof such as had appeared before the Commission had been placed upon a doubtful card? A Yes sir.

Q Then you began to look up the evidence and see what there was in it? A Yes sir.

Q As Mr. Hastings has stated? A That's right.

BY MR. McKENNON:

Q You are a grandson of James Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The old gentleman? A Yes sir.

Q About what was his age when he was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, in 1834, wasn't it? A Yes sir, well I can't be exact as to that.

Q Well as nearly as you can? A He was somewhere about 70 or 72, years of age.

Q Well what other James Dawson did you know belonging to the family, either one of these families, either Dawson family or the James Dawson family? A I never heard of but two James Dawsons.

Q Who were the other? A Dr. James R. Dawson, who is present and standing right here; my grandfather, James Dawson.

Q Was there in '34 any James R. Dawson 35 or 40 or 45 years old, that you know of, belonging to either one of these families?

A No sir.

Q Do you know how old Dr. James R. Dawson was that that time?

A James Dawson? Q No I am speaking of Dr. James R. Dawson? A Oh, how old he was, no sir, I do not.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Do you know who was here attending to your mother's citizenship case at that time, at the time she was admitted? A Yes sir, James Low and Bill Jackson, son of Miles Jackson.

Q Who was W. A. ...? A That is Wilburn, my uncle.

Q Was he here? A I don't know sir.

Q You were not here any of the time? A No sir.

Q You had not come to that time then, you had lived in the same neighborhood? A Yes sir, I know him well.

Q ... after that did not? A After that, ...

Q ... to citizenship? A No sir, he didn't die ...

Q ...? A Yes sir.

Q ... 35 years old.

Q ...? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q That about 1897? A I think so, yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Attestants object to the testimony of the witness elicited by interrogatories of counsel for the Cherokee Nation relating to his family, their history, etc. as being immaterial, irrelevant and incompetent.

James E. Dawson, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q Your name is James E. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Where do you live? A Afton, Indian Territory.

Q What is your age? A 45.

Q You are a physician are you not? A Yes sir.

Q Was James Dawson, whose family was admitted in 1834, an uncle of yours? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know what his age was at that time? A No sir, I do not, only approximately.

Q State as nearly as you can? A At the time of the admission?

Q Yes sir? A About 70, I don't know exactly.

Q How old was he when he died? A I would say he was about 70. What was your age in 1834? A I am 45.

Q What year were you born, doctor? A I was born in '50.

Q Just have been '50? A Yes sir, that's right.

Q What was your age then? A In '84?

Q Yes sir? A About 30.

Q How long did you stay at that time that James Dawson family was admitted, or at any time while their case was pending before the Cherokee commissioners at Afton? A Not while the James Dawson family was there.

Q How long did you stay during your father's absence? A I was there at the time that the date I remember was when the case first came up, I cannot give the exact date.

Q How long were you there? A I think there about a week.

Q Was that when it first came up you say? A Yes sir.

Q How long was gone? A No sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You know how Mr. Baker?

Q Did he and your family live in the same place when they lived together with their family? A Yes, while Mr. Baker lived there. I don't know how long he lived there. I don't know how long he lived there.

Q How long did he live there? A I don't know how long he lived there. I don't know how long he lived there.

Q How long did he live there? A I don't know how long he lived there. I don't know how long he lived there.

Q How long did he live there? A I don't know how long he lived there. I don't know how long he lived there.

Q How long did he live there? A I don't know how long he lived there. I don't know how long he lived there.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF THE CHEROKEE NATION.

W. W. HASTINGS, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. HUFKINGS:

Q State your name? A W. W. Hastings.

Q Residence? A Tahlequah, age 35.

Q You are attorney for the Cherokee Nation in the general preparation of these cases? A Yes sir.

Q Just state how it happened that you summoned Mr. Campbell Taylor, and what occurred between you with reference to his testimony?

A Well there had been some talk, as the testimony here indicates, that there was perhaps fraud in the admission of this family, and by agreement with counsel on the other side, and the Commission, this case was set for the 17th day of March, and some short time prior to that, as the attorney for the Nation I began to make some preparation or inquiry into the case, and I wrote a great many letters around to different people and among them I wrote C. H. Taylor to come down here. I don't think in that letter that I told him what I wanted with him, I don't think I told him the case that I wanted him to testify in; that is my recollection now, Mr. Taylor prior to that time, neither directly nor indirectly, so far as I know, ever gave me any information voluntarily against this family, or ever said anything that would lead me to believe that he knew anything of a fraudulent character connected with it. But I summoned him; perhaps the fact that I knew he had been connected with them in some way and that I perhaps also would get some information from him. Well he came in response to a letter that I wrote, and I took him up to my office. I talked to him quite a long while. He was exceedingly reluctant about giving any testimony whatever, he told me first and last that he didn't intend to testify before the Commission. He told me he had been attorney for these people, and he didn't believe he could be compelled to testify, and that is he was put upon the stand he would claim that privilege, and he didn't believe I could force him to testify. I talked to him at some considerable length; I asked him what he knew about it; of course he for a long time declined to tell me; and that information I did get from him was by piecemeal. He was exceedingly reluctant all through the interview to give any information. I asked him finally though that if the Court compelled him to testify when he got before the Commission, if he would tell the facts about it, and he said that he would. I told him then that I would subpoena him.

Well we talked quite a good while and finally after always telling me that he intended to claim that privilege, and never wanting to testify, he detailed to me the facts just as he told them on the stand. I don't believe there is the slightest variation, except that he perhaps was not so full at that time and it was said by piecemeal, but I got all those facts out of him, or very nearly all those facts out of him. He may have exaggerated a little more here by combination; but he never voluntarily gave me any information at all, either directly or so far as I know indirectly. I don't think he sent any one to me. I got the name Taylor; I heard he was connected with the case, and perhaps that something about it, like I did a great many other people, some of whom I don't think, because they didn't know what I wanted they did know about the case.

With reference to S. H. Benge, I want to state that he never voluntarily gave me any information at all about this case, nor did I know that he knew anything in connection with this case until I sent J. C. Starr over to S. H. Benge's place to take his affidavit on Saturday, March 15, in the W. H. and J. W. Shoemaker case, and their descendants. I had heard that Mr. Benge knew some important facts in connection with the Shoemaker case and I sent him over there then to take that affidavit; and when Mr. Starr came back he told me that he knew some facts also in connection with these other cases, and I was surprised to find he had instead of one affidavit, in the Shoemaker case, that he also had another affidavit in the Dawson case. That is the first information I had that Mr. Benge knew anything whatever in connection with the Dawson case, and therefore he never voluntarily, either directly or indirectly gave any information prior to that time to me.

I impressed upon Mr. Taylor that the Nation only wanted the absolute truth in this matter; that it was not seeking anything else but the truth, and didn't want him to tell anything else but the truth.

I want to say again that after he was on the stand and left that evening, and after Captain McKennon, an counsel for the family, had indicated his willingness for Mr. Taylor to testify, that he went over all of these facts that he testified to on the stand subsequent to that time in the presence of J. C. Starr in my office. I simply wanted to go on the stand for the purpose of showing that Mr. Taylor hadn't voluntarily given me any information, and

I make this statement for that purpose.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q You had no power to compel him to give you any information at that time at all did you? A No sir, none other than the persuasion that I brought to use.

Q He therefore did it simply upon your persuasion? A Yes sir.

Q You know he had been acting as attorney for these parties?

A Yes sir, I had seen from the record that he did too.

Q And he told you so? A Yes sir.

BY COMMISSION: The attorneys for the applicant and the representatives of the Cherokee Nation will be granted thirty days from the receipt of the transcript in this case in which to file a brief in this case with the Commission.

I, M. D. Green, do hereby certify that as stenographer to the Commission in the Five Civilized Tribes I correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

Martin, a Notary Public on October 4, 1900, and further proceedings were had therein before the Commission at Muskogee, Indian Territory on March 17, 1902. All of these proceedings have been made a part of the record herein.

The evidence, and an examination of the records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission show that on January 11, 1883, one Robert Dawson and his adult children, F. L. Dawson, Elbert Dawson, Jasper Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilborn Dawson, James Dawson, Rial Dawson, Josephine Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson and John Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, commonly known as the "Teague Court", and that on September 8, 1884, one James Dawson, a brother of the Robert Dawson aforesaid, together with his adult children, Ella Dawson, W. A. Dawson, Malvina Dawson and Missouri Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship commonly known as the "Spears Court." In addition to their tribal enrollment as shown by the evidence herein, it also appears from an examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, that F. L. Dawson is identified on the Cherokee pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Elbert Dawson on the Cherokee pay roll of 1880, Mollie Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Wilborn Dawson on the pay rolls of 1880 and 1884, James Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883 and 1884, Ella Dawson on the pay rolls of 1880 and 1884, Josephine Dawson on the pay roll of 1880, Jane Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Joseph Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1884 and 1885, Rial Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1884 and 1885, Malvina Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1884 and 1885, and Missouri Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883, 1884 and 1885.

Dawson on the pay roll of 1880, and Missouri Dawson on the pay roll of 1884.

A majority of the above named persons, together with the descendants of the persons admitted as aforesaid and such white persons as may have intermarried with the said Dawsons or their descendants are the applicants herein.

For convenience, the applications are divided into groups:

Group 1, includes the applications of Francis M. Dawson and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 324, D 330, D 531, D 534, D 538 and D 535.

The evidence shows that Francis M. Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship as hereinbefore stated under the name of F.M. Dawson. Katie Dawson, his wife, was married to him on November 21, 1880. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and the six children included in the application of said Francis M. Dawson, and hereinbefore named are the issue of the marriage aforesaid. All the applicants herein are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

John Dawson, William R. Dawson, Lizzie Atkins, formerly Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Arizona Allred are the children of said Francis M. Dawson by a former wife, Julia Ann. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship. John Dawson, Lizzie Atkins and Francis M. Dawson, Jr., are identified on the Strip Department roll of 1884, and William R. Dawson and Arizona Allred are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

John S. Atkins was married under a Cherokee name in p. 1100 and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 29, 1881, to the above named Lizzie Dawson. He has resided in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife since they were married, and the four children included in his application, and heretofore named are the issue of that marriage. The oldest child, Arthur, is identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1894, and the three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Arizona Allred, nee Dawson, came from Arkansas to the Cherokee Nation for the first time in 1894, remained there about two years and then returned to Arkansas, where she was married to Lea Allred. Such marriage was not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Arizona Allred and her husband came to the Cherokee Nation in 1896, stayed there a month and returned to Arkansas where they remained until September, 1898, at which time they came to the Cherokee Nation, remained there about a year and returned to Arkansas in 1899, where they were living at the date of this application. William C. Allred is the child of said Arizona Allred and possesses no rights not acquired by his mother. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Paragraph 9, Section 21, of the Act of Congress approved June 26, 1898 (50 Stat., 495) provides:

"No person shall be enrolled who has not heretofore removed to and in good faith settled in the Nation in which he claims citizenship."

The evidence further shows that Francis M. Dawson, his wife, Katie and William H. Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Lizzie Atkins have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1881, and Andrew C. Atkins, the husband of said Lizzie Atkins, since 1881, and that John Brown has resided in the Cherokee Nation for at least fourteen years prior to the date of his application. The residence of the minor children of the above named persons is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group II, includes the applications of Samuel R. Dawson, together with those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 350, D 352, D 356, D 358, D 402 and D 408.

The evidence shows that Samuel R. Dawson is identified as the Rial Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. His wife, Catherine, a white woman, was married to him on July 11, 1866. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since their marriage, and August and Mate Dawson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. Samuel R. Dawson, his wife and children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, Josephine Bilawsky, formerly Josephine Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman, formerly Katie Dawson are the children of said Samuel R. Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Sarah F. Dawson, nee Abbott, was married to the said Albert H. Dawson in October, 1894. She has lived with her said husband, since they were married. Ralph H., Alford and Cecil Dawson are the issue of that marriage. Sarah F. Dawson and her child Ralph H. are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. Alford is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission. The evidence further shows that the youngest child, Cecil Dawson, is dead.

August Bilawsky, was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 23, 1896, to the said Josephine Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and heretofore named, are the issue of that marriage. (12) four elder children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and the Strin payment roll of 1894. May Bulawsky is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and Oscar Bulawsky is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Hannie Dawson, nee Baugher, was married to the said John W. Dawson on September 2, 1894, and she has lived with her said husband since they were married.

The evidence further shows that Samuel R. Dawson, his wife, Catherine, and Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1886, August Bulawsky and his wife Josephine, since 1892, and Sarah F. and Hannie Dawson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group III, includes the application of John Dawson, and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 578, D 360 and D 530. The evidence shows that John Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. Sarah J. Dawson, nee Wood, his wife, a white woman, was married to him on October 4, 1871. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the nine children included in the application of said John Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. John Dawson, his wife, and his seven elder children are identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Thomas P. Dawson and Eric H. Dawson are the children of said John Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are both identified on the Cherokee

Census roll of 1888.

Thomas F. Dawson was married on April 24, 1886, to Alice A. Allison, and Marie J. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Orle H. Dawson was married on December 28, 1889, to Adelle York, and Furr R. and James W. Dawson are the issue of that marriage. The said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John Dawson and his wife, Sarah J., have resided together in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that said Orle H. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and that Thomas F. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IV, includes the applications of those claiming through the said Josephine Dawson, now deceased. At the time of her admission she was the wife of one Thomas Pierce, but was admitted to citizenship under maiden name of Dawson. The group embraces cases numbered D 408, D 409, D 431, D 471, D 472 and D 479.

The evidence shows that Robert Pierce, William Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Oma Gray, formerly Oma Pierce, Effie Pierce (not Effie Akin) and Nancy J. Bogle, formerly Nancy J. Pierce are the children of said Josephine Dawson. They were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1888.

Hellie Pierce, a white woman, was married to said Robert Pierce on July 18, 1884. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and Myrtle and Arthur Pierce are the issue of that marriage. Hellie Pierce is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1888, and her two children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Orn Gray was married to John B. Gray on April 7, 1880, and Ocell and Vedion Gray are the issue of that marriage. Orn Gray is identified on the strip payment roll of 1884 and her children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John S. Bogle was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 5, 1894, to the above named Nancy J. Pierce. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. John S. Bogle and his two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his four younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said William Pierce died in January, 1902.

It further appears that Robert Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Nancy J. Bogle and Orn Gray have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that John S. Bogle, husband of Nancy J. Bogle, and Nellie Pierce, wife of Robert Pierce, have resided in said Nation ever since they were married, and the residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents with whom they are living. It appears that Effie Akin was seventeen years old at the date of the application for her enrollment, and it further appears that she resided in the Cherokee Nation from about 1886 up to December, 1900, when she went to Colorado, was married there to Will Akin, and is now living in that state with her said husband.

Group V, includes the application of the said Joseph Dawson, Wilborn Dawson and James Dawson, and embraces cases number 1 B 384, B 478 and B 525.

Joseph E. Dawson is identified as the Joseph Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He was married to Florence Jackson on May 12, 1891, and they have living gether since the date of their marriage. The said Florence Jackson is the daughter of Ella Dawson, but she was of age at the date of her mother's admission to citizenship. The six children included in the application of said Joseph R. Dawson, and her inbefore named, are the issue of the marriage between the said Joseph R. Dawson and Florence Jackson. The applicant, his said wife and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Wilborn Dawson is identified as the person of that name admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James R. Dawson is identified as the James Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as heretofore stated. His wife, Martha A. Dawson was married to him on February 20, 1890. She has lived with her said husband since the date of their marriage, and the four children included in the application of said James R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. The applicant, his said wife and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that Joseph R. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Florence Dawson and Wilborn Dawson have resided in said Nation since 1896, and that James R. Dawson has resided in said Nation since 1883, excepting a temporary absence from 1888 to 1891. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VI, includes the application of Nellie Dawson as those claiming through her and embraces case numbered D 518.

The evidence shows that Nellie Moore, formerly known, is lawfully the Nellie Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. Her husband, Charles T. Moore, was married to her under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on January 17, 1887. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie, and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896; the two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that said Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie and his oldest child have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; the younger children have resided in said nation all their lives.

Group VII, includes the applications of those claiming through the above named Jane Dawson, who, at the time of her admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as hereinbefore stated, was the wife of one Alexander Blasingame, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. Jane Dawson is a resident of Arkansas, and is not an applicant for enrollment. This group embraces cases numbered D 832, D 833 and D 834.

The evidence shows that Henry A. Blasingame, Albert L. Blasingame, and James R. Blasingame are the children of said Jane Dawson. They were minors at the time of their mother's admission to citizenship and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Henry A. Blasingame was married to his wife Birdie J., on December 2, 1896, and Winnie C. Blasingame is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ida Blasingame, a white woman, was married to the said Albert L. Blasingame on September 5, 1894. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married and the four children mentioned in the application of said Albert L. Blasingame are the issue of that marriage. The said Ida Blasingame and her two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Mary A. Blasingame was married to the said James R. Blasingame on August 11, 1895. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the three minor children included in the application of said James R. Blasingame, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Mary A. Blasingame and her oldest child are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame and James R. Blasingame removed to the Cherokee Nation in 1897 and have resided therein with their said wives ever since. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VIII, includes the applications of those claimants through the said Elbert Dawson, and embraces cases numbered D 455, D 604, D 608, D 605, D 609, D 617, D 626 and D 627.

The evidence shows that Zona Patterson, formerly Dawson, William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Richard W. Dawson, Ella L. Spickerman, formerly Dawson, and Francis M. Dawson are the children of the said Elbert Dawson. All of them, excepting the said Francis M. Dawson, were minors at the time of their father's admission to citizenship. Zona Patterson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson are identified on the Strip Payment roll of 1894. An examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, shows that the said Ella L. Spickerman is also identified on the Strip Payment roll of 1894.

Martin L. Patterson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 13, 1890, to the said Rosa Dowson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Martin L. Patterson and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Alice Dawson, nee Alexander, was married to the said William G. Dawson on November 18, 1886. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married.

Elbert B. Dawson was married on February 16, 1898, to Cora Bright, a non-citizen, and his child Ralph E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Sarah J. Dawson, nee Jones, was married to the above named Elbert Dawson about 1854, and lived with him as his wife until his death in February, 1899, and has not re-married since his death. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. F. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship.

Richard W. Dawson was married to Luella Mason, a white woman, on January 24, 1898. His child Ina E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage, and she is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ella L. Spickerman was married to John J. Spickerman, a white man on September 7, 1897. Her children Hellen J. and William Glenn are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

It further appears from the evidence that Francis M. Dawson, son of Elbert Dawson, at the time of his father's admission to citizenship child in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis M. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321), Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 466), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Lawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1836, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 23, D 35, D 836, D 1124, D 1125, D 1126, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1888, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the state of Texas in 1886, and has lived with her since that time. Thomas V. and Robert L. Gibson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. John W. Graham, 1888 and two children are identified on the Cherokee enrollment roll of 1894.

ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis M. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert P. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered, D 25, D 36, D 856, D 1124, D 1125, D 1228, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 22, 1888, to the said Missouri Dawson. He and she were subsequently married to her in the State of Texas in 1894, and she lived with her second husband, George V. and Elizabeth Graham, until the death of the latter in 1904. John W. Graham was a citizen of the State of Texas at the time of his death in 1904, and his estate was administered in the State of Texas.

Joe E. Graham was married to Mary Bradshaw, a non-citizen on January 6, 1898. William C. Graham is the issue of that marriage, and he is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

John F. Graham was married on February 11, 1900, to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, and Edna M. and Robert Lee are the issue of that marriage. Said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Bessie Graham was married on November 2, 1892, to the said James M. Graham. She has lived with him since the date of their marriage, and the six children included in the application of said James M. Graham, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. The oldest child Marion is identified on the Strip Payment roll of 1894, and the five younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John W. Graham, his wife Missouri Graham, Gideon Graham, Mathew A. Painter, and his wife Laverna A. Painter, Florence P. Bradshaw, John F. Graham and Joe Willie Neal have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888, and that Joe E. Graham and James M. Graham have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group X, includes the application of the said Ella Dawson and those claiming through her. The said Ella Dawson, at the time of her admission to citizenship, was the wife of Green W. Jackson, but she was admitted to citizenship under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 395, D 476, D 508, D 650 and D 667.

The evidence shows that Green W. Jackson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 24, 1887 to the said Ella Dawson. She had previously married to her in Texas prior to her admission to citizenship. From an affidavit made a part of this record it appears that Green W. Jackson died subsequent to the date of this application, and prior to September 1, 1902.

The evidence further shows that Flora Harmon, formerly Jackson, Tashie A. Jackson, William Jackson and Fannie Loux, formerly Jackson are the children of said Elia Harmon, now Elia Jackson. Flora Harmon, Tashie A. Jackson and Fannie Loux were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James H. Harmon was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 24, 1897, to the said Flora Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the four minor children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. James H. Harmon and his three elder children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

William C. Loux was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 1, 1898, to the said Fannie Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the two children Birtie B. and Myrtle Loux, included in his application, are the issue of the said marriage. William C. Loux and his two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Missie Harmon claims to have been married in 1898 to the said William Jackson, and to be a citizen. It appears that William Jackson was at the date of his marriage a citizen of the United States, and that Missie Harmon was at that time a minor. It is further shown that the said William Jackson and Missie Harmon were married in 1898, and that the said William Jackson and Missie Harmon were at that time citizens of the United States.

to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Lizzie Jackson and the five minor children included in her application, and heretofore named, are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and they take only such rights as may have been possessed by the said William Jackson. The authority of the Commission herein is defined in Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), heretofore quoted.

The evidence further shows that the said Ella Jackson, the said Flora Harmon and the said Toshie A. Jackson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that William C. Lenox, and his wife Fannie Lenox have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group XI, includes the applications of those claiming through Malvina Dawson and embraces case numbered D 859.

The evidence shows that James Love is the son of the said Malvina Dawson, and that at the time of her admission to citizenship the said James Love was over 21 years old. There is no evidence that the said James Love was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). It further appears that the said James Love was married on June 12, 1897, to Nellie Knight, a white woman, and the four minor children included in his application and heretofore named, are the issue of that marriage. James Love and the said children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896 and take only the rights which may have been acquired

The authority of the Commission herein is derived in Section 21 of the Act of Congress approved June 23, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), heretofore quoted.

Group XII, includes the applications of those claiming through the said W. A. Dawson and embraces cases numbered D 405, D 406, D 715, R 12 and R 13.

The evidence shows that Millie T. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in 1892 and lived with him as his wife in the Cherokee Nation until his death in 1899, and that she has not re-married since his death. Texanna Woolley is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson and his former wife Melissa A. Dawson. Texanna Woolley was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894. She was married on March 27, 1898, to James Woolley, and her children Irene T. and Wilburn K. are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Henry T. Richardson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 11, 1886, to one Sellar Dawson, who was the daughter of the said W. A. Dawson by his first wife Melissa A. Sellar Dawson was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship. Henry T. Richardson lived in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife Sellar from the date of their marriage until her death in 1892. On September 21, 1896, Henry T. Richardson married one Kitty Flournoy nee Dawson. The said Kitty Flournoy was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on September 1, 1898. Of the children named in the application of Henry T. Richardson to the Commission, the following are the children of the said Henry T. Richardson and his said wife Sellar Dawson: Sellar Dawson, born July 11, 1886; James Dawson, born July 11, 1886; and Wilburn K. Dawson, born March 27, 1898. The said Sellar Dawson died in 1892. The said James Dawson died in 1892. The said Wilburn K. Dawson died in 1892. The said Henry T. Richardson died in 1892. The said Kitty Flournoy nee Dawson died in 1892. The said Henry T. Richardson and his said wife Sellar Dawson were the parents of the said Sellar Dawson, James Dawson, and Wilburn K. Dawson. The said Henry T. Richardson and his said wife Sellar Dawson were the parents of the said Sellar Dawson, James Dawson, and Wilburn K. Dawson. The said Henry T. Richardson and his said wife Sellar Dawson were the parents of the said Sellar Dawson, James Dawson, and Wilburn K. Dawson.

The six elder children were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation on December 1, 1894, with their mother as the members of her family. The youngest child Edna Flournoy was born in 1896 and was living at the date of this application. Della F. Richardson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and Finis T. and Jasper C. Richardson are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Etta Brauer is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson, and was a minor at the date of her father's admission. She was married in 1892 to a non-citizen but such marriage was not in accordance with Cherokee laws. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Melissa A. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in the State of Texas on September 28, 1873. The Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation in the case of Melissa A. Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson, decided that Melissa A. Dawson, the applicant herein was a citizen of the Cherokee Nation by virtue of internarrriage with her said husband, W. A. Dawson. She is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and she has not re-married since her divorce from said W. A. Dawson.

The evidence shows that Texanna Tolley has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; that Etta Brauer and Melissa A. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation, with the exception of temporary absences, since 1884; that Millie T. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1892; that Henry T. Richardson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1896, and that Kitty Richardson, his wife, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group XIII, including the following applications: Elmer J. ...
Walter, et al. ...
George E. ...
...

identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John E. Fishback is the son of Laverna Fishback, who was re-admitted to citizenship on December 1, 1894, as heretofore stated. He was a minor at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship and he is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

George A. Mabry was married to one Edna Dawson in the State of Arkansas in 1884. He claims to have been married under a Cherokee marriage license to his said wife in 1889, but he presents no satisfactory proof of such marriage. Edna Dawson was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Roby and Charley Mabry are her children by her said husband, George A. Mabry. Edna Mabry is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894, and the two children were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship.

The evidence further shows that Alonzo H. Fishback and his wife Laverna A. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Lula P. Weddle, William D. Douthitt, and John E. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that Florence Morgan and Edna Mabry have resided in said Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

All birth affidavits for the minor children embraced in this decision, and heretofore noted, are made a part of this record.

It is contended by the Cherokee Nation that the applicants herein are not entitled to be enrolled by this Commission because they have never been lawfully admitted or enrolled by the Cherokee authorities, and that the judgment of the Cherokee Commission as to the citizenship of the said persons and his family was obtained by fraud of the said persons.

In considering the question at issue, it is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. Page 61, it is stated, "the doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment assailed." Only such facts therefore, are considered by this Commission, as were not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teehee Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teehee Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment.

Briefly stated, the circumstances attending the admission of the Dawsons appear to be as follows:

On September 24, 1861, an application was made to the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship known as the "Teehee Court" for admission to Cherokee citizenship of Robert Dawson and the members of his family above mentioned. The members of that Commission were Thomas Teehee, Alex Wolfe and T. F. Thompson. The first two were full blood Cherokee Indians; they could understand, but could not talk English. One D. W. G. Brown was the Clerk of the Commission. The Brown case was continued several times before final decision. J. M. Bryan appears to have been an attorney in the case, and after some delay he notified Thomas G. Brown that the case would be taken up by the Commission at its session in January, 1862, and that through the fact that S. H. Taylor could not understand the Cherokee language as at that time.

would be in Washington. On receipt of this notice Francis M. Dawson went to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation, and made arrangements with his uncle Samuel H. Benge to go to Tahlequah and conduct the case. Benge who is a witness herein testifies that he was connected with the Dawson case when it was commenced in 1881; that it was continued several times for want of evidence, and that in January, 1883, in company with F. M. Dawson he went to Tahlequah and while there secured the testimony of Tash Rogers, a negro, who knew the Dawson's ancestors, and that after getting his evidence the case was submitted to the Commission. He further testifies that the Commission rendered a decision against the Dawsons and that next morning the Commission reopened the case, but not upon motion of the witness, and rendered a judgment admitting the Dawsons to citizenship. He further states that on his way home to Fort Gibson with Dawson he remarked to the latter, "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered a decision against us," to which Dawson is alleged to have replied, "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach and he reached him with five hundred dollars."

Dawson denies ever having had such a conversation and says that he did not return to Fort Gibson with Benge but went home to Arkansas by a different route.

G. H. Taylor testifies that he was an attorney in the case and was present when the case was decided. He says there were only two Commissioners present, Teehee and Wolfe. He further testifies that E. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of the Court asked the witness to let him know when any large citizenship cases came up; that he introduced J. D. Gibson to Dawson on the evening of January 10th, heard part of a conversation between them in which Dawson expressed doubts as to the value of the evidence, and that the conversation was continued on the following day. That he saw Dawson on the following day and that he saw Dawson on the following day.

evidence introduced and no argument made, and that the case was then decided in favor of the Dawsons. Witness further testified that Dawson gave him twenty dollars and said he would send him the balance in a short time, that in the course of ten days he sent him one hundred dollars with directions to pay over half of it to Duncan; that Dawson soon afterwards sent him another hundred dollars with the same instruction to give Duncan half of it.

Dawson denied the matters testified to by Taylor excepting in the matter of paying Taylor money, which he admits in part, but says that the twenty dollars mentioned was sent to Taylor about a year after the decision, and that he instructed Taylor to pay it over to Duncan to pay him for a land claim, and that the other money was in payment of J. M. Bryan's attorney fees which Taylor represented to Dawson he had for collection against him. Taylor's reputation for truth and veracity has been impeached by various disinterested witnesses.

The evidence which may be considered as tending to support the charge of fraud is the testimony of S. E. Dunge, C. H. Taylor, Thomas L. Dehart, J. L. Glinkenbeard, James W. Lewis, C. J. Draught and David Meredith.

S. E. Dunge testifies that a judgment adverse to the Dawsons was rendered by the Commission on the evening of one day and without any additional proceedings in the case that judgment was reversed on the morning of the next day.

Even if this were a substantial fact, there is no other proof that the judgments in the case were ever rendered. The record of the proceedings and judgments in the Dawsons' case is all on one page, and there is no indication to what day the first judgment was rendered, and no indication of a second judgment being rendered on the next day. The record is all on one page, and there is no indication to what day the first judgment was rendered, and no indication of a second judgment being rendered on the next day.

Thomas B. Dabeart testifies that one James Dawson, a man of forty or fifty years of age, in company with Butler, the Commission's interpreter and Jim Smith, solicitor for the Nation, came to the witness in Tahlequah the evening of January 10, 1883, to borrow some money; that Dawson was vouched for by Butler as a responsible party and that Dawson told the witness that he had to have money that night, that his case was to be submitted the next day if he could get some money, that Smith had agreed to submit the case without evidence, and that witness thereupon let Dawson have ten dollars.

Admitting all this to be true and that the influence of these officials was purchased for the sum of ten dollars, the Commission fails to see how these alleged facts show that the Court was imposed upon or misled. Bribery of officials to use their influence with the Commission would not necessarily vitiate the judgment, but it must appear that the fraud, or corruption reached the members of the Commission and tainted the judgment itself. The case was not submitted without evidence as appears from the record, and it is shown that such evidence was carefully considered by that Commission. Furthermore, the evidence shows that there was no such person then in Tahlequah as the James Dawson described by witness.

Clinkenbeard testifies that he had a talk with Elbert Dawson about 1881; that Dawson told him he had only one witness, Dr. Baker of Arkansas, "an old man 80 or 90 years old who did not know straight up" and that he could give Dr. Baker four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would swear black was white. Witness further testifies that Dawson told him that money was what made the mare go in Texas, and that he had found out that it goes here too.

Admitting that this Commission can go into the question of perjury in connection with witnesses in that case, and that the Commission is not bound by the testimony of witnesses, it is not bound by the testimony of witnesses in this case.

many before the Commission. Further, it is not clear that Dr. Baker was the only witness in the case. Benge stated that Tom Rogers was a witness, Duncan is under that impression also, and T. P. Thompson, one of the Commissioners, states that he thinks there were three witnesses. The testimony of Dr. Baker, seems, however, to be the only testimony preserved of record. As to whether Doctor Baker offered perjured testimony by Dawson's procurement, it is proper to state that the evidence of W. H. Curtis and A. S. McKennon, witnesses for applicants, show that Doctor Baker was a man of integrity and was not addicted to drinking.

The testimony of James W. Lewis is to the effect that he had a conversation with F. M. Dawson about 1883, in which Dawson had told the witness that it had cost him seven hundred dollars to get his rights. Braught also testifies that he was an applicant for citizenship about 1881 or 1882, and that while his case was pending he had a talk with F. M. Dawson who told him that if he (the witness) ever got in, it would cost him seven hundred dollars, and that Dawson told him he had paid one witness three hundred dollars, and made arrangements with the Court to get the Dawsons in at one hundred dollars a family. David Meredith testifies that he had a talk with old James Dawson in 1886, and that the latter told the witness it cost him twelve hundred dollars to get his case through.

It can hardly be urged that such evidence is sufficient to show that the members of the Texas Commission were corrupted by the fraudulent use of money. So far as these witnesses have been able to identify the money spent by the Dawsons might have been for proper and legitimate purposes. F. M. Dawson gives a detailed statement of what the case cost him and has nothing to be legitimate way. The Commission can say, in substance that such money was spent for legitimate purposes, and the price to the Dawsons was to get their before this Commission will deny applicants the right to be enrolled upon that ground.

Admitting the truth of all the testimony in this case as to the actual transfer of money by the Dawsons, it appears that Duncan, Butler and Smith were the only beneficiaries of that money. There is no evidence that the members of the Commission received or were offered any of it.

The judgment entered in the Commission's docket shows the signature of the three members of the Commission appended thereto. There is some conflict as to whether Duncan signed Thompson's name, or whether Thompson affixed his own signature. Duncan testified that all three signatures were made by him as Clerk under authority of the Commissioners present, the two full bloods being unable to sign their names. T. F. Thompson testifies that he signed the original transcript of the judgment, which was made on the day of its rendition. The question, however, is not considered to be very material. The signing of judgments by each Commissioner appears to have been a matter of custom only. T. F. Thompson testifies that he remembers the Dawson case and recognizes the judgment therein as the final judgment of the Commission, and that there was no fraud or corruption in the procurement of that judgment by the Dawsons or by any one else so far as he knew.

Such evidence has been introduced by the Cherokee Nation for the purpose of showing that the ancestor, through whom the Dawsons claim, was not a Cherokee, and that other members of the Dawson family, claiming from the same source, have been denied Cherokee citizenship by subsequent Cherokee tribunals, and also by this Commission and by the United States Court. Such evidence, in the opinion of the Commission, is not competent for any purpose in this case.

fraud in the procurement of the Robert Dawson judgment, and not whether the applicants are Cherokee Indians, or whether they ought to have been admitted to citizenship upon the proof submitted. These were questions presented, considered and passed upon by the Teehee Commission. If their decision is a valid and regular judgment, it is binding on this Commission. If, on the contrary, the applicants have never been lawfully admitted to citizenship, because the judgment under which they claim is void, for fraud, then the question as to whether they are Cherokees by blood is not material, as this Commission has now no authority to admit them to citizenship.

While it is true, that since 1863, a number of applicants, members of the Dawson family, have been denied admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, no argument derived therefrom is of any force, for it is also true that other members of the same family have been admitted to citizenship, and the action of the Cherokee authorities in admitting them has never been questioned by the Cherokee Nation. Whatever inference, therefore, may be drawn from these facts, applied with equal force both for and against the validity of the judgment in question.

The Dawsons have lived in the Cherokee Nation, most of them since 1863; they have exercised the rights of Cherokee citizenship for many years, some of them occupying official positions in the Nation, and no protest seems to have been made against their citizenship until within the last few years. The records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission, show, that since 1863, there have been Commissions on citizenship charged with authority to investigate the judgments of former tribunals alleged to have been secured by fraud, and the Cherokee Legislature had power to order an investigation, and to create a tribunal with authority to set aside a judgment, if obtained by fraud. It is not possible to see how the

by the Cherokee authorities with reference to the judgment of the Teehee Commission in the Robert Dawson case.

After a careful consideration of all the facts in this case this Commission is of the opinion that the evidence fails to establish that the Dawsons secured their admission to citizenship by fraud or that the judgment of the Teehee Commission as rendered January 11, 1883, was fraudulent as the result of corruption, bribery, or deception upon the part of the Dawsons, or their agents, and that such judgment, and also the judgment of the Spears Commission in 1884, and the Act of the Cherokee National Council of December 1, 1884, which have not been attacked by the Cherokee Nation, being regular on their face, must therefore be accepted by this Commission as the valid judgments of the duly constituted Cherokee authorities.

It is, therefore, the opinion of this Commission that,

It is further the opinion of this Commission that, for the reasons heretofore stated, the applications for the enrollment of Arizona Allred and William C. Allred, (embraced in D 835); Francis M. Dawson, son of Elbert Dawson, (embraced in D 627); Osie Jackson, Lizzie Jackson, Jessie Jackson, Ray Jackson, and Clyde Jackson, the children of William and Lizzie Jackson, (embraced in D 830); James Lowe, May Lowe, Zelma Lowe, Roberta Lowe and Ross Lowe, (embraced in D 839), as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, and that the applications of Lizzie Jackson, widow of William Jackson, (embraced in D 830), and George A. Mabry (embraced in D 979), as citizens by intermarriage of the Cherokee Nation should be denied, in accordance with the provisions of the law heretofore quoted, and it is so ordered.

As hereinbefore stated William Pierce (D 409) and Cecil Dawson (D 556) and Green W. Jackson (D 395), died prior to September 1, 1902. It further appears from affidavits, made a part of this record that Lizzie and Margaret Graham (D 1128) have died since the date of the application for their enrollment and prior to September 1, 1902.

It is, therefore, ordered that the applications for the enrollment of said William Pierce, Cecil Dawson, Green W. Jackson, Lizzie Graham and Margaret Graham be, and the same are hereby dismissed.

The Commission in its decision of December 23, 1902, held that all the applicants above named, except Liddie and Margaret Graham, who died prior to September 1, 1902, were entitled to enrollment---- John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, as citizens by intermarriage, and the others as citizens by blood.

John W. Graham, (Group IX. page 1), February 12, 1838, married Missouri Dawson, who was admitted to citizenship by the Spears Commission or Court, September 9, 1834. This Court was composed of Eli Spears, John Lee, Andrew Young, John L. Adair was clerk pro tem of the Court. The marriage of February 12, 1838, was performed in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. John W. Graham and his wife, Missouri, were first married in 1836, in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas. John W. Graham and his wife have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His name, the name of his wife and the names of his two children appear on the 1896 Cherokee census roll.

Gideon Graham, (Group IX, page 5), is the son of John W. and Missouri Graham, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation. He was married to Elizabeth Graham nee Sydow in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas, October 10, 1886. Gideon Graham, his wife and all of their minor children, except Florence N., are identified by the 1896 census roll. Gideon Graham and his family appear to have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Gideon Graham is identified by the 1894 roll.

Matthew A. Painter, (Group 9, page 11), was married to Laverna A. Painter nee Graham, under the Cherokee law, August 19, 1888. It seems that these parties were first married, September 22, 1887, but not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Laverna A. Painter is a daughter of John W. and Missouri Graham. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Matthew A. Painter, his wife and minor children, except Ray D., Robert A. and Roy V., are identified by the 1896 roll. From the record it appears that the principal applicant and his family have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

Charles T. Bradshaw, (Group IX., page 21), was married to Florence Bradshaw nee Graham in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation, March 24, 1894. Florence Bradshaw is a daughter of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, under the name of Lawson. From the record it does not appear that the name of Charles T. Bradshaw is found on any of the rolls of the Cherokee Nation. Florence Graham is identified by the 1894 census roll. Florence Graham is identified by the 1894 census roll. Florence Bradshaw and her family appear to have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

John F. Graham, (Group IX, page 35), is the son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, and the principal applicant was a minor when his mother was admitted. He was married to Mattie Lawson, February 11, 1900. Mattie Lawson is a non-citizen. His name appears on the 1894 pay-roll, but does not appear on the 1896 roll.

James Neal, (Group IX, page 36-1/2), is a recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood and is enrolled as such. He was married to Joe Willie Neal nee Graham, a daughter of Missouri Graham, who was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, under the name of Dawson. The name of Joe Willie Neal is found on the 1894 pay-roll, as is also the name of her husband. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship, and she has lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

James H. Graham, (Group IX, page 36), is a son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, September 9, 1884. November 2, 1902, James M. Graham was married to Bessie Willis, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. The name of James M. Graham is found on the 1894 pay-roll. Marion Graham is also identified by that roll. The other minor children are properly identified by birth affidavits.

In connection with this group, attention is respectfully invited to office report of even date transmitting group 1, and for the reasons therein stated the approval of the Commission's decision is recommended, except as to John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, who apply for enrollment as intermarried citizens.

As hereinbefore stated, the record shows that Lizzie and Margaret <sup>Graham</sup> died before September 1, 1902.

Attention is also invited to Department letter of June 10, 1903, (I.T.D. 3386), in the Martha Hill case.

Very respectfully,

(Signed) W. A. Jones,

Commissioner.

March 31, 1904.

Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes,
Muskegee, Indian territory.

Gentlemen:

February 25, 1903, you transmitted the record in the matter of the application of Francis M. Dawson, et al., for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee nation, with your decision of December 23, 1902, in which you disposed of these applications by groups, including in Group IX, which will be considered herein, the applications of those persons who claim enrollment through Missouri Graham, formerly Dawson, who was admitted to Cherokee citizenship September 9, 1884, by decree of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, of which Eli Spears was President.

Said decree recites that Missouri Dawson (now Graham) and others, "are Cherokees by blood and that by virtue thereof they are justly entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship in the Cherokee nation, and that they should be and are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees."

Title D/ 23 refers to the application of John W. Graham for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and his minor children, Tempa V. and Robert S. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. She and her children, whose names appear above, are identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1896. Her name also appears upon the 1894 roll. On February 12, 1888, she was married to the said John W. Graham. A former marriage was entered into by them under the laws of Texas, in 1866.

Title D.35 refers to the application of Gideon Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, John W., Julius E., Francis W., Mary E., Jesse E., Gracie M. and Florence M. Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Elizabeth Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage, of said nation. Gideon Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. On October 10, 1866, he married Elizabeth Graham, nee Sytow, and the children named above are the issue of that marriage. Elizabeth Graham, and the six elder children are identified on the census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D/ 536 refers to the application of Matthew A. Painter for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Laverna A. Painter, and his minor children, Ada E., Eva P., John W., Ray D., Roberta A. and Roy V. Painter, as citizens by blood of said nation. Laverne A. Painter is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the nation since her marriage to said Matthew A. Painter, in 1888. He and their three elder children are also identified on the census roll of 1896. The three younger children are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1124 refers to the application of Charles T. Bradshaw for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Florence P. Bradshaw, and his minor children, Myrtle and Claude Bradshaw, as citizens by blood of said nation. Said Bradshaw was married March 22, 1894, to Florence P. Graham, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Florence P. Bradshaw, nee Graham, is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Their children named above are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1125 refers to the application of Joe E. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor child, William C. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. Said Joe E. Graham is a son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the nation since 1894. He married Mary Bradshaw on January 6, 1893. William C. Graham is the issue of that marriage. He is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D.1126 refers to the application of John F. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his two minor children, Mina M. and Robert Lee Graham, as Cherokees by blood. Said John F. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1896 roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His children, who are the issue of his marriage to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, on February 11, 1900, are identified by birth affidavits

Title D. 1127 refers to the application of James Neal for the enrollment of his wife, Joe Willie Neal, nee Graham, as a citizen by blood. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified upon the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1888.

Title D.1128 refers to the application of James M. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Marion, Maggie, Luther, Liddie, Margaret and Floyd Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Bessie Graham, as a citizen by inter-marriage. The said James M. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1884. On November 2, 1892, he was married to Bessie Willis. The six children named above are the issue of that marriage. The eldest child, Marion, is identified on the pay roll of 1894. The other children are identified by birth affidavits.

The residence of all minor children referred to herein is considered to be that of their parents.

In your decision of December 23, 1902, you held that all of the applicants mentioned above are entitled to enrollment.

Reporting relative to this group October 16, 1903, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommended that your decision be approved, in so far as it related to those applicants who claimed by blood, and as to those claiming by intermarriage he recommended that no action be taken at this time.

The Department concurs in the recommendation of the Commissioner, and you are directed to enroll the applicants named above who claim by blood.

The attorney for the Cherokee Nation protests against the enrollment of these applicants, alleging that the decree of the tribal court upon which these claims depend, was obtained through fraud. In this connection, see opinion of the Assistant Attorney General of February 18, 1904, in the Dawson case, copy of which was forwarded to you February 24, 1904.

A copy of Indian Office letter relating to this group is inclosed.

Respectfully,

(Signed) Theo Ryan,

Acting Secretary.

Q Have you any certificate of her admission? A Yes, sir.
Q Is your wife's name in that certificate? (No response)
Q Is Missouri Dawson your wife's mother? A Yes, sir.

Pay Roll of 1894 of the Cherokee Nation examined and the name of the applicant's wife appears thereon as follows:
Page 37, #613, Florence P. Graham, Canadian District.

- Q Do you know why your name and the name of your wife is not on the roll of 1890? A No, sir.
Q Do you know what your wife's mother's mother's name was?
A No, sir, I don't.

John W. Graham, being sworn and examined by Commissioner, T. B. Needles testified as follows:

- Q What is your name? A John W. Graham.
Q What is your age? A Fifty six.
Q Your Postoffice? A Melita.
Q Do you know Florence Graham? A Yes, sir.
Q What is her mother's name? A Missouri Graham.

By Mr. A. S. McKennon, Attorney for Applicant:

Q Are you the husband of Missouri Graham? A Yes, sir.
Q Where did you first marry her? A In Quarrelle County, Texas.
Q When? A '66.
Q When was she admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?
A September 9th, 1884.
Q Was she admitted as Missouri Graham? A She was not.
Q By what name? A Missouri Dawson.
Q You were then, however, her husband? A Yes, sir.
Q Living with her? A Yes, sir.
Q How many children had you then? A Had nine.
Q Just commence and name them now? A Gideon, James M., Louverna.
Q How old was Gideon then? A Sixteen or seventeen.
Q How old was James M. A About fifteen.
Q How old was Louverna? A About two years younger.
Q What is the next one now? A Florence Graham.
Q How old was Florence then? A She would be about two years younger still than the others.

By Commissioner T. B. Needles:

Q Well, what would her age be; about how old was she?
A About twelve or thirteen.

By Mr. A. S. McKennon, Attorney for Applicant:

Q What is the name of the next one? A Joe R. and Joe W., a girl; twins.
Q How old were they? A Nine.
Q Now the next? A John F.
Q How old was he? A He is twenty one now.
Q Four years old then? A Yes, sir.
Q Is that all at that time? A Yes, sir.
Q That was all you had at the time you were admitted?
A Tempie V.
Q How old was she then? A She would be about two.
Q Was that all? A Robert Lee; that is all.
Q Was he with you when you were admitted? A I can not say positively.
Q How old is he now then? A About fifteen now.
Q Is that all? A Yes, sir.
Q All of these children were minors when you were admitted?
A Yes, sir.
Q You and your wife were admitted then, or was she just admitted?
A She was just admitted.
Q Was she admitted under the name of Missouri Dawson? A Yes, sir.
Q That was her maiden name, was it? A Yes, sir.
Q Do you know why she was admitted that way? A No, sir.
Q She's the same identical person now she is your wife at this time, and the mother of those children? A Yes, sir; that's right.
Q You were afterwards married to her under a Cherokee license, were you? A Yes, sir.
Q When? A Right away afterwards; I came on here and complied with the laws of the Cherokee Nation, as my certificate will show.

By Mr. W. T. Hutchings, Cherokee Representative; to APPLICANT RECALLED

Q Did you ever make any application for yourself or any of your family to the Dawes Commission in 1886? A No, sir I did not.
Q You were never called Charles R. Bradshaw? A No, sir.
Q Have you ever made any other application to this Commission at any time previous to this? A No, sir, I have not.

By Commissioner T. B. Needles:

Q How long have you lived in the Cherokee Nation?
A About twenty one years.
Q You stated that you had lived with your wife continuously since you married her? A Yes, sir.

CHARLES T. BRADSHAW ET AL.

--3--

By Mr. A. S. McKennon, Attorney for Applicant:

Q Did you appear before the Committee - Cherokee Committee - that was making the rolls in 1896? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you understand that you were then enrolled, or that you were not enrolled? A Yes, sir; they took me down then, but I don't know why it is that it does not show now.

Q Took down you and your family, did they? A Yes, sir; myself, wife and one child.

BY COMMISSIONER T. B. NEEDLES: The name of Charles T. Bradshaw is not found upon any of the Rolls of the Cherokee Nation; he makes satisfactory proof of marriage to one, Florence P. Graham, in the year 1894, and her name is found upon the pay roll of 1894; her name is not found upon the authenticated roll of 1890 or upon the census roll of 1896; he avers that his wife is the daughter of John W. and Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, who was admitted to citizenship on the 9th day of September, 1884; the certificate of admission has been exhibited in the case of the application of John W. Graham, and the records of the Cherokee Nation now in the possession of the Commission show that said Missouri Dawson, wife of John W. Graham was so admitted. The applicant avers that he has two children, Myrtle, five years old and Claude fifteen months old, whose names do not appear upon the census rolls of 1896; satisfactory proof is made that said Missouri Dawson was the mother of said Florence Graham, and that at the admission of her mother to citizenship aforesaid, Florence was a minor, twelve years of age; satisfactory proof is also made as to their residence; now comes the Cherokee Nation by its representatives and protests against the enrollment of the said Charles T. Bradshaw for enrollment as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation by intermarriage and his wife, Florence and children, Myrtle and Claude as citizens by blood; consequently final judgment as to the enrollment of the said Charles T. Bradshaw as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation by intermarriage, and his wife and children as enumerated as citizens by blood will be suspended and their names will be placed upon a doubtful card.

In order to perfect the enrollment of said children, it will be necessary for the applicant to file with this Commission satisfactory proof of their birth, their names not appearing on any of the rolls now in the possession of this Commission.

The undersigned, being sworn, states that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, he correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of his stenographic notes thereof.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23rd day of February, A. D., 1901.

  - Q Is your wife a Cherokee by blood? A No, sir; she is a white woman.
  - Q How long have you lived in the Cherokee Nation? A Since 1933.
  - Q Were you admitted by the Cherokee Commission? A Yes, sir.
- The applicant presents a duly authenticated certificate of admission to citizenship, showing that on the 11th day of January, 1933, certain persons were admitted as citizens on citizenship, and among them appears the name of F. M. Bulawaty.
- Q That is your name is it? A Yes, sir.
  - Q This is recognized as an accurate recollection of the facts stated.
  - Q Have you lived in the Cherokee Nation since your admission? A Yes, sir; in Delaware District Creek Area.
  - Q Give us the name of your wife? A Maude Bulawaty.
  - Q How old is she now? A Forty five.
  - Q Was she admitted with you? A No, sir.
  - Q Have you married her according to Cherokee law since your admission? A No, sir.
  - Q You have not remarried since your admission? A No, sir; it was not necessary.
- The applicant presents a duly authenticated marriage license and certificate, showing that he was married to his wife, as stated by him, in 1930, by the Rev. R. E. Goodrich, in Carroll County, Arkansas, the license being issued by the clerk of that County.
- These papers are filed herewith.

Q Is this Lula or Luly? A Luly.
 The applicant applies for the enrollment of himself, wife and six children:

Q Were these children all born since you were admitted into the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.

The applicant is shown by the certificate of admission, cited in the testimony, to have been admitted to Cherokee citizenship, by the Commission on Citizenship, January 11th, 1883; he is identified on the roll of 1896, but the representative of the Cherokee Nation desires to make inquiry into the methods of that time, and for that reason, the application of the applicant will at present be placed on a "Doubtful Card." He has lived in the Cherokee Nation ever since his admission to citizenship. His wife was married to him under United States law, and was married prior to his admission; she has never been remarried according to Cherokee law; she has lived with him ever since his admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the roll of 1896. The application for her enrollment will be placed on a "Doubtful Card".

Their six children, as enumerated in the testimony are identified on the roll of 1896: They are living at this time, all having been born since his admission (Applicant's). These children will be placed with him on a "Doubtful Card". The applicant's marriage to the mother of these children is established by the marriage license and certificate filed herewith. If any additional papers, adverse are developed in this case, he will be given timely notice thereof.

The undersigned, being sworn, states that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, he correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of his stenographic notes thereof.

BEFORE THE HONORABLE COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

In the matter of the enrollment of F. V. Dawson and others as Cherokee citizens.

Depositions of sundry persons in behalf of the applicants for enrollment mentioned in the title, taken before me, Lewis T. Martin, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, duly appointed, qualified and acting as such, at the office of G. B. Denison in the Gray-Hall building in the town of Vinita, Indian Territory, on Thursday the fourth day of October 1890, between the hours of one and a half o'clock and six o'clock in the afternoon of said day, in accordance with the agreement to take testimony, entered into between the applicants and the Cherokee Nation, by their respective attorneys, which agreement is hereto attached.

T. F. Thompson, being produced by the applicants, being first duly sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

- Q State your name, age, residence and occupation?
- A T. F. Thompson, 52 years old, I live near Vinita, Cherokee Nation.
- Q I am a farmer.
- Q How long have you resided in the Cherokee Nation? A All my life.
- Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation as now constituted?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Upon what is that citizenship based, blood or otherwise?
- A Blood.
- Q What, if any official position have you held in the Cherokee Nation, and at what time?
- A I was elected to the Cherokee Council in 1870 some odd, I don't remember the exact year, I was also on the Commission Court.
- Q Do you remember when that was? A Some time in 1880 or 1881, I think, it may have been earlier.
- Q Did that Commission or Court have anything to do with admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
- Q State, if you remember, how many members of that Commission or Court, there were, and who they were besides yourself?
- A There were three, Tabor, Wolf and myself, Tabor was President of the Court.
- Q Where were the sessions of that body held? A Tahlequah, Cherokee Nation.
- Q Did you have a clerk? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you remember his name and what? A D. W. C. Dunham.
- Q Do you know whether or no members of that Commission besides yourself, are living at present? A Yes, sir, they are both dead.
- Q Can you state for what period of time that Commission lasted?
- A About two years, two sessions, and there was one session each year.
- Q Were the sessions of that body held in Tahlequah, open to the public at all, and were they held in session?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Were the same sessions that body held in open session?
- A Yes, sir.
- Q Witnesses examined, correct? A Yes, sir.

Q Judgments of the Court or Commission pronounced in open session?

A In case of decisions I think they sometimes had secret sessions, yes, the judgments of the Commission were pronounced openly.

Q What you intended to convey by your answer to the former question was that after hearing the proof the Commission or Court deliberated in secret session upon the testimony taken before reaching a decision or announcing it? A After hearing all the testimony we went into secret session.

Q I will present you with a paper which the Notary will mark exhibit "A" and a copy of which he will attach to your deposition, and will ask you if with the exception of the certificate of record by M. L. Bragdon, Clerk, and John L. Adair Asst. Ex. Secretary, you recognize it as a paper you have ever seen before?

A I recognize the signature to it, but don't remember the instrument.

Q Which signature on that paper do you recognize? A My own.

Q That signature is in your own handwriting? A Yes, sir.

Q Do you know whether Thomas Teehee, president of the Commission could write in English or not? A No, I don't think he could.

Q How as to Alexander Wolfe, a member of the Commission?

A I don't think he could write either, I don't think either of them ever wrote except by touching the pen.

Q Were you, and are you familiar with the handwriting of D. F. C. Duncan, the Clerk of that Commission?

A Tolerably well, but it has been a long time since I saw any of it.

Q Will you look at the paper again and say whether you recognize his signature attached thereto?

A Yes, that is his signature to the best of my knowledge.

Q Do you preserve any personal recollection of the application before that Commission of F. M. Dawson and other members of the Dawson family, to be admitted as citizens of the Cherokee Nation by that Commission?

A I remember F. M. Dawson and his brother, that is about the only ones I remember.

Q The question was not as to the personal recollection of the individuals, but as to the claim being presented by the Dawsons for admission?

A Yes, there was such a claim before the Commission.

Q Can you state as to the citizenship of Thomas Teehee, whether he was a citizen of the Nation by blood or not?

A Yes, sir, he was always recognized as such, full blood Cherokee.

Q What is your knowledge of Alexander Wolfe?

A About the same, he was also a full blood and recognized as a Cherokee.

Q Judge Thompson, if you possessed or had, or have now any knowledge of any corruption or bribery of the court or Commission, or any member of it by F. M. Dawson or any of the Dawson family or anybody connected with the presentation of their claim for citizenship, state it fully?

A None whatever as far as I was concerned, and I don't think there was by the balance of the Court.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q Do you mean to say Mr. Thompson that your name attached to the certificate shown you is in your handwriting?

A Yes, sir.

Q When Mr. Dawson certified that this is a transcript of the decision in the case, he is mistaken, that is the original?

A No, I don't know, that may be the original, if that is not the original I do not sign it, if it is the original I sign it.

Q You state that the witnesses were examined orally before the Court, don't you know that in almost every case you took or wrote affidavits of witnesses when those witnesses were not present?

A I think we ruled ex parte evidence out, as well as I remember.

Q Did you have any stenographer or anybody to copy the evidence?
Mr. Duncan did all of the copying.

Q Was the evidence copied and preserved?

A Yes, sir, I think it was.

Q What was done with that evidence, where was any of it ever put?

A I suppose it is at Tahlequah in the office of the Treasurer or Secretary.

Q When you went into secret session did you have Mr. Duncan read that evidence to you?

A Yes, sir, we went over the evidence thoroughly.

Q Did you allow the applicants or their attorneys admission to any of your secret sessions?

No, sir.

Q When you got ready to render your decisions did you then send for the applicants or their attorneys?

A No, sir.

Q And you rendered them in secret also, did you? A Yes, sir.

Q Have you any recollection who testified in the Dawson case, as to their claim? A No, sir, I have not.

Q Have you any recollection as to who they claimed their Cherokee ancestors were? A Yes, sir, they claimed the Rogers.

Q Did they claim relationship with any of the present families of Rogers residing in the Cherokee Nation?

The applicant objects to this question as tending to elicit testimony wholly incompetent and irrelevant to the issue, and not cross-examination of this witness.

A I don't know that they did, particularly.

How could your court determine when they claimed descent through some Rogers family, that that family was of Cherokee blood?

The applicant objects to the question upon the same grounds as their objection to the previous question.

A By the evidence they produced.

Q Didn't you make them prove that that family was well known at one time to be connected with the Cherokee Nation, and were citizens thereof? A Yes.

Q Who was the attorney for the Dawsons? A Old man Houston Bengé.

Q Could either Teece or Wolfe speak English? A They could understand, but they never spoke English, they had an interpreter.

Q Did you ever talk to either of them as to whether they got anything for deciding this case? A No, sir.

Q How long were you considering the case altogether?

A I could not say as to that, I think we were on it two or three weeks anyhow, I could not say positively now, they were a long time getting in testimony.

Q There were only two or three witnesses examined all told, were there not?

A I think no, three I think, they had quite a lot of affidavits, but we did not consider them.

Well the Court was a good while arriving at its conclusion after the evidence was closed?

A Yes, quite a good while, I don't remember the exact time.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION:

Q Do you remember who the interpreter the Court Indian had during the hearing of the Dawson case.

A Sir name was Reese, I forget his given name.

Q Do you know whether he is living or dead?

A I don't know, he seemed to be in bad health at the time we had the case up, I think they are all dead but me and Mr. Duncan.

Q What was he, a Cherokee by blood?

A He was considered a Cherokee by blood.

Q Do you know where he lived at that time?

A No, sir, he lived in the South part of the Nation though, I think in Sequoyah.

D. W. C. Duncan being produced by the applicants after being sworn to testify to the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth testified as follows:

DIRECT EXAMINATION BY G. B. DENISON:

Q Please state your name, age, residence and occupation?

A My name is D. W. C. Duncan, my age is 70 years, my residence is Vinita, Indian Territory, my occupation is a farmer.

Q How long has that been your place of residence? A Since 1874.

Q Are you a member of the Cherokee Nation as it is now constituted?

A Yes, sir.

Q Upon what is your citizenship based, a Cherokee by blood?

A Yes, a Cherokee by blood.

Q In January 1883, did you hold any official position in the Cherokee Nation, if so, what was it?

A About that time I held the position of clerk of the Citizenship Court or Commission.

Q If you remember the names of the members of that Commission or Court, please give them?

A The President of the Commission was Teneo I believe, and a member by the name of Wolfe whose first name I do not recollect, and Mr. Thompson here.

Q T. F. Thompson?

A Yes.

Q Do you know whether these three members of that Commission were recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and whether their citizenship was based upon blood or not?

A They were supposed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and their citizenship was based upon their blood.

Q Will you please look at the paper now handed you which the Notary has marked exhibit "A" to the deposition of Mr. T. F. Thompson, and a copy of which he will attach to Mr. Thompson's depositions, and state whether with the exception of the certificate of H. L. Bragden, Clerk, and of John L. Asair Asst. Ex. Secretary, you recognize the paper as one you have ever seen before?

A Yes, I think I have seen this before.

Q When, and where, if you remember, did you first see that paper?

A This is a paper I drew up at the time I was acting as clerk of the said Citizenship Court.

Q Looking at its date, was it drawn at you at the time it bears date?

A To the best of my recollection it was drawn at the date specified.

Q Do you recognize the signature to the certificate attached to that paper?

A Yes, that is my signature.

Q So that if you know, in whose handwriting the body of the paper is?

A It is in my handwriting.

Q And at that time you were Clerk of that Commission? A Yes.

Q Will you please look at the signatures of the members of the Commission as they appear on that paper, and state if you can, by whom they were written?

A I think the first two is my handwriting, the last I recognize that as T. F. Thompson's.

Q Explain please, how you came to write the signatures of Thomas Teneo and Alex Wolfe to that paper?

A Thomas Teneo and Alex Wolfe were full bloods and could not write, and in their presence, and at their request I wrote their signatures.

Q Was that the usual manner of certifying to the action of the Commission to applicants as to the decision of their application for citizenship, where admitted?

A In all instances where it was necessary for the Court to sign a paper of any kind it was adopted by that Court for the Clerk to sign Tehee's and Wolf's names and T. P. Thompson to sign his own name.

Q You didn't catch exactly my idea, but perhaps that answered it, what I intended to call you attention to, was whether when applicants had been admitted to citizenship a paper of this kind now shown you, signed by the judges as you have explained, and certified by you as a transcript of the proceedings was issued?

A My recollection is that a transcript of the judgment was issued to the applicant when they were admitted at their request, the judgment was entered upon the record when they were admitted and signed by the judges, and whenever the transcript was delivered to the applicants I think it was signed by the judges.

Q If you had any knowledge at the time the application of the Dawson family, F. H. and others whose names are mentioned in the paper, was pending before that Commission, or before or after, of any corruption or bribery, or attempted corruption or bribery of the Court or any of its officers, by F. H. Dawson, or any person connected in any manner with the claim of the Dawsons to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, state it fully?

A I never heard a thing of the kind, I know nothing of the kind, all that I have ever heard about a question of that kind is what has originated recently, since the enrollment business has been inaugurated.

CROSS-EXAMINATION BY W. T. HUTCHINGS:

Q If as you certify, this paper was a transcript of the record, why did you have the judges sign it?

A I know no reason further than that was the practice at that time, the members of the Court being present I presume it was thought it would be as good or better than the signature of the Clerk.

Q Examine that signature of Mr. Thompson, examine the first T in his name and the T in Tehee's name and see if it is not all your own handwriting?

A No, I would not call that mine, there is a resemblance between the letters but I am satisfied it is a mere fortuity, accident.

Q How was the evidence taken in those cases?

A It was taken by the witness being present and detailing his knowledge of the case, I wrote it down sentence by sentence as it was delivered.

Q Do you know whether that evidence is in existence or not?

A I do not, the last I saw of it was when I turned the records over to the Executive office at Tahlequah, and I have not seen it since.

Q You say you never heard any talk about this being an improper case until very recently?

A Well, that would depend upon what you mean by recently, I don't think I ever heard of it prior to three years ago, I can safely say that did not.

Q Do you remember through what ancestor they claimed their right to citizenship here?

Objected to by applicants because the question tends to elicit testimony which is wholly incompetent and irrelevant, and because it is not proper cross-examination.

A They claimed their right of citizenship through a man by the name of Rogers, I don't recollect his first name.

Q Do you know how many Rogers families there are who have citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A I do.

I, LEWIS T. MARTIN, a Notary Public in and for the Northern District of the Indian Territory, do certify that the foregoing depositions of T. F. Thompson and D. W. C. Duncan were taken before me at the time and place and in the action mentioned in the caption, and said T. F. Thompson and D. W. C. Duncan, having been first by me sworn that the evidence they should give in this matter should be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and that their statements were reduced to writing by me on the typewriter in their presence: the claimants being present in person and by their attorney G. B. Denison, and the Cherokee Nation being represented by W. T. Hutchings Esquire its attorney,.

Given under my hand this 4th day of October, A. D. 1900.

(SEAL)

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of
FRANCIS M. DAWSON, ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

The case having been set for final hearing March 17, 1902, the following proceedings were had:

APPEARANCES:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants;
Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of counsel for Cherokee Nation.

Mr. Hutchings: Comes now the Nation on the calling of this case and announces that it is ready for trial, provided permission is given to hereafter examine before the Commission, either at this place or Fort Gibson, the witness S. H. Bengé, who has been regularly summoned to attend at this day and time but who is too sick to travel at this time and probably will be for some time to come. As evidence of a good faith of the Nation we hereby present an affidavit of the facts sought to be proven by the said Bengé. If the applicant's counsel are willing to concede that the witness if present would testify to the facts herein set forth, the Nation is ready to proceed to trial without reservation of any kind. If they are not it desires to reserve this privilege of hereafter, either tomorrow or otherwise, this case being set for to-day and tomorrow, of examining before the Commission, or its authorized officer, this witness as above set forth.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the introduction of the paper presented and do not admit that the witness, Samuel H. Bengé if present would testify to the facts therein stated. They consent and desire that the testimony of said Bengé be taken before the Commission at its office in Muskogee but not elsewhere, and protest against it being taken at any other place, with the understanding, however, that when taken we have opportunity to introduce any evidence we may desire in rebuttal.

Mr. Hutchings:

The Nation will pay all the expenses of the opposing Counsel, their client and Commission officers in taking the deposition at Fort Gibson.

Commissioner Breckinridge: The allegations of this witness are material in their character and are quite tangent. The Commission of its own volition would acquire information of that character if it knew of its existence anywhere. While the functions of the Commission, as well known are in many respects judicial, yet it is bodied with somewhat complex powers, such as Congress creates from time to time to do business of certain character, and it is ordered to make a correct roll, which is a duty largely independent of hearing simply what is brought before them; it must be the architect and constructor of that roll and if evidence is not brought before before the Commission it must go out and get it, to be uniform on that construction of the law. The Commission, therefore, desires this information independent of any counsel on either side both with respect to the applicant and to the Nation, and if this witness is

I am not able to come one of the Commissioners will go to Fort Gibson and to his bed-side, or send a proper official, if necessary to take his testimony. The only matter to consider, therefore, is one of convenience with respect to getting this testimony. Now, I understand that this witness is an extreme sufferer from Bright's disease he is an old man and he may never be able to get out of the house, and it may be an injustice to him to subject him to a trip here, and therefore it seems to me better that counsel for plaintiff submit to a form of taking a deposition or else accompany an official of this Commission over to Fort Gibson and let his testimony be taken there.

After consultation with the attorneys upon the two sides it is found to be agreeable that the parties start to Fort Gibson to-morrow morning at half past eight o'clock, and it is agreed then and directed with an official of the Commission with a stenographer leave from the office of the Commission for Fort Gibson at 8:30 to-morrow morning.

FRANCIS H. DAWSON, the applicant, re-called for additional cross-examination on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q What is your name? A Francis H. Dawson.
- Q Where do you reside? A In Afton.
- Q You have been examined in this case heretofore, have you?
- A I don't know which case it is.
- Q In your own case? A Yes, sir.
- Q Are you the one that is commonly called Bud Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q You made the original application in the Dawson family for admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, didn't you? A No, sir; my brother.
- Q What was his name? A A. E. Dawson.
- Q You and Robert Dawson and Elbert Dawson and others applied September 24, '81, about that time? A Yes, sir.
- Q And you were admitted about the 11th of January '83? A Yes, sir.
- Q There were other members of your family that applied and were admitted after that time? A Yes, sir.
- Q Do you or not remember the evidence offered in theirs to substantiate their cases was the relationship between yourself and Robert and others and the evidence of your admission by the Territorial Court. In all the subsequent admissions I mean the only evidence offered was the fact that you and your brothers had been admitted before and that they were kin to you; what was the only evidence offered in any subsequent cases, wasn't it; so far as you know?
- A That is afterwards.
- Q Yes, afterwards? A I think there was some other evidence introduced.
- Q Don't you know that there was never any evidence offered in any other case except evidence of Dr. Baker of Arkansas of 1860, sir.
- Q Who was that? A Oliver Miller.
- Q Who was Oliver Miller; the picture in this case was been examined destroyed and mutilated? A Oliver Miller lived in Arkansas.
- Q What was he, was he a doctor? A He is so said to be at that time.
- Q Well, what station in life did he occupy; was he a farmer?
- A Yes, sir, farmer.
- Q Were you present when he testified? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.

- Q Have you a fair recollection of the testimony of those two men?
 A No, not at all.
- Q You don't read do you, Mr. Dawson? A No, sir, I don't read nor write; I can barely write my name.
- Q Do you think you would remember the testimony of Dr. Baker if your mind was refreshed on it? A Part of it I think.
- Q Were you present when you were admitted? A I was not in the room.
- Q You were in Tahlequah at the time? A I was in the town of Tahlequah at the time.
- Q I will read this paper to you and desire for you to say whether or not it was the testimony of Dr. Baker in your case:
 (Affidavit of Dr. Arthur Baker read to witness, and asked to be copied in the record later.)
- Q Is that the correct transcript of the testimony? A It has been so long ago, I could not say; a part of it is, I could not remember it all.
- Q Does that state the facts as to the family history correctly so far as you know about it? A So far as I know.
- Q Now, you were a son of what Dawson? A Robert Dawson.
- Q How many children did Robert Dawson have, and give me their names?
 A Elbert Dawson, the oldest; Lila, Jasper, Francis Marion.
- Q That is yourself? A Yes, sir; Elizabeth Dawson, Josephine Dawson, John Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson, James Dawson, Edna Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilburn Dawson.
- Q Thirteen? (No response.)
- Q Now, Robert Dawson's father was whom? A Sam Dawson.
- Q Who was Sam Dawson's wife, your grandmother? A I have been told.
- Q By family history is all you know? A She was called Polly Dawson.
- Q Who was Anna Pruitt? A I don't know.
- Q Never heard of anybody in the family by the name of Anna Pruitt? A No, sir, that was away back in the old country; I have heard talk about it, old Dr. Baker talked about it.
- Q Your grand-mother's name was Polly Dawson? A Yes, sir; I don't remember seeing her but once, she died when I was small, died in Texas.
- Q Pollie Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q Ans she was known to be Pollie Rogers, her maiden name? A Yes, sir.
- Q Daughter of Captain John Rogers? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, she died in Texas what time? A I don't remember.
- Q Can't you guess at it? A Oh, I could guess.
- Q Give your best recollection? A About '58 or '59, or no, '48 or '49; I don't say positive, just guessing at it.
- Q How old a boy were you then? A I was born in '42.
- Q Have you any distinct recollection of her? A No, sir.
- Q Have you any recollection of all the children of Sam and Pollie Dawson; that is, your father, uncles and Aunts? I didn't see all of them.
- Q Do you know by family history the names of all of them? A Yes, sir.
- Q Will you give them to me?
 A Betsey Ann Dawson, I believe her name was.
- Q Did she marry a Petty? A Yes, sir; the next is Robert Dawson.
- Q Your father? A Yes, sir.
- Q Next one? A I think the next was James Dawson, and I think the next one was a girl, Edna Dawson.
- Q Did he have two daughters? A Yes, sir.
- Q Tell sir? A The next one was Joe Dawson; I never saw him; Wiley Dawson.

- Q That is Samuel E. Dawson, Riley Dawson? A Yes, sir.
Q Any other one? A That is all I know anything about.
Q Did he have any child by the name of John? A Yes, Jack.
Q Didn't you get Jack displaced with Joe? A No, it was Joe; I have heard my father speak of him.
Q Then they have seven children? A I never saw them all.
Q How many of them did you ever see? A I see uncle Riley Dawson and James Dawson and Jack Dawson and Retay Ann Petty; I don't think I saw but one of Pa's sisters and brother, they went to Mississippi I think.
Q Do you know what your family history says that the mother of your grand mother, Pollie Rogers' name was? A We have no history.
Q Well, as it was brought down to you; did you ever hear anybody say what your great grandmother's name was? A No, I don't remember.
Q What is that other man, Oliver Hiller that testified in your case? A He testified in James Dawson's case; he never testified in my father's case.
Q Well, didn't anybody testify in your case but Dr. Baker?
A Yes, sir, several other witnesses.
Q Who were they? A I don't remember; my mother got them witnesses around Tahlequah, old people.
Q Were you present? A No, sir.
Q You were only present when Dr. Baker testified? A Yes, sir.
Q Now, do you find any mistakes in Dr. Baker's statement there?
A I could not say all of them was correct or not, part of it is correct.
Q What part is correct? A They about knowing the family over there.
Q Who is Buck Dawson? A My brother.
Q What is his name? A He always called him Buck, it is Albert, E. Dawson.
Q Who went with you the first time you went up to make application for citizenship do you remember? A With my brother.
Q The first time? A I got my brother in Texas.
Q Which one? A E. Dawson.
Q That is Albert or Buck? A Yes, sir.
Q You were living in Arkansas? A Yes, sir.
Q And he was living in Texas? A Yes, sir, and another one of little brothers, Dr. Dawson now.
Q Dr. Dawson now? A Yes, sir.
Q What is his name? A James.
Q And you three sons, is it? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants by their counsel object to all the statement of the witness relating to the testimony introduced before the Cherokee Citizenship Commission, and the history of the family as detailed by him, because the same is incompetent and irrelevant, and cannot be used for the purpose of impeaching the integrity of the judgment of said Commission, or either of the Commissioners in admitting members of the Dawson family.

Commission: The objection of the Attorney for the applicants to the testimony above will be noted. The same will be filed and noted for what it is worth.

(Attorney for applicants waives examination.)

-C. H. TAYLOR, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:
MR. BUCHANAN:

Q State your name? A C. H. Taylor.
 Q Where do you reside, Mr. Taylor? A In near Coffeyville.
 Q Were you an attorney before various office courts along in '81 to '87 in the Cherokee Nation at Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.
 Q Were you attorney for F. H. Dawson well known as Bud Dawson?
 A Yes, sir.
 Q Were you present at the taking of testimony in that case? A No, sir; I wasn't present.
 Q Do you know who composed the court that decided the case at that time? A Yes, sir.
 Q Who were they? A Tom Tohe and Alex Wolfe and Tony Kroppson.
 Q Do you know whether or not they were all there when the case was decided? A No, sir, there were only two of them present.
 Q Which two? A Tohe and Wolfe.
 Q Who was the Clerk of the Court at that time? A Mr. Duncan, B. F. C. Duncan.
 Q Do you know what witnesses were used in the case of Bud Dawson?
 A No, sir; now I was the attorney in the case and the evidence had already been filed before the court.
 Q What were you paid attorney? A I was only called in as an attorney at the-- Well, Mr. Duncan came down there, and Mr. Bryant had the case and several other attorneys had the case and he employed me.

Q Did you read the evidence in this case? A No, sir.
 Q Did you deliver any money? A Now, I was the attorney in the case and I don't think it would be right for me to take any statement.
 Q Now, you have claimed your privilege, I ask that you answer the question? Did Dawson ever send you any money with the direction to pay it to either member of the court or the Clerk of the Court, B. F. C. Duncan, and if so state the amount? A I had a heap of trouble over this matter.

Commissioner: Just answer the question, Mr. Taylor.
 A Being the attorney I don't believe it is right for me to answer that question.

Commissioner: Do you refuse to answer? A Yes, sir.
 Q Did it matter to which you object to testifying occur prior to the rendition of the decision admitting to citizenship or afterwards? (No response)

COMMISSIONER BRECKINRIDGE:
 Q Do you desire to reply to the last question? A I don't think it is right; I was attorney in the case.
 Q Mr. Taylor, do you object to answering that question? A Yes, sir.
 Q You refuse to answer that question, do you? A I had rather not answer it.

Q Either answer it or say you won't answer it? A I had rather not answer it.
 Q Mr. Taylor, you have answered a number of questions down to this point, but it is at this point that you prefer to plead your privilege, as an attorney, is that right? A Yes, sir.

Commissioner Breckinridge: The court in regard to these matters is lodged in the United States. The court is clothed with special power with reference to matters arising through this Commission. It is the duty of the Commission to determine the facts and to report the same to the United States Court and let the Court be judge of the law. It is not the duty of this Commission to decide on the law. It is the duty of the Commission with any propriety as I understand it at this time, not to report the facts to the United States Court and let the Court be judge of the law.

Under Section 21 of the Circuit law as it is commonly called Act of June 23 1898, the members of the Commission shall in performing all duties required of them by law, have authority to administer oaths, examine witnesses and for papers and persons, and the court is clothed with authority to enforce obedience. The law having enumerated certain powers goes on to say so far as all others are concerned to enable said Commission to make rolls as herein required, and to punish anyone who may in any manner or by any means obstruct said work. Now, the Commission will report the facts to the United States Court and let the Court decide whether or not you are wit in your lawful privilege. It seems that you refuse to answer questions, or at least one question, which tends to establish as to whether or not you are claiming what is commonly considered a matter of privilege--according to an authority referred to by an attorney, but the enforcement of an answer seems clearly to be a matter for the Court to deal with.

Q Now, Mr. Taylor, in regard to the last question asked you by Mr. Hutchings, one of the Counsel for the Cherokee Nation, I direct that you make answer, and if you refuse I shall report the matter to the United States Court; do you refuse? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, you have read to you, Mr. Taylor, the first of the two questions propounded to you by Mr. Hutchings, and which you declined at the time to make answer; viz: as to whether Mr. Dawson sent you money to pay to the Court or to any of the officers of the Court, it seems to come to the question as to whether there was any collusion between you and Mr. Dawson and any member of the Court; now, I understand that you refuse to answer that question upon the grounds that you were Mr. Dawson's attorney? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, I require that you answer that question, do you refuse? A Yes, sir.

Q I shall also report that refusal to the United States Court as it seems to come under the provision of law, relating to conspiracy between you and Mr. Dawson which apparently considered a privilege matter, and you base your refusal now, not upon the ground that you are incriminating yourself, but that you were counsel for Mr. Dawson. I will report the matter to the Court and you will be informed at the time of any proceedings in the matter I caution you not to talk with Mr. Dawson or any of the applicants in this case.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants do not object and have not objected to the witness answering on account of his privilege as an attorney or for any other cause whatever, they only want to object to the incompetence and irrelevancy of the testimony, with the privilege of cross-examining upon any testimony given by the witness.

COMMISSIONER TRECKINBRIDGE:

Q You still refuse having the consent of the attorneys in the case to make answer? A I will just ask your Honor to let the matter go over until morning.

Commissioner Treckinbridge: It will rest until in the morning at its present status; it is after business hours now.

As for the objection made by Captain McKennon, Counsel for the applicant, it will be taken into consideration, but will not be granted at the present.

(The Commission adjourns until 1:30 P. M. to-day or afternoon, March 10, 1908.)

SUPPLEMENTAL TESTIMONY in the matter of the enrollment of
FRANCIS H. DAWSON ET AL., as citizens of the Cherokee Nation:

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of Counsel for applicants.
Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

SAMUEL H. BENGE, being duly sworn, testified as follows
on part of the Cherokee Nation:
W. T. HUTCHINGS:

- Q State your name? A Samuel H. Benge.
Q Where do you reside? A Fort Gibson.
Q How old are you? A I am 70 years old, going in 71.
Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; Cherokee
by blood.
Q State what official position you have held in the Cherokee Nation and what your general connection with the Nation officially in the last 40 years? A Well, I had several; I have been Sheriff, Councilman, Senator, Delegate to Washington; had a hand in making the treaty of 1866, I am the only one living that signed that treaty;
President of the National Council of different tribes of Indians.
Q Were you acquainted with F. H. Dawson, commonly called Bud
Dawson? A Yes, sir; I know him.
Q State your connection with and what you know about his citizenship case before what is known as the Thomas Tehee Citizenship Court?
A Mr. Dawson come down, I was living down below here, he come and employed me to lead to his case and we went to Tahlequah, I believe if I ain't mistaken in 1891 and filed his case there; we went several times and continued his case on for the want of evidence, and finally while we was up there we run across one old darkey by the name of Tosh Rogers; we got his testimony and after we got that testimony we concluded that it was sufficient to go into the trial with. Tosh lived here at Fort Gibson, he was a horse trainer down here and stayed here; he claimed that he knew the Rogers and belonged to one of them and after that we thought we had sufficient evidence we submitted our case to the Court for trial, and the Court went to work and rendered a decision against Mr. Dawson.
I told Mr. Dawson right there that "our case is dough", just made that remark, and he just made the remark "never mind", and next morning they taken up his case again and they rendered a decision in his favor. I filed no objection nor any evidence at all whatever; I give the case up right there and the decision was then given in his favor, and on our way back from Tahlequah, why we got to talking about the case and I told him: "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered that decision against us." He said: "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach", but he reached him with five hundred dollars.
Q What position did Duncan occupy? A He was a clerk of the Court.
Q How long an educated man or? A Yes, sir; no was an educated man.
Q Who were the members of the Court? A Tom Tehee, Alex Wolfe and Tom Thompson.
Q How many of these could speak English at all? A One.
Q Which one? A Thompson.
Q Who was the Attorney that represented the Nation in these cases?
A Myself.

Q What was his given name? A Wilson Sanders; was it Wilson Sanders?
A Wilson Sanders.

Q Was he an educated man, or could speak English well? A No, sir.

Q Did Mr. Dawson say anything about the Sanders having cost him a good deal of money? A He said it had cost him a right smart.

Q Was any remark made on the way back about the opening up of the case, was it so, what? A He asked me if I thought the case was ever investigated eventually and I told him I didn't know.

MR. McKENNON:

Q Were you ever a witness in the Dawson case, Judge, in any of those investigations that have been made since that time? A I don't know that you might call it a witness; that young man come to me once at Tahlequah, and asked me to help him up there that the case was going against him, him and his mother and all was about checked out and I interceded and done that I could there before the Committee. I was not a witness but that is all that I don't for him.

Q That was Mr. Graham, wasn't it? A Yes, sir.

Q Have you had conversations with Mr. Graham since that time about it? A No, I might, I don't recollect, I might have had conversations with him.

Q Well, after the Dawes Commission began taking a census of the Cherokee and when they were about Sallisaw down here, did you have conversation with him here in Fort Gibson about the matter?

A No, I just can't tell you; I have seen him on several occasions, but the conversations we might have had I can't state.

Q To refresh your memory I will ask you if he did not tell you that they were making a fight on the Dawson family and he wanted to know if you whether that judgment in favor of Robert Dawson's family was fairly considered, and did you not then tell him that it was all right, that it was fairly obtained? A Not as I recollect of; all that is all that I have stated he talked to me in regard to his mother, himself and probably his brothers and sisters, I don't recollect how many there were, but he told me they were rejected, that was just the words he used.

Q Where? A It has been sometime ago.

Q Where in Fort Gibson? A Well, that is I saw him here in Fort Gibson, and then I saw him in Tahlequah.

Q Well, did he here in Fort Gibson ask you particularly about the Robert Dawson judgment, as to whether it was fairly obtained or not?

A No, sir; he was basing his claim on the Dawson case, that is the way he-

Q What is the principal Dawson family? A Yes.

Q When was this other written statement here made, when was this taken by you? (referring to affidavit heretofore referred to.)

A Yesterday I reckon.

Q Who came to take this? A Mr. Starr.

Q Who else was present when this was taken? A No, sir.

Q When had you told about this matter, Judge? A No one as I know of.

Q Do you know how it was that they knew that you knew this?

A No, sir.

Q You never made any statement? A Never made any statement that I recollect of except I might have talked with Soles, me and him talked about these cases a good many times; if I ever made a statement it was to Joe Ab Soles.

Q How did Mr. Starr learn? A I could not tell you how Mr. Starr

Q He came alone here as a Notary Public? A He came alone here as a Notary Public. All he said when he come, he says "we understand that you know something in regard to these cases", I said "what case." and he went to work and named Sheenake case and Dawson case. Q And thereupon you made this statement? A He said he wanted to qualify me.

Q Are you certain Judge that after the rendition of that judgment Mr. Dawson came back here to Fort Gibson with you?

A Yes, sir; we was together.

Q Let me ask you if it was not a very cold day when he came here and he went over ahead of you and you went over to Tahlequah the next day or two after he left? A My recollection was he and I went together.

Q Did you returned here together? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he not leave you there and go back direct to Arkansas?

A Yes, sir, we came here together. If my memory serves me right, I don't believe he mistaken but then I don't believe I am, he came from Fort Smith calls up here to my house, that is according to his statement.

Q What amount of fee did they pay you? A I don't know as that is in connection with the case whatever the money they paid me.

Q How did they pay you? A Paid me the money.

Q Who paid it to you? A Dawson there and that fellow, young fellow paid me some.

Q Mr. Graham? A Yes.

Q At the same time? A Oh, no, he wanted me to intercede for him at Tahlequah and paid me to do something for him which I did.

Q I will ask you if Mr. F. M. Dawson here did not obtain two copies of the judgment one of which you sent in a letter in which you wrote to his brother living in Texas and that brother in Texas, the one they called Buck, didn't send you $50 that they paid you? A No, if I ever got a letter of Buck whatever you might call him, I don't recollect it and if I ever got a nickel from him I don't recollect it. Old man paid me what money I got from it. I don't know nothing about his brothers; he told me he had an uncle living over in Arkansas, but not living down in Texas, I don't know about it.

Q Where did he pay you the money? A Paid it here at home.

Q Before you went out? A He paid me fifty dollars before we went up and when we went up yonder he paid me fifty dollars more; if you want to know what I got, I got one hundred dollars.

Q You were acting as his attorney in the case? A Yes, sir.

Q How many judges were there present when the judgment was rendered?

Q In this case? A Well, according to my recollect there was all three, but if they were not all there, Tom Thompson was sick. Tom and Wolfe.

Q Don't you remember that they were all present? A No, I think they were present though.

Q The case was rendered at the time? A Oh, I could not tell you, there were several people in the house; could not tell you at all.

Q Were there several in the house the evening before the judgment was rendered against them as you say? A Yes, there were several in the house.

Q And several in the house when the judgment was rendered the next day? A I don't know how many there was.

Q Do you remember the names of any of them? A Why not exactly, mostly full bloods.

Q How long did you reside out at Tahlequah on that trip?

A I guess I was there about three days.

Q Tending to this case alone, or did you have other cases? A No, sir.

Q Do you know of your own knowledge that the judges received any money (this question asked at the instance of Mr. Graham present)

A I don't know whether the judges received nay or not.

—ooo000ooo—

I, J. O. Rosson, do hereby certify upon my official oath as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes that I correctly recorded the testimony had this day in the above case, and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

(Signed) J. O. Rosson.

March 18, 1902. Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of counsel for applicants.

Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

C. H. TAYLOR takes the stand and continues his testimony.
BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q Mr. Taylor, you said you would consider the matter yesterday and let us know whether you would answer those questions today; have you decided what you would do about the matter? A Well, it is like this, of course I don't want to be held as in contempt of the Court.

Q You would be held in contempt and the other Court would make you answer? A That being the case of course I would make a statement.

Q Are you acquainted with D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of what is known as the Tehee Citizenship Commission Court? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you ever have any conversation with him about letting him know of the different character of cases that would come up before the Court that you knew of, whether they were good ones or bad ones?

A No, the only thing that ever come up in that respect; he asked me if whatever large cases that would come up before the Court to let him know.

Q Did you have any talk with him about the Dawson case during the progress of its trial or before and ever introduced Mr. F. M. Dawson to him, or carry him to him? A I spoke to him when Mr. Dawson came to Tahlequah to see about his case, and he said that he would take the papers over to his room, the Dawson papers.

Q Did you see him again that night? A Yes, sir; after supper I went down to his room.

Q Did he ask you about the Dawsons or Dawson case? A He asked me where Dawson was.

Q Which Dawson are you referring to now, F. M. Dawson, known as Bud Dawson? A Bud Dawson.

Q Well, what did you reply to him? A I told him that I thought he had gone to church.

Q Did you find Dawson after church? A Yes, sir, he told me to come and bring Dawson down and I did so; Dawson was in church.

Q You carried Dawson to him? A Yes, sir.

- Q Did you remain during the conversation? A Only a minute.
- Q What was said if anything while you were present? A Mr. Duncan spoke to Mr. Dawson and says "there is a hitch in your evidence."
- Q Go ahead and state what else he said? A He said "if that was straightened out it would be all right," and I turned and went away, I says, "gentlemen, I will go home."
- Q Did you know of their having any other conversation or communication after that? A No, sir.
- Q You left them there together yourself? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did Mr. Dawson give you any directions the next morning about submitting the case? A Yes, sir, he asked me to call it up the case.
- Q The next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q Had there been any additional evidence offered? A No, sir; there was not additional testimony offered.
- Q He told you the next morning to call up the case? A Yes, sir.
- Q Was it called up and submitted the next morning? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, how many of the members of the Court were there present that morning? A There were only two, two full-blood Indians.
- Q Could they speak English at all? A Tehee could talk a little, talk some.
- Q Did that Court have open sessions all the time or what is called executive sessions sometimes? A Well, I don't remember about that; it was generally when the case was submitted to attorneys would go out. The parties would go out and they would determine the case.
- Q Well, did they go out into that sort of executive session the next morning on the Dawson case? A Well, we went out when the case was submitted.
- Q And was the decision rendered that morning in their favor? A Yes, sir.
- Q Who notified you of the decision of the Court? A Why, Mr. Dawson.
- Q Do you remember whether he went out with you or was in there during the consideration of the case? A I think he went out with me.
- Q Did you at any time thereafter receive any money, checks or other evidence money from Mr. Dawson with direction to turn it in part over to D. W. C. Duncan, the Clerk of that Court? A Mr. Dawson gave me 20 dollars and said he would send the balance in a short time, said he would send some more money in a short time.
- Q Well, did he send any money afterwards? A Yes, sir, in the course of ten days or two weeks he send a hundred dollar check, draft.
- Q What did he direct you to do with it? A He directed me to give D. W. C. Duncan half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A Yes, sir.
- Q Did he send you any at any other time after that? A Well, in the course of a couple of weeks he sent me a hundred dollars more.
- Q Did he direct you to turn any of that and if so how much, to D. W. C. Duncan? A He told me to give him half of it.
- Q Did you give him half of it? A I did, sir.
- Q Do you remember whether on Dr. Arthur Baker was the principal witness in behalf of the Dawson case? A No, sir, I don't because I never had any connection with the case, but I heard that he was a witness in the case.
- Q No argument was made when you submitted the case? A No, sir.
- Q Just submitted it on the testimony? A Yes, sir.
- MR. McKENNON:
- Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you born and reared in the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir; I was born in the old Nation.

Q Then did you come to the Cherokee Nation? A Come here in 1865.
Q How long have you been practicing law in the Cherokee Nation?
A I think since '68.
Q You have done a great deal of citizenship business haven't you?
A Yes, sir.
Q You were in the United States Court at Fort Smith on charges in regard to the citizenship business? A Yes, sir.
Q Were you convicted there? A Yes, sir; I was convicted there on this very case.
Q And served a term of what length? A I was sent to the jail hospital for sixty days and I stayed in about 28 or 29 days, and I was released.
Q When was that? A I don't remember how long ago it has been.
Q You say it was in regard to this case? A Yes, sir; this case was the bone of contention, Clem Rogers and the Chief, they are the ones that had me arrested, carried to Fort Smith.
Q Well, now, were you charged with an offense against the law in this case, or was it in regard to some other case? A Well, it was in regard to using the mail for fraudulent purposes.
Q Sending out propositions and obtaining base for citizenship for people in the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir, it was for answering correspondence.
Q Not relating to this case at all? A Well, this was the main charge, Clem Rogers went before the Court there and stated that I had got in at least three hundred Dawsons, that they were white people and not entitled to citizenship and that was the main trouble.
Q Well, now, was the charge based upon that or was it based upon your letters you sent out to other people? A That was the charge for using the mail for fraudulent purposes.
Q The use of the mails for fraudulent purposes not in connection of this case was it? A Not particular of this case.
Q Then the trouble you had was the prejudice of Clem Rogers and others caused by your connection with the Dawson case; that is what you mean to say? A Yes, sir.
Q Why did you say because you were charged with an offense based upon this case? A Well, the prejudice grew out of this case.
Q Now, then, you had full conversation with the representatives of the Cherokee Nation as to your testimony in this case, did you not before you came on the stand? A Yes, sir.
Q You had told them of these particulars before you came on the witness stand did you not? A Yes, sir.
Q Yet when you came on the stand you assumed to have conscientious scruples as to answering as to matters which occurred between you and your client, Bud Dawson, in relation to this matter and declined to answer claiming your privilege as an attorney did you not? A Yes, sir; I didn't want to make a statement at all in the matter.
Q You had voluntarily made a statement to the representatives of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; I had stated to Mr. Hastings; he asked me and I come down here and I didn't want to make a statement to him but he insisted.
Q He had no power to compel you to make a statement? A No, sir.
Q You could then make it very freely and your conscience did not hurt you, but when you came on the stand you were very conscientious about it? A I didn't want to make a statement at all unless I would be put in jail here if I didn't.
Q But you had armed them with information by which they could ask you these questions when you came on the stand? A I had told Mr. Hastings.

Q You know when you gave him that information that you would be brought on the stand as a witness, did you not, by reason of that?

A No, I didn't know that I would be compelled to make a statement in the matter, a sworn statement.

Q You thought you would not be compelled to answer?

A I didn't think the law would compel me to make a statement.

Q Why then did you make a statement to him about it? A Oh, he was asking me about it, and I told him that I didn't want to make a statement, and I didn't for quite a while after I came down here.

Q When the enrollment division of the Deves Commission was in Tahlequah, in the winter of 1900, did you not there meet P. M. Dumas and did you not then and there say to him or told Shoemaker I would be for him if he would employ me in his case and if he didn't I would be against him, and the same to you? A No, sir; I said to him this; I says that if there is not something done that I will likely be summoned against you and Mr. Shoemaker both.

Q What did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant this, I just left the matter with him to say what he wanted to do in the matter; I only spoke a word or two about it. I was going out of town just as he came in.

Q When you told him if something was not done you would be summoned as a witness against him what did you mean by that? A Well, I just meant that the chances were that the Nation would summon me against him.

Q What did you mean by the expression "if there was not something done" that you would be summoned as a witness?

A Well, I meant this, if I was re-employed in the matter if he was to have a case and I was re-employed I would not be required.

Q You could be required to make a statement as to declarations made to you by your client to you in one instance, but if a little more money was put up you could not be required to make a statement; is that what you meant? A I didn't think I could be forced to make a statement at all in the matter.

Q Why did you make that expression to him "if something wasn't done you might be summoned as a witness" if you believed you could not be made to make a statement? A I meant if I was employed in the case.

Q If he would put up you would not testify? A That they could not force me to testify.

Q About the month of February, 1901, in the town of Wagoner, Indian Territory, did you not send your son to get Graham to come to the hotel at night, and did you not then and there say to Sid Graham; "you people are on the doubtful list and if you will give me $500, I will make it all right and see that you are enrolled and if you don't I will see that you don't get on?" A No, sir; I got a letter from Sid Graham in which he asked me to certify that the case was all right and after I met him I told him that I could not do it, that the case was crooked, he then said to me, he says, "I will give you a hundred dollars", he says "will you take a hundred dollars," I said "no, sir," I didn't make any bid, that is I didn't set no price on it.

Q You did not say to him then that I have embraced in that question?

A No, sir.

Q You did have a conversation with him about that time and at that time?

A Yes, sir.

Q You did not make any bid or set any price? A No, sir; he offered me a hundred dollars.

Q Why did you not send for him to come to the hotel? A In answer to his letter.

A Did you not yesterday morning on the street in Muskogee, Indian Territory, in a conversation with W. H. Shoemaker say to him: "You have made a great mistake in not keeping in your employment and so have the Dawsons and it will go hard with you and you will see it?" No, sir; I says to Mr. Shoemaker, I says: "who have you employed in your case," and he says "Judge Thomas and Mr. Owen." I said "It might have been a advantage to you if you had retained me in your case;" Well, he says "there was nothing wrong in my case" and I says "no, there is nothing wrong on earth in your case that I know of." He said all he wanted was justice and I said "I don't know a thing on earth against you," and I says "there is not a thing on earth wrong in your case as I know it came up fairly and squarely and decided in your favor."

Q You said nothing to him about the Dawson case? A Yes, I said to him "it might have been well if the Dawsons had retained me in their case." I said "I am summoned on the part of the Nation and I don't want to make a statement and I wont if I can possibly avoid it."

Q Was that before or after you talked with Mr. Hastings, the representative of the Nation? A It was afterwards.

Q You meant by that if you had refused to answer you would have gone to jail? A No, sir; if they had employed me before hand I don't know now.

Q You mean that if they had employed you before hand you would not have given this information to Mr. Hastings? A I would not be required, being the attorney.

Q Were you required to give him the information; did you know that you had to give him any information? A Who do you mean.

Q Mr. Hastings. A I did refuse him and he insisted.

Q Well, he has no authority to compel you to do it? A No, sir; I don't know whether he did or not.

Q As a lawyer you know that he did not have authority to compel you to make a statement to him? A I told him that I was an attorney in the case and I didn't want to make any statement at all.

Q Why did you do it? A Well, he intimated to me it would go any further. He said to me "I will not make this matter — I will not use it;" that is, what I stated to him was part in confidence.

Q And he pledged you his word that it would not be used? A Well, told him I could make a statement in confidence, and that I didn't want to make a statement before the court.

Q Well, that did he reply, as you said just now? A Oh, he says make the statement and then I told him—I regretted very much to do it, and I regret very much to make a statement here. I tried to avoid it yesterday.

Q You stated just now that he said it would not be used; did he say that or not? A Well, something to that amount; oh, he says it wont make any difference or something to that effect.

Q Now, don't you know that Mr. Hastings did not intimate to you that the statement he was asking you to make would not be used?

A Well, I didn't think that I could be forced to make a qualified statement before the court here, because I thought my license would protect me in that matter.

Q Yet it did not protect you or prevent you from making a statement to the attorneys for the Nation? A No, sir.

Q Now, in this conversation with Shoemaker to which I before referred did you not ask him to again employ you and tell him if he would you would make it all right for him? A No, sir; I didn't say that; no, I said if he had employed me in the matter "maybe it would have been better for you." Now, he offered me when I was down here last week, he offered me five dollars to go down and talk by his lawyers on the matter, I didn't go I was busy.

Q That was not your price? A No, no, I had nothing to say in his case that would be to his advantage; I knew nothing against him.

Q Now, then, you say that your were present on the morning that the judgment was rendered in favor of the Dawsons? A I was not in the Court house.

Q You were present in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.

Q How long had you been at Tahlequah? A I was living there at that time.

Q When were you first employed by them? A By Dawsons?

Q Yes, sir. A The evening before the case was tried.

Q You say that after the judgment was rendered Dawson handed you $20? A Yes, sir.

Q And told you to hand to Duncan? A No, sir.

Q What was your statement? A That he paid me $20 and says "I will send you some more in a short time, week or so.

Q And then he sent you $100? A Yes, sir.

Q And wrote you to give D. W. C. Duncan $50 of it? A Yes, sir.

Q And then sent you another $100 and told you to give him half of it? A Yes, sir.

Q How much did they pay you? A Well, that was the agreement, was that he would pay me $50 a family.

Q How much did he pay you? A I think there was $250; now I am not sure about the $50, but it appears to me like there was a $50 sent, and Mr. Duncan asked me, as well as I remember, says "have you got a letter from Dawson," I told him "yes, sir." It was either that or the $100, and he says "I would like to have some money", and I went to Starler's and got it changed—I won't be sure about it being $50 or $100—I went to Starler's and got him to cash the check and give him his part of it.

Q How much did they pay you for your services? A That is all I got.

Q How much? A I think it was $100, $120.

Q What did you do for them? A Didn't do a thing only called up the case and submitted it; never read the evidence.

Q Submitted it without remarks? A Yes, sir.

Q And for that you say they paid you $120? A Yes, sir; $120.

Q Was Houston Benge present when that was one? A No, sir; I don't think he was.

Q Did you see him then at that time in Tahlequah? A I don't remember.

Q Were you associated with him in any manner in connection with the case? A No, sir.

Q You had a great deal of business of that character, have you before the Courts? A Yes, sir.

Q Were you paid like fees in other cases for like services?

A Yes, sir.

Q In many of them? A Yes, sir, good many.

Q All like cases? A Oh, citizenship cases.

Q When was it you were in jail at Fort Smith? A I don't remember; Mr. Mellette can remember, he was there, he was by attorney.

Q Was it about 1887? A It was somewhere along there, along in 1888 somewhere.

Q That has been your principal business as a lawyer, has it not?

A Yes, sir.

Q You have never practiced much in any other way have you? A Very little.

Q Were you in the habit of working your cases through in the same manner in which you state you worked this through? A No, sir.

Q This was an exception was it? A I never worked this case through. I simply called the case up by request of Mr. Dawson. I read the evidence; don't know what proof there was in it; he just asked me to call the case up.

Q And he agreed to pay you $50 a family for doing that? A Yes, sir.

Q Was that what you required of him? A That is what he agreed to pay. I says "what will you give?" He says "I will give you $50 a family."

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q At the same time that the attorney for the Nation was talking to you about the Dawson case he also made inquiries about the Shoemaker case didn't he? A Yes, sir.

Q And you told him at that time before you knew anything about whether you would be made or compelled to testify that so far as you knew there was nothing you knew detrimental to the Shoemaker case?

A Yes, sir; that is what I said.

Q You told him at the same time that you not only expected to claim your privilege as an attorney in the case, but that you told him, Mr. Hastings, with the full belief that the Court would sustain your position? A Yes, sir.

Mr. McKennon: That is very leading.

Q Now, did you think that the re-employment, being the attorney in the pending case would strengthen your position or weaken it, when you spoke to Mr. Dawson? A What I thought in the matter was before ever I would be summoned in the matter, a long time ago, that if I had been employed in the matter of course my position would have been such that I would not have been required or could not have been forced.

Q Did you think under those circumstances that Mr. Hastings would approach you about the subject? A No, sir; I don't think I would be forced to, having license to practice law.

Q Did Mr. Hastings tell you at the time that he was going to put you on the stand? A Yes, sir.

Q And let the Court decide? A Yes, sir.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Now, have you a license to practice in the United States Courts? A Yes, sir.

Q In the Territory? A Yes, sir.

Q And also in the Indian Courts? A Yes, sir; do you want to see them?

JAMES W. LEWIS, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name please? A J. W. Lewis.

Q James W. Lewis? A Yes, sir.

Q Where is your postoffice, Mr. Lewis? A Afton.

Q How old are you? A 73 years old.

Q What is your business? A I work at the tin business and gun work.

Q Do you know one James Dawson, the brother of F. H. Dawson and the other Dawson? A I know old man James Dawson.

Q That is the one I mean, old man James Dawson? A Yes, sir; I know him.

Q How long have you known him? A Well, some four or five years, I guess.

Q How long? A Four or five years I think.

Q When did you come to the country? A I have been in the country 70 odd years.

Q Well, when did he come to the country, do you know? A Along about somewhere in eighty if I recollect right, might have been later than that.

Q How did you happen to get acquainted with? A He lived right close by me and I built a house for him.

Q Did you have any conversation with him at the time you built that house? A Yes, several different times.

Q About how he became a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, about the circumstances? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he make any statement to you about the use of money in getting his citizenship, and if so, state what he said?

A Well, he told me that it cost him $700 to get his rights.

Q Didn't tell you to whom he paid it? A No, he didn't and I didn't ask any questions.

P. R. McKENNON:

Q How old was he at that time, do you know? A I do not know exactly, must have been somewhere near about 70 years old, he might have been older than that, I don't know.

Q He was a very old and feeble man? A Yes, he was old and feeble.

Q He seldom ever got out away from his house? A No, sir, only short distance.

Q When you first knew him he was that kind of man? A Yes, sir.

J. L. CLINKENBEARD, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

P. R. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A J. L. Clinkenbeard.

Q What is your post office address? A Vinita.

Q How old are you? A 56.

Q Were you ever an applicant for citizenship before the Tennessean citizenship Court in Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.

Q About what time was that? A September '81, I think.

Q Did you meet there about that time, one Elbert or Buck Dawson? A Yes, sir.

Q How did you happen to meet him? A He and I stopped at the same place, man's by the name of Sharbow.

Q You and he stopped there, did you, board there? A Yes, sir.

Q Well, did you have any talk about citizenship cases, yours and his? A

A Yes, sir.

Q Where did he state that he was from? A Texas.

Q Well, state just you can remember of the conversation between you from time to time about citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A Well, we were there on the same business and we talked about it at different times, and in talking about the evidence we had there I, of course, told him how many witnesses I had and what I could prove and so on, and he said that he didn't have but one witness, Dr. Baker from Arkansas, a man that was 35 or 30 years old, he said, and he hadn't come and said he was to have let him there, but he hadn't come.

Q Well, what did he say about the doctor's knowing anything?

A Well, he said he was 35 or 30 years old and didn't know straight up.

Q Well, did he say anything about giving him whiskey?

A Well, he said he could give him four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he could swear that black was white.

- Q Will he say anything about the money would do in Texas or Indian Territory? A Well, in talking about the evidence, he said that money was that made the sure go down in Texas and he said "I come to get the best of the land" and he says "I found out it goes here," or words to that effect.
- Q Did he say what he had to spend on the question? A Well, he said that he could stand a thousand dollars on it and not be hurt very much; finally he said he could stand more than that.
- Q What did he tell you what he thought about the necessity of witnesses anyhow? A Well, I don't know as he said as to that, but I understood from what he said that he thought money would beat witnesses.
- Q Well, where did he go from there? A He and I left there together; he rode to Muskogee by way of Fort Gibson and there we parted.
- Q Did you ever see him after that? A I saw him about two years or something like that afterwards.
- Q Where? A Vinita.
- Q Did you refer to the citizenship matter? A I asked him how he come out and he said all right.
- Q Was he deformed in any way this man? A He had a crippled hand or stiff finger; I don't remember just what it was now.
18. HOKERSON:
- Q Your first conversation with him was in '81 was it? A Yes, sir.
- Q What time in '81? A September.
- Q You were then an applicant for citizenship? A Yes, sir.
- Q Were you admitted? A No, sir.
- Q You are still an applicant? A No, sir.
- Q You are still working to get in as a citizen of the Cherokee nation? A No, sir; haven't quit it entirely.
- Q What business are you in now? A I am running a dairy in Vinita.
- Q When did you make these statements now to the representative of the Cherokee Nation? A Well, sir, I haven't; I saw Mr. Hastings I believe here last Saturday the first time.
- Q How did they ever know that you had had these conversations with Mr. Dawson? A I don't know.
- Q You don't know how they found that out? A No, sir.
- Q You say you saw Mr. Hastings here last Saturday? A Yes, sir.
- Q Now, did you approach him or did he approach you? A He approached me.
- Q You know why? A No, sir; I suppose somebody I have told someone at some time about this, I don't know when or who. I don't remember of having talked to anyone about it. I have saw Mr. Hastings for years.
- Q Now, you say—how was that expression about his giving Dr. Baker three or four drinks of liquor? A He said the old man; he said that Dr. Baker, he was expecting him there and he didn't come, and he said he didn't care where he did or not; he said he was 85 or 90 years old; he said he didn't know what fit up; said he could give him three or four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would not know black or white.
- Q Now, he said that didn't he? A Yes, sir.
- Q You are just as positive of that as you are of any other statement he made are you? A Yes, sir.
- Q You say you next saw Dawson at Vinita? A Yes, sir.
- Q How long afterwards was that? A About two years, I think something near that.
- Q Did he rove to the Territory? A Yes, sir he lived at Vinita at one time.

Q You speak about having a dairy business there at Vinita, to what extent? A I am only milking about four cows now, I sent the others to the country.

Q Do you run a dairy wagon there? A No, sir.

Q You serve on the jury a good deal? A I have been serving on the Petit jury there this winter.

Q Generally? No, sir.

Q Are you a kind of a professional juror? A No, sir; I was on the regular petit jury, I was on the regular panel and served.

C. G. BRAUGHT, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Berokke Motion:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A C. G. Braught.

Q What is your age? A 62 29th day of last January.

Q What is your post office? A Fairland.

Q How long have you been living in the neighborhood of Fairland?

A Been living there 19 years.

Q Do you know one Bud Dawson or F. M. Dawson as his name is?

A I do.

Q How long have you known him? A About 13 years.

Q How close do you live from him? A Half a mile of him.

Q Does he still own that place? A I think he does.

Q Were you an applicant for citizenship along about '81 or '2 at Tahlequah? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you have at any time a conversation with Bud Dawson about his and your citizenship cases? A Yes, sir.

Q State what he stated to you of citizenship cases in general and about his own in particular, you can state the time that you had these conversations as near as you can? A Well, I think it was in '83, he told me if I ever got in I would have to put up; he said it cost him $700 to get in; he said he paid one witness three hundred dollars.

Q Did he state the name of that witness? A No, he did not.

Q Whom did he say he made arrangements with? A He said he made arrangements with the Court; that is, heads of families to get them in at one hundred dollars apiece.

Q Do you know what time of the year that was, whether it was in the summer or not? A I think it was in June.

Q Did he make any other statements to you at any other time?

A No, sir, I don't think he has in regards to that matter.

Q You have been living neighbors with him? A Yes, sir.

MR. MCKENNON:

Q You say this was about June of '83? A I think it was in June, 1883, I won't be positive whether it was June or not.

Q You were an applicant; were you admitted? A No, sir.

Q Have you been admitted? A No, sir.

Q You are still an applicant? A Yes, sir.

Q Still trying to get in? A Yes, sir.

Q Where was this conversation had? A Had at Bud Dawson's house.

Q What part of the premises that is, in his residence?

A Yes, sir.

Q In the house? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was present? A There wasn't anybody present; he just built the house and there wasn't anybody there.

Q Was there more than one room? A I won't be positive but I don't think there was but one room, log house.

Q Just one room? A Yes, sir.

Q And in that room he made this statement to you? A Yes, sir.

Q He and you are enemies are you not? A No, I don't think we are enemies.

Q You are not friendly at all? A Friendly part of the time, and part of the time we ain't.

Q Haven't you had considerable trouble about the lands between your farms? A No, sir; we ain't had any trouble.

Q Didn't you have his little boy arrested recently for a difficulty?

A Yes, sir.

Q And you say that you are not on bad terms with him?

A Why we speak, have conversation, have right talk along all the time.

Q Is it not a fact now that you and he have been all the while at outs? A No, sir.

Q You don't have any unkind feeling towards him? A No, sir.

Q What were your other remarks? A I said no, sir, I didn't have any unkind feeling towards him.

(It being 5 o'clock, the Commission adjourns until 8:30 o'clock to-morrow morning.)

March 19, 1902.

Commission convened pursuant to adjournment.

Appearances:

Mr. A. S. McKennon, of Counsel for Applicants.

Mr. W. T. Hutchings, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation.

C. G. BRAUGH, re-called, further testified:

MR. MCKENNON:

Q Mr. Braught, you were a claimant under the Watts family are you not? A Yes, sir.

(witness excused.)

CHARLES D. KENNEY, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Charles D. Kenney.

Q What is your post office? A Dawson now.

Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes, sir; supposed to be.

Q Recognized as such are you? A Yes, sir.

Q How old are you? A There is no family record, my parents died when I was young, I just guess at my age, I am somewhere between 44 and 45 years old.

Q Were you personally acquainted with one Elbert or Buck Dawson?

A I knew Buck Dawson when I saw him.

Q Did you know him in the State of Texas, if so state what time?

A I knew Buck Dawson, knew him and saw him at different dates in Texas.

Q Well, in the year '81 in Clay County, Texas, did you ever see him?

A It was in '81 or '82, I think I know him in both years.

Q Did you ever have any conversation with him in the presence of Bill Smith, Jiles Flynn and Joe Fletcher about his application for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation?

A Mr. Brown and Jiles were talking in regard to that then there was a man there who

it was mentioned, I was going up on the strip and Buck Dawson says "He an Indian" and Jiles said "yes, he is an Indian", and "By God," I believe in the way he spoke, "if I was an Indian I would not be punching cattle, I would have stock eating my grass."

Q What did he say about making a violation? A He said he was going to the Chickasaw Nation and prove up and get him some grass.

Q Who was that? A Buck Dawson.

Q Well, did anybody suggest about his going to the Cherokee Nation?

A Yes, sir, I told him, I says "why don't you go to the Cherokee Nation, why don't you go up home" I believe is the way I spoke it, "up amongst God's people;" and he says "are they all white like you?" and Jiles spoke up and says "majority of them."

Q Well, what did he say to Jiles then? A He says "let's go up Jiles", just in a whole crowd of cow punchers, and Mr. Flippin says "Hell, I am going; brother John is getting ready to go now."

Q Well, then what did he say to you? A He says "Who are your best lawyers up there, Kenney," and I told him "Hookey Bell was counted the brainiest man in our country."

Q Well, do you know whether he claimed to have any Indian blood or what he was claiming in that country, whether white man or Indian?

A No, sir, I could not say what he was; he was generally known down there as Buck Dawson, a citizen of the State of Texas, that is all I know of him.

Mr. McKernan: The applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Mr. McKernan:

Q Were you born and reared in the Cherokee Nation? A I can't tell you where I was born; I was raised here part of the time and in Ross County, Texas. B. W. Alberty was my guardian.

Q Were you admitted to citizenship by the Council or Court? A I think both of them passed on me; I don't tell you the date.

Q About what time? A It was sometime in '80 though.

Q That tribunal first? A I don't know; I don't know either when I was admitted, I was re-instated at Council.

Q When? A I think it was in '87 or '88.

Q Haven't you been arrested for crime and charged with crime?

A Well, I didn't know that I was on trial; I have been arrested a hundred times I guess from here to the Rio Grande.

Q For what offenses? A For gambling, stealing; if I am on trial I have had lots of them, I have been on the road.

MR. HASTINGS, of Counsel for Cherokee Nation:

Q Were you ever convicted? A No, sir.

Mr. McKernan: Applicant makes further objection to the testimony of this witness on account of his criminal character stated by him.

THOMAS B. HASTINGS, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HASTINGS:

Q State your name, please? A Thomas B. Hastings.

Q What is your post office? A Melvin.

Q What is your age? A 48.

Q Are you a Cherokee by blood? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you know one James Dawson? A Well, yes; I did; I have seen him two or three times.

Q Were you in Tahlequah about the time he had an application before the Spears or Snake Puppy Citizenship Court? A Yes, sir; I was there about the time the case was settled.

Q Did you know Aaron Butler? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was he? A He was a Cherokee Interpreter for the Court.

Q Do you know James Smith? A Yes, sir.

Q Who was he? A He was the Nation's attorney before the Court.

Q Well, did you about that time have a conversation with either Aaron Butler or Jim Smith in company with Mr. James Dawson? A Yes.

Q State the full particulars of it? A About that time this man Dawson and Butler come to me while they were all together, all three of them, and Butler come and called me off to one side, that was down at a colored church, it was after dark, and they called me off there and this man Dawson borrowed some money from me, he said he had to have it that night, his case was going to be submitted the next morning.

Q Well, did he say anything about whether he could get his case submitted if he had some more? A Well, from the language to me and Butler, he wanted this money; Smith had agreed to submit the case without further evidence in the matter.

Q Well, did you let him have the ten dollars? A Yes, sir.

Q Where did they go then? A They walked off up towards town.

Q Did they go together, those three? A Yes, sir.

MR. McKENNON:

Q Was that James Dawson, the leading applicant in that case?

A Yes, best of my recollection that was.

Q How old a man was he? A I don't know; I could not tell you; he looked, I don't know, he might have been—could not tell you just about how old he was.

Q Well, about how old was he, 25, 30 or 40? A Yes, he was older than that, from my judgment I guess he must have been 45 or 50 years old.

Q Is he living or dead? A I don't know.

Q Where have you been living? A I have been living down here near Tahlequah.

Q What was the man's name, Dawson's name? A Jim Dawson I think.

Q You are certain of that? A Yes, sir; I am pretty certain.

Q They came to you with Smith, the Prosecuting Attorney, and Butler, the Interpreter? A Yes, sir.

Q Dawson took you off to one side? A Butler took me to where Dawson was and introduced me to Dawson and vouched for Dawson being all right for the money.

Q When did you first make a statement of this matter to anybody?

A I guess—I don't remember when.

Q How long have you been in Muskogee this time?

A I have been here since, I was summoned here last Friday.

Q Did you ever make any statement to anybody about this before that time? A Yes, I talked to Butler about it.

Q When? A Oh, about, first I remember it has been about two years ago, and Butler was talking to me about it; it was at my house.

Q Were you born a citizen? A Yes, sir.

Q You weren't admitted to citizenship by the Courts or Councils?

A No, sir.

Q You have been living in the Cherokee Nation all your life?

A Well, I was born and raised here; I haven't been here all the time; I have been out and in.

Q You have never seen that man Dawson since? A If I have I have never known it, but I seen him the next day.

Q You saw him and took a good look at him, and know about what kind of man he was? I saw him around there about several times.

Q You think he was about 35 or 40 years old? A That would be my guess at it, my recollection.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness, all of it, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

DELIA A. BREWER, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your full name? A My husband's name was O. P. Brewer, but generally I sign my name Mrs. D. A. Brewer.

Q What was your full maiden name? A Delia A. Vann; well it was really Delilah but I never was called by that name, it was De altogether in my young days.

Q What was your father's name? A His name was Joseph Vann.

Q Was he called by any nicknames and if so how many, and what?

A None but the Cherokees, the full-bloods called him Joe Aney.

Q What does that name mean when you talk English? A Rich Joe.

Q Did any of them call him Big Joe Vann? A I don't know; he was a large man; larger than the other Joe Vann.

Q There was another Joe Vann? A Yes, sir.

Q Did your father have any sisters and brothers? A He had quite a number of sisters.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had two half brothers.

Q Did he have a half sister? A Had several half sisters.

Q Who did they marry? A Different persons; I knew the names of all of them but I have a bad memory, but I know that there was one, a Mrs. Ibbie Wolfe, and Mrs. Lamer, she was first a Mrs. Nicholson and she became a Mrs. Lamer and lived in Alabama and never come to this country, but she has grandchildren in this country.

Q Well, did any of your father's sisters or half sisters ever marry a Rogers? A No, sir.

Q Never had any Rogers kin-folks? A No, sir, I certainly would have heard of them through my family, there was a great many of the kin-folks I never saw, but I heard of them.

Q The Dawson case was talked of here for many years, they claiming kin?

A I never knew until I understood they claimed to be kin to the Vanns, and I flatter myself that my family was prominent enough that they never claimed kin.

Q They never claimed kin at all? A No, sir.

Q Did your father ever had a sister or half sister by the name of Annie, Anna or Alsey? A No, sir.

Mr. McKennon: Applicants object to all the testimony of this witness because it is incompetent and irrelevant.

SAMUEL TOLLIVER DAWSON, being duly sworn, testified as follows on part of the Cherokee Nation:

MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A Samuel Tolliver Dawson.

Q What relation are you to the Dawsons? A Well, I am not acquainted with none of these Dawsons, I guess I am cousin, that is what he told me.

Q Who was your father? A Samuel Riley Dawson.

Q What did you say your father's name was? A Mile Dawson.

Q Do you know what his full name was? A Samuel Riley Dawson.

Q What children had your father? A Why, he had got, you mean his first children or his whole family?

Q I want all of his children? A I don't know, I will have to count a while on them, there was nine or ten of them.

Q Just one or two of them I care for; is Mrs. Lewis your sister?

A Yes, sir.

Q Your full sister? A Yes, sir.

Q Was she a daughter of S. R. Dawson, Jr.? A Yes, sir.

Q How was she the parents of your father, Samuel Dawson?

A Why Sam Dawson was his father.

Q Sam Dawson was his father? A Yes, sir.

Q What was Sam Dawson's wife, if you know their family history, what your father said or what your grandfather said? A I have heard that she was a Pruitt, my father said; of course I don't know.

Q What was her given name? A Annie.

Q Did you ever see your grandfather, Samuel Dawson? A Yes, sir.

Q Saw him? A Yes, sir.

Q Do you know about how old he was when he died? A He was somewhere up about 90.

Q About how old were you when your grandfather died? A I don't remember exactly how old I was, I must have been somewhere near 12 years old when my grandfather died.

Q Was your father his youngest child? A Yes, sir.

Q Do you know about when your father was born? A Well, no, I don't, he died in '90 and he was 67 years old.

Q He died in about '90 and was about 67 years old when he died?

A Yes, sir.

Q And he was the youngest child? A Yes, sir.

Q Now, do you know how many children your grandfather had, that is brothers and sisters of your father? A I heard him say seven.

Q Well, did you ever hear your father or grandfather speak of whether or not your grandmother was a white woman or an Indian?

A Well, I heard my father speak about it, I don't know that I ever heard my grandmother say anything about it.

Q Well, what did he say about it? A I have heard him say his mother was not an Indian.

Q Did you father come here and apply once for citizenship?

A Yes, sir.

Q Was he admitted? A I think not.

Q Did you hear him make any statements about the ground he expected to get in? A He said his brothers had proved their rights here and if his brothers had any rights he did, but I don't know.

Q Well, in that connection did he say whether his mother was an Indian or white woman? A Never heard him say that his mother was a white woman in speaking about that, I don't know whether he said anything about that or no; I have heard him say his mother wasn't no Indian.

Mr. McKernan: Applicants object to the testimony of this witness because it is wholly irrelevant and incompetent.

- Q And another brother named John? A Yes, sir.
- Q What relation are you to Mrs. A. S. Lewis? A Sister.
- Q Did you ever see your grandfather, Samuel Dawson? A Yes, sir.
- Q You have a distinct recollection of him? A I, yes, I can remember him, but I was small.
- Q About how old were you you suppose when your grandfather died? A About 6.
- Q Was your father's birth recorded in the family Bible? A Yes, sir.
- Q You know whether your grandfather's record of marriages and deaths were recorded in any Bible or not? A I was, but we haven't it.
- Q What became of it? A Got burned.
- Q Well, about what year do you remember that your father, Samuel Dawson was born? A I believe it was '23.
- Q In 1823? A Yes, sir.
- Q And how old was he when he died, if you recollect? A He was between 64 and '7.
- Q Did you ever hear your father speak of his relations, his father and mother, as to whether they were white people or Indians? A Yes, sir, they were white people.

Q. You know whether in the family you grandfurther was spoken of by the name of Annie, always? A. Yes, sir.

BY MR. HOKEMSON: Applicant's object to the testimony of this witness because it is wholly irrelevant and incompetent.

ALEX S. LEWIS, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q. State your name? A. Alex S. Lewis.
- Q. What is your post-office? A. Dawson, Indian Territory.
- Q. How old are? A. 59 years.
- Q. What was your wife's maiden name? A. Elizabeth Parales Dawson.
- Q. Who was your wife's father and mother? A. Her father was Samuel R. Dawson and her mother was the wife of Samuel R. Dawson, did you want her maiden name?
- Q. Well, if you know the maiden name of your wife's mother, state how you know it? A. Well she was called Margaret, Margaret Queen was her maiden name.
- Q. The maiden name now of your wife's father's mother? A. Why the maiden name of my wife's father's mother?
- Q. Yes, sir? A. From what her husband and my father-in-law told me it was Annie Pruett.
- Q. What was the name of your wife's father's father? A. My wife's grandfather on her father's side, Samuel Dawson.
- Q. And his wife's maiden name was Annie Pruett? A. Yes, sir.
- Q. Did you know the old gentleman, Samuel Dawson, your wife's grandfather? A. Yes, sir.
- Q. Personally? A. Yes, sir.
- Q. What opportunities had you to get acquainted with him? A. He lived with his youngest son, my father-in-law, and visited me, my wife and I, after we were married, at times with us quite a while; I lived near my father-in-law and we visited very often.
- Q. When did he die? A. '74.
- Q. Have you any particular method of recalling that date? A. Well, I was away from the house when he was taken sick, and they sent for my wife and myself, and so when I got home my wife had gone to her father's to see her grandfather, he was sick, and I remember my first wife was a baby at that time.
- Q. And when was your first child born? A. He was born December, '73.
- Q. You know how old your wife's father was when he died? A. Why he was up in 60, but I don't remember his age.
- Q. Did the old original Samuel Dawson ever tell you his age? A. Yes, sir, several times.
- Q. How old was he at the time of his death? A. He was past 60.
- Q. Did he ever tell you whether or not his wife Annie Pruett had any sister or brother? A. Told me she only had one brother named Bob Pruett.
- Q. Have any of the members of the family named their children after him? A. Make it a little plain, it is a little long; my wife's oldest brother was a particular favorite of his grandfather, and he always took this boy with him everywhere, and he had named one of his, - oldest child for this brother-in-law who was a particular favorite of his grandfather; now let it for him I understood.
- Q. Now, what is his name? A. Of course I don't know if he named it, but he gave him the name of Robert Pruett, and I understand it was on account of his grandfather thinking, on the part of Robert Pruett.
- Q. Did you ever hear the old Samuel Dawson speak of his brother-in-law? A. Yes, sir; I have heard him say that he wished he knew what had become of Bob Pruett, he never had heard of him for a long time; didn't know where he was, or whether he was alive or not.

Q Now, I want the children of Samuel Dawson and Armie Pruett, how many of them did you know, first? A How many did I know personally?

Q Yes, sir? A John James, and Samuel R. Those were the only ones of his children that I remember personally.

Q Well, remember what you know of the family, what other children did he have? A Well he had two girls, as I understand the family history, he had two girls, first, and John Dawson was the third child, and the oldest boy was John Dawson.

Q Was John Dawson the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q Which was the oldest girl? What is she known by now? A I think it was Mrs. Petty, nee Bettie Dawson.

Q And John Dawson was the oldest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q And Samuel R. Dawson was the youngest boy? A Yes, sir.

Q You know anything about the time John Dawson was born, have you any way of seeing at it, the oldest boy? A Yes, sir, I know what the oldest son and his wife told me.

Q What was that? A They said he was born in 1811.

Q Who was his oldest son? A Toliver H. Dawson; told me his father was born in 1811.

Q Do you remember now whether the old man had occasion to say whether his wife, Annie Pruett was an Indian or white woman, or ever said anything about it? A I know what the old man said that she was, I don't know that I ever heard the question approached in that way, I have heard him speak as to her blood, but it was in a different way than he reached it.

Q What blood did he say she was? A Well he said that she was the daughter of Mrs. Pruett, a white woman; and that her father was Captain John Rogers, a white man who lived with the Cherokee Indians, and traded with them.

Q Did he say who Captain John Rogers afterwards married? A Said he had a wife in the Cherokee Nation.

Q But that Annie Pruett was not her child? A No, sir, she was the child of Mrs. Pruett.

Q A white woman? A Yes, sir, that was the half sister of Bob Pruett.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness, because it is wholly incompetent and irrelevant.

Q Did ever you apply for citizenship here? A Yes, sir; for my wife.

Q When? A My father-in-law made the application, I don't know exactly when it was, I think probably about '86, I couldn't say as to the date.

Q Before the Cherokee authorities? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he file an application before the Dawes Commission in 1890 also? A Him.

Q Yes, sir? A I don't think he did, no sir.

Q Did you? A I did.

Q On account of your wife? A Yes, sir.

Q Did you take affidavit to that application? A No, sir.

Q Who did? A I don't know, don't remember now.

Q You applied for your wife as an Indian by blood did you not?

A Yes, sir.

Q Are you still an applicant? A No, sir.

Q Is she? A No, sir.

Q She was denied was she? A Yes, sir.

Q Was there an appeal taken from that? A Application was filed if I remember, before the Dawes Commission, and they rejected the case, and then I appealed it to the District Court, and it was rejected there and then I stopped.

- Q Have you ever been arrested for any crime? A Yes, sir.
Q What? A Charge of murder.
Q Anything else? A No, sir.
Q Committed on the train? A Yes, sir.
Q In a train robbery? A Yes, sir, in a train robbery.
Q How long did you remain in jail? A Appealed the case to the Supreme Court, and it was reversed and sent back, and I was acquitted on that charge.
Q That all the crime you were ever charged with? A Yes, sir.
Q Haven't you been having some trouble with the Dawson family?
A Well personally I have no trouble with any of them, there is one of my boys and one of W. A. Dawson's sons-in-law had some trouble.
Q You are not friendly with the Dawson family? A That son-in-law Mr. Wooley, anyhow, don't speak, and I don't think his wife speaks to me either.
Q Well you are claiming some sort of lease on the Wooley farm, aren't you? A No, sir, I don't claim any lease on the Wooley farm.

B. W. ALBERTY, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q State your name? A B. W. Alberty.
Q What is your post-office? A Tahlequah.
Q What is your present official position in the Cherokee Nation?
A Assistant Executive Secretary of the Cherokee Nation.
Q As much have you charge of the citizenship records and books etc. of the Nation? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you made search recently for the original records in the various cases of the Dawson family before citizenship courts in Council? A Yes, sir.
Q Have you got what records you found with you? A I find what's supposed to be the original papers in the case, all that I could find. (Produces papers and hands to Nation's attorney.)
Q Where did you find these papers? A I found them in the desk in which papers of that character are filed away in the Executive Office at Tahlequah. (Applicant's attorneys examine papers produced by witness.)

vs.

Cherokee Nation.

Testimony for Claimants.

Witness:

Dr. Baker sworn testified as follows. My name is Arthur Baker I reside at Berrivill, Arkansas, Carroll County, my age is 73 years, I am not a Cherokee, I lived in the Cherokee Nation about three years when I first came to Arkansas I have been acquainted with him since he became a citizen of Carroll County some thirty five years (line drawn through the last three words.) 25 years at my mother's house near Calhoun I became acquainted with the claimants Robt Dawsons grandmother on Mother's side, she was frequently at my mother's house; though she Anna Pruet lived in the Nation side. She claimed to be a half sister to Big Joe Vann, also claimed to be half Cherokee, the first time she brought the claimant's mother to my mother's house she the claimant's mother was about 12 years old, when I was a little boy she called her daughter Polly Rogers said Capt. John Rogers who ran a boat up the river was the father of the child; I saw the girl frequently there at my mother's and where at Louis Rosses Store I saw her occasionally until I was 15 or 16 years old and I think then Old Capt John Rogers took her off to school. I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of Old Samuel Dawson. I stayed all night there and she and I had a talk over our old matters, and I asked her when she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school. And she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home to the Nation and they were there married. I have told that precisely in the words she used.

Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee, the claimant is the son of Polly Rogers and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruet, and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson Capt Rogers then resided in the Cherokee Country about twelve miles from Calhoun on the Hiwassee River.

Anna Pruet resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there the Dawsons when I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees, Robt Dawsons children is Buck, John, Marion, and two girls; the children named in the petition I recognize as being the claimants

Question by Solicitor:

Ques. 1 How many children did Polly Rogers have?

Ans. 1 Five, I think that's all.

Ques. 2 Did you say something about someone being married twice?

Ans. 2 The claimant was married twice.

Ques. 3 Could Anna Pruet speak Cherokee?

Ans. 3 Yes she could speak it well

Ques. 4 Did Polly Rogers speak Cherokee?

Ans. 4 She could when she was young.

Ques. 5 How far do you live from Anna Pruet?

Ans. 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.

Ques. 6 Was Calhoun in the Cherokee Nation?

Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river part in the Nation and part out in the State.

Ques. 7 Which Harnage was it went to Texas?
 Ans. 7 George went first then John went they were the sons of old man Harnage that lived up here near the line.
 Ques. 8 Did the claimant go to Texas?
 Ans. 8 No the claimant didn't go to Texas.
 Ques. 9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
 Ans. 9 The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers Marion here is the grandson of Polly Rogers.
 Ques. 10 Where does claimant now live?
 Ans. 10 He lives in Carroll County, Arkansas.
 Ques. 11 Do you know what relation old Captain John Rogers was to Charlotte Rogers here in Coover's Cove?
 Ans. 11 They are kind kin but what kin I don't know there were two Capt. John Rogers' in the Nation I am speaking of the time when I first came to this 1830 Country about the year 1830.
 Ques. 12 Was Anna Pruet the maiden name of Claimant's grandmother?
 Ans. 12 Yes that was her maiden name the Indians called her

It is admitted that John Rogers and Chelsey Pruitt died before the roll upon which their names would appear if living at the time and specified in the 7th section of the Act of December 3th, 1888, creating the Commission on Citizenship, were made but in support of the application it is urged that certain members of the Dawson family and Dall brothers of the applicant were readmitted to citizenship by the Commission on Citizenship certainly known as

I am a citizen of the Cherokee Nation and reside in Coowee-coowee Dist, and am 53 years old. I am acquainted with the applicant, Andrew J. Dawson, he claims to be a relation of mine. I have known him personally about three (3) years. He said his father was Joe Dawson. I know the party, the applicant, from circumstances, and have no doubt but that he is a relation of mine.

Joe Dawson, the father of the applicant was my father's brother. Joe Dawson was considered to be a Cherokee, I think he died on the Hiwassee river in Tenn. I think he had four (4) children. I never saw any of them but Andrew J. Dawson, and Jim Dawson.

-Cross Ex.-

Joe Dawson has been dead about 35 years he lived west of the Mississippi River, I understand. My father had four brothers. I don't know how long Jou Dawson had been living in Tenn. before he died. All that I know of the applicant being the son of my Uncle Jou Dawson, is from what he himself has told me, - My grandfather, Sam Dawson was a white man. The applicant could be of the Dawson name and not be related to me - My grandfather being a Dawson and a white man.

In the matter of the application of

Andrew J. Dawson,

Nation's No.....

Commissioner's No.....

for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Your respondent, S. H. Myyes, Principal Chief of the Cherokee Nation, comes now and demurs the said application, and for the grounds thereof says:

1st. That this Commission has not jurisdiction over the parties or subject matter of this controversy.

2nd. That the application does not state facts sufficient if true, to show that the applicant . . . entitled to citizenship.

Respondent not waiving his aforesaid demurrer, but insisting upon the same for answer to said application, says that John Rogers through whom the petitioner claims to derive right to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, is not now, . . . and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation, since the removal of said Nation, west to the Indian Territory, as at present located and defined; that his name does not appear on any of the authenticated rolls of said nation; that neither he nor any of his ancestors now reside, or ever have resided in the Cherokee Nation and Indian Territory, as citizens thereof.

See case Nation's No. 1573.

Having fully answered, your respondent asks to be hence dismissed.

Now this day comes the above case for final hearing. Samuel R. Dawson bases his application for re-admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the ground that he is the son of Samuel Dawson, a white man, Polly Rogers, the alleged daughter of Captain John Rogers, and Ailey Prustt, said to be half brother of Joseph Wagon, a person known as rich and the wife of Cherokee blood. It is admitted that John Rogers was Gilney Pruett died before the rolls were made and his name would appear in the rolls if he were alive, and specified in the 7th Section of the Act of December 8th, 1888, creating the Commission on Citizenship were made, but in support of the application it is stated that certain members of the Dawson family the full members of the applicant were admitted to citizenship by the Commission on Citizenship now known as the "Circuit Court" and "Spears Court" and are now residing as citizens in the Cherokee Nation. In the opinion of this Commission the sufficiency of the evidence on which determined the decisions of the Commission of the territory now incorporated to authorize the admission of the present applicant is not relevant in the issue now pending. The 7th Section of the Act of December 8th, 1888, before us provides that the Commission hearing on any person applying for citizenship in the Cherokee Nation upon the grounds of descent blood or descent, but such applicant must be a native, or the lineal descendant of a person whose name appears upon the general roll of the Cherokee Nation by the United States, whose name was ascertained, neither the name of the applicant nor that of the person of whom he claims to be a lineal descendant appearing upon either of said rolls, the Commission adjudges and decrees that Samuel R. Dawson and family are not entitled to re-admission of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation or Cherokee by blood. This opinion includes the case of Andrew J. Dawson, James H. P. Dawson, Jonathan Barber, nee Jonathan Dawson, and Jane Queen, nee Jane Dawson and their families as enumerated in their respective applications.

W. D. Rogers being duly sworn on oath testifies and says that he is a citizen and resident of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory. That his post-office address is Skitlatoki, Ind. Ter. that he was born and raised in the above said Nation and Territory; that he is 46 years of age;

Affiant further states that he is slightly acquainted with Irene J. Bunch, as a witness for admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as shown by copy of her application.

Affiant further states that his father's name was Charles Rogers who was a son of Captain John Rogers and the wife Captain John Rogers was the only son of said name that ever lived in the Cherokee Nation that was admitted to citizenship; that the said Charles Rogers was admitted to citizenship by blood as shown by the rolls of the Cherokee Nation.

This affidavit of John L. Keady was prepared by him on his father, Sheriff Robert Keady, and his mother and other family (this matter is in the custody of the probate court of the county in which the estate of John L. Keady is being administered) and the probate court of Frank County, Missouri, and that the same are correct copies of the original records of said probate court and that the same are correct copies of the original records of said probate court and that the same are correct copies of the original records of said probate court.

That the above affidavit is true.

(Inds) Keady that she lived with this affiant's father for a number of years prior to her death.

Affiant states that he has often talked with his father, Charles Keady, and his mother, Cynthia Keady (nee Martin) about his relatives but that they never spoke of any other children in their family; that this affiant was about 10 years old at the time his aunt, Cynthia Keady, died; that they told him there were no other children ever born to his father; that they never saw any other daughter or daughter other than Cynthia Keady.

Affiant states that his father told him a number of times that this affiant's grandfather, John Keady, never had any other family other than the one above mentioned; that this affiant never heard his father speak of any of his relatives speak of his grandfather, John Keady, having any other children other than Cynthia Keady.

Affiant states that his father told him that he was born on Big Hill, about east of Van Hook, Arkansas, in the year of 1827.

That the above affidavit is true.

CHEROKEE NATION, APPELEE.

PETITION FOR APPEAL FROM THE DECISION OF THE COMMISSION TO THE FIVE CIVILIZED TRIBES.

Come now the appellants in the above entitled cause and petition the court to grant an appeal in said cause from a decision of the Commission, known as the Dawes Commission, created in 1867, and to treat with the Five Civilized Tribes of Indiana, to-wit: the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw, and Seminole Tribes, and to treat with and decide applications for citizenship in the said Five Civilized Tribes, which decision by said Commission was rendered by authority of, but not in accordance with, an act of Congress passed and approved June 10th, 1896, and by its decision on the 20th day of October, 1896 the appellants were denied their rights to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation and the other tribes.

The facts relied upon by the appellants in establishing their right to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as aforesaid, are as follows: to-wit: that the appellants are the lawful heirs of F. A. Dawson, F. A. Dawson, Jr., and F. A. Dawson, Sr., and that said appellants are the lawful heirs of F. A. Dawson, Sr., by blood and descent, and entitled to rights of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

Said appellants claim to be entitled to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, and to the lands therein, by virtue of the fact that said appellants are the lawful heirs of F. A. Dawson, Sr., by blood and descent, and entitled to rights of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation. Said appellants claim to be entitled to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, and to the lands therein, by virtue of the fact that said appellants are the lawful heirs of F. A. Dawson, Sr., by blood and descent, and entitled to rights of citizenship in the Cherokee Nation.

FIRST. The Commission erred in rendering its decision on said claims adversely to the appellants and against the proof submitted by said appellants.

SECOND. The Commission erred in investigating the claims of appellants and denying the same, to the absence of a majority of the members of the Commission.

THIRD. The Commission erred in refusing the appellants the right and privilege of examining the proof submitted by appellees in support of the answers filed by the appellees and denying the appellants the right of filing a replication to a appellee's answer or producing proof in rebuttal of the same.

FOURTH. The Commission erred in denying the appellants the right of a trial of their claims by a competent jury, as granted to them by the law and constitution of the United States.

FIFTH. The Commission erred in refusing appellants the right to be present in person, or by attorney, during the trial and determination of their claim before the said Commission.

SIXTH. The Commission erred in refusing to issue process for witnesses and to send for persons and papers as requested to do so by the appellants.

SEVENTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the right of these appellants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

EIGHTH. The Commission erred in deciding against blood, holding that blood was not a test of the right of citizenship in said Cherokee Nation.

NINTH. The Commission erred in deciding against the question of residence, holding that residence in the Cherokee Nation was not a test of the right of citizenship in the said Cherokee Nation.

TENTH. The Commission erred in not entering upon their docket or record the grounds upon which the claims of appellants were denied and refusing to notify appellants the grounds of denial or rejection.

ELEVENTH. The Commission erred in examining the claims and proof of appellants and denying the same while the Commission was not clothed with any legal authority, nor had jurisdiction, to render decision on said claims and deny the same.

TWELFTH. That the Act of Congress approved June the 10th, 1866, was unconstitutional and had no power or legal right to confer jurisdiction on said Commission to try and determine the rights to citizenship of said appellants, and said Commission erred in determining the rights and claims of the same to said appellants.

THIRTIETH. That Congress had no power by enactment to create, appoint and empower a judiciary, and said Commission erred in carrying the claims of said appellants without any legal authority to do so.

Therefore, the appellants of this cause pray that an appeal be granted to this Court and that a trial de novo be granted the appellants, and that said appellants be permitted to introduce new evidence, and that an order be made requiring said Commission to cause all pleadings, papers and exhibits filed before it in this cause to this Court, and that the Cherokee Nation, the appellee in this case, be cited to appear of this Court not plead and defend against the appeal of the Cherokee Nation, and the appellants will ever pray.

SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION. )

---000---

I, H. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to the Court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proof and pleadings herein, which is hereto attached and made a part hereof, and that I find as follows:

I

This this case was instituted on September 27th, 1896,
before the Dawes Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, by Joanna Barber, and Isaac J. Barber, her husband, and their children, Otha E., William R., James E., Johnnie and Joel A.
Barber. That Joel A. Barber has the following children:
Mattie Tolliver, George A., Frankie C., Jess A. & Ethel Barber.
That the application includes also Mary A. Boyer and her child Inez Boyer; Emma L. Murray and her child Otha Murray, Eva Moore and her children Anna J., Jackson D., Ruby and Gladys; Attie L. Hunt and her child Bessie Hunt; Alice J. Smart and her children George A. and Elzey H. Smart; Joanna J.
Carlinghouse and her children Lyle C., Cora L. and Bertha
H. Carlinghouse. That this application was by the Commission tried and rejected on October 29th, 1896, with no reasons
given for the decision, and that subsequently on December 27, 1896, the claimants appealed to this court. That the parties all live in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

II

That the parties claim the right to be admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by reason of their descent from Polly Rogers, who is claimed to be a Cherokee Indian by blood. That they filed in support of their application the affidavits of S. R. Dawson, E. Dawson, Thomas E. Dawson, and F. A. Dawson, who testify that Joanna Barber is the daughter of Elizabeth McKay, nee Lewis, who was the wife of Polly Rogers, who married a white man by the name of Samuel Dawson, and that Polly Rogers was the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Alice Vann. That these witnesses are all of the same lineage by blood, not admitted with...

claimants, and according to their testimony, related to them by blood.

The appellee introduces to contravert this testimony the decision of the Cherokee Commission on citizenship, rendered in the year 1897, in which these claimants were rejected by this Commission and also the affidavit of W. C. Rogers a grandson of Captain John Rogers, and Mrs. Sarah Carter, a granddaughter of Captain John Rogers, both of whom state that they never heard of any daughter of said Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and that Cynthia Rogers was his only daughter.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation, and are relatives of the Dawson family, who are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, and are entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood, while the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the petitioners claim, is not now and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation since the removal West; that his name does not appear on the rolls of the Cherokee Nation, and that he nor his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

The premises considered, in view of the unsettled condition of affairs in the Cherokee Nation at the time when Captain John Rogers, the ancestors through whom these claimants trace their Cherokee blood, lived, and especially in view of the absence of a marriage law and of records pertaining to marriage, I am of the opinion that these claimants have proved that they are descended from Capt. John Rogers, who resided in the Cherokee Nation, and was a recognized citizen, though they do not show that he was ever enrolled as such, and I therefore find that the claimants are all residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, and that they are all Cherokee Indians by blood. That they have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1837, and probably longer, though the proof does not state definitely how long they have so resided.

I ask that the Court allow a reasonable fee for my services here in as Special Master.

Respectfully submitted this 16 day of August, 1897.

(signed) H. A. Gibson,
SPECIAL MASTER.

By me paid.

No Exceptions filed."

BY THE COURT.

From this report it appears that the claimants base their right to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation upon the grounds that they are the dependants of a Cherokee Indian by blood, but their ancestors through whom they claim have never resided in the Cherokee Nation as now constituted. It appears that they have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1837, and probably longer, though the proof does not state definitely how long they have so resided. It does not appear that the Applicants or any of their ancestors have ever been recognized as members of the Cherokee Nation.

The judgment of the United States Commission rejecting this case is affirmed, and the application of the claimants to be enrolled as citizens of the Cherokee Nation is denied."

Testimony for Claimants.

Witness, Dr. Arthur Baker sworn testified as follows:
My name is Arthur A. Baker I reside at Berryville Arkansas Carroll County My age is 75 years I am not a Cherokee. I lived in the Cherokee Nation about three years when I first came to Arkansas I have been acquainted with him since he became a citizen of Carroll's County some 35 years - At my Mother's house near Calhoun I became acquainted with the claimant's Robt Dawson grandfurther on mother's side she was frequently at my Mother's house though she Anna Pruett lived in the Nation side; She claimed to be a half sister to Big Joe Vann, also claimed to be half Cherokee, the first time she brought the claimant's mother to my Mother's house she the Mother's mother was about grown when I was a little boy. She called her daughter Polly Rogers, said Captain John Rogers who ran a boat up the River was the father of the child; I saw the girl frequently there at my Mother's and there at Louis Russes Store.

I saw her occasionally until I was 15 or 16 years of old and I think then Old Capt. John Rogers took her off to school, I saw her no more from the time Old Capt. John Rogers took her off till I saw her here in Arkansas the wife of old Samuel Dawson, I stayed all night there and we and I had a talk over our old matters and I asked her where she became acquainted with Dawson and she said at the time she was going to school and she said after she left school that Dawson followed her home, to the Nation and they were there married. I have told that precisely in the words that she used, Capt John Rogers claimed to be one fourth Cherokee. The claimant is the son of Polly Rogers, and I know Polly Rogers to be the daughter of Anna Pruett and I know the claimant to be the son of Polly Dawson.

Capt. Rogers then reside in the Cherokee Country about twenty (Ford "twenty" marked through) twelve miles below Calhoun on the Hiwassee River. Anna Pruett resided in the Cherokee Nation as long as I stayed there the Dawson whom I got acquainted with them Arkansas were recognized where they were as Cherokees. Robert Dawson children is Buck, John, Marian and two girls. The children named in his petition I recognized as being the claimants.

Question by Solicitor:

Q. 1 How many children did Polly Rogers have?
A. 1 Five I think that's all.
Q. 2 Did you say no other about some one being married?
A. 2 The claimant was married twice.
Q. 3 Could Anna Pruett speak Cherokee?
A. 3 Yes, she could speak it well.

- Ques 4 Did Polly Rogers speak Cherokee?
Ans. 4 She did when she was young.
Ques 5 How far did you live from Anna Pruitt?
Ans 5 Just across the river about 3/4 of a mile.
Ques 6 Was Calhoun in the Cherokee Nation?
Ans. 6 It was on both sides of the river part in the Nation and part out in the state.
Ques 7 Which Harnage was it went to Texas?
7 George went first, then John went, they were the sons of old man Harnage, that lived up near the line.
Ques 8 Did the Claimant go to Texas?
Ans. 8 No the Claimant did not go to Texas.
9 What connection was claimant and Polly Rogers?
9 The Claimant is the son of Polly Rogers
Marion here is the grandson of Polly Rogers.
10 Where does claimant now live?
10 He lives in Carroll Co Arkansas.
11 Do you know what relation old Capt John Rogers was to Charles Rogers here in Coowaseeooweef?
11 They claimed kin but what kin I dont know there were two Capt John Rogers in the nation I am speaking of the time when I first come to this country about the year 1830.

VS

REPORT OF SPECIAL MASTER.

THE CHEROKEE NATION.

-----000-----

I, H. A. Gibson, Special Master herein, show to the Court that under the general order herein, I have examined the proof and pleadings on file in this case which are made part of this report, and that I find as follows:-

I

That this case is in reality a branch of Case No. 90, Joanna Barber vs Cherokee Nation, the principal claimant herein being Irene J. House a daughter of Joanna Barber.

That this cause was instituted on September 3, 1896 at which time application was made to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes for citizenship by blood in the Cherokee Nation.

That this case was tried by the said Commission on November 24, 1896 and the applicants denied, no reasons being given for the decision, and that on January 30, 1897, the parties appealed from said decision to this Court.

That this application was made by Irene J. House, her husband, W. J. House, and their children Chas., C. Winston T., and Henry W. House. That they file in support of their application the affidavits of Joanna Barber, T. A. Dawson, Arthur A. Baker, E. Dawson, and W. A. Dawson. That these Dawson witnesses are citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, and state that they are related by blood to the claimants herein on the Cherokee side. The claimants base their contention of a right to Cherokee citizenship upon the fact that the claimant Irene J. House is the daughter of Joanna Barber, who is the daughter of Elizabeth Peley, who was the daughter of Polly Rogers, and that Polly Rogers was the daughter of Captain John Rogers and Ailsey Vann, who were recognized Cherokee citizens by blood. That the testimony shows that this Dawson family are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation, and that the claimants herein are cousins by blood upon the Indian side, and that they all claim through a common ancestor, Polly Rogers and Captain John Rogers and Ailsey Vann, who were all recognized Cherokee Indians.

II

The appellee introduces in defense the record of the application of these claimants to the Cherokee Commission on citizenship in the year 1897, and the record of the rejection of the claimants, and further the affidavits of W. J. Rogers, a C Mrs. Sarah Carter, a grand daughter both of whom state that they never heard of any daughter of Captain John Rogers by the name of Polly Rogers, and that he had only one daughter, whose name was Cynthia.

III

The claimants contend that they are residents of the Cherokee Nation and are relatives of the Dawsons, who are recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation by blood, are entitled to be admitted to the Cherokee Nation as citizens by blood, while the appellee contends that John Rogers, through whom the petitioners claim, is not now and has not been a citizen of the Cherokee Nation since the removal west. That his name does not appear on the rolls of the Nation, and that neither he nor his ancestors ever resided in the Cherokee Nation as citizens thereof.

IV

The premises considered, I find that the claimants are the descendants of Captain John Rogers, and that it was entirely possible that in the condition of affairs at that early date in the Cherokee Nation, especially owing to the absence of a marriage law and of records pertaining to marriage, that these claimants should be the descendants of Captain John Rogers by a daughter, Polly Rogers, of whom the affiants for the appellee may never have heard.

I find that the claimants are residents of the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory, where they have resided since 1837, and that they are Cherokee Indians by blood.

I ask that the court allow me a reasonable fee for my services herein as Special Master.

Respectfully submitted, this 9 day of Nov 1897.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Well we close for the present.

TESTIMONY INTRODUCED ON BEHALF OF THE APPLICANTS:

D. W. C. DUNCAN, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q Please state your name, age and residence? A My name is D. W. C. Duncan, my age is 78 years, my residence, Vinita, Indian Territory.
- Q Are you a duly recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood? A I am.
- Q You give testimony in this case once before did you not, before the Senate Commission? A I did.
- Q Before this Commission I will say, this Commission? A The Senate Commission? A My I can't recollect who the Commission was, but was taken at Vinita, or there.
- Q Were you in any way connected with the Cherokee Citizenship Commission in 1888 known as the Senate Commission? A I was Clerk of that Commission.

Q For what length of time? A I don't recollect the exact length of time, I think it was about thirty days, during the continuance of that Commission, existence of that Commission.

Q You were the only clerk it had during its existence were you? A I think I was.

Q You were clerk of that Commission when it rendered a decision in favor of Robert Dawson et al., as found on page 114, of its record, numbered 108 (witness examinee record referred to.) now in the possession of this Commission? A I was.

Q The members of that Commission were the same as shown by the signatures to this judgment were they? A The same, yes, sir.

Q Thomas Tenes, President of the Commission, Alex Wolfe and T. F. Thompson, Commissioners, that is correct, is it? A That's correct.

Q Were you present when this case was under consideration by that Commission and when it rendered this judgment in the case? A I was.

Q Were you at that time acquainted with P. M. Dawson, commonly called "Bud Dawson", Campbell Taylor and Samuel H. Benge, who were attorneys, who were Cherokee attorneys at that time? A I might say that I merely knew Mr. Dawson; all I know of him was I saw him there as a party to the suit. I know Mr. Taylor and Mr. Benge more extensively; I have known them a number of years.

Q They were recognized Cherokee citizens were they? A They were.

Q Was Taylor not known generally as a Citizenship Attorney?

A I think he was.

Q Do you remember seeing him and Benge present at the time this case was under consideration by the Court? A Why I do not recollect seeing Mr. Benge, I cannot recollect, but I can recollect of seeing Mr. Taylor about the Court room now and then.

Q Do you know who submitted the case to the Court for the applicants? A Let me understand the meaning of that: who brought the case?

Q Who called up the case? A No, I don't recollect.

Q Do you remember whether that Commission rendered any other decision than that found upon this record in that case? A I never had any knowledge only but one decision.

Q Was that in favor of or against the applicants? A It was in favor of them; I will say this; that if there was another decision other than the one that appears on the docket now before you, I have no recollection of it.

Q The only decision you have any knowledge of was recorded by you in this book as here shown was it not? A That is the only one that I have any knowledge of.

Q Did Bud Dawson pay you any money in connection with that case?

A He did not.

Q Did he ever promise to pay you any money for your influence with the Court in that case? A Never.

Q Or paid you any money, either directly or through any other person? A Purely influence in that case?

Q Yes, sir? A Never.

Q Did you have any knowledge of his having paid to the Court or to any member of the Court any money for the purpose of influencing their judgment in that case? A None whatever.

Q Did you have opportunity of observing his conduct during that Court at the time? A The only opportunity that I had was during the session of the Commission; I saw but very little of him during the presence of the Commission; now and then I would see him in the Court.

Q Did you see anything in his conduct toward that Court which indicated that he had used undue influence in procuring that judgment?

ment? A I never observed anything of the kind; nothing that awakened a suspicion in my mind that he was engaged in that kind of practice.

Q Did Campbell Taylor at any time after the rendition of that judgment pay to you any money or coming through him from Bud Dawson for any services which you had rendered to him in that case?

A Yes, he paid me some.

Q What amount? A My recollection is that, I think it was a twenty dollar bill. I don't know but I had better go and state the transaction, all about it.

Q Yes, sir. A Mr. Dawson, Bud Dawson, during the trial of the case occasionally applied to me at my desk for writing paper, issues of a subpoena or transcript, something of that kind; I always treated him with courtesy and proper official consideration. He seemed to appreciate it, and whenever I did services of that kind to him, says he, I have no money, Mr. Duncan, but I feel as I ought to pay you. I told him I made no charges for work of that kind. And in passing I might state that I never received a cent for any kind of that work which I had been in the habit of doing for various parties before the Court.

After his trial was concluded, in the afternoon a little while before supper time I went to my hotel, The National Brick Hotel in Tablequah; went to my room, felt a little tired, laid down upon the bed to rest. I recollect Mr. Duncan stepped into the room, drew a chair up to the bedside and sat down and commenced giving expression to his gratification at the success of his case, dwelling mostly upon the testimony in the case being so satisfactorily, establishing his Cherokee blood, and that he thought that he was entitled and that he had received justice by the Court. I listened to him, and we talked there I guess some ten or fifteen minutes; after a little he says, I must go to-morrow, I think he says to-morrow, I must go home, - he then lived down in Arkansas somewhere. Says he, Mr. Duncan, I believe I owe you something, ought to pay you something. Alluding, as I understood, to these little courtesies that I extended to him at my desk. Says I, I make no charges, Mr. Dawson, for services; if I have done you any good you are welcome. Well, says he, I feel indebted to you, I ought to pay you. I says, that makes no difference; I will leave that to you. Says he, I have hardly enough money to get back home. He shook my hand, and the last word he says to me, you shan't lose anything for your kindness to me; I thought he had reference to my services at the desk. That was the last I saw of Mr. Dawson, oh it must have been a year afterwards; I had located a little claim on the public domain up there in Delaware District, staked off what I intended to be a farm, merely stakes, I didn't make any other improvements, over there on Horse Creek. Went over in that part of the country to look after my claim, and I ran across Mr. Dawson, he had come into the country and located and built him a little shanty and was living in it; I called upon him, he was very glad to see me; I asked him what he was doing there; he said he had moved into the country, and I told him, says I, you are encroaching upon me here; he had spread his claim over part of mine, mine had been made so long it was outlived under Cherokee law. Well, says Mr. Dawson, I don't feel like doing you any wrong, I will pay you for your claim, and we will settle the matter in that way, that he as soon as he got his little matters together that he would satisfy me for it. Well we parted at that point. It ran on then for a long time, I don't know how long, - I think I met him in Virginia, and says he, did Camp Taylor pay you any money that I sent to you? says I, No, I have not seen Camp Taylor.

Well, says he, I gave him some money and told him to hand it to you for me, and, says he, you ask him and he will hand it over to you I guess. Well we parted then. Well, went on for some time, some months; I happened to meet Mr. Taylor in Tahlequah; I met him on the street I think, jocularly I slapped my hand on his shoulder, says I, look here, did Mr. Dawson any money to me by you? He says, yes, and he pulled out what I recollect to be a twenty dollar bill, and handed it to me; I received it, and I received it with the idea that he was compensating me for taking my claim, or possibly for doing him those little services in the Court. Now that is the sum and substance of the whole thing.

Q Was not that twenty-five dollars, Mr. Duncan? A It might possibly have been, by recollection does not serve me exactly, it might have been 25 dollars.

Q Did Campbell Taylor pay you any other money as coming from Mr. Dawson? A Never a cent.

Q Did he at one time pay you fifty dollars out of a hundred dollars which he had received from Mr. Dawson? A Never.

Q Did he on a second occasion pay you fifty dollars out of one hundred dollars which he claimed to have received from Mr. Dawson? A None at all.

Q He said you had no other money than that that you have already stated, from Mr. Dawson? A Not a cent.

BY MR. MCKENNON: We offer in evidence the judgment of the Cherokee Citizenship Commission before referred to, and ask that it be filed in evidence in the case of every application made by members of the Robert Dawson family who claim under it, or through Robert Dawson, as citizens of the Cherokee Nation, said judgment being found on page 114, Records of the Tehee Court, 1880 to 1884, case number 108, judgment dated January 11th, 1883, signed by Thomas Tehee, President, Alex Wolfe, T. F. Thorpeon, Commissioners. D. W. C. Duncan, Clerk Commission.

January and a September entry and this decision was rendered at the January 1938 term. The Baker's testimony taken during the January, 1938, term, at the time this decision was rendered. I don't recall it impossible for me to recollect those facts that are recorded there;
although I can say about that, that the record shows the correct statement of the facts; but I don't recall those facts.

Q Well there is a record here that this case was continued on the 12th day of January, 1938, upon agreement that it should be taken up on the 14th day of October, 1938. Your record shows that there was nothing done in the case from January 17th, 1938 until October 21st, 1938; would you say that was correct? A I should say it was correct if it is correct on the book; it is designed to be a correct entry of the facts.

Q I will let you see the book for yourself; I don't want to dis-parage your own entry at all. (Shows entry in book to witness.)

A I can't recall those facts in regard to the agreement.

Q The book says in testimony of the witnesses in court? A I took it down.

Q You took down the testimony of Mr. Baker? A Yes.

Q He was cross examined by counsel for the plaintiff? A As far as I
I don't recollect, he was present, he was always present; I don't likely he was cross examined.

Q And that testimony was taken at a court session in the year 1938 was rendered in January, 1938? A I think it was, by a decision in to that effect.

Q Well the court seems to have had no session as to this case from January 17, 1938 up to October 21st, 1938, according to the record? A (No response.)

Q You don't recall taking down any other witness testimony in this case? A No sir; I don't.

Q All the probability is that he was the only witness examined isn't that? A It might have been so, by recollection is that he was regarded as the main witness of the case.

Q He was quite an old man, about 73 at that time? A Yes, he was quite old.

BY MR. HARRISON:
Q The testimony of Dr. Arthur Baker, from this record, appears to have been taken January 17th, 1938; is that correct as far as you know, or are able to state? A Is that Dr. Baker's testimony?
(A lawyer here some witness papers) A It appears to be, yes;

I don't think that was the testimony that the case was decided upon, because his testimony was taken orally before the conviction, and I think the court will let you see it. (Attorney has a mid page to witness.)

A Well, all right, I am sure that as I stated before, I can't recall those facts, but whatever the record says, I say that the record was correct, according to the facts. (Witness takes copy of the testimony and goes to record his copy.) I don't witness in fact, I am simply to say you put that down, but I gather from the record that in that testimony that it is in record of the case, and a statement in general, and for what I is not able to say, but to the honor of the testimony.

Q I am sure that the court was satisfied with the testimony of Dr. Baker and that the case was decided in his favor, isn't that right? A Yes, I think so, as I could not say it, as I am not sure, but I think the court was satisfied with the length of the testimony taken.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Applicants object to all of the witness' testimony relating to the method of taking the testimony of witnesses at the trial, the character and effect of that testimony, and the number of witnesses, except so far as the same may be used for the purpose of testing the memory of the witness, because the same is incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

B. F. FORTNER, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A B. F. Fortner.
Q What is your age? A 54.
Q You are a physician are you not? A I am.
Q Where do you reside? A Vinita, Indian Territory.
Q Do you hold any official position in your position? A Yes, I am President of the National Board of Health, Cherokee National Board of Health, and member of the Legislative Councils of the Indian Territory and of the American Medical Association, -those are some, and the most important positions I hold at this time.
Q Are you a Cherokee citizen? A I am.
Q By blood or intermarriage? A Intermarriage.
Q Your wife is a citizen? A Yes, sir.
Q Do you know D. W. C. Duncan? A I do.
Q How long have you known him? A About twelve or fifteen years, about twelve years I should say.
Q Do you know his general reputation in the community where he resides for honesty and uprightness of character? A I do, I think.
Q Is that good or bad? A It is good.
Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A I do.
Q How long have you known him? A About six or eight years, don't know exactly how long; known of him for ten years and personally I have known him about six or eight years.
Q Do you know his general reputation for truth and veracity? A I do.
Q Is that good or bad? A It is bad.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

- Q Mr. Du can belongs to the same church you belong to? A Yes, sir.
Q And has for a number of years? A Well now I say I think he does; I have always so understood.
Q Don't keep up with all your members? A No, but he has attended church there and by impression has been that he is a member of the church.
Q You didn't have any business before the citizenship court of which he was clerk, did you? A No, sir, not that I know of.
Q You was not at Tallahassee while he was clerk of a Court from 1880 to '87? A I can't believe I was.
Q Never had any business before that court? A Had no business before there, not while he was clerk to my knowledge.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

- Q You speak of his membership in the church; he is in good standing; as a member of the church is not? A Yes, sir.
Q I will ask you if Campbell Taylor's reputation isn't notorious? A Yes, I have so understood it.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q I will ask you if it was notoriously bad in 1887, when these people employed him to represent them before the Court? A That was before my knowledge of him.

Q But so far as you know his bad reputation dates back to 1898 for you know him? A So far as I know him.

G. W. MILLER, being duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A G. W. Miller.
Q What is your age, Mr. Miller? A 61.
Q Where do you reside? A Vinita.
Q How long have you lived there? A Well I have lived there altogether about 13 years I guess, or 14.
Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A No, sir.
Q What is your business? A Real estate and insurance agent.
Q Do you know D. W. C. Duncan? A Yes, sir.
Q How long have you known him? A I have known him twenty years.
Q Do you know his general reputation for honesty and uprightness of character where he lives? A Yes sir.
Q Is that good or bad? A It is good, so far as I know.
Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A Yes, sir.
Q How long have you known him? A Well I have known him 13 or 20 years, I guess.
Q Do you know his general reputation for truth and honesty? A Well yes.
Q Is that good or bad? A Well, it is bad, I think.

ATTORNEYS FOR CHEROKEE NATION waive cross examination.

T. H. CURTIS, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A T. H. Curtis.
Q How old are you, Mr. Curtis? A 56.
Q Where do you reside? A Afton, Indian Territory.
Q How long have you lived in the Indian Territory? A 20 years.
Q What is your business? A Lumber business.
Q Do you know D. W. C. Duncan? A I do.
Q How long have you known him? A About 20 years.
Q You know his general reputation for honesty and uprightness of character in the community where he lives? A I do.
Q Is that good or bad? A As good as any man's.
Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A I do.
Q How long have you known him? A Some 20 years, I suppose.
Q Do you know his general reputation for truth and integrity and honesty? A Yes sir.
Q Is that good or bad? A Yes.
Q Is it notoriously bad? A Yes.
Q Did you ever know Dr. Baker, Dr. A. B. Baker, of Berryville, Arkansas? A Yes sir, I know him in '88 and '89.
Q Where? A Berryville; I ran a saw mill in that country at Berryville.
Q Did you know his general reputation so far as honesty and uprightness of character and truthfulness? A Yes sir.
Q Is that good or bad? A Good sir. Good as any man's; he is a good character.
Q Did you know his well enough to know his habits of life? A Yes sir.
Q Were he in the habit of taking liquor, drinking liquor? A Not that I know, of sir, I never saw him take a drink in my life.

Q For his character such as to preclude any such charges against him? A It was, yes sir.

BY MR. WATKINS

Q How long did you know Dr. Baker? A Two years.

Q What does he do there? A He was an old gentleman then, he lived right in the edge of Berryville, Dr. Baker.

Q How old do you think he was then? A I think he must have been 75 or 76 years old; an old gentleman.

Q That was in 18 what, 68? A No sir, it was in '68 and '69, two years that I lived over there.

Q He had retired from business? A Yes, sir.

Q Did he have any family? A Yes, sir.

Q What family did he have? A I don't know how much family he had; I was well acquainted with the old gentleman.

Q He wasn't doing any business with anybody? A No sir.

Q And his character was never called in question one way or the other was it? A No sir, no sir.

Q Campbell Taylor was a notorious rascal, wasn't he? A Yes sir, I never knew a you ever known him, wasn't he? A Yes sir, I never knew a bad one.

Q And whenever a rascal's bad citizenship case he got called to work it, because he was notoriously a rascal; that's it also isn't it? A Well a great many of them got him.

Q It was a notorious thing that they had a bad case they would get him, it would sort of give a case a bad odor to have Campbell around it? A Yes, that would be right.

Q You never knew anything about Dr. Dawson's connection with citizenship matters? A No sir, never sir.

Q You never heard about his carrying some of the records of citizenship cases? A No sir, never sir.

Q You have heard lots of talk about this Dawson case? A Yes sir.

Q Rumor has it all around that somebody was doing something wrong? A Yes sir.

Q You never accused him of it you think? A I never heard him accused of it, no sir.

Q That rumor got out from the first day they were admitted into the present? A Well I don't know not from the first day,
I have heard it for a good while though.

Q But you never knew who they fixed it on? A No sir.

Q They have been a pretty strong family up there in that country haven't they, pretty large family? A Yes sir.

Q Cast a good many votes up there? A Yes sir.

Q Did you ever hear of the doctor's testifying, any in court, Dr.
Baker? A No sir, I never did.

Q What would you think of a man who would testify that he had said that was single in 1862 when the young set of his seven children was born in 1862; what would you think, would you think that was a strange thing to be made by a man who was truthful? A

It is a very strange thing, object to the question because it is a very strange thing, and it is wholly hypothetical and is a very strange thing, and it is wholly hypothetical and is a very strange thing, and it is wholly hypothetical and

Q And you were in 1862? A Yes sir.

Q He was with an old, deceased man? A Yes sir, yes sir.

Q 14 years from that time he was liable to be in his dotage?
 A I don't know, he was an old man when I knew him.
 Q He was too old to work, and retired from business then? A Well he did work a good deal, but wasn't doing any business particular that I knew of.
 Q He would have been pretty old 14 years from that time? A Yes, he would be getting old.

D. M. HARRIS, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:
 BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q What is your name? A D. M. Harris.
 Q What is your age, Mr. Harris? A I am 44.
 Q What is your business? A I am publishing a newspaper.
 Q What paper? A "The Indian Chief."
 Q Are you editor of that paper? A Yes sir.
 Q You live at Vista, West? A Yes sir.
 Q Are you a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
 Q By blood or intermarriage? A Intermarriage.
 Q Do you know D. W. C. Duncan? A I do.
 Q How long have you known him? A 18 or 19 years.
 Q Do you know his general reputation in the community where he lives for honesty and uprightness of character? A Yes sir.
 Q Is that good or bad? A Good.
 Q Do you know Campbell Taylor? A Yes sir.
 Q How long have you known him? A For 15 years or longer.
 Q Do you know his general reputation for truth and honesty in the community? A His general reputation, yes sir.
 Q Is it good or bad? A Well it is not good.
 Q Is it bad? A Well I suppose it must be bad then.
 BY MR. MCKENNON:
 Q How long has Campbell's reputation been bad, Mr. Harris, quite a good while, hasn't it? A Why I think so, yes sir.
 Q And it has been mostly with this citizenship business?
 A Yes, so far as I know it did, yes sir.
 Q Campbell got up some bad citizenship cases and through the mails and they finally got things about it, had a good deal of stir about it? A Yes sir.
 Q And some of that stir was sort of occasioned by his helping the Deacons in West? A I don't know, I don't know whether he helped the Deacons.
 Q Was that one of the principal cases that brought him into notoriety? A I don't know whether he had that case or not, I know he had a case in West.
 Q That was the case where they got arrested the first day they got out, was that the case where they got arrested? A I think that is what got him into the stir.
 Q I can't remember the name of the case, but I talked much about Campbell one way or another, and I never really found out that Campbell was running a citizenship case, and he got a bad reputation from that. A Yes, that was the citizenship case.
 Q Now he was a case where the Deacons were the first to get out of camp, was that the case where they got out of camp? A I never saw anything about it.
 Q You know where the Deacons got out of camp, and the Deacons were a notorious case, that was a notorious case. A Yes, that was a notorious case.
 Q Well the name of the case, I don't know the name of the case, but I know it was a case where they got out of camp, and they got a bad reputation from that.
 A Yes, that was a case where they got out of camp, and they got a bad reputation from that.

Q So they never call any endeavor to find out who they are?
A No sir.

Q Where did you live in '33? A In '33 I live' out on New Creek about 12 miles south-east of Vinita.

Q How far from Vinita was that? A About 65 or 70 miles, I suppose.

Q You never were around before the affidavit could be served that didn't? A No sir.

Q You don't know then whether or not Oswald had met the crowd by not going there? A No sir, I do not, at that time.

BY MR. HASTINGS: Applicants object to all of the testimony of this witness as to what is heard by way of rumor, about the character of the person cited, because the same is hearsay in material, irrelevant and incompetent.

A. S. McKEITHEN, an counsel for Applicants, being first duly sworn, makes the following statement:

I have been a resident of Carroll County, Arkansas, early in 1880. I was until lately acquainted with Dr. Tom Arthur Baker, for many years. Know him as well as I did beyond alive. He was a gentleman of the highest Christian character, so recognized by everybody who knew him. He was a sober man, and never drunk liquor.
I have the statement here in indication of that good man's character that for any other person, because any reputation against his character is false.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q How long did you know him? A I resided in Carroll County until 1877 when I moved to Johnson County, Arkansas. During the war
I was away from home, but I know him until lately every year that I resided in Carroll County.

Q Did you know him since 1877? A Yes sir, I have seen him several times. I have written letters to him from the time he lived by reputation in my town until he to get to be always to inquire about Doctor Baker. I have his reputation I think as well after I left there as I did when I lived there.

Q Did you know him since 1877? A Yes sir, I have known him all my life as I know him.

Q How long did you know him? A I have known him all my life, in 1886 or thereabouts.

Q Did you know him since 1877? A Yes sir, I have known him all my life as I know him.

Q How long did you know him? A I have known him all my life, in 1886 or thereabouts.

Q Did you know him since 1877? A Yes sir, I have known him all my life as I know him.

Q How long did you know him? A I have known him all my life, in 1886 or thereabouts.

Q Did you know him since 1877? A Yes sir, I have known him all my life as I know him.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF CHEROKEE NATION.

DAVID HERBERT, being first duly sworn, and being examined,
testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

- Q State your name? A David Herbert.
- Q Where do you reside? A Vinita.
- Q How old are you? A 60 years old.
- Q Did you ever know James Dawson? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you known him? A I knew him probably 2 years.
- Q Did you ever have any talk with him about his citizenship case?
A Very little.
- Q You were at one time an official before the Daves Co. in their citizenship case, was you not? A Yes sir.
- Q Tell me what Mr. Dawson told you with reference to his citizenship case, as to the cost of his getting it, if anything? A Well he told me it cost him eleven or twelve hundred dollars to get his case through.
- Q Where did that conversation take place? A At Affton.
- Q At that time? A It was in '22, or the end of '22.
- Q Who was present?
A Mr. Dawson.
- Q Where were you when he told you that? A I was working on a house in Affton, building a house.
- Q Where house? A E. S. Haines.
- Q Who else was present? A Haines was present.
- Q Where is he? A At Affton.
- Q That age and he told Dawson at that time? A I don't know, he was very old, probably 75 years old.
- Q Was he not a very capable man? A Yes sir.
- Q Happily able to get around? A He sir.
- Q How do you think he regarded as feeble minded old man? A I don't know whether he was or not, as far as I know.
- Q Do you don't know what he had to do with the case, in fact, himself, no more? A Well I judge it was himself and family that cost that much to get through his citizenship case, sir. That is the way I look at it.
- Q You were an official yourself, were you not? A Yes sir.
- Q Where? A At that time.
- Q Before the change in the office? A Yes sir.
- Q That is correct? A Yes sir.
- Q You were an official then before the Daves Co. in their case, is that right? A Yes sir, but resigned ever since.
- Q Are you now an official? A Yes sir.
- Q Will you try to get me? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you been in the Daves Co. office? A It was from a Haines.
- Q How long have you been a citizen? A Yes sir.
- Q How long is that? A Yes sir.
- Q How long is that? A Yes sir.
- Q How long is that? A Yes sir.

Q. Now, Lawson, what member of your family says to the Cherokee Nation to file and prosecute the claim of your father, Robert Dawson, and the members of his family, to Cherokee citizenship?

A. My brother, John Lawson, says to the Cherokee Nation to file and prosecute the claim of your father, Robert Dawson, and the members of his family, to Cherokee citizenship.

Q. Tell me, please, what Robert Dawson, they all know him by that name, and what time? A. In 1831, I will not remember, or '32, I don't know, or '33, or '34.

Q. Did you know your father at that time? A. My brother says your father was in the Cherokee Nation, and your brother says to file and prosecute it. That is my understanding.

Q. Did you see him and afterwards was chief of the Cherokee Nation? A. Yes, sir.

Q. He says that you were that chief? A. My understanding is that he was chief of the court. He says that he was chief of the court.

Q. He was chief of the court at that time? A. Yes, sir, of the Cherokee Nation, that is my understanding.

Q. What was done about the case at that time, if you remember? A. I don't know, and I don't know where he was at that time, that is my understanding.

Q. Where did you then live? A. I lived at Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Q. When did you next come to the Cherokee Nation? A. I believe I came back the next January, that was in 1837.

Q. Was your brother John Dawson there? A. I don't think so, no, I don't remember.

Q. Well had he at any time of the court or session of the Cherokee Nation at any time before you filed your case here and filed the application until after it was decided? A. No, sir, I never set my eyes on him until that case was decided.

Q. You conducted the business then after that did you not? A. Yes, sir.

Q. The case was finally determined in January 1837? A. '37, yes, sir, the 11th day as I remember.

Q. Was there any decision of that case other than the one on record here? A. I never heard of it if there was.

Q. Was the judgment rendered in that case as recorded in the clerk's book of that Cherokee Nation in the custody of the Dawes Commission the only judgment that was rendered in that case so far as you know? A. Yes, sir, as far as I know, I never heard of it if there was any other.

Q. Was there any other case in the case? A. No, sir.

Q. Was there any other case in the case? A. I don't know.

Q. Was there any other case in the case? A. I don't know.

Q. Was there any other case in the case? A. I don't know.

Q. Was there any other case in the case? A. I don't know.

Q. Was there any other case in the case? A. I don't know.

Q. Was there any other case in the case? A. I don't know.

or not I don't know; he was generally always at Washington City during the Term down there.

Q Well what did he do about it? A I don't know, I couldn't say whether he done anything about it. That is Mr. Bryant, he was always gone.

Q What next was done about the employment of an attorney? A Why I got a letter from Joel Bryant that he was going to Washington City and for me to come down in January Term and Campbell Taylor would see to the trial before the court.

Q Did he say that he had engaged the services of Campbell Taylor the attorney, to attend to it in his absence? A Yes sir, in his absence.

Q Have you got that letter? A I don't think I got the letter.

Q Tell what did you do then? A Why when the time come I come down on the lady to Enkagee here and I goes over from here to Fort Gibson and I goes down to see Uncle Houston Benge and stays all night with him; it was very cold weather, and I got him to go over and wait my case to the court; I went over one day and the next day Uncle Houston Benge come over and the next morning after he come over the case was submitted.

Q Did he submit the case? A Yes sir, he told me so.

Q For you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you present? A I was present until they went to take the vote in the case and then we was drove out of their room and they had a secret session, acting on the case.

Q Was Houston Benge present with you? A Yes sir.

Q Were you in the court when he submitted it to them? A Yes sir, when he made his argument.

Q He made an argument before the Court is don't? A Yes sir.

Q Was the decision rendered on that day? A Yes sir.

Q How long after he made his argument and submitted the case? A Was not but a little bit; when we were drove out of the house the first time before they went into secret session they wanted me to get up the cigars to the court and I was in the house; after the decision was rendered I and I was in the court and the cigars, and everybody come to me and told me to go and get the cigars and I did so.

Q And you took the cigars there and all? A Yes sir, everybody, the attorneys and all that was in the house, all had a big smoke.

Q Did they then announce their finding in the case? A Yes sir, they told me that I was granted my citizenship right and by the Constitution.

Q What did you do about it then? A Why the clerk wrote me out my certificate.

Q That was that? A That was that day.

Q What all other was did you take with Mr. Benge about his fee, and what was the amount of his fee? A There was no arrangements made until he got to there and he submitted my case; then he wanted me to pay, he wanted me fifty dollars, that was his fee.

Q How was the arrangement about the attorney, the manner in which that was made to be paid? A My brother in Texas was to pay it.

Q How was it made or was he to write? A He was to write for it.

Q Did your brother in Texas ever pay his fee of fifty dollars?

A Yes.

Q Was that all that was to be said? A All he was to make; all he charge.

Q You were not able to give him the certificate as was stated the other day? A Yes sir.

Q He asked me what the said...
Q He said that...
Q After that judgment was rendered...
Q By what route?

A I went by Siloam Springs and on by Spring Dale to...
Q You then did not return to Fort Gibson with Houston, George, is he stated? A No sir, I did not.

Q That did you not return by way of Fort Gibson? A Well I thought maybe the others...
Q That was the most direct route from your home was it not? A Yes
sir.

Q Was that the cheapest? A All the shortest route.

Q Had you been coming back to Fort Gibson you would have been going directly away from home would you not? A Yes sir.

Q Your horse was nearly east, was east of Tallageah was it not?
A Yes sir, little north of east, pretty near due east.

Q While Fort Gibson is almost due west is it not? A South west.
Q You heard him state that you went to Fort Gibson with him, and at your home you stated to him that the way to reach the court was through...
Q Did he state at Tallageah in the court room on the evening before that judgment was rendered in your favor, tell you what the court had rendered a judgment against you? A No sir.

Q Are you then any way to him, you mean to fix that? A I had to have conversation with him.

Q Did you pay to D. F. C. Duncan, who was the Clerk of the Court any sum of money, or agreed to pay him any sum of money, directly or through any other person for any services he might render you by way of influencing the court to decide in your favor? A No
sir.

Q Or for any other purpose? A No sir.

Q Did you pay him any money after that through Campbell Taylor?
A Yes sir.

Q What amount? A 20 or 25 dollars, I don't know which it was.

Q State what that money was paid for? A For a claim.

Q What do you mean by a claim? A Claim on the public domain; he had a claim on the public domain; and he had 20 or 25 dollar...
Q What did Campbell Taylor have to do with your case?
A He had nothing to do with it.

Q Did you pay him any money for his services as an attorney?

A Yes sir.

Q How much money did he receive for his services?
A He received 20 or 25 dollars.

Q Did you see any other money in the room? A I saw...

Q Did you see any other money in the room? A I saw...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q The amount that he paid to Driscoll? A Yes sir.

Q Was this money paid to him, this one hundred dollars, was it...

Q Did you see any other money in the room? A I saw...

Q Did you see any other money in the room? A I saw...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q How did you get that 25 dollars out of the box? A I...

Q Well, A Well I made several trips out here at different times, to Fairport before the commission, and back, three or four times as well as I come here now, cost me 20 or 25 dollars each trip, as I remember about it.

Q Do you have her how many trips aside from the one in which you brought Dr. Baker? A No, I think there was probably three trips I think it was, maybe four, and then I made one trip to Glarende to see A. H. Norwood.

Q What did that trip cost you? A I don't remember what it cost; I went in a wagon then there.

Q You went through and employed Benja, went by railroad; what did that trip cost you? A I don't know what it was, whether it was 21 dollars or 22 dollars, one or two dollars, I don't remember what it was; Joe Dawson, my brother-in-law, gave me the money, it was either 21 or 22 dollars.

Q Now then is there any other expense that you know of that was paid by you or your family, any members of your family, nothing that that you have mentioned? A I don't remember any other now; I can't call to my memory right now.

Q What was the condition of the members of your family generally now, financially, at that time? A Well we were considered poor people; I don't know, we didn't have much money, probably not.

Q Was there any one of them that was better off than the others, and if so, which one? A I think that Dr. Baker was better off than the others, that Dr. Baker.

Q Do you know how much such Dr. Baker paid of those expenses? A I don't think he paid, he paid the money that and the amount left, I think it was.

Q That is the 20 or 25 dollars? A Yes sir, that is about up at that time, and when we were in the court, that is when Joe Dawson was one of the court before the justice court, I don't know what it cost him.

Q Did you see him when he was in the court? A Yes, he was in the court when he was there, I don't know how long he was there, I don't know.

Q Does that include Dr. Baker's testimony? A No sir, that is not his testimony, that is not his testimony, that is not his testimony.

Q What is told you? A I only know what I told you.

Q You have four witnesses, they were members of the Cherokee Nation or not? A Yes sir, they were.

Q Now you are in that case in which he was a witness that took that testimony, is that right? A Yes, I was in that case, I was in that case, I was in that case.

Q Now you are in that case in which he was a witness that took that testimony, is that right? A Yes sir, that is right.

Q Now you are in that case in which he was a witness that took that testimony, is that right? A Yes sir, that is right.

Q Did you pay any witness any money? A No sir, I paid Dr. Brought for his time; he said his time was worth 5 dollars a day, and I paid it.

Q Did you pay any other witness any more than that? A No sir, he was the only witness I talked down there in the case.

Q Well the Robert Dawson case? A Yes sir.

Q He says that you told him that in your house there on your place, did you have any house there in June 1833? A I was not living on my farm at that time.

Q Did you have any farm? A Didn't have any.

Q Then did you build a house there? A I built a house on the farm I live in now by Mr. Brought, I moved on the farm the last of July, 1833, and I camped in my wagon.

Q What did you do? A I went to the timber and cut poles and builded them out and builded a log cabin on the place by a spring near Mr. Brought.

Q About what time did you finish that house? A It was in September.

Q How long after you finished that house until you brought your family out? A I finished it up and got it covered and the floor in it and I went back to Turck's Springs after my wife.

Q What family did you have then? A I had my wife and she had one child; but my oldest children, by my first wife were with me in the Territory, camping with me; three little boys and one girl were with me, and one girl back in Arkansas.

Q Are you and C. G. Brought on good terms? A No sir.

Q What has been the character of the trouble between you? A Trouble over our places first started it.

Q When did it begin? A As soon as I got back from Arkansas he commenced riding crowding me out to his own farm away from me, and we have been in a row ever since.

Q Then his statement that you were on friendly terms, is it correct or not? A No sir, it ain't correct.

Q He and you have never been friendly as neighbors then since you first got back from Arkansas and settled in the Territory? A I don't remember ever being in his house; I never was in his house.

Q Have you had any suits with each other? A Not sir.

Q How many? A I don't know that he had any particular lawsuits, but I know he had lawsuits and he has been a witness against me.

Q What was your last trouble with him, when I asked? A About last fall.

Q What was when your boys had a little row and he had your boy arrested? A Yes sir.

Q What was the age of those boys? A About young old.

Q He had a horse stolen from at Turck's? A Yes sir, had him arrested.

Q Carried to the jail, and kept there at Turck's?

Q He was discharged on account of it? A Yes sir.

Q Did he have to pay for it? A Yes sir.

Q How long has he been out? A About three, about your three years.

Q Any other things to know? A Yes.

Q Is there anything else you want to say?

Q Yes, I want to say that I don't know any more.

Q Robert Dawson didn't remove here? A No, I said except Robert Dawson.

Q Did all the members of Robert Dawson family move here? A Yes sir.

Q Except himself? A Yes sir.

Q And all the members of James Dawson family? A No, not all the members, Melvin Low I don't think ever lived here.

Q She has never moved here? A No sir.

Q Well all the members of your family, your father's family included in that judgment of the committee, rendered January 11th, 1894? A All but one.

Q What was the name of that one? A Bina.

Q A daughter? A Daughter of Robert Dawson.

Q Your sister? A Yes sir.

Q Was she then of age or was she a minor? A I think she was a minor, as well as I can remember.

Q Was she afterwards admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation? A She was.

Q By a Commission or by the Cherokee Council? A She was first admitted by the Spears Court, her and two of my nieces.

Q What are their names? A Katie Vernon and Verna Fishback.

Q What became of that? A The certificate papers they got was lost, and they went before the Council in 1894 and they was readmitted back by the act of Council.

Q That was in 1894, the Cherokee Council admitted, re-admitted as they called it, the three above named? A Yes sir. Mary and Verna Fishback and Katie Vernon, they have now the same names except Vernon, it is not, Tob Robinson married the widow, a niece of mine.

Q Now then was there any other consideration of the Dawson case by the Cherokee authorities at any time aside from these two judgments in '87 and '94 admitting the two families of Robert and James Dawson, and the act of Council of '94 admitting those three who you have just named? A Yes sir.

Q When? A My two of my sons was placed on the roll by the act of Council in 1892 I think it was, left off of the rolls in per capita payment and they was placed on the rolls I think, and Sam Hightough member of Council, got their draft or checks for the money.

Q Have you got that copy of the act of Council admitting them? A Yes sir.

Q There is it? A (Produces papers.)

BY MR. McKEVOR: we offer in evidence an act of the Cherokee National Council making an appropriation of $1,000 dollars belonging to the general fund for the payment of certain persons therein named a per capita payment, as per amount set opposite their respective names, provided that the principal chief shall draw warrants for such amounts, and direct the principal chief that the names of the persons appearing on the per capita rolls in this act shall be placed (on) the authorized roll of 1894 by the principal chief."

This act was approved December 11, 1892.
Approved and signed by George T. Jones, Assistant Principal Chief, and by the members of the Council, J. H. Brown, Principal Chief, and by Lillian Jones, for a per capita payment.

Q Now the names of the two of your sons? A Yes sir.

(The witness then produced, in file all the papers received in this case.)

Q Will there be any other action of the Cherokee Council in relation to the case of your family? A Yes sir.

Q When? A In 1894.

Q What was that? A Allowing them their Strip money.

Q Have you a copy of that? A I think I have. (Produces papers.)

BY MR. MCKENNON: We offer in evidence a duly certified copy of an act of the Cherokee National Council approved November 24, 1894, signed C. J. Harris, Principal Chief. Senate Bill No. 19, appropriating a sufficient amount of money to make payment per capita of what is known as the strip money to certain persons named therein. Among them are members of the Blessingore family, as follows: Jane, Elbert, Henry, James Ross Leslie, Pearl, Aros, Myrtle, Winnie and Clifford; this act mentions these persons as Cherokees by blood, and whose names had been left off the pay roll approved May 3, 1894, providing a payment to each one of these a sum of $265.70.

Q Were these members of the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q Which one of the members of the family? A Jane.

Q This is Jane who was admitted by the judgment admitting the Robert Dawson family? A Yes sir.

Q And her children? A Her children, was not admitted, she was admitted.

Q I mean this mentions her children here? A Yes, that mentions her children.

(The paper last above introduced is filed and made a part of the record in this case.)

Q Do you know whether the payment of the Cherokee Strip money was to Cherokee citizens by blood only or not? A Yes sir.

Q Was there any other act of the Cherokee authorities passing upon the citizenship of members of your family? A Why the Douthett children, my brother's grand-children. Two grand-children of F. Dawson.

Q What was that? A That, I think it was in '84.

Q Have you got a copy of that act? A No, the record is here.

Q Was that by the Spears Court? A Yes sir, by the Spears Court.

BY MR. MCKENNON: We now offer in evidence a judgment of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, 1880 and 1884, found on page 190, case No. 181, dated September 9th, 1884, signed by Eli Spears, President, John Lee and Andrew Young, Commissioners, admitting to citizenship Lula Douthett and Dallas Douthett as Cherokees by blood.

Q These now are the Douthetts to which you refer, are they? Yes sir.

BY MR. MCKENNON: Attention is called to the fact that the names of the Commissioners are all signed in the same handwriting as the record of the judgment.

The said judgment record above introduced, and found on page 190, No. 181, record of 1880 to 1884, is as follows:

Office of Commission on Citizenship,
Tahlequah, Cherokee Nation, September 18th, 1884.

E. Dawson, for his grand-children,
No. 181.
Lula Douthett,
Dallas Douthett,
vs
The Cherokee Nation.

C. H. Taylor,
Atty Gen. Claim.

Petition filed September
14th, 1884.

Case submitted by claimants Sept. 14th, 1883.
 Case submitted by Solicitor, Sept. 18th, 1883.
 Continued by Petitioner Jan 22 1884 to September Court 1884.
 Re-submitted September 2nd 1884, by Atty Taylor and Benvert
 Submitted by defense Sept 9 1884.

And now on this the 13th day of September 1884 before this case for final hearing and all the evidence in the case having been carefully read, and considered by the Commission on Citizenship it has been decided by the Commission that the above named Lela Dantrell and Dallas Dantrell are Cherokees by blood, and that they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship in the Cherokee Nation and that they should be, and are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects, as native
 born Cherokees.

W. L. Spears, Dr. S.
 John Lee,
 John L. Adair, Andrew Young,
 Ch. Comm. Commission on Citizenship."

Q Now were there any other actions of the Cherokee authorities of like character relating to the members of your family?

A I don't remember of any others.

Q I will ask you if when the Cherokee authorities were called the roll of 1890, in compliance with the request of the Dues Commission for a roll to be prepared by them for the use of the said Commission, the question of the citizenship of the members of your family was not then raised and an investigation had in regard to it? A Before the Dues Commission?

Q No, before the Cherokee Commission making the roll of 1890, of which John T. Gentry was a member? A Yes sir, yes. I had forgot it, but since you have named it there was some investigation of them at that time; this is what I understood.

Q That roll shows that the members of your family were duly enrolled by the Commission? A Yes.

Q Have you and the other members of your family since your removal to the Territory in 1837 and immediately following been recognized as Cherokee citizens by blood? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been exercising and enjoying all the rights of Cherokee citizens by blood since that time? A Yes sir.

Q You and all the members of your family are living in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q You have all drawn Cherokee moneys whenever payments were made?
 A Yes sir.

Q And have you all these members been voting at the Cherokee elections or in the Cherokee elections? A Yes sir, I was one of the judges of the elections that was held voting on the treaty.

Q That treaty? A The treaty bill that was sent back here for the Cherokees to vote on; I was one of the judges at Afton.

Q In what year was that? A I believe it was last spring, the 13th of April.

Q Have any of you held any offices in the Cherokee Nation? A Yes
 sir.

Q What office have the members of your family held? A I was Deputy Clerk, under Peter Hastings, when he was elected to District, I was a candidate once for Sheriff in the Cherokee Nation.

Q Can any office of deputy clerk be held by any one else except a recognized citizen? A Only by a citizen, yes sir.

Q Is that all? A (No reply).

Q Have the children of members of your family attended the Cherokee schools, and been educated in Cherokee schools? A Yes, sir.

Q Have the members of your family been all the while subject to the jurisdiction of the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q Have they been tried for any offences against the law? Yes sir.

Q And have they instituted their civil suits in the courts of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q And had suits instituted against them in such courts? A Yes sir.

Q Some of these cases have gone to the Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

Q And were passed upon by that tribunal? A Yes sir.

Q Is there anything else? A Nothing now; I am sick this evening; I have got the head-ache so bad I can't hardly see.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How old was your father Robert Dawson when he died? A I don't know, I couldn't answer that.

Q He was a very old man? A Yes sir, he was getting tolerably old.

Q Could you tell how much older he was than you? A No I don't know.

Q Mr. James Dawson in 1884 must have been a very old man, didn't he? A Well he was old and he was feeble.

Q Well you stated that he had been so silly; was he naturally that way? A He used to live in Texas; I didn't know him until after he got to the Territory.

Q I say he had gotten so old, that was the occasion of that?

A I suppose so, the oldest one of these children was Mrs. Betty Peter, that's my understanding.

Q And the oldest boy was John Dawson? A We always called him Jack.

Q Jack Dawson he was the oldest? A Yes sir.

Q Sam was the youngest? A Sam Riley.

Q He was the youngest one of the crowd? A Yes sir.

Q Your father lived four or five years after he said you were admitted to citizenship? Yes sir, something about that, it was in 1887, I think he died in 1887, I won't be positive; that is as near as I remember now. I have got a headache so bad that I can't remember anything.

Q He nor none of the older members of the family were ever present at any of these trials of citizenship? A No sir, not a one of them was.

Q Not a one of them was ever called upon to testify as to the blood of their father, who she was or anything about it? A I don't think they was.

Q Your claim of kinship was through Captain John Rogers and that your grandmother was the half sister of Big Joe Vann, wasn't it?

A I don't know, I couldn't answer the question.

Q You were there when they took the testimony? A I was there when Dr. Baker's testimony was taken, that was about 16 years ago.

Q And nobody kin to the Rogers or Vann was ever called to testify in the case? A Not as I know of.

Q They were very well known Cherokee families in the country?

A I suppose so, I don't know.

Q And yet nobody on any side of the family connected with it was ever called to testify? A Not that I know of, I don't know what my brother does, he takes care of the evidence in relation to when I was not there; he first filed his claim.

Q You had spoken to Dr. Baker about the testifying before you brought your case didn't you? A No sir.

Q What have been a short time afterwards? A It was a short time afterwards. I went back after him and it was too late and I contacted him the next time.

Q You had talked to your brother about what you could prove by Dr. Baker? A I told him I thought Dr. Baker, I thought he knew about our folks.

Q You had told him in a general way you expected to use Dr. Baker as a witness? A Yes sir.

Q You went off, came to Arkansas and left your brother at Independence after you told him that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You didn't see your brother any more until after you were admitted? A No sir.

Q You and he however had trips back and forth to Tallahassee and home at different times, but you didn't happen to get together?

A No. I never met him any more and I don't know what he was doing until after we were admitted.

Q But you were there and brought Dr. Baker over? A Yes sir.

Q And took him testimony a year or more after before ever you were admitted? A I think so well as I remember, yes sir.

Q How was the way you came to get Campbell Taylor into the prosecution of Joel Bryan?

A I didn't get him, didn't use him.

Q The way he came into your case?

A The way he claimed to come in.

Q He did more in your case than Bryan did?

A Campbell didn't do anything.

Q What did Bryan do?

A I think he helped my brother take evidence by brother and I don't know.

Q How did you happen to be ending money by Campbell to Mr. Duncan?

A I never sent him any money.

Q Then what he, Mr. Duncan, states that Campbell delivered the money as Campbell said he did, both were wrong?

A Oh no, you are right in, Mr. Duncan got 20 or 25 dollars, which he stated, from Campbell Taylor, for us.

Q How did you happen to give it to Campbell?

A I gave the money to Campbell to give to Joel Bryan, but he wouldn't do it, and I tried to get the money back from him, but I finally worked the 20 or 25 dollars he gave to Duncan.

Q Then you didn't tell Duncan as he testified that you sent 20 or 25 dollars by Campbell Taylor?

A Campbell Taylor agreed to pay Duncan 20 or 25 dollars for 20 of the money I give him to give to Joel Bryan.

Q The family kept Campbell Taylor employed though as their attorney after this?

A Is the James Duncan case I think so.

Q Mr. Duncan, you remember, had his car his grand-children? That is by understanding.

Q And your father-in-law had his in the case of his children?

A There were some things to do with it; it was long and till he died he was very understanding of what was going on.

Q The record shows that the case was originally brought in by the state and finally admitted by the state in 1911.

A I don't know what year it was brought in.

Q In the case of the children?

Q He was likewise attorney in the Mary Dawson case was he, and before the Adair court, the 4th of October, 1887, in the case of James K. P. Dawson? A I don't know anything about that.

Q Are the ones likewise of Piley Dawson? A I don't know anything about those.

Q They are relations of yours? A Well I wouldn't say.

Q James K. P. Dawson proves to be a son of Piley Dawson? A Well if he is he is in connection then. There are so many Dawsons I don't know them all.

Q You know Andrew J. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The Dawsons have so many children their brothers didn't hardly know their did they? A That's it, I don't know them.

Q Well then you don't know who Andrew J. Dawson is? A No sir, I don't know.

Q He refers in his application as being a cousin of E. Dawson, and your self, who were admitted to citizenship by the Texas Court? A He may be, I don't know nothing about it.

Q He resided I believe, at that time at Nevada, Missouri? A I don't know anything about their people.

Q Old man Baker was an old and paralyzed man at the time he testified wasn't he? A Getting old, he was not paralyzed.

Q Then the statement made that the reason he couldn't write his name and had to make his mark, because he was paralyzed, in the testimony isn't that true? A He didn't have good use of his fingers.

Q Then he was not paralyzed? A No, I brought him over there in a hack from Berryville, Arkansas.

Q Well I saw him a very old man? A Yes, getting old.

Q Now didn't you come to this place up there joining brought's and work on it some time before you brought your family? A No, I brought my family with me, except my wife.

Q And you subsequently built a log house on it? A Yes sir.

Q And went back and got your wife and moved her to the log house? A Yes sir, went to Birka and got my wife.

Q You never saw your grandfather at all? A Saw Dawson, yes sir, I saw him.

Q You remember do you of being with him back of any at all? A I was in Texas in time of the war, with my uncle Piley Dawson, and he was there.

Q In '80 sometime? A '88, I reckon, or '87. Somewhere along there, it was in time of the war.

Q How old a man was he at that time? A Pretty old man.

Q You never saw your grandfather, she died before she came?

A Yes sir, I never saw her at all.

Q Who first started the citizenship matter, your brother in Texas or you? A The 11 was he, and my brother together.

Q I was the first conceived the idea? A I first conceived family about it.

Q How long was he in Texas with him and then in Arkansas? A I was in Texas and forward a time or two after the war.

Q You were in Arkansas where trying to get to somebody? A No sir, not at that time.

Q Was that in there in 1888? A Well in '87

Q How long was he in Texas with him and then in Arkansas? A I was in Texas and forward a time or two after the war.

Q You were in Arkansas where trying to get to somebody? A No sir, not at that time.

Q Was that in there in 1888? A Well in '87

Q How long was he in Texas with him and then in Arkansas? A I was in Texas and forward a time or two after the war.

Q You were in Arkansas where trying to get to somebody? A No sir, not at that time.

Q Was that in there in 1888? A Well in '87

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You did locate and board with Sam Shables when you first came to Tahlequah in '81? A I think I did.

Q Your brother Buck Dawson stayed there also? A Yes sir.

Q Sam Shables lived in the north end of town, old German? A Yes sir, old German, lived in the lower part of town.

Q Did you ever hear the names of any other witnesses which you stated perhaps testified in your case? A I have heard that but I have forgot them.

Q You don't recollect any name now? A I don't remember that no sir.

Q In the Irene House case and Joanna Barber case, in which you testified before the Commission, when you were making search for this testimony you couldn't find any other testimony from that of record except the Dr. Baker testimony, could you? A That's all we could find; no we didn't find the testimony, we got a copy.

Q Well it must have been a copy of the original, the certificate shows that? A I don't know; House got a copy of what claimed to be the affidavit of Baker and he told me to give it to him; that is all I know about it.

Q Well the certificate there does not bear my certificate does it? A I don't know about that, I am no scholar.

Q Well you didn't get the testimony of any other witnesses except that of Dr. Baker; you couldn't find any other over there of record?

A I didn't hunt for any; House hunted for them.

Q Now if you have ever been able to find any other? A No, not even find our petition.

Q Samuel R. Dawson applied to what is known as the Adair Court, didn't he? A I don't remember now.

Q He was an uncle of yours wasn't he? A Yes sir, claimed to be.

Q The father of these two parties who testified here this morning?

A Well I don't know, they claimed to be, I never let them to know that.

Q He was rejected by the Adair Court, or Hayes Court? A I don't know whether he filed his petition.

Q Did you testify in his case? A I don't remember; I might have done it.

Q Didn't you testify in the Andrew J. Dawson case before what is known as the Hayes Court? A I don't recollect, if I did I don't remember.

Q Did you testify in the Wiley Dawson case? A No sir, not that I remember.

Q Didn't you know of his being rejected by that court? A I don't remember, sir.

Q You know that the Cherokee Council never authenticated the roll of 1881, didn't you? A No sir, I don't know it; I didn't know this until I went to Tahlequah after some papers not long back and they told me about it.

Q You know that C. H. Taylor was a big scandal in 1881?

A Yes sir, I know that; he was been in the context, a big scandal.

Q You know that date up to this date? A Yes sir, I know that date.

Q I would like to see the papers, if you have them?

A I don't have them, but I can try to find them for you.

Q You can try to find them for me, if you can?

A Yes sir, I will try to find them for you.

Q Wasn't he employed by J. Dawson after you got your citizenship?

A Why not but the grand-children.

Q J. Dawson's petition was filed in September 1923, after yours?

A Yes sir.

Q C. H. Taylor, attorney of record, filed his petition. A He might have filed it for all I know.

Q Well you hadn't at that time fallen out with C. H. Taylor had you? A Why no, we never did have any trouble, only over this agency, he never would give it back to me or give it to Bryant.

Q You never discovered that he was such a bad man until after your judgment was rendered? A I know he was not of good character.

Q Are you and Bryant, this man who testified for the Cherokee Nation, on speaking terms? A Hardly speak.

Q Does he refuse to speak to you? A Sometimes he does.

Q Do you refuse to speak to him? A Yes sir.

Q Have you been speaking to him for the last two or three months?

A I have not spoken to him until I met him there at the hotel the other day.

Q First time you spoke to him since he had the boy arrested? A Yes sir.

Q When did he have the boy arrested? A Along in September or October, September I think.

Q When did Dr. Baker die? A I don't remember.

Q You don't remember how much older your father was than you?

A No, I don't know.

Q What is your age? A I will be 60 in May.

Q Then you were born in '42? A Yes sir, '42 according to the record.

Q Was your father as much as 25 years old when you were born?

A I couldn't say.

Q What was your best judgment? A I suppose he was 20 or 25 years old. My understanding he married young.

Q Can't you give any better idea than 4 or 5 years of your father's age? A I say 25.

Q Your father was born say, 25 from 42 would have made him be born in 1917; now had your father any older brothers or sisters? A I think Jack Dawson was the oldest of the family, so, Betty, the girl, was the oldest and Jack next, and then my father as well as I remember about it.

Q There were two girls older? A No, one of the girls I never saw.

Q Then you think there are only 3 older than your father? A Yes, that's my understanding of the family.

Q Dr. Baker gives his age 73 in '82, which would make him be born in '09, now he states that when he was 15, or 16 years old, he married to 1802, will make 1824, that your grandmother Anna Pruitt was a school girl; whereas from your testimony and that of the family history introduced here shows that your grandmother Anna Pruitt was the father of seven children, the youngest being born in 1927, how do you reconcile that? A I don't remember about the statement of Dr. Baker. I don't know that he made such statement as that. I don't remember about it.

Q And if you don't know how to reconcile it? A (No response)

Q Did you look to see if the names of the grant and children you? A No, I don't remember acquainted with them.

Q But I know that they were old or young? A Well, I know the name like Steve, I was acquainted with him, I don't know if he is the same, but I don't know if it is Steve, I don't know.

Q When did they come to this country? A Right away after they was admitted.

Q In what year? A I think the winter of '84, I think it was, spring or winter of '84.

Q You know Simon Graham? A Yes sir.

Q Who is his father? A Mississippi Sam Graham, formerly Missouli and Dawson.

Q Did he come from Texas to Louisiana? A Come from Texas.

Q Did you know them in Texas? A I knew the girl.

Q You never knew them until they come to this country? A I never knew him.

Q When did you see him next? A I think they come here in the fall or winter of 1884 or '85.

Q He was married then? A I think he was.

Q Brought his wife? A I think he was, I don't know.

Q Did he have any children when you first saw him? A He come to a house and I never saw his family for-I don't know, for several years.

Q You understand he had a family? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Did you mean to say '84 or '84? A '84.

Q Did you see him again in '84? A '84, let me study, maybe '85.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Did you see him in '85, are you positive on that proposition? A I think so.

Q Will you answer that? A No sir, I want positive about it, but I think it was, I remember now it was, I couldn't say positive.

Q All the individuals Dawson had have been admitted to citizenship by courts of competent jurisdiction unless they were de-certified by courts of competent jurisdiction, enjoyed the same privileges that you have mentioned here about going to school and being tried in the courts? A Yes sir.

Q All that sort of thing that you have been telling here as your class description? A Yes sir, that is the question.

Q I say all those who were admitted here by courts of competent jurisdiction, until they were de-certified by courts of competent jurisdiction, enjoyed the same privileges that you said? A So far as I know they did.

Q They all enjoyed money and all tried in the courts as long as we are judicial courts, were they not? A Yes sir, so far as I know.

Q There was no special privilege granted to you in preference to anybody else? A None but recognized citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q Will you say how recognized when you were admitted? A Yes sir, I enjoyed the same privileges as other Cherokee citizens.

Q Will you say how recognized when you were admitted? A No, I don't know.

Q How did you know when you were admitted? A I was admitted with the other Cherokee citizens.

Q How did you know when you were admitted? A I was admitted with the other Cherokee citizens.

Q How did you know when you were admitted? A I was admitted with the other Cherokee citizens.

Q That? A Yes sir, Buck Dawson.

Q Well is that all he did for you? A I don't remember about it.

Q Why didn't you get your attorney to do that letter writing? A There was not any there.

Q Taylor nor Benge was not there then? A No sir.

Q That is what you paid the 20 or 25 dollars for, was writing this letter back to your brother? A I paid him for that claim.

Q When did you pay that? A I think I paid it, I don't exactly when, Camp Taylor paid it a year or two after I moved out here and settled where I did; right have been 2 years. I don't remember.

Q There was Duncan living then? A I couldn't say where.

Q Was he still clerk of this court? A No sir, not when that money was paid; that is, when Camp Taylor said he paid it.

Q You did send Camp Taylor some money? A I sent some money to him for Joel Bryant.

Q You knew Joel Bryant's address didn't you? A No, I don't know that I did, No I didn't send Camp Taylor any money, I gave it to him.

Q How much did you give him? A One hundred dollars.

Q When? A Right at that time; he claimed it from me as soon as we got our papers; he came onto us and claimed it for Bryant.

Q You never sent him any then after that? A No sir.

Q Did you ever see Bryant after that? A Yes sir

Q How long after that? A I don't know, a year or two afterwards, a year I believe, my brother wrote, I wrote to my brother about paying Camp Taylor money and he went onto my brother about it and he never paid him until we moved out to this country.

Q After all that you got him to attend to your uncle Jim Lawson's and the other relatives cases? A The other parties did.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Applicants object to all that part of the witness' evidence in response to interrogatories by representatives of the Cherokee Nation which relates to the character of the evidence upon which the judgments admitting members of the James and Robert Dawson families were admitted, and to the history of the members of the Dawson family, because the same is immaterial, incompetent and irrelevant.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q One question I omitted to ask you Mr. Dawson, as to the Court at the time the judgment admitting Robert Dawson's family was rendered, who of the judges were present on that day? A They was all three of them, Wolfe, Tamm and Thompson.

Q Are you positive of that fact? A Yes sir.

Q You do not know this Andrew Dawson family who applied to the Dawsons' Commission for Cherokee citizenship, and who stated that they are cousins of some members of your family? A Andrew?

Q Andrew J. Dawson, who claims to be from Missouri? A How was the question?

Q You do not know that do you? A I don't know that they are any relatives.

Q You don't know that they are related in any way at all? A No sir.

Q You don't know any one, do you know the members of that family?

A No sir.

Q The name of that family? A I don't know the name.

Q You don't know whether they are related to you or not?

A If not of those persons are related to you or not, you have any knowledge of it? A Yes as I have.

Q Joana Barber, do you know anything about that? A They claim to be kin to us.

Q Where are they from? A They are from Texas.

Q Do you know they are related to you? A They claim to be kin.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Tell you more for the before the Commission? A Yes, they claim to be kinfolks of mine.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Irene J. House, who is that? A That is a cousin of mine; claims to be.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You testified for her didn't you before the Commission? A I think I did as well as I get her.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Before the Court that admitted Judge Dawson and family, who were the witnesses there? A Oliver Miller, from Berryville, Arkansas.

Q Who were the others? A Myself and J. Dawson and there was two other witnesses, I don't remember who they are.

Q Were they Cherokee citizens and residents of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't remember their names? A Which?

Q Of these other people who claimed to be citizens of the Cherokee Nation and who were witnesses? A I said about me and J. Dawson was citizens of the Cherokee Nation.

Q You only proved that J. Dawson was a brother of Robert Dawson before the Court? A Yes sir.

Q And then referred back to the decision in the Court before? A No, proved that they were citizens, and he hereby folks before he ever came here.

Q Was he older than Mr. Baker? A About the same age.

Q Why didn't you get Oliver Miller's testimony in the House case?

Q He was dead.

Q You said he was of your family in the Irene House case or the Joana Barber case or any of those cases that were tried before the Dodge Commission in your affidavit ever had reference to the fact that Oliver Miller testified in J. Dawson's case in '88 did you?

A I don't remember about that.

Q You did not have reference to the fact that Mr. Baker testified there in '88 did you?

A I don't remember about that now.

Q You never had reference to any other witness having testified about that in your affidavit? A I don't remember about it now.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Now just one other question: All of these cases in the original application and every other so far as you know, in the James Dawson case, the Miller case, the Commission and admitted in J. Dawson's case, the Miller case, or related are they not? A I suppose they are.

Q Now, you were a member of that? A Yes sir, I tried to get the...

...is considered until 8:30 p.m. ...

...T. J. ...

...

- Q What county? A Carroll.
- Q Near what town? A Berryville.
- Q Did Dr. Baker live at Berryville? A Yes sir.

Dawson's wife? A Yes sir.
- Q Is there any other Josie Pierce or Josie Dawson or Josephine Pierce or Josephine Dawson? A I don't know but the one.
- Q She was also called Josephine or Josie Kelly? A Yes, after she married; her first husband was Pierce.
- Q And her second husband? A Was Kelly.
- Q There was another Josephine Dawson wasn't there, Dilaska's wife?
A Yes they called her Joe, I suppose that's her name, I could not be positive; that was Riley Dawson's daughter, August Dilaska's wife.
- Q She is much younger than your sister, Josephine, above referred to? A Yes sir, oh yes.
- BY MR. HUTCHINGS:
- Q Where were you born, Mr. Dawson? A Carroll County, Arkansas.
- Q You were how old you were? A 42.
- Q 42? A I think so.
- Q How many older children were there of your father and mother that yourself? A Three.
- Q Which were they? A E. Dawson, Riley Dawson and Jasper Dawson.
- Q You are the fourth child and the fourth boy? A Yes sir, fourth boy.
- Q Where was your father and mother married, do you know, from family history? A I think it was in Arkansas, I couldn't be positive,
I think that was.
- Q Do you know how long your grandfather lived in Arkansas? A No
sir I don't.
- Q Don't know what year he came to Arkansas? A Only from statement.
- Q Well what did they say about it? A I think they got there or there in '50.
- Q You do not know whether your father was born in Arkansas? No many of your grandfather's children were born there? A There was none of them born in Arkansas according to history and according to what he always told me, they were born in Tennessee.
- Q He came there in '50, and all the other children were born on the Eads River in Tennessee, before he ever came? A That is what I think, yes sir. Now I am not positive about that.
- Q They were from Tennessee, but either Dr. Baker lived there or your father came from there; I don't know as I remember that I ever heard of father say where he was born at.
- Q In Tennessee or where; he said he was a good big boy when he came to Arkansas? A I don't know as I ever heard him say.
- Q Do you know the difference in the ages of yourself and your three older brothers? A No I don't.
- Q Don't know the time that comes in between you? A No I don't know that I think it is about two years though.
- Q That would make E. Dawson about eight years older than you, wouldn't it? A Yes sir.

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q Did Josephine Pierce have a daughter who married Mr. Bogle?
A Yes sir.
Q What was her name? A I always known her by Dada Pierce; I don't know whether that is her right name or not.

Q She is the child of Josephine Pierce who married John Bogle?
A Yes sir.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q Where did she marry John Bogle? A Near Afton.
Q When? A I couldn't state.
Q About when? A You have got a copy of the marriage license.
Q When did Josephine Pierce come to the Cherokee Nation? A '83.
Q Has she lived here continuously since that time? A Up until her death; she is dead.
Q Any of her children come with her at that time? A Yes sir.
Q And have they lived here continuously since that time? A Yes sir, except Bill Pierce, he went to Colorado and died.

J. C. STARR, being first duly sworn and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

Q When? A On the 15th day of this month.
Q What day of the week was that? A On Saturday.
Q Is that the day it was taken? A Yes sir.
Q Did you go there on Saturday to take this? A Yes sir.
Q Then when Judge Benge stated on Tuesday that it was taken "yesterday" meaning Monday, the 17th, he was mistaken, was he?
A It was taken Saturday, the 15th.
Q Was he mistaken or not? A It was not taken then.
Q Then his statement made on Tuesday the 18th that it was taken on "yesterday", meaning Monday, the 17th, was not correct, was it?
A I think not, because I was there, and it was taken on the 15th.
Q And it was taken on the 15th, you are positive it was taken on the 15th? A Yes sir.
Q Then of course his statement could not be correct? A I guess not.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q He was just mistaken about the date, wasn't he? A Yes sir.
BY MR. McKENNON:
Q Did you tell Charles T. Moore who is now present, on last Tuesday that they sent you out there on Monday to take that? A No sir.
BY MR. HASTINGS:
Q I sent you there last Saturday? A Yes sir.
Q And you went there at my direction, didn't you? A Yes sir, and come back Saturday night.

ROBERT L. DREWSON, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

- Q What is your name? A My name is Robert L. Drewson.
Q What is your age? A My age is something close to 30 years old,
I A 29 past.

Q Are you a son of E. Dawson, commonly known as Buck Dawson?
A Yes sir.

Q I will ask you if you will examine this letter sent with the enclosure and state whether or not you found that among the papers of your father after his death? A (Hands letter to witness and examines it.) A Yes sir, I found this amongst the papers of my father. He always kept all his own papers, and he looking over that I saw this letter.

Q Has that been in your custody ever since you found it? A Yes sir, if that's the letter that was in the envelope.

Q Well that's what it is, you can tell whether it is or not.
(Witness further examines letter.) Q That purports to be a letter from Samuel H. Benge, does it not, to your father? A Yes sir.
(Here applicants' attorney hands letter and envelope referred to to attorneys for Cherokee Nation.)

BY MR. McKENNON: I want to offer this letter in evidence in this case: It is a letter signed by S. H. Benge, attorney at law, dated Fort Gibson, C. N., Jan. 13, 1885. Addressed to Mr. E. Dawson, Esq., together with the envelope, in which it was enclosed, with the card of C. K. Taylor upon it, attorney at law, Tahlequah, Indian Territory, and postmarked Tahlequah, Ind. T.,
January 13.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: The Nation objects to the introduction of this letter for the reason that S. H. Benge is living and has testified in this case, and his handwriting should be either proven or denied by himself.

G. W. BERGE, being first duly sworn, and being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

Q What is your name? A G. W. Benge.
Q Are you a son of Samuel H. Benge? A Yes sir.
Q Do you know his handwriting? A I believe so.
Q Is that his handwriting? (Shows witness letter before referred to.) A Yes sir, it is either his or a resemblance of his.
Q To the best of your knowledge and belief is that his letter?
A Yes sir.

BY MR. McKENNON: Now we offer it in evidence.

BY MR. McKENNON: (Hands letter)

Fort Gibson, C. N.,
Jan 13th, 1885.

Mr. E. Dawson, Esq.,

Dear Sir: - I write this note to inform you that your case came off before the Court on Citizenship of the 11th Inst. and was decided in your favor, so you are now a citizen of this Nation. E. H. Dawson was furnished with a copy of the decision at the court. He will write to you also.
You will receive one hundred dollars as my fee in your case according to contract, send it to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation.

S. H. Benge,
Attorney at Law.

Witness my hand and seal, as follows:

Given at Fort Gibson, C. N., this 13th day of January, 1885.

S. H. Benge,
Attorney at Law.

Henryetta,
Olay Co., Texas.

Post-marked: "Tahlequah, Jan 17 1891 T."

ROBERT L. DAWSON, re-called and further examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. McKENNON:

Q Now examine that and see if that is also a paper which you found among your father's papers after his death? (Hands papers to witness) A That is the same letter that I found.

Q Among the same that you found the Bangs letter? A Yes sir.

BY MR. McKENNON: This is a letter purporting to have been written by J. M. Bryan, to E. Dawson, dated at Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation, and not dated, which we offer in evidence. (Applauds' attorney hands said paper to Nation's attorneys.)

Q Mr. Bryan is dead is he not? A I think so.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS: We have no objection.

BY COMMISSIONER: (reads letter)
"Chouteau Station, Cherokee Nation.
I. T., M. K. & T. R. R.

MR. Dawson:

Dear Sir:-

I am in receipt of your favor of the 30th inst in regard to our contract.

After I had put the claim so there would be little more to do I employed Campbell Taylor to answer for me when the case came up, for which I was to pay him $25 out of my fee.

This all the action I had in the matter with Taylor.

I saw Taylor in Washington last month, and he told me that your brother had made another contract with him, and paid him or that you was to pay him $100- and that you had offered him a check on some bank in Texas.

This $100- matter with Taylor, I have nothing to do with, nor couldn't have if I wanted to.

I hope Mr. Dawson this letter will explain the matter fully.

And I am satisfied that you are apprised of the earnest work I done for you. Please write to me.

Very respectfully,

Very truly,

J. M. Bryan.

Q I will ask you if you know of your father having paid Bryan that money? A Yes sir, paid him a horse and some other money.

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q How old was your father when he died? A Oh, I don't know whether I was his age or not.

Q If you don't know you can't say? A I wouldn't have no reason to say his age; never asked his age; of course I guess by other things.

Q Never had occasion to talk about his age at all? A Oh I have heard his age at different times, but that I never had occasion to say so to it.

His name, being given only about my being and I do not know his name.

Q How old was your father when he died? A Oh I don't know.

- Q How old are you? A Mr. Graham? A I am 35 years old.
- Q How long have you been living in the Territory? A I came out here in 1887 or '88.
- Q To the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q How long have you been living in the Cherokee Nation, what year was that '87 or '8? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you resided here continuously from that time ever since in the Territory? A Yes sir.
- Q How long did you live in the Cherokee Nation? A About 6 years.
- Q Where did you go then? A Wagoner.
- Q In the Creek Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q And been residing there ever since? A Yes sir.
- Q In business? A Yes sir.
- Q Have you all the while been recognized as a citizen of the Cherokee Nation? A Yes sir.
- Q Mr. Graham, do you know Judge Samuel H. Benge? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you have a conversation with him in Fort Gibson about September of 1900? A Well as to the exact time I couldn't say, it was sometime about the time that the Dawes Commission were at Sallisaw, or possibly a little later, somewhere about there.
- Q Taking the census of the Cherokees? A Yes sir.
- Q At that time had the question of the validity of the judgment of the Cherokee citizenship commission admitting Robert Dawson and family been called in question? A Yes sir.
- Q Did you talk to him about the facts concerning the obtaining of that judgment? A I did.
- Q What did he tell you about it; well I will just ask you, did he then and there tell you that that judgment was regular and all right nothing wrong with it? A He did.
- BY MR. HUTCHINGS:
- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, Mr. Graham, were you? A How was that?
- Q You were looking around for testimony at that time, expecting this case to be questioned? A Since the validity of that judgment had been attacked by the authorities of the Cherokee Nation, I thought it was well to look into the matter.
- Q And he told you the judgment was all right? A Having known that Mr. Benge was connected with the case, I saw him in Fort Gibson, subsequent to that time and asked him about it, if there was anything wrong about the matter, and also that I might want his affidavit concerning the matter, and I also I think maybe wrote to him; possibly prior to that, I am not sure as to the writing, but I think possibly I did.
- Q Did he tell you he would make an affidavit? A I don't think at that time that I asked him for an affidavit. I thought as he lived right near here I would use him in person; he assured me that everything was all right.
- Q Your mother was Missouri Dawson was not she? A Yes sir.
- Q Her name was Missouri Graham when she was re-admitted to citizenship? A Yes sir.
- Q And was not Missouri Dawson as named in that judgment? A Yes sir.
- Q Do you know whether the other children named in there had married and changed their names also at the time they were admitted? A There were not any of them married.
- Q Ella Dawson was your aunt? A Yes sir.
- Q Was she married at that time? In 1887? A Yes sir.
- Q Melville Dawson, was she married at that time? A Yes sir.
- Q And the fourth one you have mentioned, Missouri Dawson, was your mother? A Yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You don't deny writing to him then for the affidavit? A I don't say I did or I did not; I neither affirm it or deny the question.

Q You went to Captain Henge and also wrote him with reference to what he knew about the case? A I don't know whether I wrote him or not, I said I was under the impression I wrote his son.

Q You went to see Aaron Butler, who was interpreter before that court that admitted you? A Yes sir.

Q And you went with Aaron Butler to see Jir Smith, attorney before that court? A Yes sir.

Q And you either wrote or went to see everybody you knew of that was before that court then? A Yes sir.

Q That shows you used considerable activity? A Yes sir, I used such activity as was to my interest.

BY MR. WICKENSON:

Q This was all after the representatives of the Cherokee Nation objected to the enrollment of the Dawson family and by reason thereof such as had appeared before the commission had been placed upon a doubtful state? A Yes sir.

Q Then you began to look up the evidence and see what there was in it? A Yes sir.

Q As Mr. Hastings has stated? A That's right.

BY MR. WICKENSON:

Q You are a grandson of James Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q The old gentleman? A Yes sir.

Q About what was his age when he was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, in 1834, wasn't it? A Yes sir, well I can't be sure as to that.

Q Well as nearly as you can? A He was somewhere about 70 or 72, years of age.

Q Well that other James Dawson did you know belonging to the families either one of these families, Robert Dawson family or the James Dawson family? A I never knew of but two James Dawsons.

Q The other the other? A Dr. James R. Dawson, who is present and standing right here; my grandfather, James Dawson.

Q Was there in '34 any James R. Dawson 35 or 40 or 45 years old, that you know of, belonging to either one of these families?

A No sir.

Q Do you know how old Dr. James R. Dawson was that that time?

A James Dawson? Q No I am speaking of Dr. James R. Dawson? A Oh, how old he was, no sir, I do not.

BY MR. WICKENSON:

Q Do you know who was here attending to your mother's citizenship case at that time, at the time they were admitted? A Yes sir, James Low and Will Jackson, son of Ellen Jackson.

Q Was that W. A. Seyont? A That is William, my uncle.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

Q Was he necessary? A Don't know.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q What about 1887? A I think so, yes sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Applicants object to the testimony of the witness elicited by interrogatories of Counsel for the Cherokee Nation relating to his family, their history, etc., as being immaterial, irrelevant and incompetent.

James R. Dawson, being first duly sworn, being examined, testified as follows:

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q Your name is James R. Dawson? A Yes sir.

Q Where do you live? A Acton, Indian Territory.

Q What is your age? A 45.

Q You are a physician, are you not? A Yes sir.

Q Was James Dawson, whose family was admitted in 1804, an uncle of yours? A Yes sir.

Q Do you know what his age was at that time? A No sir, I do not, only approximately.

Q State as nearly as you can? A At the time of the admission?

Q How old? A About 70, I don't know exactly.

Q How old was he when he died? A I would suppose he was about 75.

Q What was your age in 1847? A I was 45.

Q What year were you born, Doctor? A I was born in '55.

Q What year was your father born? A The year, that's right.

Q What was your father's age then? A In '84?

Q Yes sir? A About 40.

Q Were you present at the time that James Dawson family was admitted, or at any time while their case was pending before the Cherokee Nation? A Not while the James Dawson case was on.

Q Were you present during your father's case? A I was there at the time.

Q How was that? A The date I remember; when the case first came up, I don't remember the exact date.

Q How long were you there? A I was there about a week.

Q Was that when it first came up? A Yes sir.

Q Nothing was said? A No sir.

BY MR. HASTINGS:

Q You never saw Dr. Baker? A Yes sir.

Q Did he and your uncle James ever talk about how they should be admitted? A My uncle Jim and Dr. Baker.

Q Did they ever talk about it?

Q Yes sir, I believe Dr. Baker.

Q Did they ever talk about his case? A Concerning.

Q Did they ever talk about his case? A Concerning, looking for business? A No.

Q Did they ever talk about his case? A I couldn't tell you, he was not.

Q Did they ever talk about his case? A Yes sir.

TESTIMONY ON BEHALF OF THE CHEROKEE NATION.

W. W. HASTINGS, being first duly sworn, and being examined testified as follows:

BY MR. HUTCHINGS:

Q State your name? A W. W. Hastings.

Q Residence? A Tallapoosa, age 35.

Q You are attorney for the Cherokee Nation in the general preparation of these cases? A Yes sir.

Q Just state how it happened that you summoned Mr. Campbell Taylor, and what occurred between you with reference to his testimony?

A Well there had been some talk, as the testimony here indicates, that there was perhaps fraud in the admission of this family, and by agreement with counsel on the other side, and the Commission, this case was set for the 17th day of March, and some short time prior to that, as the attorney for the Nation I began to make some preparation or inquiry into the case, and I wrote a great many letters around to different people and among them I wrote C. H. Taylor to come down here. I don't think in that letter that I told him what I wanted with him. I don't think I told him the case that I wanted him to testify in; that is my recollection now.

Mr. Taylor prior to that time, neither directly nor indirectly, so far as I know, ever gave me any information voluntarily against this family, or ever said anything that would lead me to believe that he knew anything of a fraudulent character connected with it. But I summoned him; perhaps the fact that I knew he had been connected with them in some way and that I perhaps also would get some information from him. Well he came in response to a letter that I wrote, and I took him up to my office. I talked to him quite a long while. He was exceedingly reluctant about giving any testimony whatever, he told me first and last that he didn't intend to testify before the Commission. He told me he had been attorney for these people, and he didn't believe he could be compelled to testify, and that is he was put upon the stand he would claim that privilege, and he didn't believe I could force him to testify. I talked to him at some considerable length; I asked him what he knew about it; of course he for a long time declined to tell me; and what information I did get from him was by piecemeal.

He was exceedingly reluctant all through the interview to give any information. I asked him finally though that if the Court compelled him to testify when he got before the Commission, if he would tell the facts about it, and he said that he would. I told him then that I would subpoena him.

Well we talked quite a good while and finally after always telling me that he intended to claim that privilege, and never wanting to testify, he decided to go the facts just as he told them on the stand. I don't believe there is the slightest variation, except that he perhaps was not so full at that time and it was told by piecemeal, but I got all those facts out of him, or very nearly all those facts out of him. He may have elaborated a little more here by suggestion, but he never voluntarily gave me any information at all, either directly or indirectly. I don't think he ever told me so. I got him that way. I heard he was connected with the case, and perhaps that was the reason, like I did a good many other people, with a few exceptions, because they didn't know what I intended they did know about the case.

With reference to S. H. Bengé, I want to state that he never voluntarily gave me any information at all about this case, nor did I know that he knew anything in connection with this case until I sent J. C. Starr over to S. H. Bengé's place to take his affidavit on Saturday, March 15, in the W. H. and J. W. Shoemaker case, and their descendants. I had heard that Mr. Bengé knew some important facts in connection with the Shoemaker case and I sent him over there then to take that affidavit; and when Mr. Starr came back he told me that he knew some facts also in connection with these other cases, and I was surprised to find he had instead of one affidavit, in the Shoemaker case, that he also had another affidavit in the Dawson case. That is the first information I had that Mr. Bengé knew anything whatever in connection with the Dawson case, and therefore he never voluntarily, either directly or indirectly gave any information prior to that time to me.

I impressed upon Mr. Taylor that the Nation only wanted the absolute truth in this matter; that it was not seeking anything else but the truth, and didn't want him to tell anything else but the truth.

I want to say again that after he was on the stand and left that evening, and after Captain McKennon, or counsel for the family, had indicated his willingness for Mr. Taylor to testify, that he went over all of these facts that he testified to on the stand subsequent to that time in the presence of J. C. Starr in my office. I simply wanted to go on the stand for the purpose of showing that Mr. Taylor hadn't voluntarily given me any information, and

I make this statement for that purpose.

BY MR. MCKENNON:

Q You had no power to compel him to give you any information at that time at all did you? A No sir, none other than the persuasion that I brought to use.

Q He therefore did it simply upon your persuasion? A Yes sir.

Q You knew he had been acting as attorney for these parties?

A Yes sir, I had seen from the record that he did too.

Q And he told you so? A Yes sir.

BY COMMISSIONER: The attorneys for the applicant and the representatives of the Cherokee Nation will be granted thirty days from the receipt of the transcript in this case in which to file a brief in this case with the Commission.

I, M. D. Green, do hereby certify that as stenographer to the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes I correctly recorded the testimony and proceedings in this case and that the foregoing is a true and complete transcript of my stenographic notes thereof.

All of these proceedings have been made a part of the record herein.

The evidence, and an examination of the records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission show that on January 11, 1883, one Robert Dawson and his adult children, F. L. Dawson, Elbert Dawson, Jasper Dawson, Mollie Dawson, Wilborn Dawson, James Dawson, Rial Dawson, Josephine Dawson, Joseph Dawson, Jane Dawson and John Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, commonly known as the "Techee Court", and that on September 9, 1884, one James Dawson, a brother of the Robert Dawson aforesaid, together with his adult children, Ella Dawson, W. A. Dawson, Malvina Dawson and Missouri Dawson were admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship commonly known as the "Spears Court." In addition to their tribal enrollment as shown by the evidence herein, it also appears from an examination of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, that F. L. Dawson is identified on the Cherokee pay rolls of 1883 and 1894, Elbert Dawson on the Cherokee pay roll of 1886, Mollie Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Wilborn Dawson on the pay rolls of 1886 and 1884, James Dawson on the pay rolls of 1883 and 1894, Rial Dawson on the pay rolls of 1888 and 1894, Josephine Dawson on the pay roll of 1888, Jane Dawson on the pay roll of 1883, Joseph Dawson on the pay rolls of 1885, 1886 and 1887, Ella Dawson on the pay rolls of 1885, 1886 and 1887, and Missouri Dawson on the pay rolls of 1885, 1886 and 1887.

Dawson on the pay roll of 1886, and Missouri Dawson on the pay roll of 1894.

A majority of the above named persons, together with the descendants of the persons admitted as aforesaid and such white persons as may have intermarried with the said Dawsons or their descendants are the applicants herein.

For convenience, the applications are divided into groups:

Group 1, includes the applications of Francis M. Dawson and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 324, D 580, D 581, D 584, D 588 and D 835.

The evidence shows that Francis M. Dawson is the sole person admitted to citizenship as hereinbefore stated under the name of F.M. Dawson. Katie Dawson, his wife, was married to him on November 21, 1880. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and the six children included in the application of said Francis M. Dawson, and hereinbefore named are the issue of the marriage aforesaid. All the applicants herein are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

John Dawson, William R. Dawson, Lizzie Atkins, formerly Dawson, Francis M. Dawson, Jr., and Arizona Allred are the children of said Francis M. Dawson by a former wife, Julia Ann. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship. John Dawson, Lizzie Atkins and Francis M. Dawson, Jr., are identified on the Strip Payroll roll of 1894, and William R. Dawson and Arizona Allred are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

GROUP 2. Includes and comprises all of the following cases:

and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 22, 1881, to the above named Lizzie Dawson. He has resided in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife since they were married, and the four children included in his application, and hereinbefore named are the issue of that marriage. The oldest child, Arthur, is identified on the Cherokee pay roll of 1894, and the three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Arizona Allred, nee Dawson, came from Arkansas to the Cherokee Nation for the first time in 1894, remained there about two years and then returned to Arkansas, where she was married to Len Allred. Such marriage was not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Arizona Allred and her husband came to the Cherokee Nation in 1896, stayed there a month and returned to Arkansas where they remained until September, 1898, at which time they came to the Cherokee Nation, remained there about a year and returned to Arkansas in 1899, where they were living at the date of this application. William C. Allred is the child of said Arizona Allred and possesses no rights not acquired by his mother. He is identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1896.

Paragraph 9, Section 21, of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495) provides:

"No person shall be enrolled who has not heretofore removed to and in good faith settled in the Nation in which he claims citizenship."

The evidence further shows that Francis M. Dawson, his wife, Katie and William R. Dawson, Francis H. Dawson, Jr., and Lizzie Atkins have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and Andrew C. Atkins, the husband of said Lizzie Atkins, since 1881, and that John Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation for at least fourteen years prior to the date of his application. The residence of the four children of the above named persons is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group II, includes the applications of Samuel R. Dawson, together with those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered N 350, D 352, D 358, D 366, D 402 and D 408.

The evidence shows that Samuel R. Dawson is identified as the Rial Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as heretofore stated. His wife, Catherine, a white woman, was married to him on July 11, 1866. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since their marriage, and August and Mate Dawson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. Samuel R. Dawson, his wife and children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, Josephine Bilavsky, formerly Josephine Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman, formerly Katie Dawson are the children of said Samuel R. Dawson. They were minors at the date of their father's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Sarah F. Dawson, nee Abbott, was married to the said Albert H. Dawson in October, 1894. She has lived with her said husband, since they were married. Ralph H., Alford and Cecil Dawson are the issue of that marriage. Sarah F. Dawson and her child Ralph H. are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. Alford is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission. The evidence further shows that the youngest child, Cecil Dawson, is dead.

August Bilavsky, was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on May 25, 1893, to the said Josephine Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the said children August, Alford, Robert, and Katie Dawson, are the issue of said marriage.

four oldest children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1898, and the fifth parent roll of 1894. My Bilawsky is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1898, and Oscar Bilawsky is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Bessie Dawson, nee Baugher, was married to the said John W. Dawson on September 8, 1894, and she has lived with her said husband since they were married.

The evidence further shows that Samuel R. Dawson, his wife, Catherine, and Robert Dawson, Albert H. Dawson, John W. Dawson, and Katie Newman have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1898, August Bilawsky and his wife Josephine, since 1892, and Sarah F. and Bessie Dawson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group III, includes the application of John Dawson, and those claiming through him and embraces cases numbered D 578, D 560 and D 530. The evidence shows that John Dawson is the same person admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. Sarah J. Dawson, nee Wood, his wife, a white woman, was married to him on October 4, 1871. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the case of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. F. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the nine children included in the application of said John Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. John Dawson, his wife, and his seven oldest children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1898. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

William F. Brown and John H. Brown are the children of said John Dawson. They were born at the Cherokee Nation, and are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Census roll of 1898.

Thomas P. Dawson was married on April 24, 1898, to Allen A. Allison, and Marie J. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Orle H. Dawson was married on December 28, 1899, to Addie York, and Rurr R. and James W. Dawson are the issue of that marriage. The said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John Dawson and his wife, Sarah J., have resided together in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that said Orle H. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883, and that Thomas P. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1886. The residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IV, includes the applications of those claiming through the said Josephine Dawson, now deceased. At the time of her admission she was the wife of one Thomas Pierce, but was admitted to citizenship under maiden name of Dawson. The group embraces cases numbered D 408, D 409, D 431, D 471, D 472 and D 479.

The evidence shows that Robert Pierce, William Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Oma Gray, formerly Oma Pierce, Effie Pierce (now Effie Arin) and Nancy J. Bogle, formerly Nancy J. Pierce are the children of said Josephine Dawson. They were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Hollie Pierce, a white woman, was married to said Robert Pierce on July 18, 1894. She has lived with her said husband since they were married, and Lyrtle and Arthur Pierce are the issue of that marriage. Hollie Pierce is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and her said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Ora Gray was married to John B. Gray on April 7, 1893, and Cecil and Walton Gray are the issue of that marriage. Ora Gray is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894 and her children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John S. Bogle was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 5, 1894, to the above named Nancy J. Pierce. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. John S. Bogle and his two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1898, and his four younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said William Pierce died in January, 1902.

It further appears that Robert Pierce, Charles E. Pierce, Nancy J. Bogle and Ora Gray have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1894; that John S. Bogle, husband of Nancy J. Bogle, and Nellie Pierce, wife of Robert Pierce, have resided in said Nation ever since they were married, and the residence of the minor children herein is considered to be that of their parents with whom they are living. It appears that Eddie Akin was seventeen years old at the date of the application for her enrollment, and it further appears that she resided in the Cherokee Nation from about 1888 up to December, 1900, when she went to Colorado, was married there to Will Akin, and is now living in that state with her said husband.

Group V, includes the application of the said Joseph Dawson, Hilborn Dawson and James Dawson, and contract cases number K B 384, B 478 and V 322.

Joseph B. Dawson is identified as the Joseph Dawson mentioned in the Cherokee Census as a resident of the Nation. He was married in the Cherokee Nation on May 10, 1895, and his children are gether since the date of their marriage. The said Florence Jackson is the daughter of Alice Dawson, but she was of age at the date of her mother's admission to citizenship. The six children included in the application of said Joseph R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the marriage between the said Joseph R. Dawson and Florence Jackson. The applicant, his said wife and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Wilborn Dawson is identified as the person of that name admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as hereinbefore stated. He is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James R. Dawson is identified as the James Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation as heretofore stated. His wife, Martha A. Dawson was married to him on February 20, 1890. She has lived with her said husband since the date of their marriage, and the four children included in the application of said James R. Dawson, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. The applicant, his said wife and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that Joseph R. Dawson has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Florence Dawson and Wilborn Dawson have resided in said Nation since 1886, and that James R. Dawson has resided in said Nation since 1883, excepting a temporary absence from 1889 to 1891. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VI, includes the application of Nellie Dawson and those claiming through her as wife of James Dawson, No. 188.

The evidence shows that Nellie Dawson, formerly Brown, is identified as the wife of James Dawson admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Matron as hereinbefore stated. Her husband, Charles T. Moore, was married to her under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on January 17, 1887. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the said children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of said marriage. Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie, and his four older children are identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1886; the two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that said Charles T. Moore, his wife Mollie and his oldest child have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; the younger children have resided in said nation all their lives.

Group VII, includes the applications of those claiming through the above named Jane Dawson, who, at the time of her admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, as hereinbefore stated, was the wife of one Alexander Blasingame, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. Jane Dawson is a resident of Arkansas, and is not an applicant for enrollment. This group embraces cases numbered D 832, D 833 and D 834.

The evidence shows that Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame, and James H. Blasingame are the children of said Jane Dawson. They were minors at the time of their mother's admission to citizenship and they are all identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1886.

Henry A. Blasingame was married to his wife Birdie J., on December 9, 1888, and Virginia C. Blasingame is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ida Blasingame, a white woman, was married to the said Elbert L. Blasingame on September 8, 1888. She has lived with him in the Cherokee Nation since that time and she is identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1886. Her children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

issue of that marriage. The said Ida Blasingame and her two older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Mary A. Blasingame was married to the said James R. Blasingame on August 11, 1895. She has lived with her said husband since they were married and the three minor children included in the application of said James R. Blasingame, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Mary A. Blasingame and her oldest child are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The two younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said Henry A. Blasingame, Elbert L. Blasingame and James R. Blasingame removed to the Cherokee Nation in 1897 and have resided therein with their said wives ever since. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group VIII, includes the applications of those claimants through the said Elbert Dawson, and embraces cases numbered D 435, D 604, D 608, D 605, D 609, D 617, D 626 and D 627.

The evidence shows that John Patterson, formerly Dawson, William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert W. Dawson, Richard W. Dawson, Ella L. Spickerman, formerly Dawson, and Francis M. Dawson are the children of the said Elbert Dawson. All of them, excepting the said Francis M. Dawson, were minors at the time of their father's admission to citizenship. Rena Patterson is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and William C. Dawson, Robert L. Dawson, Elbert W. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson are identified on the same roll of 1896. In connection of the Cherokee tribal rolls, in the possession of this Commission, were that the said Ella L. Spickerman is identified on the same roll of 1896.

Martin L. Patterson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 13, 1890, to the said Zona Dawson. He has lived with his said wife since they were married and the six children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. Martin L. Patterson and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and his three younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Alice Dawson, nee Alexander, was married to the said William O. Dawson on November 18, 1886. She has lived with her said husband ever since they were married.

Elbert B. Dawson was married on February 16, 1898, to Cora Bright, a non-citizen, and his child Ralph E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage. The said child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Sarah J. Dawson, nee Jones, was married to the above named Elbert Dawson about 1854, and lived with him as his wife until his death in February, 1899, and has not re-married since his death. The Cherokee Supreme Court in the cases of Cherokee Nation vs. Nancy Rogers and Melissa Dawson vs. W. A. Dawson held that a white woman married to a Cherokee Indian at the time of his admission to citizenship acquires thereby the rights of Cherokee citizenship.

Pichard W. Dawson was married to Luella Mason, a white woman, on January 24, 1896. His child Ina E. Dawson is the issue of that marriage, and she is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

Ella L. Spiekerman was married to John J. Spiekerman, a white man on September 7, 1897. Her children Hellen J. and William Glenn are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis M. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321), Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard W. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. Graham, but she was admitted under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 23, D 36, D 836, D 1124, D 1125, D 1126, D 1127 and D 1128.

The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1888, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been commonly married to her in the state of Texas in 1886, and has lived with her since that time. Zona V. and Robert C. Dawson are the issue of the aforesaid marriage. Mrs. C. Dawson with her two children are identified in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

ship in the Cherokee Nation was twenty-two or twenty-three years old. There is no evidence that the said Francis K. Dawson has been admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress of June 10, 1896 (29 Stats., 321). Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), provides for the enrollment of,

"all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities who have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, and who were minors when their parents were so admitted."

The evidence further shows that Zona Patterson, William C. Dawson and Richard T. Dawson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884; Robert L. Dawson, Elbert B. Dawson, Sarah J. Dawson, and Ella L. Spickerman since 1883; Alice Dawson since 1886, and Martin L. Patterson since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group IX, includes the applications of the said Missouri Dawson, and those claiming through her. The said Missouri Dawson at the time of her admission to citizenship was the wife of one John W. The evidence shows that John W. Graham was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on February 12, 1888, to the said Missouri Dawson. He had been formerly married to her in the State of Texas in 1881, and has lived with her since that time. Frank V. and Mary M. Graham are the issue of the above marriage. John W. Graham, and his wife and children are identified on the Cherokee rolls of Joe E. Graham was married to Mary Bradshaw, a non-citizen on January 6, 1898. William C. Graham is the issue of that marriage, and he is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

John F. Graham was married on February 11, 1900, to Mattie Lawton, a non-citizen, and Edna M. and Robert Lee are the issue of that marriage. Said children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Bessie Graham was married on November 2, 1892, to the said James M. Graham. She has lived with him since the date of their marriage, and the six children included in the application of said James M. Graham, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. The oldest child Marion is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894, and the five younger children are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

The evidence further shows that the said John W. Graham, his wife Missouri Graham, Gideon Graham, Mathew A. Painter, and his wife Laverna A. Painter, Florence P. Bradshaw, John F. Graham and Joe Willie Neal have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888, and that Joe E. Graham and James M. Graham have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group X, includes the application of the said Ella Dawson and those claiming through her. The said Ella Dawson, at the time of her admission to citizenship, was the wife of Green W. Jackson, but she was admitted to citizenship under her maiden name of Dawson. This group embraces cases numbered D 325, D 478, B 506, D 830 and D 847.

The evidence shows that Green W. Jackson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on March 24, 1887 to the said Ella Dawson. The said marriage license was issued to him in compliance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation.

citizenship. From an affidavit made a part of this record it appears that Green W. Jackson died subsequent to the date of this application, and prior to September 1, 1902.

The evidence further shows that Flora Harman, formerly Jackson, Tashie A. Jackson, William Jackson and Fannie Lenox, formerly Jackson are the children of said Ella Dawson, now Ella Jackson. Flora Harman, Tashie A. Jackson and Fannie Lenox were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship, and they are all identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

James H. Harman was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 24, 1887, to the said Flora Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the four minor children included in his application, and hereinbefore named, are the issue of the said marriage. James H. Harman and his three older children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit on file with this Commission.

William C. Lenox was married under a Cherokee marriage license and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on April 1, 1888, to the said Fannie Jackson. He has lived with his wife since the date of their marriage, and the two children Birtie E. and Myrtle Lenox, included in his application, are the issue of the said marriage. William C. Lenox and his two children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

Lizzie Jackson claims to have been married in 1888 to the said William Jackson, but is now deceased. It appears that William Jackson was at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship, and was consequently grown old. There is a certificate that the said William Jackson was at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship, and was consequently grown old. There is a certificate that the said William Jackson was at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship, and was consequently grown old.

to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stat., 321). Lizzie Jackson and the five minor children included in her application, and hereinbefore named, are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and they take only such rights as may have been possessed by the said William Jackson. The authority of the Commission herein is defined in Section twenty-one of the Act of Congress approved June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495), heretofore quoted.

The evidence further shows that the said Ella Jackson, the said Flora Harmon and the said Toshie A. Jackson have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that William C. Lenox, and his wife Fannie Lenox have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

Group XI, includes the applications of those claiming through Malvina Dawson and embraces case numbered D 839.

The evidence shows that James Lowe is the son of the said Malvina Dawson, and that at the time of her admission to citizenship the said James Lowe was over 21 years old. There is no evidence that the said James Lowe was ever admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, by the duly constituted authorities of said Nation, or by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes, or by the United States Court under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved June 10, 1896 (29 Stat., 321). It further appears that the said James Lowe was married on June 12, 1887, to Mollie Knight, a white woman, and the four minor children included in his application and hereinbefore named, are the issue of that marriage. James Lowe, and his said children are identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896, and said children take only the rights which may have been possessed by their parents.

The authority of the Commission herein is derived in Section 21 of the Act of Congress approved June 22, 1898 (30 Stats., 495), heretofore quoted.

Group XII, includes the applications of those claiming through the said W. A. Dawson and embraces cases numbered D 405, D 406, D 715, R 12 and R 13.

The evidence shows that Millie T. Dawson was married to the said W. A. Dawson in 1892 and lived with him as his wife in the Cherokee Nation until his death in 1899, and that she has not re-married since his death. Texanna Woolley is the daughter of said W. A. Dawson and his former wife Melissa A. Dawson. Texanna Woolley was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship, and she is identified on the Strip payment roll of 1894. She was married on March 27, 1898, to James Woolley, and her children Irene T. and Wilburn E. are the issue of that marriage. They are identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

Henry T. Richardson was married under a Cherokee marriage license, and in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation on July 11, 1886, to one Sellar Dawson, who was the daughter of the said W. A. Dawson by his first wife Melissa A. Sellar Dawson was a minor at the date of her father's admission to citizenship. Henry T. Richardson lived in the Cherokee Nation with his said wife Sellar from the date of their marriage until her death in 1892. On September 22, 1898, Henry T. Richardson married one Kitty Flourney nee Dumas. The said Kitty Flourney was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 2, 1898. Of the children hereto applied for, John S. Richardson is the child of the applicant by his said wife, Kitty Flourney nee Dumas, and James S. Richardson is the child of the applicant by his said wife, Kitty Flourney nee Dumas.

identified by birth affidavits on file with this Commission.

John R. Fishback is the son of Laverna Fishback, who was re-admitted to citizenship on December 1, 1894, as heretofore stated. He was a minor at the date of his mother's admission to citizenship and he is identified on the Cherokee Census roll of 1896.

George A. Mabry was married to one Edna Dawson in the State of Arkansas in 1884. He claims to have been married under a Cherokee marriage license to his said wife in 1889, but he presents no satisfactory proof of such marriage. Edna Dawson was re-admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation by an Act of the Cherokee National Council on December 1, 1894. Roby and Charley Mabry are her children by her said husband, George A. Mabry. Edna Mabry is identified on the strip payment roll of 1894, and the two children were minors at the date of their mother's admission to citizenship.

The evidence further shows that Alonzo H. Fishback and his wife Laverna A. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1883; that Lula P. Weddle, William D. Douthitt, and John R. Fishback have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1884, and that Florence Morgan and Edna Mabry have resided in said Nation since 1894. The residence of the minor children included in this group is considered to be that of their parents, with whom they are living.

All birth affidavits for the minor children embraced in this decision, and heretofore noted, are made a part of this record.

It is contended by the Cherokee Nation that the applicants herein are not entitled to be enrolled by this Commission because they have never been lawfully admitted or qualified by the Cherokee authorities, and that the judgment of the Cherokee Nation in this respect is final and conclusive.

In considering the question at issue, it is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. Page 61, it is stated, "the doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment assailed." Only such facts therefore, are considered by this Commission, as were not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teehee Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teehee Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment.

Briefly stated, the circumstances attending the admission of the Dawsons appear to be as follows:

On September 24, 1861, an application was made to the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship known as the "Teehee Court" for admission to Cherokee citizenship of Robert Dawson and the members of his family above mentioned. The members of that Commission were Thomas Teehee, Alex Wolfe and T. J. Thompson. The first two were full blood Cherokee Indians; they could understand, but could not talk English. One D. W. C. Duncan was the Clerk of the Commission. The Dawson case was continued several times before final decision. J. M. Bryan appears to have been an attorney in the case, and after some delay he satisfied Russell M. Brown that the case should be taken up by the Commission at the date of January, 1862. At that time the case was taken up and the Dawsons were admitted to Cherokee citizenship. The latter Dawson's interest in the case was terminated by the death of the latter Dawson's interest in the case.

would be in Washington. On receipt of this notice Francis M. Dawson went to Fort Gibson, Cherokee Nation, and made arrangements with his uncle Samuel H. Benge to go to Tahlequah and conduct the case. Benge who is a witness herein testifies that he was connected with the Dawson case when it was commenced in 1881; that it was continued several times for want of evidence, and that in January, 1883, in company with F. M. Dawson he went to Tahlequah and while there secured the testimony of Josh Rogers, a negro, who knew the Dawson's ancestors, and that after getting his evidence the case was submitted to the Commission. He further testifies that the Commission rendered a decision against the Dawsons and that next morning the Commission reopened the case, but not upon motion of the witness, and rendered a judgment admitting the Dawsons to citizenship. He further states that on his way home to Fort Gibson with Dawson he remarked to the latter, "it was a pretty hard blow when they rendered a decision against us," to which Dawson is alleged to have replied, "yes, but Duncan was the man to reach and he reached him with five hundred dollars."

Dawson denies ever having had such a conversation and says that he did not return to Fort Gibson with Benge but went home to Arkansas by a different route.

C. H. Taylor testifies that he was an attorney in the case and was present when the case was decided. He says there were only two judges present, Beebe and Wolfe. He further testifies that E. W. C. Smith, 3rd Clerk of the Court asked the witness to let him know how any large citizenship cases came up; that he introduced F. M. Dawson to Beebe on the morning of January 22nd, 1883, as part of a citizenship hearing; that he then heard testimony from the witness and that he then rendered a decision in favor of the Dawsons.

evidence introduced and no argument made, and that the case was then decided in favor of the Dawsons. Witness further testifies that Dawson gave him twenty dollars and said he would send him the balance in a short time, that in the course of ten days he sent him one hundred dollars with directions to pay over half of it to Duncan; that Dawson soon afterwards sent him another hundred dollars with the same instruction to give Duncan half of it.

Dawson denied the matters testified to by Taylor respecting in the matter of paying Taylor money, which he admits in part, but says that the twenty dollars mentioned was sent to Taylor about a year after the decision, and that he instructed Taylor to pay it over to Duncan to pay him for a land claim, and that the deficiency was in payment of J. M. Bryan's attorney fees which Taylor represented to Dawson he had for collection against him. Taylor's reputation for truth and veracity has been impeached by various disinterested witnesses.

The evidence which may be considered as tending to support the charge of fraud is the testimony of S. L. Denge, G. H. Taylor, Thomas J. Debeart, J. F. Clifton, James T. Lewis, D. G. Wrought and David Meredith.

S. L. Denge testifies that a judgment adverse to the Dawsons was rendered by the Commission on the showing of one day and without any additional proceedings in the case, that judgment was rendered on the morning of the next day.

Even if this were a material fact, there is no other evidence that the Dawsons in the case were ever notified. The records of the Commission are deposited in the Commission's office in the Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., and the Dawsons were notified in 1884 and they were notified in 1885.

Thomas B. Dabeart testifies that one James Dawson, a man of forty or fifty years of age, in company with Butler, the Commission's interpreter and Jim Smith, solicitor for the Nation, came to the witness in Tahlequah the evening of January 10, 1883, to borrow some money; that Dawson was vouched for by Butler as a responsible party and that Dawson told the witness that he had to have money that night, that his case was to be submitted the next day if he could get some money, that Smith had agreed to submit the case without evidence, and that witness thereupon let Dawson have ten dollars.

Admitting all this to be true and that the influence of these officials was purchased for the sum of ten dollars, the Commission fails to see how these alleged facts show that the Court was imposed upon or misled. Bribery of officials to use their influence with the Commission would not necessarily vitiate the judgment, but it must appear that the fraud, or corruption reached the members of the Commission and tainted the judgment itself. The case was not submitted without evidence as appears from the record, and it is shown that such evidence was carefully considered by that Commission. Furthermore, the evidence shows that there was no such person then in Tahlequah as the James Dawson described by witness.

Clinksbeard testifies that he had a talk with Elbert Dawson about 1881; that Dawson told him he had only one witness, Dr. Baker of Arkansas, "an old man 85 or 90 years old who did not know straight up" and that he could give Dr. Baker four drinks of Arkansas whiskey and he would swear black was white. Witness further testifies that Dawson told him that money was what made the mare go in Texas, and that he had found out that it goes here too.

Assuming that the Commission got into the case by perjury in connection with evidence in this case, the Commission's conduct, in submitting the case to the Court, was a violation of the law.

mony before the Commission. Further, it is not clear that Dr. Baker was the only witness in the case. Benge stated that Toak Rogers was a witness, Duncan is under that impression also, and T. F. Thompson, one of the Commissioners, states that he thinks there were three witnesses. The testimony of Dr. Baker, seems, however, to be the only testimony preserved of record. As to whether Doctor Baker offered perjured testimony by Dawson's procurement, it is proper to state that the evidence of W. H. Curtis and A. S. McKennon, witnesses for applicants, show that Doctor Baker was a man of integrity and was not addicted to drinking.

The testimony of James W. Lewis is to the effect that he had a conversation with F. M. Dawson about 1885, in which Dawson had told the witness that it had cost him seven hundred dollars to get his rights. Drought also testifies that he was an applicant for citizenship about 1881 or 1882, and that while his case was pending he had a talk with F. M. Dawson who told him that if he (the witness) ever got in, it would cost him seven hundred dollars, and that Dawson told him he had paid one witness three hundred dollars, and made arrangements with the Court to get the Dawsons in at one hundred dollars a family. David Meredith testifies that he had a talk with old James Dawson in 1888, and that the latter told the witness it cost him twelve hundred dollars to get his case through.

It can hardly be urged that such evidence is sufficient to show that the members of the Technic Commission were corrupted by the fraudulent use of money. So far as these witnesses have been able to testify, the money spent by the Dawsons might have been for legal and legitimate purposes. F. M. Dawson's conduct, however, is such that the fact that he was not a doctor is a strong presumption that he procured the before this Commission will deny applicants the right to be enrolled upon that ground.

Admitting the truth of all the testimony in this case as to the actual transfer of money by the Dawsons, it appears that Duncan, Butler and Smith were the only beneficiaries of that money. There is no evidence that the members of the Commission received or were offered any of it.

The judgment entered in the Commission's docket shows the signature of the three members of the Commission appended thereto. There is some conflict as to whether Duncan signed Thompson's name, or whether Thompson affixed his own signature. Duncan testified that all three signatures were made by him as Clerk under authority of the Commissioners present, the two full bloods being unable to sign their names. T. F. Thompson testifies that he signed the original transcript of the judgment, which was made on the day of its rendition. The question, however, is not considered to be very material. The signing of judgments by each Commissioner appears to have been a matter of custom only. T. F. Thompson testifies that he remembers the Dawson case and recognizes the judgment therein as the final judgment of the Commission, and that there was no fraud or corruption in the procurement of that judgment by the Dawsons or by any one else so far as he knew.

Such evidence has been introduced by the Cherokee Nation for the purpose of showing that the ancestor, through whom the Dawsons claim, was not a Cherokee, and that other members of the Dawson family, claiming from the same source, have been denied Cherokee citizenship by the United States Government. The Dawsons claim that the Dawsons were not a Cherokee, and that other members of the Dawson family, claiming from the same source, have been denied Cherokee citizenship by the United States Government. The Dawsons claim that the Dawsons were not a Cherokee, and that other members of the Dawson family, claiming from the same source, have been denied Cherokee citizenship by the United States Government.

fraud in the procurement of the Robert Dawson judgment, and not whether the applicants are Cherokee Indians, or whether they ought to have been admitted to citizenship upon the proof submitted. These were questions presented, considered and passed upon by the Teehee Commission. If their decision is a valid and regular judgment, it is binding on this Commission. If, on the contrary, the applicants have never been lawfully admitted to citizenship, because the judgment under which they claim is void, for fraud, then the question as to whether they are Cherokees by blood is not material, as this Commission has now no authority to admit them to citizenship.

While it is true, that since 1863, a number of applicants, members of the Dawson family, have been denied admission to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, no argument derived therefrom is of any force, for it is also true that other members of the same family have been admitted to citizenship, and the action of the Cherokee authorities in admitting them has never been questioned by the Cherokee Nation. Whatever inference, therefore, may be drawn from these facts applies with equal force both for and against the validity of the judgment in question.

The Dawsons have lived in the Cherokee Nation, most of them since 1863; they have exercised the rights of Cherokee citizenship for many years, some of them occupying official positions in the Nation, and no protest seems to have been made against their citizenship until within the last few years. The records of the Cherokee Nation, in the possession of this Commission, show, that since 1863, there have been Commissioners on citizenship charged with authority to investigate the judgments of former Commissioners, and to have been required by law, and the Cherokee Nation, to investigate, and to protect.

by the Cherokee authorities with reference to the judgment of the Teehee Commission in the Robert Dawson case.

After a careful consideration of all the facts in this case this Commission is of the opinion that the evidence fails to establish that the Dawsons secured their admission to citizenship by fraud or that the judgment of the Teehee Commission as rendered January 11, 1883, was fraudulent as the result of corruption, bribery, or deception upon the part of the Dawsons, or their agents, and that such judgment, and also the judgment of the Spears Commission in 1884, and the Act of the Cherokee National Council of December 1, 1894, which have not been attacked by the Cherokee Nation, being regular on their face, must therefore be accepted by this Commission as the valid judgments of the duly constituted Cherokee authorities.

It is, therefore, the opinion of this Commission that,

Mabry (embraced in D 979), as citizens by intermarriage of the Cherokee Nation should be denied, in accordance with the provisions of the law heretofore quoted, and it is so ordered.

As hereinbefore stated William Pierce (D 400) and Cecil Dawson (D 386) and Green V. Jackson (D 395), died prior to September 1, 1902. It further appears from affidavits, made a part of this record that Lizzie and Margaret Graham (D 1186) have died since the date of the application for their enrollment and prior to September 1, 1902.

It is, therefore, ordered that the applications for the enrollment of said William Pierce, Cecil Dawson, Green V. Jackson, Lizzie Graham and Margaret Graham be, and the same are hereby

GROUP IX.

The Honorable,

The Secretary of the Interior.

Sir:

Referring to office report of even date, transmitting Group I of this consolidated case, there is enclosed herewith the record relative to the parties applicants to Group IX. of the Francis M. Dawson, et al. case.--

D. 23, Group IX. Page 1.

John W. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself as an intermarried citizen, and for the enrollment of his wife, Missouri Graham, and their minor children, Tompe V. and Robert E. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation.

D. 24, Group IX. Page 1.

Oliver Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, John W., Julia C., Francis V., Mary H., James H., Grace H. and Florence H. Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Elisabeth Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage.

D. 836., Group IX. page 11.

Matthew A. Painter applies for the enrollment of himself as an intermarried citizen, and for the enrollment of his wife, Laverne A., and their children, Ada R., Eva P., John W., Ray D., Robert A., and Roy V. Painter, as citizens by blood. Roy V. was born after the date of his father's original application and is identified by birth certificate.

D. 1124. Group IX. page 21.

Charles T. Bradshaw applies for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Florence P., and their minor children, Myrtle and Claude Bradshaw, as citizens by blood.

D. 1128. Group IX. page 25.

Joe E. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his ~~minor~~ minor child, William C. Graham, as citizens by blood.

D. 1134. Group IX. page 23.

John F. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Eima N. and Robert Lee Graham, as citizens by blood. Robert Lee Graham was born subsequent to the date of his father's original application, and he is identified by a birth affidavit.

D. 1127, Group IX. page 24-1/2.

James Neal applies for the enrollment of his wife, Joe Willie Neal, as a citizen by blood.

D. 1128, Group IX. page 38.

James M. Graham applies for the enrollment of himself and his children, Marion, Maggie, Luther, Liddie, Margaret and Floyd Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Bessie Graham, as an intermarried citizen. Floyd Graham was born after the original application and is identified by a birth affidavit.

-----

The Commission in its decision of December 23, 1902, held that all the applicants above named, except Liddie and Margaret Graham, who died prior to September 1, 1902, were entitled to enrollment----- John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, as citizens by intermarriage, and the others as citizens by blood.

John W. Graham, (Group IX. page 1), February 12, 1838, married Missouri Dawson, who was admitted to citizenship by the Spears Commission or Court, September 9, 1834. This Court was composed of Eli Spears, John Lee, Andrew Young, John L. Adair was clerk pro tem of the Court. The marriage of February 12, 1838, was performed in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. John W. Graham and his wife, Missouri, were first married in 1836, in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas. John W. Graham and his wife have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His name, the name of his wife and the names of his two children appear on the 1896 Cherokee census roll.

Gideon Graham, (Group IX, page 5), is the son of John W. and Missouri Graham, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation. He was married to Elizabeth Graham nee Sydow in accordance with the laws of the State of Texas, October 10, 1886. Gideon Graham, his wife and all of their minor children, except Florence N., are identified by the 1896 census roll. Gideon Graham and his family appear to have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Gideon Graham is identified by the 1894 roll.

Matthew A. Painter, (Group 9, page 11), was married to Laverna A. Painter nee Graham, under the Cherokee law, August 19, 1888. It seems that these parties were first married, September 22, 1887, but not in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. Laverna A. Painter is a daughter of John W. and Missouri Graham. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Matthew A. Painter, his wife and minor children, except May D., Robert A. and Roy V., are identified by the 1896 roll. From the record it appears that the principal applicant and his family have lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

Charles T. Bradshaw, (Group IX., page 21), was married to Florence Bradshaw nee Graham in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation, March 24, 1884. Florence Bradshaw is a daughter of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, under the name of Dawson. From the record it does not appear that the name of Charles T. Bradshaw is found on any of the rolls of the Cherokee Nation. Florence Graham is identified by the 1894 census roll. Florence Graham is identified by the 1894 census roll. Florence Bradshaw and her family appear to have resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

John F. Graham, (Group IX. page 33), is the son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, and the principal applicant was a minor when his mother was admitted. He was married to Mattie Lawson, February 11, 1900. Mattie Lawson is a non-citizen. His name appears on the 1894 pay-roll, but does not appear on the 1896 roll.

James Neal, (Group IX. page 34-1/2), is a recognized citizen of the Cherokee Nation by blood and is enrolled as such. He was married to Joe Willie Neal nee Graham, a daughter of Missouri Graham, who was admitted to citizenship September 9, 1884, under the name of Dawson. The name of Joe Willie Neal is found on the 1894 pay-roll, as is also the name of her husband. She was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship, and she has lived in the Cherokee Nation since 1888.

James H. Graham, (Group IX. page 34), is a son of John W. and Missouri Graham. Missouri Graham was admitted to citizenship in the Cherokee Nation, September 9, 1884. November 2, 1902, James M. Graham was married to Bessie Willis, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. The name of James M. Graham is found on the 1894 pay-roll. Marion Graham is also identified by that roll. The other minor children are properly identified by birth affidavits.

In connection with this Group, attention is respectfully invited to office report of even date transmitting Group 1, and for the reasons therein stated the approval of the Commission's decision is recommended, except as to John W. Graham, Elizabeth Graham, Matthew A. Painter, Charles T. Bradshaw and Bessie Graham, who apply for enrollment as intermarried citizens.

As hereinbefore stated, the record shows that Lizzie and Margaret ~~Graham~~ died before September 1, 1902.

Attention is also invited to Department letter of June 10, 1902, (I.T.D. 3386), in the Martha Hill case.

Very respectfully,

(Signed) W. A. Jones,

Commissioner.

Sir:

I am in receipt, by reference of December 29, 1903, of the report, October 16, 1903, of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, transmitting the proceedings of the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes upon the application of Francis W. Dawson and others ( 230 persons) for enrollment as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation, with request for my opinion----

as to the powers and duties of the Commission and the department in cases of this class, that is, where persons have been admitted to Cherokee citizenship by tribal acts and decrees, where fraud is alleged.

If, in your opinion, the Department has the authority to investigate cases of this kind, it desires to be advised:

1. What character of evidence is sufficient to warrant such investigations?
2. If proper evidence of fraud exists, should applicants be rejected or allowed to rehear to show, if possible, other and lawful grounds for enrollment?
3. In this, the Dawson case, what action should now be taken by reason of the alleged fraud?

Part of the applicants claim under judgments of the Cherokee Citizenship Court of June 11, and September 14, 1894, admitting them or their ancestors to citizenship, and others claim as stated by the letter of reference, under act of the National Council, approved December 1, 1894, granting such citizenship. General for the Nation opposes enrollment of these applicants.

the judgments, on the ground that they were procured, as it is claimed, by bribery of the clerk of the court and by perjured testimony.

The ground of objection to enrollment of those claiming under the act of the Council does not appear to be discussed in the briefs submitted in the cases based upon judgments of the citizenship court, which are transmitted with the papers.

The Commission admitted the applicants to enrollment, and states the ground of its decision, that:

It is the opinion of this Commission that it has no power, and that it is not the purpose of this proceeding, to review or to set aside the judgment in the Dawson case, or to determine such questions as were necessarily involved in the issues before the Cherokee Commission, and were passed upon by that Commission. In United States vs. Throckmorton, 98 U.S. page 61, it is stated, "The doctrine is well settled that the Court will not set aside a judgment because it was founded on perjured testimony or for any matter which was actually presented and considered in the judgment and which was not part of the record in the Robert Dawson case before the Teehee Commission, and which tend to show whether the judgment admitting the Dawsons was a bona fide judgment of the Teehee Commission, or whether such judgment is void because of fraud, and upon this proposition the burden of proof is upon those attacking the judgment."

The duties of the Commission as to persons (not freedmen) claiming enrollment are defined by the first paragraph of section 21 of the act of June 28, 1898 (30 Stat., 495) 502), which directed the Commission to enroll all Cherokees (except freedmen) found on the roll of 1880 and descendants afterward born to them, and all persons who have been enrolled by the tribal authorities and have heretofore made permanent settlement in the Cherokee Nation, whose parents, by reason of their Cherokee blood, have been lawfully admitted to citizenship by the tribal authorities, were minors when their parents were admitted to citizenship, and investigate the right of all such persons to enrollment on any other roll and admit all such persons to enrollment on the roll of 1880 or without authority of the Commission.

have lawful right thereto, and their descendants born since such rolls were made, with such intermarried white persons as may be entitled to citizenship under Cherokee laws.

As the principal applicants here claim by enrollment after 1880, their cases must be determined under the provision above quoted. The principal applicants were admitted and enrolled by tribal authority, made permanent settlement in the nation, and have ever since resided there. The question is, whether the Commission may investigate as to the fact of the Cherokee blood of the principals admitted by judgments of the Citizenship Court, and upon a charge that the judgments were fraudulently procured.

It appears that a citizenship court or Commission was established in the Cherokee Nation which, January 11, 1883, on an application duly filed in the court, and after taking and considering evidence, adjudged that Robert Dawson, F. M. Dawson and others named-- are Cherokees by blood and that they are entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship within the Cherokee Nation, and that they should be, and they are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees.

Other applicants related to those thus admitted were admitted, September 14, 1883, by a similar decree and similar Commission, constituted of different persons. These decrees were duly recorded in the records of these tribunals, and no appellate or original proceeding was ever taken to reverse, modify, or vacate them. The parties so admitted were then living in the nation or soon after removed there, and have ever since resided therein, identifying themselves with the Indian community and co-operating to its development and progress. They have built homes, improved lands, accumulated property, have always been recognized as Cherokees, been chosen to office, participated in the conduct of national affairs, been borne on its various rolls, participated in distribution of public moneys, and for twenty years have been in fact recognized as Cherokee citizens. When they apply for enrollment by the Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes they are met by the objection that they have in fact no Cherokee blood; that the testimony upon which the original decree was rendered ( the witness being now dead) was perjured; that the first petitioner ( now dead) corrupted the court (two of whom are now dead), and the present applicants, none or few of whom are charged with wrong-doing, must give up their lands and homes to those who have not improved, cultivated or built them, lost the nationality to which many of them have been born, and all are loyal, and seek elsewhere a new nationality, establish new homes, and work out a new heritage.

Assuming for the moment that the charge were fully proven, the result contended for does not, in my opinion, follow: It is said by Freeman on Judgments, section 436, 4th edition, that "the defendant in an action upon a judgment is never permitted to show that it was procured by perjury," citing Dunerritt v Lyford (27 N.H. 541), and Cottle v Cole (20 Ia., 441). The same author says, section 503, that "equity will not relieve (against a judgment) on the ground of the absence of a witness who with diligence could have been procured, nor on the ground that a witness was guilty of perjury, nor because the suitor was absent from court, for it is his business to be there," citing Scott v Carr, 9

(Md), 309, and Dilly v Barnard, 8 Gill & J., 171. Again, section 289, the author says:

The settled policy of the law forbidding that a matter once adjudicated shall be again drawn in issue while the former adjudication remains in force does not permit the prosecution of an action for obtaining a judgment by false and fraudulent practices, or by false and forged evidence. Neither can a party against whom judgment has been recovered sustain an action against his adversary and the witnesses for damages occasioned by their conspiring together and procuring a judgment by fraud or perjury as long as the judgment remains in force and unreversed; (citing)

Hillsborough v Nichols, 46 N.H. 379; Engstrom v Sherburne, 137 Mass. 153; Note 265, by C.H. & E., to Phillips on Evidence; Dunlap v Glidden; 31 Me. 436; 52 Am. Dec. 625, . . . Cunningham v Brown, 23 Vt. 123; 46 Am. Dec. 140; Smith v Lewis, 3 Johns. 157; 3 Am. Dec. 469.

The general rule is that judgments of every tribunal having jurisdiction, while remaining in force and not reversed or vacated, are conclusive upon the matters adjudged and not open to question in a collateral proceeding. This rule was fully sustained by the court in United States v Throckmorton (98 U.S., 61, et seq.) wherein the United States sought to cancel the patent to lands issued upon a decree for confirmation of a Mexican land grant, obtained as it was charged by a fraudulently antedated grant.

Nothing in the act in question indicates that a rule of law so wholesome, so essential to the stability of judgments, and to the peace of society, was intended by Congress to be abrogated. I am therefore of the opinion that judgments of the Indian tribal courts upon the question of Cherokee blood, left for years in force, unquestioned, and which never have been vacated, should be held conclusive upon the nation, and that the Commission correctly so held.

It is proper, however, here to remark, in justice to the dead applicant and the judges, that the evidence in the record, in my opinion, falls far short of showing improper conduct or motive on their part, or even to show error in their judgment. The strain of Cherokee blood claimed by the Dawson family originated in a marriage contracted prior to about 1823, so remote in time that it could only be established by persons already old in 1882. It could not be neither proved nor disproved by direct testimony of any one living, and is capable of proof only by family tradition, dimmed by the lapse of almost a century. It is obvious that judgments ought not to be struck aside and rights supposed to be vested to be struck down on that kind of evidence and in a collateral proceeding. I am therefore of the opinion that no action for a correction of the alleged fraud ought to be taken as to those cases standing upon the adjudications.

As to the cases standing upon the acts of admission of the Cherokee Council, the same result follows, but for other reasons. This was a legislative grant. The Cherokee Council had plenary power to grant rights of citizenship. Being a legislative body, it was not bound by technical rules of evidence obligatory upon judicial tribunals. It might act on any evidence satisfactory to itself of the fact of Cherokee descent, or it might grant citizenship to one not of Cherokee descent. Having made the grant, neither its motive nor the sufficiency of the evidence moving it, is open to question. That it did act and make the grant is alone and of itself sufficient.

Very respectfully,

March 21, 1904.

Commission to the Five Civilized Tribes,
Muskogee, Indian Territory.

Gentlemen:

February 25, 1903, you transmitted the record in the matter of the application of Francis M. Dawson, et al., for enrollment as citizens of the Cherokee nation, with your decision of December 23, 1902, in which you disposed of these applications by groups, including in Group IX, which will be considered herein, the applications of those persons who claim enrollment through Missouri Graham, formerly Dawson, who was admitted to Cherokee citizenship September 9, 1884, by decree of the Cherokee Commission on Citizenship, of which Eli Spears was President.

Said decree recites that Missouri Dawson (now Graham) and others, "are Cherokees by blood and that by virtue thereof they are justly entitled to all the rights and privileges of Cherokee citizenship in the Cherokee nation, and that they should be and are hereby admitted to the full and complete enjoyment of the same in all respects as native born Cherokees."

Title D/ 23 refers to the application of John W. Graham for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and his minor children, Tempa V. and Robert S. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. She and her children, whose names appear above, are identified on the Cherokee census roll of 1896. Her name also appears upon the 1894 roll. On February 12, 1888, she was married to the said John W. Graham. A former marriage was entered into by them under the laws of Texas, in 1866.

Title D. 35 refers to the application of Gideon Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, John W., Julius E., Francis W., Mary E., Jesse E., Gracie M. and Florence M. Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Elizabeth Graham, as a citizen by intermarriage, of said nation. Gideon Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. On October 10, 1886, he married Elizabeth Graham, nee Sydow, and the children named above are the issue of that marriage. Elizabeth Graham, and the six elder children are identified on the census roll of 1896. The youngest child is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D/ 836 refers to the application of Matthew A. Painter for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Laverna A. Painter, and his minor children, Ada E., Eva F., John W., Ray D., Roberta A. and Ray V. Painter, as citizens by blood of said nation. Laverna A. Painter is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified on the 1896 census roll and has resided in the nation since her marriage to said Matthew A. Painter, in 1888. He and their three elder children are also identified on the census roll of 1896. The three younger children are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1124 refers to the application of Charles T. Bradshaw for the enrollment of himself as a citizen by intermarriage, and for the enrollment of his wife, Florence P. Bradshaw, and his minor children, Myrtle and Claude Bradshaw, as citizens by blood of said nation. Said Bradshaw was married March 22, 1894, to Florence P. Graham, in accordance with the laws of the Cherokee Nation. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. Florence P. Bradshaw, nee Graham, is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. Their children named above are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1125 refers to the application of Joe E. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor child, William G. Graham, as citizens by blood of the Cherokee Nation. Said Joe E. Graham is a son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 strip payment roll, and has resided in the nation since 1884. He married Mary Bradshaw on January 6, 1888. William G. Graham is the issue of that marriage. He is identified by a birth affidavit.

Title D. 1126 refers to the application of John F. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his two minor children, Edna M. and Robert Lee Graham, as Cherokees by blood. Said John F. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 roll and has resided in the Cherokee Nation since 1888. His children, who are the issue of his marriage to Mattie Lawson, a non-citizen, on February 11, 1900, are identified by birth affidavits.

Title D. 1127 refers to the application of James Neal for the enrollment of his wife, Joe Willie Neal, nee Graham, as a citizen by blood. She is the daughter of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when her mother was admitted to citizenship. She is identified upon the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1888.

Title D. 1128 refers to the application of James M. Graham for the enrollment of himself and his minor children, Marion, Maggie, Luther, Lizzie, Margaret and Floyd Graham, as citizens by blood, and for the enrollment of his wife, Bessie Graham, as a citizen by inter-marriage. The said James M. Graham is the son of the said Missouri Graham, nee Dawson, and was a minor when his mother was admitted to citizenship. He is identified on the 1894 pay roll and has resided in the nation since 1884. On November 2, 1892, he was married to Bessie Willis. The six children named above are the issue of that marriage. The eldest child, Marion, is identified on the pay roll of 1894. The other children are identified by birth affidavits.

The residence of all minor children referred to herein is considered to be that of their parents.

In your decision of December 23, 1902, you held that all of the applicants mentioned above are entitled to enrollment.

Reporting relative to this group October 16, 1903, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommended that your decision be approved, in so far as it related to those applicants who claimed by blood, and as to those claiming by intermarriage he recommended that no action be taken at this time.

The Department concurs in the recommendation of the Commissioner, and you are directed to enroll the applicants named above who claim by blood.

The attorney for the Cherokee Nation protests against the enrollment of these applicants, alleging that the decree of the tribal court upon which these claims depend, was obtained through fraud. In this connection, see opinion of the Assistant Attorney General of February 18, 1904, in the Dawson case, copy of which was forwarded to you February 24, 1904.

A copy of Indian Office letter relating to this group is inclosed.

Respectfully,

(Signed) Theo Ryan,

Acting Secretary.
